METERS FAVORED.

Writer Says They Would Reduce and Equalize Cost.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

At a time when other cities and towns are calling a halt in needless waste in water and excessive expense for maintenance, would it not seem advisable for our city to get down to business and follow suit?

The Assessors' report for 1904 give cost of water maintenance and interest to be $74,225.00; Metropolitan water assessment, $34,084.25; making a total expense of $108,369.25; leaving a deficit of $14,558.25 for taxpayers to meet. It is estimated by competent judges that our assessment by the Metropolitan water board this year will exceed $40,000.00.

The city of Malden is using 95 per cent. meters and report that their consumption per day per capita is 40 gallons; Milton 35; while Quincy is using or wasting 120 gallons per capita per day.

If we may judge by the experience of other cities a general meter system would save to our city on water supply at least $25,000.00 per year.

The town of Braintree is installing a meter system, and will charge consumers $2.00 per year rental for meters, and 30 cents per thousand gallons of water. If it is found this price will not be sufficient to meet cost of maintenance the price will be raised sufficient to meet all expense.

Is not this the one fair way to sell water? Let every consumer, large or small pay for what he uses. If a landlord has leaky fixtures, he won't get roasted, but once. Our mayors have advised it. It is now up to our committee on water supply to recommend to the Council some means to stop the above waste, and give to our citizens water rates that will compare favorably with towns and cities that are competing with our city in matter of growth. A. L. Baker.

CARS NUMEROUS.

The Crowd at the Launching Well Handled.

The street railway was up to time Thursday in furnishing transportation to and from the launching. Every available car was in use and the crowd was handled with safety and dispatch.

Supt. Gammon was personally in charge in City Square, with Starter Austin, and they kept the cars moving. The crowd began to arrive early and before 9 o'clock car after car was sent sent down on the Quincy Point and Weymouth Landing lines as fast as they could be loaded.

The great rush came about 10 o'clock, the 9.50 train landing a large number in City Square.

A long string of cars was in waiting for them, and the crowd was quickly on the move. Twenty-two cars in all were sent down on this trip on the two lines. After running to the nearest point to the works they came back and took down another crowd.

After the launching people found a long line of cars on both lines waiting to take them back to City Square and Neponset. Cars were also waiting to take people towards the Weymouths.

Thousands of people were transported by the cars, and thanks to the efficiency of Supt. Gammon and the employes there was no confusion and not an accident of any kind.

Home from Philippines.

Carl Anderson of Smith street has returned from the Philippines on a visit. Mr. Anderson, who is a graduate of the Quincy schools and Harvard college, has been absent in the government employ for nearly five years. During this time he has visited Japan, China, and other foreign ports and the Philippines. He speaks eight languages.

Braintrees Coming.

Another holiday attraction will be the game in the morning of Labor day at the Ward Three playgrounds when the strong Braintree team will be here to play the South Quincys at 10 o'clock. The battery of the visitors will be Cameron and Egan, while Patterson and Forbes will do the honors for the home team. A hot game is promised.

Atlantic Game.

On the Ward Six playgrounds on the afternoon of Labor day the Sacred Heart team will again meet the Warrens at 3.30. A great rivalry exists between there two clubs this season and a hot contest may be expected.

IN WAKE OF LAUNCH

The Battleship Vermont to Have a Silver Service.

The launching was a good advertisement for the city of Quincy, but we did not make the most of it.

The hull of the battleship Vermont was laid May 17, 1904 on the ways on which the battleship Rhode Island was built.

Miss Jennie Bell, the sponsor for the battleship Vermont, was the centre of attraction while waiting for the christening on Thursday. Beside her were her father, Gov. Bell, Gov. Douglas, President Bowles and her maids of honor, Miss Mary Moore of Randolph, Vt., and Miss Virginia Perry of McIndoes, Vt., Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Douglas.

At the last session of the Vermont Legislature $5000 was appropriated for the purchase of a silver service, which will be presented to the new battleship when she is ready for commission.

Admiral Bowles helped design the Vermont when he was at the head of the bureau of construction and repair of the navy. The building of the big ship is a record that any shipyard in the world might well envy and it is probably the quickest job ever done in this country. The keel was laid in the latter part of May, 1904, and the vessel was more than 60 per cent. completed when she was launched.—Globe.

Gov. Bell's easy way of overcoming the liquid issue at the Vermont's christening, by assuming the attitude of a guest of the company launching the ship, and as such without the privilege of dictating what liquid should be used, shows him to possess the cleverness of the diplomat. It was as clever and full as honest as Gov. Hock's way at the Kansas christening in substituting water for wine on the sly.—Herald.

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf your wife has to carry and get a better table by ordering the Boston Daily and Sunday Globe delivered at your home every day.

Lighten the Load

The Housekeeper's Department in the Boston Globe has no equal, and is full of hints every day that are of inestimable value to women.

TORCH PARADE

By Children in Attic Starts a Fire.

Double Dwelling on Brooks Avenue.

Efficient Work by Department and Loss Only $1,200.

The Quincy fire department again showed its efficiency at Thursday afternoon's fire on Brooks avenue, in checking and putting out the fire that at first seemed likely to destroy the whole building.

The fire was in a large double house at 15 Brooks avenue, owned by Fedel Piovano, and is occupied by Renato Abbonetti and Rizieri Piccini. It started in the attic on Piccini's side, and was ignited by children.

It appears that a number of young children were in the attic playing, and to make the play more realistic they set fire to a broom; one of the children marching about the room with it. Before they realized what had happened a fire had been started and a fierce blaze was in progress.

The children scampered out and some one rang in the alarm which was from Box 39 and sounded at 3.15. Meanwhile neighbors rushed in and quickly removed the household goods of both tenants to places of safety.

When the fire department arrived the whole upper part of the building was a roaring mass of flames.

Flames were coming from the windows and through the roof, but several hydrant streams were quickly carried to the attic windows by ladders and a deluge of water was poured onto the flames. It was a hot fire while it lasted but the firemen soon had it under control and no fire went below the attic floor.

The water rushed down the stairways to the lower floors, and if the furniture had not been removed the damage would have been much greater.

Chief Engineer Williams estimates the loss on the building and contents at $1,200.

Mr. Abbonetti estimates his loss at $100. The damage of the Piccini family will not be over $50.

SCHOOLS TO REOPEN.

Fall Term Will Begin a Week from Monday.

Supt. Parlin gives notice that the public schools of the city will reopen on Monday, Sept. 11, after a vacation of ten weeks. The fall term will be fourteen weeks long, coming to an end Wednesday, Dec. 20. The only holidays scheduled are during Thanksgiving week when the schools will be closed Wednesday noon for the balance of the week.

SUPT. PARLIN.

It will be a problem how to accommodate the pupils at the High school as a large increase in enrollment is anticipated. Fortunately Mr. C. F. Harper continues as headmaster, and already he has most of the data and has made assignments to divisions. The school has suffered the loss of several teachers, including Messrs. Parsons, Merry, Gammons, and French, also Miss Desmond and Miss Pearl.

The new class at the High school is requested not to report on Sept. 11 until 11 A. M., but all the other classes will report at the Hancock street building at the regular hour, 8.15 A. M.

Head Master Harper may be seen at his office in the building on Saturday of next week at 3 o'clock.

The grammar schools will have two new principals, Miss Mary E. Dearborn of the Coddington being succeeded by Mr. Walter H. Bentley, and Mr. C. E. Finch of the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields schools being succeeded by C. Ralph Taylor.

The Coddington will lose four teachers by resignations and transfers, the Cranch one, the John Hancock two, the Lincoln three, the Gridley Bryant one, the Wollaston two and the Massachusetts Fields one.

A system of plumbing has been installed at the Adams school building, and Commissioner Burke has made repairs and improvements at other buildings.

The Woodward Institute will also reopen on Monday, Sept. 11, better equipped than ever to educate Quincy born girls. Mr. Frederic W. Plummer continues as principal and may be consulted on Saturday, Sept. 9, from 2 to 5 P. M.

The new class is requested not to report until 11 A. M. Sept. 11, but all the other classes will report at 8.15 as usual.

Mr. Frank E. Parlin, the Superintendent of Schools enters upon his sixth year in Quincy, and comes refreshed for the work from his summer home in New Hampshire.

The total enrollment of the schools in June was 5311, the average daily attendance for that month being 4774.

HOLIDAY GAME.

Quincys to Meet Merrymounts for the Third Time.

A hot contest can be looked for on Labor Day morning at Merrymount Park when the Merrymounts and Quincys will meet for the third time.

The Quincy team has been rather unfortunate this year on account of some of the players contracting sickness. This has been the case with Eldridge who has been playing in the outfield but who has participated in only a few games this year; his absence has badly crippled the team. At the present time Dorley who has proven himself to be one of the best semi-professional first baseman in the state is laid up with appendicitis.

In spite of this great handicap the Quincys are in hopes of winning the Labor Day game. Merrymounts have been playing a very fast game and the Quincys will have to travel some to win.

It is certainly a good looking attraction and a large crowd should turn out to see the teams play, as they always put up a fast game, the kind that pleases the fans.

Jerome's Views Not Known

New York, Sept. 1.—Representatives of the local political organizations opposed to Tammany Hall met last night to discuss the subject of fusion in the coming mayoralty campaign. When it was announced that the Citizens' union had no other candidate in mind than District Attorney Jerome there was much questioning as to Jerome's views on the issues of the day. So extended was the discussion of Jerome that the conference was adjourned for a week.

Clarke's Case Not Yet Settled

Kingston, Ja., Sept. 1.—Dr. Franklin Clarke of Boston was tried here before the chief justice for a breach of the official secrets act by taking photographs of the fortifications of Port Royal. The chief justice summed up in favor of the prisoner and the jury failed to agree and was discharged. Clarke was remanded on bail. He is well known as an amateur photographer.

Boycott a Boomerang

Washington, Sept. 1.—Consul General Rogers, at Shanghai, cables that the position there as to the anti-American boycott is improving. The officials of the state department have come to the conclusion that the boycott has practically exhausted itself, the Chinese merchants finding that they themselves were the principal losers.

October 5th the Boston & Maine Railroad will run the annual New York excursion. A two hundred mile train ride through the Deerfield Valley and the Hoosac Mountains to Troy and Albany, N. Y., a delightful sail on the palatial steamers down the Hudson to New York City; two days in the metropolis and back to Boston via the famous Fall River Line steamers. $5.00 for the round trip.

Write to the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railway, Boston, for beautiful illustrated booklet which describes the trip in detail. It will be mailed free upon receipt of a postal card. tf

Climbing Mountains.

This is a fascinating and invigorating pastime. It develops not the body only, but the mind. The Alpine Peaks of Switzerland have their counterpart in our own country, in the Sierras, the Cascades, and parts of the Rockies.

The greatest glacial peak of the United States is Mt. Rainier in Washington, nearly 14,500 feet high. This magnificent mountain has 15 or more giant glaciers creeping down its sides and discharging their glacial detritus into the Columbia river or Puget Sound.

The climb to the summit of this peak is a feat worthy of any mountaineer. For 25 cents A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent of the Northern Pacific Railway, St. Paul, Minn., will send to any address an illustrated booklet called "Climbing Mt. Rainier" describing a climb over the glaciers to the top of the mountain.

IS A BAD BARGAIN

How Russian Press Views the Portsmouth Treaty

A GROWL FROM PATRIOTS

Think Americans Underestimate What "Might" Have Happened --General Public, However, Is Pleased at Conclusion of Peace

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Judging from the press comment on peace it would appear that, while pleased with the prospect of the removal of further bloodshed from the Far East, a large portion of the public is unable to reconcile itself to the loss of territory, however insignificant. The national pride seems to be offended by the cession of part of the Island of Sakhalin. Many of the utterances show evidences of regret that the army had not been given another chance to try the fortune of war.

The tone of many of the utterances concerning peace induces one to believe that a further sacrifice of human lives would not be unacceptable if the national self-respect could be regained thereby. One word of disapproval of the terms from Tokio, suggesting that Japan did not desire to be bound by the terms, might result in a flare-up here in defense of war and the national honor.

Embittered by what they declare to be a dishonorable peace, the extreme patriots do not always refrain from criticizing President Roosevelt and the American people who, they declare, have offended Russian sentiment by under-rating the Russian preparations, strength and ability to cope with the Japanese.

The people at large welcome peace and express the hope that the shackles which kept American enterprises out of Russia will be removed. Preference for American enterprises in Russia as against German is expressed.

The Russ says: "All we could have expected was avoidance of diplomatic defeat. This seems to have been accomplished."

The Novoe Vremya says: "Japan is dissatisfied with the peace. So are we. President Roosevelt was in favor of Russia ceding the Island of Sakhalin and indemnity. This does not please us. English and American capitalists should rejoice over the peace."

The Slovo says that peace should have been concluded before the battle of the Sea of Japan, adding: "Then we would not have lost any territory. The present agreement with Japan may result in relations which will reward us and heal the wounds inflicted on Russian patriotism by the war."

The Syn Intechestva says: "Whatever we may have paid at Portsmouth it was not the price of peace, but of the war. We fear that secret articles have been signed which are disadvantageous to Russia."

The Nasha Shisn remarks: "We must acknowledge that the peace terms are most disadvantageous. We cannot rejoice over them. We have lost too much."

The Svet says: "General Linevitch's army is not destroyed. The present treaty puts off, but does not exclude war. Only a bucket of cold water has been poured over it out of the fountain of humanity with which President Roosevelt is now irrigating all the world."

The Bourse Gazette says: "The war has forced Russia to open her eyes to her rotten political foundations and to her ignorance of the disorder in the army and in fact in all branches of the national administration."

The St. Petersburg Gazette remarks: "We have been overcome not by Japan, but by our dishonesty, happy-go-luckiness and laziness. The dreadful lessons of this war will not be fruitless and will force us toward better forms of life. America and her noble and brave president have rendered us great service."

Prize Canines Cremated

New York, Sept. 1.—Thirty-eight pedigreed dogs were burned in a fire that damaged the Yale club kennels late last night. The keeper was showing some dog fanciers through the kennels when one of the dogs overturned an oil lamp. Before the fire that followed could be extinguished all but five of the dogs in the place had been fatally burned.

Root Ends Labrador Outing

St. Johns, Sept. 1.—Elihu Root returned here from Labrador yesterday and left last night for New York. Mr. Root said he had had a most enjoyable trip to Labrador, going to Nain, the farthest point north reached by steamer. He was favored by splendid weather throughout.

What Modern Surgery Can Do

WAS "DISINHERITED"

Witzhoff Borrowed $5 and Then Tried to Raise It to $50

Boston, Sept. 1.—Dr. George A. Witzhoff, arch bigamist, alleged leader of a marry-and-get-away-quick-with-the-money syndicate, had good friends in Boston in Mr. and Mrs. Z. Miller of 11½ Cross street, with whom he exchanged visits and from whom he borrowed money.

Mrs. Miller knew him as Dr. Miller, and was also acquainted with his wife—which wife she does not know. She met the Adonis of the matrimonial business at her sister's home, and he had a heartrending tale of disinheritance and misfortune.

A few weeks afterward the couple called on the Millers, and while Mrs. Miller entertained the wife the doctor told her husband a touching story. It was a good story and Miller was touched for $5. Witzhoff tried to raise the $5 to $50 a few weeks later, but Miller was too wise. Then the couple disappeared. Miller saw him twice after that, once about two months ago, but they did not speak.

Hunting For a Candidate

Boston, Sept. 1.—Congressman John R. Thayer, who might himself be the Democratic nominee, if he wished, for governor, has launched a boom for Henry M. Whitney, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the committee on reciprocal trade. Whitney in turn gave the politicians something to speculate on when he said in response to the Thayer interview: "Wait a day or two. I would not say now that I would give the suggestion any encouragement."

Long Journey on 105th Birthday

Meriden, Conn., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt celebrated her 105th birthday by taking an automobile ride, followed by a 100-mile journey on a fast express. Mrs. Hunt, who lives in Brooklyn, is accustomed to spend her birthday with her granddaughter in this city each year. Yesterday she rode from her home in Brooklyn to the railroad station in an automobile. There she boarded the express which brought her to this city without change.

Wages Raised by Judge

Boston, Sept. 1.—The decision of Judge Wentworth of the municipal court, who acted as arbitrator in the recent wage demands of the Carpenters' District council and the employers, was read and adopted by the scale committee of the council last night. The decision is that the carpenters will receive an increase from $3 a day to $3.28 a day. About 6000 will be affected on Oct. 1.

To Have Another Hearing

Boston, Sept. 1.—When arraigned in the municipal court on the charge of the larceny of $3200 from the Republic Consolidated Gold Mining and Milling company, Frank H. Collins was held in $1000 bail for a further hearing Sept. 7. The alleged misappropriation of the company's funds is said to have taken place in December, 1903, when Collins was an officer in the concern.

Thieves Got $18,000 Worth

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 1.—Although there is a large corps of private detectives working on the case, the robbery of the 500-pound safe containing about $18,000 worth of jewelry and some cash from the home of Paul Bonner remains a mystery, the police saying that there is no clue to work upon. Several of the private detectives are working on theories of their own.

Big Find of Alleged Ambergris

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 1.—Julius Wenneberg, Nels Engstrom, Joseph Rice and Henry O. Nelson have secured along the Cape Ann coast about 30 pounds of what they believe is ambergris. They have sent samples to a New York scientist for examination. The market price of ambergris is $30 an ounce.

Mill Hand Hurled to Death

Calais, Me., Sept. 1.—Frank Scott, aged 28, employed in Eaton's planing mill at Milltown, had occasion to go below the flooring of the mill, and in the darkness was caught by the shafting. He was hurled around until his skull was crushed and nearly every bone in his body broken.

New Tennis Champion

Newport, R. I., Sept. 1.—After many years, the aspirations of Beals C. Wright of Boston for the national tennis championship were crowned with success in his defeat of Holcombe Ward of Orange, N. J., the title holder on the Casino courts, in straight sets.

Maine Woods Ablaze

Millinocket, Me., Sept. 1.—A severe fire is raging in the woods in township 7 and the railroad station and bridge at Weeksboro have been burned. The men have been driven from the woods by the fire, but will return if possible to continue fighting it.

Woman's Body Found In River

Providence, Sept. 1.—The body of Eliza Robinson, aged 60, whose home is unknown to the police, was found floating in the Providence river here. The body had been in the water for over a week. There is no suspicion of foul play in the case.

Poisoned by Morphine

Boston, Sept. 1.—Dr. Edward Passoff, a native of Russia, died suddenly last night in his apartments at South Boston. Passoff took an overdose of morphine, which he had been taking of late to induce sleep. He was 50 years old and single.

Sickness Led to Suicide

Providence, Sept. 1.—Despondency, induced by long-continued illness, caused Frank Naser, aged 63, formerly employed as a weaver, to commit suicide by hanging at the home of his daughter in Olneyville.

RULES FOR CYCLISTS.

Quaint Regulations That Are Enforced In Foreign Lands.

In some foreign countries and cities there are rules and regulations for women cyclists which are decidedly quaint, according to the American way of thinking.

Russian women are not allowed to own cycles except by royal permission, and it is sparingly given. In fact, until comparatively lately, there have been but few Russian wheelwomen, and the majority of these belonged to the royal family.

In France women cyclists are plentiful, but a curious law exists which prevents a married woman joining a touring club unless she can present a signed declaration from her husband that he is willing that she should do so.

In Germany women cyclists are obliged to pass an examination before the city police showing that they have perfect control of their bicycles before they can obtain permission to ride in the streets, and they must carry with them their license on their cycles.

In Vienna no wheelwoman is allowed to take her hands from the handle bars while riding in the streets, and in Florence the fair cyclist is compelled to carry two bells on her machine to warn pedestrians of her vicinity.

These rules are all for the special benefit of women and do not apply to men, who doubtless are considered more capable of controlling the vagaries of the giddy wheel.—New York American.

AN OLD WELSH HOME.

Description of an Interior, With Its Sanded Slate Flags.

Robert Fowler in his book, "Beautiful Wales," makes this pretty description of an old Welsh home: "The floor was of sanded slate flags and on them a long, many legged table, an oak settle, a table piano and some Chippendale chairs. There were also two tall clocks, and they were the most human clocks I ever met, for they ticked with effort and uneasiness. They found the hours troublesome and did not twitter mechanically over them, and at midnight the twelve strokes always nearly ruined them, so great was the effort.

"On the wall were a large portrait of Spurgeon, several sets of verses, printed and framed, in memory of dead members of the family, an allegorical tree watered by the devil and photographs of a bard. There were about fifty well used books near the fire and two or three men smoking and one man reading some serious book aloud by the only lamp, and a girl was carrying out the week's baking of large loaves, flat fruit tarts of blackberry, apple and whinberry, plain golden cakes, large, soft currant biscuits and curled oat cakes.

"And, outside, the noises of a west wind and a flooded stream, the whimper of an otter and the long, slow laugh of an owl, and always silent, but never forgotten, the restless, towering outline of a mountain."

PARCHMENT.

It Was Invented by the Greeks When Papyrus Was Scarce.

There is no evidence that papyrus was grown for commercial purposes outside of Egypt during the whole Roman period, and the industry of its growth and manufacture must have been a large and profitable one. In the time of Tiberius a sedition was nearly caused by a scarcity of paper, and a rebellious paper maker, in the days of Aurelian, boasted that he could equip an army from the profits of his business—and did it too.

Parchment was invented by the Greeks when papyrus was scarce, and the middle ages reinvented it. There is evidence that linen rags were used in paper making as early as the eighth and ninth centuries. In paper of that period the fiber was chiefly linen, with traces of cotton, hemp and other fibers. The known specimens are of oriental origin and appear to have been clayed, like modern papers, the material used being a starch paste manufactured from wheat.

The oldest manuscript written on cotton paper in England is in the British museum and dates from 1049 A. D., and the oldest on the same material in the Paris National library is dated 1050. In 1085 the Christian successors of the Spanish Saracens made paper of rags instead of raw cotton, which had been formerly employed.

A Little Mixed.

After a meeting of the parish council in a New England town the chairman rose to sum up.

"You keep us here," he said, "till 10 o'clock at night, and then you cast the town drains in our teeth. You keep us here plowing the sands, and then when all decent people are asleep you go into the public drains, causing unnecessary friction. It won't do—it's too barefaced to hold water."—Harper's Weekly.

A Sharp Seat.

Tommy's Pop (explaining the mysteries of country life)—Yes, a hen will sit on an egg and hatch it. Tommy—Gracious! I should think it would hurt to sit on a hatchet.—Philadelphia Record.

Improving Times.

"Darling, it seems to me that you are more beautiful every time I see you."

"You must come and see me oftener, Jack."—Brooklyn Life.

Are You Hungary?

"Are you Hungary?"

"Yes, Siam."

W. E. Weston Dead.

William E. Weston of Duxbury passed away very suddenly at his home on Tuesday morning, August 29. He had been in his usual good health up to this time, his death being caused by a paralytic shock. Mr. Weston leaves one son and four daughters: Mr. George Weston, Miss Maria Weston and Mrs. George Thompson of Wollaston, Mrs. Ernest Bailey of Duxbury and Mrs. Brannigan, wife of Rev. William Brannigan of Peterboro, N. H. Mr. Weston was 72 years of age. Funeral services were held at his late home, Thursday afternoon, at two o'clock.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ARMISTICE NEAR

Japan and Russia Willing to Suspend Hostilities

FAST WORK ON TREATY

All but Two Articles Practically Completed--Document May Be Ready For Signature by Wednesday of Next Week

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 1.—Russia's consent to a suspension of hostilities reached Witte last night in a cablegram from Count Lamsdorff, whom Emperor Nicholas has empowered to deal with the important phase of the negotiations.

Japan, through Baron Komura, has also agreed to the immediate conclusion of an armistice. At 11 o'clock last night Mr. Takahira went to Baron De Rosen's room and explained that he and Komura had received instructions to conduct negotiations for an armistice. Baron De Rosen immediately communicated with Witte and it is probable that a meeting will be held today for the proclamation of a complete suspension of hostilities preliminary to the arrangement of the details by the two generals upon the battlefield.

So rapidly and well have Messrs. De Martens and Dennison performed the delicate and important task of drafting the treaty of peace that 10 articles have been practically completed. It is expected the treaty will in its entirety consist of 15 articles, exclusive of the preamble. Japan's original demands are said to have been numbered 13. Only 12, however, were presented to the Russians, as President Roosevelt is credited with persuading the Japanese plenipotentiaries before the convening of the conference to withdraw one of the conditions which he regarded as unjust. Whether this 13th demand dealt with the fortifications at Vladivostok cannot be learned.

Having waived three of the demands presented—the indemnity, the interned ships, and the limitation of Russia's naval strength in the Far East—the Japanese final conditions were nine. Several of these, however, will be divided in the treaty, and grouped into two or more articles.

Mr. Witte is exceedingly anxious to sail for home on Sept. 12. In the meantime he wishes to take leave of President Roosevelt and personally present the thanks of the czar for the president's assistance. He is therefore doing what he can to hasten the drafting of the treaty, which he will probably be prepared to sign by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week at the latest, unless some obstacle should arise. The only difficulties which have thus far appeared have been due to the ambiguous language of certain parts of the daily protocols which form the framework of the treaty. It is here that the long experience and recognized authority of the famous international lawyers are proving of assistance to Japan as well as Russia. Both De Martens and Dennison are well grounded in international law and are selecting with great care the language of each article in order that the treaty may furnish no ground for differences in the future, and accurately record the exact spirit, as well as the substance, of the agreements concluded in the conference by the plenipotentiaries. It thus happens that the framers sometimes spend an hour in the selection of one word, to find, finally, that they are both striving to express the identical idea.

Japanese Kept In the Dark

Tokio, Sept. 1.—The foreign office intimates that there will be no publication here relating to the result of the peace conference until a signed copy of the treaty reaches the emperor and its approval is gazetted, which will probably be a month hence, or until Baron Komura appears before the diet and makes a report on the peace conference and its results.

Premier Katsura and Marquis Ito are the recipients of numerous protests and memorials against the versions of settlement of the war as given by the newspapers.

Too Soon For Congratulations

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 1.—When asked whether Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira had received congratulations from their emperor at the conclusion of peace a member of the Japanese mission said: "You should remember our emperor is not premature in his praise. When the treaty is signed his majesty will be the first to congratulate his plenipotentiaries. Togo was not congratulated until Tsushima was an accomplished fact."

Peace Halo Crowns President

Moscow, Sept. 1.—The Russkoi Slovo, having the largest circulation in Moscow, published a two-column eulogy of President Roosevelt and the part he has played during the last three months, saying in conclusion: "To the memories of the Russian and Japanese people the personality of President Roosevelt is crowned with the halo of peace and will last forever."

Effect on the Presidency

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Roosevelt is today the most popular and universally admired man in the world. Politicians and statesmen of all parties unite in singing the praises of the man whose diplomacy brought peace out of the Russo-Japanese war. President Roosevelt, the day after his election, declared he would not run for office again. Yet today is foreseen a practically unanimous call that may compel him to reconsider. The situation is without parallel in American history since the days of Washington.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance

London, Sept. 1.—The conclusion of the new Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance has only now become definitely known to the English newspapers, which are keenly interested in it and are anxiously discussing its probable contents. An important modification binding either power to come to the assistance of the other if attacked by one instead, as in the old treaty, of the two powers, causes inquietude in some quarters, where it is thought to add enormously to Great Britain's responsibility.

Delinquent Circus Managers

Grenoble, Sept. 1.—The remaining destitute persons belonging to the stranded McCaddon's American circus are in a pitiable condition. The management of the circus has not transmitter funds for their maintenance or repatriation. A committee of American residents of Paris is raising a public subscription and is resolved to sue the circus managers for the recovery of the amount expended by the committee.

Jackson's Case Before President

Washington, Sept. 1.—Secretary Bonaparte has forwarded to President Roosevelt for final action the record of the court martial proceedings in the case of Midshipman Robert A Jackson of the battleship Missouri, who mysteriously disappeared from that vessel in the harbor of New York several weeks ago and was subsequently located in Canada.

Germany Has Cholera Scare

Berlin, Sept. 1.—The spread of cholera from two localities on the River Weichsel five days ago to 12 localities extending 150 miles south and its appearance in Hamburg has given an unpleasant thrill to the people of Germany, for it may mean a long and steady fight. In 1892-93 it is estimated that 800,000 persons died in Russia from cholera.

Foolish Deed of a Mother

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—Her antipathy to having a child with red hair led Mrs. Tillie Kugler, 22 years old, to sacrifice her own life. Testimony at the coroner's inquest showed that she inflicted injuries on herself which resulted in her death. Her husband has red hair, and she had a morbid dread of becoming the mother of a child with hair of similar color.

Struck by a Hurricane

North Sydney, N. S., Sept. 1.—Steamer Drot, from Quebec for Manchester, Eng., with deals, which bunkered here Saturday, has returned, having been severely damaged by the recent terrific gale which she encountered off the St. Pierre banks. For a time it was feared the vessel was doomed and her captain and crew gave up hope of ever seeing land again.

For Closed Shop and Eight Hours

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Nineteen of the larger job printing houses of Chicago are without union compositors, the result of a series of strikes inaugurated by Typographical union No. 16 against members of the Chicago Typothetae association, as an organization, to accede to demands for the "closed shop" and that eight hours constitute a day's work.

Forgery Charge Against Woman

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Extradition papers arrived last night from Albany for the surrender of Stewart Kennedy and wife, aged 20 and 16 years, respectively, to officers from Springfield, Mass. Forgery is charged against the woman, and the husband is charged with receiving stolen money. A Springfield bank is the complainant.

Mrs Miller's Big Bequest

New York, Sept. 1.—The will of the late Mrs. Annie S. Miller, who was the wife of Ira O. Miller, an attorney of this city, disposes of an estate valued at $400,000. Of this the New York institution for the blind receives $100,000. The husband and adopted daughter, both of whom possess fortunes, were not mentioned.

Aeronaut Blown to Shreds

Greenville, O., Sept. 1.—Aeronaut Baldwin was giving an exhibition here of the use of dynamite from a balloon for war purposes. He had three sticks of the explosive with him. When he had reached a height of 2000 feet the dynamite accidentally exploded and balloon and man were literally torn to fragments.

$83,000 For Stock Exchange Seat

New York, Sept. 1.—All records of prices of stock exchange seats were broken by the sale of a seat for $83,000 which, with the initiation fee, makes the price $84,000. The seat is said to have been bought by Frank W. Graves, formerly a financial writer on a New York paper.

France Will Press Claims

Paris, Sept. 1.—The French minister at Fez reports that the sultan has released the Algerian citizen, Bouzian, but that he has not given satisfaction for the French demands. The government is determined to press its claims until they are fully satisfied.

Eight Baseball Players Hurt

Kansas City, Sept. 1.—Eight members of the Louisville Baseball club were injured here when a trolley car ran into a wagonette in which the club was riding from the ball park to a hotel. None of the injured men will be able to play for several days.

The Weather Forecast

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
Irrigation is Independence
In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.
"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."
It is traversed by the
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY
Irrigated lands in this valley produce per acre per year as follows:
Alfalfa, three crops, 5 to 7 tons. Oats, one crop, 40 to 90 bu., machine meas.
Timothy, one crop, 2 1-2 tons. Barley, one crop, 40 to 60 " " "
Potatoes, one crop, 300 to 600 bushels.
Hundreds of thousands of acres of land along the Northern Pacific Railway in North Dakota, Montana and Washington are and will be made available for cultivation by government and private irrigation projects. # A DOUBLE WEDDING

[Original.]

Gertrude Brett was an heiress. Heiresses are usually described as fearful that they will be married for their money, but Gertrude had always been used to the possession of wealth and did not appear to realize its value. Besides, she was ingenuous and confiding. Henry Dexter, the son of wealthy parents, loved her, but after deliberation she gave her heart to Clarence Hawley. At any rate, she accepted him.

Gertrude had an intimate friend, Edna Clarke, and those who knew Hawley best declared that if Miss Clarke had been the heiress, instead of Miss Brett, Miss Clarke would have been Mrs. Hawley. What every one else saw Gertrude did not appear to see—that her friend wanted her lover. But Edna, while she was ostensibly Gertrude's friend and confidante, constantly accepting favors that Gertrude's wealth rendered possible, secretly hated the girl who was to wed the man she herself wanted.

But a still greater surprise was in store for them. When it was announced that Gertrude, who had no near relatives living, had made a will leaving half of her fortune to Edna and the other half to Clarence Hawley, people considered it time for some one to interfere. Unfortunately, there was no one near enough to the heiress to go to her and remonstrate. Since she was of age there was no authority to forbid the disposition she had made of her property.

The next thing in this chain of astonishments was Gertrude's sailing for a trip abroad, accompanied only by Edna. It was considered a frightful inducement to crime. Edna, loving her benefactress' affianced husband, inheriting half of her fortune, while Hawley was heir to the remainder, would have every opportunity to get rid of the one who stood between her and wealth and love.

Strangely enough, there was at least every appearance that this extreme view of the case had come about. In Switzerland the two girls joined a party to ascend a mountain. Gertrude insisted on making a detour alone with a guide and separated for some time from the other tourists. When her guide rejoined the party he came without Gertrude, who, he reported, had slipped and fallen into a crevasse thousands of feet deep. This was the story that Edna brought home, and with it she brought ample documentary evidence of its truth. Nevertheless there were those who refused to believe it.

While legal proceedings were being taken to divide Gertrude's estate between the heirs it was announced that Hawley and Edna were engaged. Of course no one was surprised. It was simply considered an inevitable result of Gertrude's infatuation and that if murder had not been committed she had at least induced murder.

Meanwhile Henry Dexter, who sincerely loved Gertrude, went abroad secretly to look into the matter of the accident. But his departure became known. Since it did not seem to trouble the heirs, who were preparing for the wedding, the suspicions that clung to Edna were much allayed.

Cards for the wedding were issued, as usual, some time before the event was to come off. The wealth they were to receive did away with the prejudice against them, and people were looking forward to a brilliant affair. But one morning a week before the day set society met with a shock. Some one—it was supposed through malice—mailed a number of invitations to the wedding of Henry Dexter and Gertrude Brett, to take place on the same day and hour as that of Clarence Hawley and Edna Clarke. There was great indignation at this outrage, as it was considered, and it was supposed that when Henry Dexter returned he would take pains to discover and punish the perpetrator. The bride and groom expectant gave every evidence of being deeply wounded, and feeling, which had been against them, was turned in their favor.

The Dexter cards named the residence of Mrs. Whiting, a wealthy friend of Gertrude, as the place of the wedding, and society was surprised at the report that preparations were being made there for some important event. The night before the weddings, as announced, a startling report was circulated that both Dexter and Gertrude had been seen in town. The last link in the chain was the putting up of awnings leading from the street to Mrs. Whiting's residence.

At high noon the next day both weddings took place. The clergyman had scarcely pronounced Clarence and Edna man and wife before they were assured that at the same hour Henry and Gertrude had also been made one. In a twinkling their anticipations of wealth tumbled like air castles about them.

It turned out that Gertrude had not been so stupid after all. Suspecting her lover and her friend, she had kept her own counsel and laid a plan by which they should have every opportunity to prove or disprove her suspicions. During the mountain climb she had purposely separated herself from the party, bribed her guide to leave her at his home with his wife and report the fictitious accident. After Edna's engagement she had written Dexter, who immediately went to her. It was then that she and Dexter came to a decision as to their relations, and the forthcoming wedding was announced. The only revenge (she considered it rather a punishment for her friends' duplicity and Hawley's intention to marry her for money) that Gertrude cared to take was the double wedding.

AUSTIN A. KINGSLEY.

Mrs. George Sprague has returned from Marion and the Marshfield fair and is now busy preserving, having put up several quarts of blueberries.

William Weston of Newport avenue officiated as organist at the Wollaston Baptist church last Sunday, in the absence of the regular organist, Mrs. C. W. Smith.

Did you buy anything of George W. Jones on Monday, Aug. 7? Today may be the lucky September day.

Mr. and Mrs. David Waugh of Elizabethport, N. J., are guests of Mrs. Daniel Scouler, Madison avenue, Quincy Point.

An inquest was held at Hingham this morning on the death of Patrick Larkin of Quincy, who was killed in a street railway accident at Hingham some weeks ago.

The Plymouth Race.

The Stranger of Quincy had a walkover on Thursday in the race held under the auspices of the Plymouth Yacht club. Only five boats entered: the Nutmeg leading the Rube by 7 seconds in the class for 22-footers, and the Dorchen outsailing the Again in the 18-foot class. A heavy northeast wind prevailed.

This afternoon and tomorrow the Duxbury club holds races, and the Quincy yachts will reach home on Sunday.

Card of Thanks.

Renato Abbonetti of Brooks avenue, who was visited by fire on Thursday desires to express his profound thanks to the firemen for their prompt and efficient work in putting out the fire, which threatened to destroy his home; to John Wood, George Guston and his many American and Italian friends, who so quickly came and assisted in removing his household goods to a place of safety. To all he will ever feel grateful.

TODAY'S COURT.

Angus McArthur was arraigned for creating a disturbance on the steam cars and for assault. Case continued until Sept. 8.

The continued cases of Victor Sainio for larceny at Quincy came up. He was discharged on the Tuominen complaint, and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction on the Vinal complaint.

BOSTON THEATRE.

The Boston Theatre is a hive of industry just now in view of the preparations for the opening of the regular dramatic season next Saturday evening (September 2,) when De Wolf Hopper will appear in the star role, that of King Ecstaticus, in De Koven an Ranken's latest comic opera, "Happyland", which will then have its first presentment on any stage. It is said to be straight comic opera, and it gives to Mr. Hopper a character part entirely original yet somewhat suggestive of this famous comedian's other great comic opera success, "Wang" The seat sale for "Happyland" opened at the box office of the big playhouse last Monday, and ever since then there has been a steady and ever increasing demand. There are two acts and two scenes to the new opera, the first representing the courtyard of the imperial palace at Elysia, and the second the Elysian fields. In both the Messrs. Shubert, producers of "Happyland," have spared no pains to provide an artistic as well as a very elaborate setting.

BORN.

A CITY'S FARM COLONY

Municipal Project of Cleveland to Help the Needy.

VAST TRACT OF LAND PURCHASED

On Thirteen Hundred Acres a Number of Suitable Buildings Will Be Erected For the Poor of the City—When Desirable, Each Individual Will Be Given a Small Plot For Cultivation.

The city of Cleveland, O., has undertaken a municipal experiment which if successful will have much to do with revolutionizing its general attitude toward the treatment of the criminal, dependent and defective classes, says a Ceveland dispatch. Eight hundred and fifty acres of land have been purchased, which, with an adjoining 450 acres recently bought for cemetery purposes, makes a total area of 1,300 acres, or two square miles. This vast tract of land, ten miles from the public square, will furnish advantageous locations for the various institutions which the municipality finds necessary and useful in its department of charities and correction. It will be known as the Cleveland farm colony.

The administration building will be located on the summit of a ridge which traverses the center of the tract, from which is an extended view over the farm and many miles beyond. Located distant from one another will be the house of correction, the detention hospital, a tuberculosis sanitarium, a general hospital for convalescent and chronic cases, a hospital for the treatment of the drink and drug habits, a home for aged poor, a home for cripples and a home for wayward girls.

A municipal hospital car with beds and attendant nurses will be run over the suburban line from the city to the different hospitals on the farm. Special cars will also be employed for the other departments of the colony.

The infirmary or home for aged and defective poor will be one of the first institutions to be removed to the new site. While there will be larger wards for the more helpless as far as possible, the residents will be grouped in cottages. Here separate groups will be made according to nationality and congenial tastes.

Husbands and wives will occupy a part of a cottage by themselves. Each cottage or when desirable each individual will be given a small plot of ground for cultivation. Here will be located not a monumental institution, but a village of unfortunates, with homelike surroundings, sufficient activity to foster a feeling of independence, some room for individual whims and caprices and all in the midst of the free open country, flowers, trees and gardens.

To the residents of the other institutions will be given freedom from city temptations, the privilege of outdoor life and of regaining the normal physical conditions which are important open country, trees and gardens.

Because of mental and bodily defects many of these people have been crowded out of the ranks of the regular strenuous industries in shops and factories. With every industrial depression a larger number of them are forced into the ranks of the criminal and dependent classes. Unlike the crowded factories, the land always furnishes opportunities for the weak and defective to do some work according to their abilities. The men past their prime, the crippled, the feeble minded, who can give only a partial fragmentary day's labor, will here have a fair chance to use their limited talents.

In two square miles of land, with its wooded hills, rolling meadows and plowed fields, with its walks, drives and gardens, with its cattle, sheep and fowl, this farm colony will offer larger opportunities for useful, happier lives for the weak, unfortunate and poor of a great city.

A "SUPERMARINE" BOAT.

Novel High Speed Craft Devised by French Engineer.

A novel form of high speed boat has recently been devised by a French engineer, M. de Lambert, which involves a radical departure from all previous designs of hull, says Harper's Weekly. It is termed a "skating," or "supermarine," boat, for it is constructed to glide along the surface of the water rather than experience resistance by being immersed and passing through. This is accomplished by means of five inclined planes, which are fixed on the bottom of the hull and which when the boat is at rest are a few inches in the water. When the engine is started the hull is raised, so that the boat runs with less resistance on the inclined planes, which then rest on a mixture of air and water.

With a twelve horsepower petroleum motor it is reported that a speed of from twenty-six to twenty-eight knots an hour can be made, a rate not always attained by motor boats with eighty horsepower engines. The new boat is also capable of being handled with considerable facility and stopped readily.

The attainment of high speed by motor boats which run on the surface of the water rather than through it has attracted some attention lately, and an English high speed boat was built where this idea was considered in designing the hull, but the use of the inclined planes to diminish the resistance as successfully carried out is quite novel and will be tried further.

New Harbors For Manila.

Manila is to have two new harbors, one 600 feet long by 70 feet wide, the other 650 feet by 100.

DEITIES OF THE ANCIENTS.

How the Vestal Virgins Were Honored by the Romans.

The principal wind deities were Boreas, the north wind; Zephyrus, the west; Auster, the south, and Eurus, the east wind. The first was remembered chiefly on account of a love scrape. He fell in love with a nymph, but could not speak softly and found himself unable to sigh at all. Knowing that it was impossible to make love without soft speeches and sighs, he was about to give up lovemaking as a bad job and go back to his regular business of blowing, but took advice of an expert, who recommended him to carry off the girl. He did so. She soon got used to his blowing, and they lived happily ever afterward.

Vesta was the goddess of life and of home. Her altar stood on every hearthstone; her fire burned on the floor of every public building. Emigrants when leaving their country always carried with them fire from the public hearth. The Vestal virgins spent thirty years in service—ten in learning their duties, ten in practicing them, ten in teaching novices. After this term had expired they might, if they chose, leave the service of their divine mistress or marry, but few did so. Honors were showered upon them. They rode in chariots, a privilege in Rome accorded only to royalty. The best seats in the amphitheater were reserved for them. They pardoned or condemned the gladiators. If a criminal led to execution met a Vestal he was instantly released, no matter what his crime.

CORPULENCE AND SANITY.

The Gospel of Fat as Applied to the Mentally Afflicted.

Are the majority of folk of weak intellect? Is insanity on the increase? Are we all preparing ourselves for lunatic asylums? These startling questions have occurred to me after reading an article in a medical journal on the "gospel of fat as applied to the treatment of mental disease." It seems that the more you fatten up the mentally afflicted the saner they become, but of course the difficulty lies in providing the lunatic with adipose tissue, as there is nothing like brain disease to cause too, too solid flesh to melt.

The aim of most of us nowadays is to keep down what our transatlantic friends, with their genius for using the ugliest word for everything, uncompromisingly call "flesh." We bathe, we massage, we diet, we fly to these and those waters, we try all manner of cures and put ourselves into various kinds of straps and pastes and take violent exercise with the aim of fining ourselves down and keeping stoutness at bay.

Does this decided disposition on the part of men and women to avoid corpulence and the successful "thinning down" that we notice on all sides portend increase of lunacy? If so, dieting and the taking of waters and massage ought to be forbidden by act of parliament. By the way, Hamlet was fat and scant of breath, but he was certainly far from sane.—London World.

Some Wonderful Figures.

Figures on the light and heat of the sun are the most startling that can possibly be presented. The astronomers measure the amount of heat and light emitted by the sun by estimating that the earth intercepts about the two billion three hundred millionth part of it. Thus it is found that in every second of time the sun emits as much heat as would result from the sudden combustion of 11,600,000,000,000 tons of pure coal. It may be interesting to the reader to know that each portion of the sun's surface as large as this earth emits as much heat per second as would result from the combustion of 1,000,000,000 tons of the best anthracite fuel.

The Laundryman.

There is one branch of trade which runs on in an even tenor regardless of prices and crashes. That is the laundry business. People who patronize laundries never economize on their linen. A man will average about so many shirts, collars and cuffs a week when he is cutting down on his drinks and cigars and his theater tickets. And this observation recalls the fact that the laundryman never has any innovation in his business. He will ruin about so many shirts and collars and cuffs every three months and never say a word about it or make any deduction—if you keep quiet.—Chicago Tribune.

The Festival of Minerva.

The most notable festival at Athens was in honor of Minerva. All classes of citizens on this day marched in procession. The oldest went first, then the young men, the children, the young women, the matrons and the people of the lower orders. The most prominent object in the parade was a ship propelled by hidden machinery and bearing at its masthead the sacred banner of the goddess.

A Crazy Idea.

"Haven't you ever thought of going to work?" asked the farmer's wife of Sauntering Sam.

"Yes'm," replied the veteran tramp. "I thought of it once, but I was deeleeryus at de time."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Schiller's Liking For Apples.

One habit of Schiller's was a passion for the smell of an apple. He used to cut an apple into quarters and keep them in the drawer of his writing table.—T. P.'s Weekly.

Another Victim of His Curiosity.

He—At what age do you think a girl ought to marry? She—Well, I couldn't think of setting the day before next October, George, when I shall be just twenty-nine.—Somerville Journal.

"Walton's Angler."

This insignificant duodecimo volume, not remarkable for any especial literary merit beyond an easy, cheerful, chatty good humor, interlarded with technical information about a strangely fascinating sport, occupies one of the topmost niches in the huge temple of British bibliographical fame. "Worth its weight in gold" is a very inadequate expression. The number of sovereigns its value represents overbalances many copies. Its companion volume, the second part, by Charles Cotton, was not issued from the press until twenty-three years later and naturally increases the already stupendous price when found with the earlier work.

The perennial popularity of "Walton's Angler" is very remarkable. Seldom a year passes that does not witness its reissue in some form or other, either delicate and dear for the connoisseur's shelves or commonplace and cheap for the traveler's pocket. There is a charm about the book which time apparently cannot destroy.

How to Make Beeswax.

The following recipe for beeswax can be vouched for: After the combs have been put through an extractor or crushed and strained through a thin cloth the wax is put in a copper or porcelain lined kettle, with cold water enough to cover it, and boiled for half an hour, or longer if it seems necessary. When the wax is taken from the stove it is strained and poured in a vessel previously dipped in cold water. To make a round cake of beeswax pour the melted wax in a bowl that has been dipped in cold water. To make wax sheets use a board three-eighths of an inch thick, dampened with warm water, then dipped in the melted wax two or three times. The board is next put in water to cool for a little while, after which it is taken out, the edges trimmed with a sharp knife and two sheets of wax peeled off. To make these wax sheets the wax must not be too hot or it will crack.

Sound Waves.

The sensation of sound, as is well known, is produced by a certain to and fro or wave-like movement of the air striking upon the drum of the ear and so setting it in vibration. Each sound wave consists of two portions, in one of which the air is compressed beyond and in the other rarefied below the average pressure. If two sound waves are traveling in the same direction, but one of them starts half a wave length behind the other, the compressed half of one will fall upon the rarefied half of the other, the average air pressure will remain undisturbed, and the two sounds will combine to produce silence. If a sounding tuning fork be slowly rotated near the ear four positions will be found in which the sound will be barely audible. This is due to such interference of sound waves as has been described.

How to Cut Glass.

Glass can be cut without a diamond, and the way is very simple. Dip a piece of common string in alcohol and squeeze it reasonably dry. Then tie the string tightly around the glass on the line of cutting. Touch a match to the string and let it burn off. The heat of the burning string will weaken the glass in this particular place. While it is hot plunge the glass under water, letting the arm go under well to the elbow, so there will be no vibration when the glass is struck. With the free hand strike the glass outside the line of cutting, giving a quick, sharp stroke with any long flat instrument, such as a stick of wood or a long bladed knife, and the cut will as clean and straight as if made by a regular glass cutter.

Napoleon Before the Convention.

When Barras introduced Napoleon to the convention as a fit man to be intrusted with the command the president asked:

"Are you willing to undertake the defense of the convention?"

"Yes," was the reply. After a time the president continued:

"Are you aware of the magnitude of the undertaking?"

"Perfectly," replied Napoleon, fixing his eyes upon his questioner, "and I am in the habit of accomplishing that which I undertake."

First Great Depression.

"What, may I ask, was the keenest disappointment of your career?" asked the anxious interviewer.

The great financier stared coldly at the ink bottle. "It was when I was four years old, I think," he drawled, "when I woke up one morning and found my red balloon shrunken to one-fourth the size of the day before."—Detroit Free Press.

Man and the Dog.

We are alone, absolutely alone, on this chance planet, and amid all the forms of life that surround us not one, excepting the dog, has made an alliance with us. A few creatures fear us, most are unaware of us and not one loves us.—From a Maeterlink Essay.

Supplied a Deficiency.

A Juvenile Thrust.

Mother—Remember, Tommy, an angel is watching over you. Tommy—Aw, ma, don't be conceited!—Chicago News.

OLD SWISS LAWS.

Queer Statutes That Governed Weddings and Wearing Apparel.

"Switzerland had a law that no wedding party should have more than twenty guests—ten men friends of the bridegroom and ten women friends of the bride. No wedding procession was permitted to have more than two singers, two fiddlers and two trumpeters. Married women were forbidden to wear silk or decorated hoods, though maidens might. No woman, whether married or unmarried, was allowed to wear any dress in which the opening for the neck was so large that it did not lie at least two inches wide upon the shoulders, and the gown must not be buttoned or laced up in front or at the side. To restrain the fashion of long pointed shoes it was enacted that no person of either sex should wear a shoe with a point extending beyond the foot enough to allow anything to be inserted in it, nor was any woman or girl permitted to wear laced shoes. No man or boy should wear a coat that did not reach to the knee. Garments were forbidden to be slashed so as to show different colors or kinds of material, and trousers were required to be made without stripes and both legs of the same color. In 1470 one Swiss canton in council assembled enacted that hereafter no one shall make points of shoes or boots longer than one joint of the finger, and if any shoemaker shall make them longer he shall be fined £1, as also the person wearing them.—London Express.

VICE PRESIDENT KING.

He Took the Oath of Office Abroad, but Did Not Live to Serve.

William Rufus King, born April 6, 1786, died April 18, 1853, was a vice president of the United States who never served in that capacity and one who took the oath of office on foreign soil, something which can be said of no other executive officer who has ever been elected by the people of this country. King was an invalid, but his friends urged him to take second place on the ticket with Pierce in 1852.

Both were elected, but Mr. King's health failed so rapidly that he was forced to go to Cuba some two months before inauguration day. Not having returned to the United States by March 4, congress passed a special act authorizing the United States consul at Matanzas, Cuba, to swear him in as vice president at about the hour when Pierce was taking the oath of office at Washington.

This arrangement was carried out to a dot, and on the day appointed, at a plantation on one of the highest hills in the vicinity of Matanzas, Mr. King was made vice president of the United States amid the solemn "Vaya vol con Dios" (God will be with you) of the creoles who had assembled to witness the unique spectacle. Vice President King returned to his home at Cahawba, Ala., arriving at that place April 17, 1853, and died the following day.

A QUAINT OLD CITY.

Bruges, the Chief Industry of Which Is Lace Making.

Bruges lace has been made in the convents of Bruges by old women whose hands have grown stiff clicking the bobbins back and forth, who learned when they were children from other old women, who in turn had learned it from other old women, and so on back for hundreds of years. Lace making is the chief industry of this city of Belgium, the capital of the province of West Flanders, but that it has not made for the prosperity of the place is attested by the fact that in a population of something like 50,000 there are 15,000 paupers. It is a very quaint old city, the corporation of weavers of Bruges having been celebrated in the time of Charlemagne. It reached the height of its prosperity in the fifteenth century, when it was one of the great commercial emporiums of the world and was famed far and wide for its tapestries. The great prosperity, however, led to such extravagant habits in dress and social life that Charles V. was obliged to pass stringent sumptuary laws. Complications between subsequent rulers and the people led to the removal of all trade to Antwerp and the ruin of Bruges as a commercial center, but the name and fame of its lace have been imperishable.—New York Herald.

A Whale's Jawbones.

The jawbones of a whale are sometimes twenty feet in length, and the mouth, when wide open, is 12 by 18 feet. The throat, however, is so small as scarcely to admit a hen's egg. The whale gets his living by straining the animalculae and small fish out of the water he takes into his capacious mouth. It must be slow work, but then he has plenty of time and nothing else to do, so he attends to his eating so regularly that he often accumulates a ton of oil in his bulky system.

Early Rising Royalty.

According to the following entry in Pepys' diary of March 7, 1669, royalty rose somewhat earlier in the day than is the custom now for the purposes of witnessing sport. Pepys says, "I hear that the king (Charles II.) and the Duke of York set out for Newmarket by 3 in the morning to see some foot and horse races."

A LITTLE SHORT.

State and Boston as Well as Quincy Want a Few More.

Percentage of Gain in Population in Quincy Larger than in State, County or Boston.

|---|---|
| STATE POPULATION, | 2,998,958 |
| A little short of | 3,000,000 |
| BOSTON POPULATION, | 593,598 |
| A little short of | 600,000 |
| QUINCY POPULATION, | 28,067 |
| A little short of | 30,000 |

Chief Pidgin reports the population of Massachusetts at 2,998,958, a gain of 498,775 in ten years, and 193,612 in five years. Just 1,042 more are needed to make an even three million.

The 1905 figures for Boston are 593,598, a gain of 96,678 in ten years, and but 32,706 in five years. Just 6,402 short of six hundred thousand.

As previously reported in the Daily Ledger, Quincy has a population of 28,067, a gain of 7,355 in ten years, and 4,166 in five years. Just 1933 short of thirty thousand.

|---|---|
| BOSTON'S PERCENTAGE OF GAIN, | 19.46 |
| MASSACHUSETT'S PERCENTAGE OF GAIN, | 22.62 |
| NORFOLK COUNTY'S PERCENTAGE OF GAIN, | 24.23 |
| QUINCY'S PERCENTAGE OF GAIN, | 35.51 |

The above summary shows that Quincy is increasing faster in percentage than either the State, the county or Boston.

Quincy is also increasing faster in percentage than 28 of the 33 Massachusetts cities.

Faster than 20 of the 25 wards of Boston.

Faster than most of the cities and towns in the Metropolitan district.

Quincy has a population in excess of 20 of the 25 wards of Boston.

Only three of the Boston wards made an actual increase larger than did Quincy.

Climbing Mountains.

This is a fascinating and invigorating pastime. It develops not the body only, but the mind. The Alpine Peaks of Switzerland have their counterpart in our own country, in the Sierras, the Cascades, and parts of the Rockies.

The greatest glacial peak of the United States is Mt. Rainier in Washington, nearly 14,500 feet high. This magnificent mountain has 15 or more giant glaciers creeping down its sides and discharging their glacial detritus into the Columbia river or Puget Sound.

The climb to the summit of this peak is a feat worthy of any mountaineer. For 25 cents A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent of the Northern Pacific Railway, St. Paul, Minn., will send to any address an illustrated booklet called "Climbing Mt. Rainier" describing a climb over the glaciers to be top of the mountain.

DOINGS IN PRISON

Certain Inmates Had Full Run of the Institution

OWNED SAWS AND FILES

Nothing but "Personal Honor" to Keep a "Trusty" From Cell of Murderess Rogers--Alleged Laxity of Superintendent

Boston, Sept. 2.—Details of a surprising character came out in the hearing at Young's hotel before a special commission appointed by Governor Bell of Vermont to investigate the charges of immorality and improper management at the state prison at Windsor, where Mary Rogers, the murderess, is confined, and where she has already confessed to gross misconduct.

The hearing was held in this city for convenience sake only, the governor of the state, the attorney general and several witnesses being here in Boston on other matters.

It came out that certain inmates had full run of the place, that there was access to Mary Rogers' cell, that prisoners were allowed to have saws and files in their cells, and that prisoners had on past occasions been strung up by their wrists in punishment for profanity.

Governor Bell and Prison Commissioners Safford and Williams conducted the inquiry, Attorney General Fitts acting as counsel for the commissioners. Judge Palmer represented former Superintendent of the Prison Oakes and J. W. Enwright acted as attorney for ex-Warden Harpin. The witnesses were Harold W. Harpin, a former guard, and John E. Proctor, who up to last spring was deputy warden at the prison.

Harpin declared that neither he nor his father had ever taken anything away from the prison. Asked about the opportunities Vernon Rogers, a trusted prisoner, had to gain access to Mrs. Rogers' cell, he said:

"Vernon Rogers had the run of the prison excepting the workshop. He was employed in the west corridor, but he went to the engine room and to other parts of the prison when he wished. During the day he had the west corridor to himself. There was no guard in the corridor nor was there any supervision during the day. I used to lock Vernon Rogers up at 9 p. m.

"The locks on the doors to Mrs. Rogers' cell were old-fashioned, and Vernon Rogers could have gone to the tool house and obtained wire or anything else from which he could have made a key."

Mr. Fitts asked: "With the old-fashioned locks in that part of the prison, and with no supervision, was there anything to keep Vernon Rogers and Mrs. Rogers apart, except their personal honor?"

"That was all there was," said Harpin.

When he was on duty during the daytime in the guardroom, Harpin said he had no instructions to look down the west corridor to see what was going on there. From where Warden Harpin's desk stood the witness said it was impossible to see the west corridor.

John E. Proctor, now living in Boston, said he was a guard at the Windsor prison from May, 1900, until September, 1901, and after that was in charge of the prisoners in the shop until a few months before he left, when he was appointed deputy warden.

He testified that during his more than three years of duty in the shop, Superintendent Oakes only went there four times on business, his other visits being when he was showing personal friends over the institution.

The hearing was postponed until a later date, when it will be continued in Vermont.

Denver Flooded With Visitors

Denver, Sept. 2.—Thousands of visitors, attracted by the 39th annual encampment of the G. A. R., which will open here on Sept. 4, are pouring into Denver and the streets present an animated appearance. More than 150,000 visitors are expected. Should it become necessary a proclamation will be issued by the city authorities calling on citizens to throw open their homes to the city's guests.

Turbine Steamer Hard Aground

Montreal, Sept. 2.—The Allan liner Victorian, a new turbine steamer, is hard aground at Cape Charles. She was steaming in a dense cloud of smoke, caused by forest fires. The steamer has 19 feet of water in her forward hold. The 350 passengers are safe and comfortable. The Victorian is blocking the channel.

Strike of Strike Breakers

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Two hundred dock laborers have gone on strike for an increase in wages of 75 cents a day. The strikers were brought here two years ago to take the places of members of the Longshoremen's union, who went on strike at that time, demanding a similar increase.

Murderers Get Life Imprisonment

Detroit, Sept. 2.—Frank N. Weaklie and Tom Sherman of Independence, Miss., were found guilty of murdering Pawnbroker Joseph Moyer in his shop and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Anxiety Over Stromboli Eruption

Messina, Sicily, Sept. 2.—The eruption of the ancient crater in the island of Stromboli, which began Tuesday last, continues to cause anxiety.

A WAGE INCREASE

Fall River Mill Men May Grant It to Forestall Agitation

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 2.—There is no longer any doubt concerning the cause of the rumors concerning a probable advance in wages in the mills. Some treasurers are convinced that it is good business policy for them to anticipate a better margin for profit in the trade and grant a partial restoration of the last reduction, to go into effect about Oct. 1 and remain unchanged for a definite period. They are now engaged in talking the matter over and are trying to induce other treasurers to join with them to secure a voluntary advance.

The officials do not want to take action on wages until the margin actually reaches better than 70 cents, by three or four points, as they are fearful of the results of the precedent which may be set. The margin today is about 69 cents. The only object which will induce them to consent to an advance not warranted by the figures will be to encourage the operatives to work steadier and see if the normal production of the mills cannot be reached. The promise that business will be good for the balance of the year is now generally recognized, and if an advance is agreed to it will simply be to forestall agitation. The matter is being pushed and will receive the attention of the officials of the Manufacturers' association within a short time.

Powerful Light In Commission

Boston, Sept. 2.—At sunset last night the new government lighthouse, the most powerful along the New England coast, flashed out for the first time. The Beacon is located in the most dangerous ledges in the harbor, the Graves, to mark the Broad Sound channel. The light is of the first order, with a brilliancy of 192,000 candlepower and will be visible for 15½ miles in clear weather to the observer 15 feet above the water. The lens cost $10,000. The structure thus far has cost $100,000, but there is still much expensive work to be done.

Broken Pipe Caused Explosion

Boston, Sept. 2.—After a careful investigation, the officers of the fire marshal's office are satisfied that the explosion that occurred in the Hotel Morse, Jamaica Plain, on Aug. 23, when 70 people were gotten out without being burned, was caused by a leak in the gas pipe in the fruit store occupied by Frank Taranto. The investigation showed a break in the union of the gas pipe, and when John Russo, Taranto's brother-in-law, lighted a match, the explosion occurred. Russo died a few days ago as the result of the injuries.

Stabbed Girl He Loved

Providence, Sept. 2.—The condition of Mary Foley, the pretty 20-year-old daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Foley of Boston, who was stabbed by Henry Perfecti, an Italian, 45 years of age, is critical, and physicians look for her death at any time. Perfecti was arraigned on a charge of attempting to kill her, and, waiving examination, was held under bonds of $5000 to await the result of the young woman's injuries. He was desperately in love with her, and when she refused to live with him, he stabbed her in the left breast.

Tars Throng Provincetown

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 2.—Fourteen United States warships and two coal and ammunition steamers lay at anchor off the shore last night with enlisted men numbering 7200 attached. So many men came ashore that the streets were congested. Preparations are being made for target shooting. On Labor day general athletic events will be in order. Wednesday evening will witness the performance of ships' minstrels in the town hall.

Alleged Misuse of Money

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 2.—Police Inspector Fields left here last night for Hartford to get Paul D. Loring, who was arrested in that city on a charge of embezzlement here. Loring and another man solicited funds and advertising alleged to be for the benefit of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. The men are alleged to have used the money for other purposes than they promised to use it.

Rowdies Attacked Police

Salem, Mass., Sept. 2.—Ten members of a large party of young men who came to Salem Willows last night, were arrested, charged with breach of the peace and assault upon the police. The only officer on duty there had attempted to prevent the party from entering a dance hall. A general assault upon this officer took place. Reserves were called and 10 of the party were arrested.

Voluntary Raise of Wages

New Haven, Sept. 2.—An increase of wages to motormen and conductors on the Consolidated railway system is announced by President Mellen. The hour rate for first-year men will be 19 cents and for second-year men 20 cents. The new scale, it is understood, was unsolicited, and affects for the most part railway men who are not members of a union.

Sweet Marie Beats Tiverton

Providence, Sept. 2.—The feature event of the fourth day's racing of the grand circuit meeting at Narragansett park was the $5000 match race between the trotters Sweet Marie, 2:04 3-4, and Tiverton, 2:04½. Tiverton was the favorite, but Sweet Marie took the event in straight heats.

Englishmen Buy Glenwood M

Providence, Sept. 2.—Glenwood M, the racing stallion, was sold here to English parties for $22,000. The horse will be shipped to England Monday. He was owned by Mitchell Bros. of Findlay, O., and was raised in Morrow county, O.

Woman's Health

Every woman may be attractive. Bright eyes, pink cheeks and red lips are her nature-given right. A sallow skin, lack of animation, low spirits and weak nerves may be avoided by the use of Beecham's Pills, a remedy that well deserves the confidence of every woman. Again and again they have proved to be invaluable at those recurring times when so many women feel debilitated and suffer from nervousness, headache and depression. It is wonderful the way these pills assist Nature and relieve the suffering.

ROOSEVELT IS PRAISED

Reviews Generally Opposed to Him Now Give Him Full Credit For Peace Efforts--Anglo-Japanese Treaty Criticised

London, Sept. 2.—The result of the Portsmouth conference is discussed at great length by the London weekly publications, the consensus of opinion being that expressed by The Outlook, which says:

"In the matter of indemnity Japan yielded to inexorable conditions; in the matter of Sakhalin she allowed herself to be outgeneralled." At the same time the general opinion is that in yielding half of Sakhalin Japan may fairly be credited with excellent political foresight which will not be recognized at once by the mass of the Japanese.

Like the daily newspapers, the reviews, even those which seldom lose an opportunity to express anti-American or anti-Roosevelt opinions, give the president unstinted praise for his share in the negotiations. The Speaker, an organ of the Liberal party, says:

"Those who, like ourselves, always mistrusted President Roosevelt's policy and blamed him for certain definite acts, yield to none in recognizing the great service he has rendered the world, to the gratitude of which he is entitled. It is to his initiative, untiring energy and refusal to despair of the successful outcome of the conference that peace is largely due."

The Outlook says: "For this achievement President Roosevelt has received the gratitude and admiration of the rulers and peoples of the world in overflowing measure. Such praise has never before been lavished on an American president. Both for himself and his country, President Roosevelt has won a position of unique and commanding authority."

In connection with a discussion of the future effect of the peace terms, which all the weekly publications admit must mean an entire realignment of Europe, the Anglo-Japanese treaty is given considerable space and is credited with being the preponderating influence in securing the agreement at Portsmouth. The Outlook says: "We shall say at once that the principal factor in securing the utterly unexpected result was the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese agreement."

The Speaker criticises the clause of the new treaty which binds either country to help the other in case of attack by a third, because "for the present the best guarantee against the aggression of European powers in the Far East is the undisputed predominance of Japan, and that guarantee is weakened by an arrangement which puts peace in the Far East at the mercy of quite irrelevant quarrels elsewhere.

"We are," the paper says, "in close relations with Europe in general and intimate relation with France in particular. To confuse those relations by a binding promise to make war on any nation with which this vigorous and competent people, just launching its fortunes on a career of generous ambition, may quarrel, seems to us a grave indiscretion."

Otherwise the reviews accept the treaty in its main particulars as a wise extension of the former alliance and as a strong guarantee of the lasting peace of the world.

Count Okuma, the leader of the progressive party in Japan, contributes an article to The Outlook entitled "Japan's Task After Peace," in which he outlines the possibilities of the development of Japan's trade, the retention of her capital, making her self-supporting by the development of the vast resources in wheat, wool, coal and minerals of Manchuria and Korea. Count Okuma says:

"American and European countries have up to now provided our requirements in corn, flour and malt, but it is obvious that Manchuria, by reason of its geographical position, is a far more suitable sphere for this supply. It also offers the most promising field for the production of sugar from beet root. The Japanese consumption of sugar in a few years will reach half a million tons. Under all circumstances," Count Okuma continues, "the principle of the open door must be guaranteed. New acquisitions of territory are not be thought of and Manchuria must be restored to China when we have pulled up the roots of all future trouble."

THE GARB OF SEAGOING, TRAVELING AND VACATION DAYS.

Pique a Favorite—Sturdy but Smart Serge a Thing to Rely On—Very Chic White Blanketing Wrap—Alpaca For the Autumn.

Pique has substance, which makes it a much better thing on board a yacht than the real muslins and chiffons. Therefore it finds present favor with those who go about in boats of various descriptions. But it is to be doubted whether a taking pique costume can prove so great a comfort as a sturdy serge suit smartly built after the model here shown, with facings of white cloth, stitched blue braid and a narrow white and gold cord, a charming touch of black being introduced in a black and white striped silk employed as crossway bands on the skirt and in the form of a tiny vest on the corsage, a soft belt of dull black kid further emphasizing the sable relief.

Among the standard garments of vacation days is a rough and ready wrap, one, preferably, that is prepared to do duty on sea or land and for minor evening entertainments.

Quite smart in its order is a practical wrap for stormy weather provided in a yachting outfit. White blanketing cloth composes it, trimmed with very coarse braid in a mixture of navy blue and white, with buttons of the braid set in nickel mounts.

For the autumn there is a forecast of a more decided survival of alpaca. Useful though this material is, it meets with decided dislike from many people. But it is now made in very pleasing finish and colorings and accepts in most harmonious fashion a trimming of the plaited silk braid that is so popular at present. These facts weigh greatly in its favor as well as its good wearing qualities for autumn travels and sports. The braid, by the way, should be of the same color as the gown. A little touch of distinction is added to an ordinary motor cap by a pair of wings posed at the edge of the crown, only the wings should be suggestive of sport, those of the wild duck being favorites. On white tweed hats they tend to give a little distinction to these rather flat affairs.

The new fall motoring coats will, it is said, be built of the roughest of tweeds, in which green and tan are prominent colors.

Serviceable trottoir skirts are being built in navy serge and tweeds in the fashionable broken checks.

Polished, carved or poker worked woods of various kinds furnish the latest bit of originality in buttons.

Have Some Early Pansies.

Everybody loves pansies, and it is easy to grow them. A pansy bed must occupy a cool, shady situation and be kept moist in order to obtain good results. To secure early bloom sow seed in August or September, keep well watered and sheltered from the sun, then mulch to protect the young plants during the winter.

Rear Children Like Plants

LUTHER BURBANK'S PLAN TO IMPROVE MANKIND

California's Horticultural Wizard Would Not Terrify Little Ones With the Fear of Hell, but Would Have Their Environment Healthy and Pleasant — Put the Best In Them by Contact With the Best Outside. Let Nature Teach Lesson of Good and Proper Living

Americans of the Future to Be "Morally Beautiful and Intellectually Fit" — Characteristics of Races That Make Up Our Nation Will Show In the Composite With Many Evil Traits Removed. Finished Product to Be Race of the Future

LUTHER BURBANK, the famous naturalist of Santa Rosa, Cal., whose extraordinary achievements in improving fruits, flowers, trees and vegetables have made him famous, recently made the following statement to the New York World's staff correspondent in San Francisco who had asked him if it was possible to cultivate the human race by methods similar to those with which he has transformed the plants:

In my work with flowers and plants and trees I have been led naturally to analogous problems. Man has always figured in my calculations, and as the human species is the highest type of life I could not escape the conclusion that as long as plant life could be controlled by human hands mankind might likewise be subjected to similar influences and the race similarly improved. I did not go out of the way to form these deductions. They came sharply and quickly and naturally and are as much a part of my study today as the production of rare fruits and flowers.

If we hope for an improvement of the human race we must begin with the child, as the child responds more readily to environment than any creature in existence. The change may come in the first generation, and it may not. It may not show at all for many generations, but patience and constant attention will finally reap the reward, and the fruit will be more than worth while. When the test has been made successfully and the product attained it will be a survival of the most beautiful, the most precious or the fittest, whichever you may wish to call it.

The two forces to be considered in reproduction are heredity and environment. A great force is necessary to change the aspect of metals. Great heat or electricity or some such powerful influence must be brought to bear upon them. A less potent influence will work a complete change in plant life. A minimized degree of heat, the sunshine, the atmosphere, all will directly affect the growth of plants and the production of fruits and flowers. And when we come to animal life we find that the force or influence necessary to effect a transformation is very slight. That is why environment plays such an important part in the development of man.

Environment and Heredity.

In child rearing environment is equally essential with heredity. Mind you, I do not say that heredity is of no consequence. It is a great factor and often makes environment almost useless. When the hereditary instincts are indelibly ingrained environment will have a hard battle to effect a change in the child, but that a change can be wrought by the surroundings we all know. The particular subject may be stubborn against the influences of environment, but repeated application to the same modifying forces in succeeding generations will accomplish the desired objects.

All animal life is sensitive to environment. You can change the oyster by gradually changing its environment, and you know the oyster is a very low type of life. Take an ox, a horse, a dog, a man, and that which often counts most in the development of each is environment. Of all animate things the child is the most sensitive. Surroundings act upon it as the outside work acts upon the plate in the camera. Every possible influence acting exteriorly will leave its impress on the child, and the traits which it inherited will be overcome to a certain extent, in many cases almost being even more apparent than heredity. The child is like a cut diamond, its many facets receiving impressions not possible to a pebble, with this difference, however, that the change wrought in the child from the influences without becomes constitutional and ingrained. A child absorbs environment. It is the most susceptible thing in the world to influence, and if that force be applied rightly and constantly when the child is in its greatest receptive condition the effect will be pronounced and immediate and permanent.

Surroundings Change Children.

There is no doubt that if a child with a vicious temper be placed in an environment of peace and quiet the temper will change. Put a boy born of gentle white parents among Indians, and he will grow up like an Indian. Let the child born of criminal parents have a setting of morality and decency, and the chances are that he will not grow into a criminal, but an upright man. Take the girl whose mother is wayward and wanton and change her surroundings while she is still young enough to be affected by the forces of environment, and she will develop into a virtuous and moral young woman. I do not say that heredity will not sometimes assert itself to some extent, of course. When the criminal instinct crops out in an individual it might appear as if environment were leveled to the ground. But in succeeding generations the effect of constant higher environment will become fixed.

We in America form a nation with the bloods of half the peoples of the world within our veins. We are more crossed than any other nation in the history of the world. All the necessary crossing has been done, and now comes the work of elimination, the work of refining, until we get an ultimate product that will be the finest human race known. It is no doubt this is the country which will produce that specimen. Many years will be consumed before the finished work is attained, but it is sure to come. The characteristics of the many peoples that make up this nation will show in the composite with many of the evil characteristics removed, and the finished product will be the race of the future.

In my work with plants and flowers I introduce color here, shape there, size or perfume, according to the product desired. In such processes the teachings of nature are followed. Its great forces only are employed. All that has been done for plants and flowers nature has already accomplished for the American people. By the crossing of bloods strength has in one instance been secured, in another intellectuality, in still another moral force. Nature alone could do this. The work of man's head and hand could not be summoned to prescribe for the development of a race.

A preconceived and mapped out crossing of bloods finds no place in the making of peoples and nations. But when nature has already done its duty and the crossing leaves a product which in the rough displays the best human attributes all that is left to be done falls to environment.

Greatest In Man Not Yet Attained.

Man has by no means reached the ultimate. The fittest has not yet survived. In the process of elimination the weaker will fall. The fittest of the future is not the fittest of the past. With proper rearing and education of the child a race will evolve which will be the morally beautiful and the intellectually fit. I do not think that man today has attained the greatest that is in him. We have what are popularly known as five senses, but there are men of strong minds whose reasoning has rarely been at fault and who are coldly scientific in their methods, who attest to the possibility of yet developing a sixth sense. Who is he that can say man will not develop new senses as evolution advances? Psychology is studied in the public schools throughout the country, and that study will lead to new knowledge in psychic thought. The man of the future ages may prove a somewhat different order of being from that of the present. He may look upon us as we today look upon our forbears.

Sometimes I am appalled when I read of the increase of insanity, suicide, murder, the ills of the flesh. Statistics show many things to make us pause, but after all the proper point of view is that of the optimist. The time will come when insanity will be reduced, suicides and murders will be fewer and man will become a being of few ills and bodily troubles.

Finest Human Product Ever Known.

Wherever you have a nation in which there is no variation there is comparatively little insanity or crime or exalted morality or genius. Here in America, where the variation is greatest, the statistics show a greater percentage of insanity and all other variations. As time goes on in its endless and ceaseless course environment will crystallize the American nation. Its varying elements will become unified, and the weeding out process will probably leave the finest human product ever known. The color, the perfume, the size, the shape, that were manumitted in plants will have their analogies in the composite, the American of the future.

And now what will hasten this development most of all? The proper rearing of children. Don't feed the child on dogmatic religion; give him nature. Let his soul drink in all that is pure and sweet. Raise him amid pleasant surroundings. If he come into the world with a soul groping in darkness let him see and feel the light. Don't terrify him in early life with the fear of an after world. There never was a child that was made noble and good by the fear of a hell. Let nature teach him the lessons of good and proper living, combined with a well balanced nourishment. That child will grow to be the best man or woman. Put the best in him by a contact with the best outside. He or she will absorb it as a plant does the sunshine and the dew.

JAPAN'S FIVE ARMIES.

How Russia Estimates Her Foe's Strength In the Field.

According to the Russki Invalid, the Japanese armies in the field number from 550,000 to 600,000 men. That is the Russian official estimate. This force consists of nineteen divisions, six of which are newly formed, and twenty-two reserve brigades. The battalions number from 388 to 404, giving a total of from 430,000 to 450,000 bayonets. Leaving out the reserve and depot force, the cavalry numbers at least seventeen regiments.

General Kuroki of the First army has from 104 to 108 battalions, equal to 115,000 to 120,000 bayonets. General Oku of the Second army has 100 to 104 battalions, numbering 110,000 to 115,000 bayonets. General Nogi of the Third army has 76 to 80 battalions, composed of 85,000 to 90,000 bayonets. General Nodzu, Fourth army, occupies the center of the Japanese armies with 40 battalions and 45,000 bayonets. General Kawamura, Fifth army, closes the list with 66 to 70 battalions, comprising 73,000 to 80,000 bayonets.

All these five armies have telephonic connection and are so placed that they can act in quick conjunction with each other. In addition an army is mobilized for the maritime provinces.

The Tent Cure In Kansas.

A stranger in Paola, Kan., is impressed by the great number of tents in all parts of the town and is naturally curious until he is told that there is a fad there for sleeping outdoors, says a Paola dispatch. It started early last summer and has grown steadily, as each one who has tried it tells of the benefits he has received from sleeping outdoors. "Since I began to sleep in a tent," said a follower of the fad, "I feel much better. Before I began to sleep outdoors I never felt refreshed when I got up in the morning. Now I feel bright and am able to do my work much better."

Apples Kept For a Year In Icehouse.

Alonzo Wolfe, a well to do farmer in Lake township, Luzerne county, Pa., has for years been trying to study out how to keep apples for a year or more, says the Wilkes-Barre Record. Last September he put two bushels of his selected Northern Spy apples in his icehouse and kept them at a certain temperature. The other day he carted them to Wilkes-Barre, where they brought a big price. They had not a spot or blemish on them and were as hard as a rock. They were simply perfect and the only year old apples to be had in this valley.

Peace Brings Prosperity

New York, Sept. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that peace and prosperity succinctly express the results of an eventful week. International mercantile markets responded to the cessation of hostilities, and a period of commercial development may be expected to follow the return of confidence. Capital that had been diverted into bellicose channels will be used for construction instead of destruction, and the United States will secure a stronger hold on the markets of the Orient. Domestic reports are scarcely less encouraging.

Government Control of Railroads.

Just at the present moment, when the subject of municipal and government ownership of public utilities in this country is absorbing so much attention, says the New York Herald, the utterances of W. J. Sowdon, editor and proprietor of the Adelaide (South Australia) Register, Journal and Observer, who is a commissioner of his government sent here and to other countries, are illuminating. Mr. Sowdon is a member of the Board of Governors of the National Public Library, Museum and Art Gallery Commission.

He is also president of the national reform political organization.

"We have had a sad experience with government ownership," said Mr. Sowdon, who is quartered at the Hotel Manhattan. "Nearly all of our public utilities are administered by government, with the result that politics dominate them and the public service is wofully misadministered. Not all of the tramways are in the hands of the government, but with the slovenly example of the government railroads and government tramways to copy we find ourselves in a sad way.

"To begin with, the service is controlled by the premiers of the various provinces, who represent the dominant political parties and run the railroads largely as personal political properties. The roads do not pay properly, the tariffs on passengers and goods are high compared with yours, and the employes, having life posts, are not amendable to discipline or to public sentiment."

Fred Herbert Littlefield.

Mr. F. H. Littlefield died at his home in South Braintree, Friday, Sept. 1, in his 37th year. He was born in Ogunquit, Maine, and completing his school work, devoted his energies to learning the shoemaker's trade at which he became a skilled cutter.

He came to South Braintree from Chelsea only a short time ago for his health and employment. Mr. Littlefield has made a host of friehds here by his genial and happy disposition and will be greatly missed by them.

He has had a long and lingering illness and his death came as a happy release. A devoted wife, two sisters and a brother mourn his departure. His body will be taken to Maine for burial.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

Social Realm.

Miss Corinna Wilde of Billings street, has just returned from Long Island in Lake Winnepesaukee, where she evidently made the best of a two weeks' outing.

* * *

Mrs. F. A. Clapp and daughter of East Milton are to spend the coming week at North Scituate beach.

The fourteenth reunion of the descendants of Captain John Locke, was held on Wednesday, at Rye, N. H. Capt. Locke settled at Ragged Neck, Rye, in 1640, and has descendants all hrough the country who each year in August keep his memory alive by meetngs of the Locke Family association.

Mrs. E. C. Richards with her sister Mrs. Harriet B. Bachelder and Miss Martha B. Loud and Miss Florence Pierce, all of Weymouth, are enjoying an outing at York beach, Maine. An excursion to Portsmouth was a pleasant side trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Carter of Farnum street will entertain their cousin, Mr. Joseph Tandvin of Providence, over the holiday.

Mr. Scott Courtney of New York City is the guest of Miss Genevive Wilson of Squantum street, Atlantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Melville Rand announce the marriage of their daughter, Vaun Leonora, to Mr. Ernest L. Brightwell, Friday evening, September 1, at North Weymouth.

Mrs. Henry Kolseth of Walker street has returned from summering at Sandwick, N. H., and the mountains.

The engagement is announced at Milton of Miss Lillian Pearle Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Woodward, and Mr. Davis Littlefield.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Stover, Bates E. and Miss Florence Ellen, of Braintree returned Tues- day from Cottage City, where they have spent the summer at the Grand View house. Bates E. was the manager of the house and reports a prosperous season.

Miss Lora Hunt of Wollaston is the guest of Miss Jeannette Sherman of Weymouth.

Hon. and Mrs. J. White Belcher of Randolph have returned from an outing of several weeks at Poland Springs, Maine.

Mr. T. A. Watson of Braintree returned from their summer outing at Marshpee some weeks since but their portable-house at that place has been occupied by Lawyer and Mrs. Tyndale of Commercial street, Weymouth, who have entertained Justice Gray and party of Missouri. Early next week the camp will be broken up and all will return to their homes.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Weinschank of Clive street has gone to Bath, Maine, for a few days.

G. W. Bass and C. E. Price of Hyde Park are among the new cottagers at Adams shore, where they will spend the month of September.

Misses Ella M. and Eliza Pitts of Water street, Atlantic, have returned from Brant Rock where they have been enjoying a most delightful time at the summer cottage of Mr. Robert W. Johnston of Boston. This being Miss Ella's first absence from business in years, a special programme had been arranged. The gems of the evening on Sunday, were zither and piano selections which Mr. Charles Bailey of Brooklyn, N. Y., played exquisitely with Miss Anna McCarthy's accompaniment on the piano. On Monday morning, the dining-room presented an unusually attractive appearance when two rooms were turned into one and 26 guests took breakfast, the long tables being decorated with goldenrod and other brilliant blossoms. Mrs. Colcord of Chicago, the chaperone, looked especially well in a creation of ecru crash. At the conclusion of the breakfast, a long ride in two touring cars to the Lawson estate in Egypt was enjoyed.

MAYOR THOMPSON A CANDIDATE.

Believes the Citizens Endorse His Administration and will Give Him a Re-election.

Mayor Thompson is a candidate for reelection. To a representative of the Daily Ledger this morning he said that he had never had any other intention. He had heard rumors circulated by persons who were wholly unauthorized that he was not to be a candidate.

He wished to deny emphatically all such rumor. It was customary with the Republican party to give all candidates a renomination, and he believed they would not divert from that custom this year.

The talk about his withdrawing on account of his health was all poppycock.

He says his health is prime. He never felt better than now. Three square meals a day and a good night's sleep, and awake every morning thoroughly refreshed.

Mayor Thompson said that he believed that the many rumors had been instigated by some one who had irons of his own in the fire.

He further stated that it had been his endeavor to give the city a businesslike administration, looking carefully after the city's interests, and he believed that the citizens would endorse his administration and accord him a renomination and reelection.

Among the visitors to the Dorothy Q house yesterday were Mrs. C. S. Chase and Miss Chase of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. John E. Young of Portland, O., Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth of Quincy and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Crane of East Braintree will take a few days' outing at West Randolph, Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Brightwell (Vaun Rand,) whose marriage took place at North Weymouth last evening, will spend their honeymoon in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Harding and family of Braintree returned from Bridgton, Maine, on Monday.

Miss Myra Kelly, author of "Little Citizen," and other stories of New York East side life was married on Sunday afternoon to Allan Mac Naughton of Teaneck, N. J. Those who attended Miss Kelly's readings last spring at the Quincy Mansion school have pleasant recollections of the charming young authoress, and wish her every happiness. She will continue to write, using her maiden name.

Miss Mattie Holton of Edwards street has returned to New Hampshire, where she will soon take up her school duties.

Miss Florence Killian entertained a party of friends at Braintree on Monday evening in compliment to Miss Margaret M. Whelan of New York. Her reputation as a first class entertainer was well sustained. Her circle of admiring friends strengthened and widened.

Miss Fanny Ellsworth, recently of the Granite Bank, has gone on a visit to her brother James at Chicago.

John Herman Loud of Newton, while in Braintree Monday, visited the Union church and played selections on the organ for Rev. Oliver Huckel of Baltimore. It will be remembered that Mr. Loud was organist at the old church when Dr. Huckel was pastor and afterward they spent two years in Europe studying in their respective professional lines of thought and expression.

Miss Julia E. Underwood Interviewed by Representative of Human Life.

The eyes of Quincy people have been attracted toward the newsstands this week by a familiar face on the cover of a magazine. "Human Life" for September contains a sketch of Miss Julia E. Underwood and has given her such prominence that a speaking likeness adorns the front cover. The portrait is surrounded by laurel and white wings of peace, while below is an army of school children marching along in a solid body. In the lower left hand corner is a book marked "kindness" surmounted by a loving cup, while in the right hand corner is a book marked "wisdom," surmounted by a torch. The whole is emblematic and a fitting tribute to Miss Undewood's record of fifty years as a teacher in the public schools of Quincy, and show why she was so successful.

The number contains a score of interesting articles about teachers—"the noble women who guide the children of America into the light of learning and true culture."

Only one other woman, however, in the list has taught fifty years and she resigned at the end of that period, while Miss Underwood continues on, having taught one term over fifty years.

Teachers do not occupy all of this bright monthly, as the series of articles on "Man fishing of life insurance" by Alfred Henry Lewis are more interesting than the Lawson story. There are other illustrated articles just as sparkling.

The interview with Miss Underwood is given below in full. Some is old, but not all and it is very interestingly told.

Miss Julia E. Underwood of the second primary grade of the Coddington school of Quincy, Mass., has devoted more than fifty years of her life to teaching the young idea how to shoot. From her girlhood she has been answerable for the budding of countless trees of thought. At the tenderest age the slender twigs have been given into her keeping, and by her firm yet gentle hand they have been guided and nourished, that they might grow to be strong branches and solid trunks.

Has she succeeded? It is plain that you have not had the opportunity of meeting her or you would have never asked that question. Since you don't know her, then will you accept the word of those who do? At Quincy everybody knows her, honors her and loves her. Their testimonials and tokens of esteem have taken the form of public events. The man in the office and the man at the bench, the woman of the mansion, and the woman of the shop, the youth and maiden, the boy and girl, have all of them gathered, and on more than one occasion, to make "dear Miss Underwood" happy with their good wishes and congratulations.

To make "dear Miss Underwood" happy is to gladden one's own heart, for there is sympathy in her smile, in her handshake, and in her voice. Should you be permitted to enjoy a half-hour's chat with her you would find out for yourself that what I have said is quite true.

It was during the vacation days now passing that Miss Underwood consented to be "interviewed." You see I have quoted "interviewed," because it didn't seem like an interview at all. How could I be the guest of one so delightfully interesting and informal as Miss Underwood and then tell the readers of Human Life, in all the chilliness of a lineotype slug, that I had "interviewed" her?

Seated in a comfortable old-fashioned rocking-chair, Miss Underwood sat "resting." She had just returned from a nineteen-days' trip across the American continent, a part of which was formed by a three days' visit at the Lewis & Clark Exposition, Oregon, and she was—yes, I have her permission to say it—idle.

As I entered the room Miss Underwood advanced to meet me and I noted a delicious little twinkle in her eye. "She is no conventional 'schoolma'am," thought I, as she shook my hand cordially, and bade me to be seated. The truth of my observation was so obvious that I rebuked myself for having made it or for having thought that I might find her "put out," as some schoolma'ams have been known to be.

There was no brusqueness in her manner, no suggestion of "Bring that paper to me this instant," that I confess I had half expected to find. Instead, we fell to talking as though our acquaintance had covered as many years as it had seconds.

First of all, she told me about the Lewis & Clark Exposition and what she had seen on her trip. Then she said: "You have no idea of the grandeur of it all." But I soon did have, and a very good idea, too, and I received it in no other way than from her very complete description.

As the moments sped by and Miss Underwood showed me her collections of souvenirs and told how kind everybody had been to her, I understood why it was that Cy Warner, the author of those brilliant railroad stories, had, without preparation, written an original sentiment in verse, dedicated to Miss Underwood and scribbled on a page of her note-book.

Cy Warner was presented to Miss Underwood on a train while she and her party were whirling toward the Portland fair. Miss Underwood like the others, wanted Mr. Warner's autograph. Mr. Warner was pleased to give it and to add a word or two more, so this is what he wrote:

"Though woman has caused all our sorrow,
And filled this wide world full of woe,
I wouldn't exchange it tomorrow
For a heaven where women don't go."

Miss Underwood shrinks from publicity. There has never been anything pretentious in her devotion to the juveniles of Quincy's three generations. It has been deep in her heart and in the hearts of those about her and therefore better understood in silence. But there the sentiment is, and being a true sentiment it must come to the surface.

Anniversaries and anniversaries, have a rightful claim to be celebrated when they mark such a proud distinction as is hers, have brought Miss Underwood from the modest little schoolroom to the front of the world's stage where the public may see her.

When she was twenty-five years a teacher they gave her a watch, on which was inscribed by no less a distinguished personage than Charles Francis Adams, "Presented to Julia E. Underwood, March 25, 1880, in recognition of twenty-five years' faithful service as teacher of little children."

Again, when the calendar marked for her the end of forty years at the Coddington School, there was a gathering of pupils and teachers, and Miss Underwood was given flowers, gold pieces and a rocking-chair.

Little children alone have come under Miss Underwood's loving care since she took up the work. She was not one of those teachers who accepted her duties as one does the weather and tries to feel impervious to the unpleasant features, but she studied the young minds and thought how best the "flowery path of learning" could be made most attractive.

"Natural reading," as she describes it, was one of her greatest achievements, but only one. In this way she was trying to ascertain the best method of giving the young minds that which would help them to a better understanding of things.

Don't think that Miss Underwood is a primary teacher and has always been a primary teacher because no other grades were open to her. That isn't the reason, no, not at all. Miss Underwood has had the most flattering offers to take up work in higher grades, not only in Quincy, but in other places seemingly fully as desirable. She, however, is an educator by instinct, and that same intuition has taught her that in the primary grades, where the pinafores and the short pants make their combined debut, her abilities can best be applied.

It is not to be supposed that Miss Underwood's amiability is alone accountable for her success. One could never have done the work she has and depended solely upon one's own good nature and its effect upon others. She is competent, capable and conscientious, and in consequence all the more appreciated.

Miss Underwood was born in Quincy, Jan. 9, 1837, and was the daughter of the late Beverly and Louisa Underwood. Her schooling was begun in a building which stood on precisely the same spot where the Coddington school now stands.

When at eighteen years she assumed the duties of instructor, the present Coddington school was in process of erection, and Miss Underwood's class was assembled in a room in the old town hall which was better known at the time as the Lyceum. The school building was completed in time for the opening of the fall term, 1855, and from that date she has taught in that building.

Miss Underwood is to take up her duties again this fall. I know that Quincy people are glad of this, for they have told me so, and for my part I congratulate them.

TWO FIRST PRIZES.

Marvel and Eclipse Led Their Classes at Duxbury.

Thirty yachts participated in the races at Duxbury yesterday, and Quincy boats carried off the honors in two classes.

The Marvel won in the Cape cat class defeating her old rival, the Hustler, by 6 minutes, 30 seconds, corrected time.

In the first handicap class, Vice Commodore Sawyer of the Squantum club won out with the Eclipse, defeating As You Like It by three minutes.

The wind was light from the southwest. The summary:

CLASS D—CAPE CATS.

Reunion of Hose Company.

An old-fashioned clambake will be the attraction for the members and friends of the Washington M. French Hose Association on Labor Day. As previously announced, it will be held on the farm of the late Samuel Adams at Germantown, and there has been an unusually large request for tickets. The committee includes Frederick H. French the president, Frank C. Packard, Jesse F. Curtis, James E. Maxim and Asa Pope. The bake will be opened at 3 P. M.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given Miss Margaret Fay at her home on Penn street Thursday evening. The invited guests were as follows:

Florence McDonald
Bucher Campbell
Annie Nightingale
William Cummings
Ethel McDonald
Edward Carson
Lillian Riddler
John Soutter
Mamie Warmington
Stanley Collins
Ada Cole
Hugh Opie
Margaret Lennon
Gilbert Booth
Henrietta Vendrit
Arthur Austin
Bertha Vendrit
John Malnati
Nellie Nightingale
William Pratt
Elmer McDonald
Lizzie Fay
Charles Negall

The present was presented by Miss Henrietta Vendrit. There were games played and refreshments were served.

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf —Vacation time is nearing an end.

SUDDEN DEATH.

John T. Hayward, the Well Kown Painter, Passes Away.

John T. Hayward of 55 Chestnut street for nearly half a century a well known house painter of the firm of Willam V. and John T. Hayward passed away suddenly at sunrise this morning. Not arising at the usual hour, an attempt was made to arouse him but life was extinct, he having died within an hour, probably when he was heard to cough.

Mr. Hayward was in good health, and last evening was with friends at the residenee of Engineer Frank C. Packard. Today he contemplated a visit to Boston. He leaves two brothers, William V. and Ward L.

Mr. Hayward was born in Quincy, and has always made it his home. He was a graduate of the Coddington school, and early became a painter by trade, which business he followed with success until a few years ago, when the firm of W. V. and J. T. Hayward retired from business.

He was never married, being always reserved. There never was a squarer man. He did honest work, and was honest in all his dealings. He has made his home with his brother William and family, and all have together enjoyed a commodious new house on Chestnut street for the last few years.

The funeral will be on Monday at 2.30 and the burial will be at Scituate.

Bellevue Park and Montclair.

The water department have laid the pipes for the city water to the new house on the corner of Broadway and Bowdoin streets. They have also placed a hydrant on the corner. This will be a great advantage in case of fire, for this part of the city is a long distance from either the Wollaston or Atlantic hose house.

A petition is being circulated by the citizens and tax payers on the western side of Norfolk Downs station, requesting the city council to lay out and accept as a public way, that part of Broadway situated between Farrington street and Newport avenue. A large number of people pass along this street each day, and it seems only just, that the city council should grant this request. There is also great need of an electric light in this part of the city.

Mr. Melanson of Squantum street launched a handsome steam launch a few weeks ago. Mr. Melanson built this launch entirely himself; and is going to name it Elizabeth in honor of his youngest child.

Miss Nellie Spear and Mrs. Spinney respectively of Nashua and Roxbury are visiting Mrs. E. F. Parlee of Pope street, this week.

Master Clement Melanson while bathing the other day stepped upon a broken bottle and cut his foot very badly. It is feared that blood poisoning may set in.

Harry A. Sutherland of Columbia road, Dorchester, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Olin A. Holbrook of Broadway.

Some one shot a valuable dog belonging to Master Leslie Dicey injuring it severely. This was purely maliciousness for the dog was a pet and never known to trouble anyone.

Charles Quail, of Broadway, who broke his shoulder bone, about two months ago, is slowly improving. He was on the training ship Maryland.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

SAKHALIN RIGHTS

Reports of Misunderstanding on Part of Envoys

ARMISTICE HANGS FIRE

Operative Only Upon Signature of Peace Treaty by Envoys--Sharp Criticism of Peace Terms Both In Russia and Japan

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 2.—The only possible hitch on the horizon of the peace conference, according to reports current here, which, however, are not officially confirmable, arises out of an evident misunderstanding over the question of the neutralization of the Island of Sakhalin.

According to the Japanese, the understanding reached on Tuesday contemplated a mutual obligation on the part of the two countries not to fortify their respective possessions on the island. At St. Petersburg, however, there seems to have been an assumption that the agreement involved freedom of action upon the part of Russia in this respect in the north of Sakhalin, with an obligation on the part of Japan not to fortify or use for strategic purposes the portion owned by her before 1876, which is to be retroceded in the present treaty.

It is expected on both sides, however, that the hitch, if it really exists as reported, will shortly be straightened out.

The effect of the armistice concluded yesterday is that it becomes operative only upon the signature of the treaty by the plenipotentiaries and continues until the final exchange of ratification of the emperors of the two countries. It is for this reason that the plenipotentiaries, who will themselves convey to their respective capitals the momentous document, which to become binding must receive the signatures of their respective emperors, are anxious to leave at the earliest possible date.

Japan displayed her usual caution in insisting that the armistice should not take effect until the treaty of peace had received the signatures of the Russian envoys. It is not unlikely that this attitude grows out of some distrust of the steadiness of the czar's purpose, though Mr. Sato gives quite another reason. The report that there is danger of the czar's repudiating the terms accepted by his envoys is flatly denied in St. Petersburg, and is probably not true. The Japanese, however, evidently feel justified in guarding against any sudden outbreak by the Russian war party.

As comment on the terms of peace accumulates, it is apparent that the treaty will meet with a cold welcome in Russia, and possibly too warm a one in Japan. St. Petersburg court circles are reported to be disgusted with Witte's concessions, which are said to have been made in deference to foreign opinion, and in full belief that Japan's insistence on indemnity would block the negotiations and make these concessions harmless.

The Japanese, on the other hand, feel that the results are not adequate to the military efforts the country has made. The precise terms are not yet known in Japan, but the press is assuming that too much has been yielded, and is bitterly attacking the Katsura government. Meantime the drafting of the treaty is making rapid progress.

Fraud In Insurance Writing

New York, Sept. 2.—Evidence of extensive fraud in the writing of life insurance on risks known to be bad has been brought to the attention of the Armstrong legislative committee. It is asserted that in this class of fraud there has been collusion between the officers and agents of companies of high standing. Subpoenas summoning the medical examiners of some of the big companies to appear before the committee have already been prepared.

No Case Against Clarke

Kingston, Ja., Sept. 2.—Dr. Franklin Clarke of Boston, who was arrested here and tried before the chief justice for breach of the official secrets act by taking photographs of the fortifications at Port Royal, has been liberated. The chief justice summed up in favor of the prisoner, but the jury failed to agree. The case was hopelessly weak and a nolle prosequi was entered.

Nunez Suspends Opponents

Havana, Sept. 2.—Governor Nunez has suspended the seven remaining Liberal members of the Havana municipal council. The reason given for this act is that the Liberals unlawfully continued the session in which they claimed to have elected Nodarse, the anti-Nunez candidate, for mayor, despite the fact that Acting Mayor Bonachea had suspended the session.

Guarding Against Future Disaster

Washington, Sept. 2.—Secretary Bonaparte has issued a circular to officers of the navy relating to the duties of engineer officers on watch. The inference is that the explosion of the boilers on the Bennington prompted the action, which calls attention to the naval regulations regarding the duties of engineer officers.

Wireless Station For St John

St. John, Sept. 2.—A wireless telegraph station is to be established on Partridge Island, at the mouth of St. John harbor. Work will be begun next week and will last about a month. The station is being erected under direction of the Canadian government.

DARING BURGLARY

Lawyer's Residence Relieved of $100,000 Worth of Property

New York, Sept. 2.—Jose Aymar's residence at 76 East Fifty-Fourth street has been plundered during the past week of jewelry, bric-a-brac, paintings, silver, etc., worth, it is alleged, more than $100,000. The police made the robbery public late last night and a policeman was put on guard at the plundered house.

Aymar is a millionaire lawyer. He married eight years ago Miss Lillian L. Vanderbilt. The family went to Point-Au-Pic, P. Q., last June to spend the summer. A caretaker of adjacent property heard noises of persons moving in the Aymar house during the last week, but paid no attention to them until Thursday evening, when, at 7 o'clock, she saw three suspicious looking men walk out of the basement door carrying bundles and bags. She notified the police. The thieves had even made beds on the floor to sleep on during the intervals of labor.

The police telegraphed Aymar and he wired his valet to take charge at the house. "There was $200,000 worth of paintings, jewelry, silver and bric-a-brac in the house," said the valet last night, "and fully half of it is gone."

Horse Races Led to Downfall

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Charged with forging the signatures of his brothers to mortgages and drafts which enabled him to draw on the funds of his father's estate, of which he and a brother were administrators, Robert Wuarz, 24 years old, was arrested last night. Carl Wuarz, a brother, came to Chicago from New York when he heard that more than $10,000 of an estate of $42,000 had been misappropriated by Robert. Betting on horse races is said to have led the prisoner into trouble. The will was probated in Danbury, Conn.

Unceremonious Indeed

St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—A deputation of Livonians asking for the removal of martial law in Livonia called upon General Trepoff and received a very unceremonious reception. Trepoff bluntly told them that the government was resolved to suppress the disturbances, no matter what loss of life might be incurred thereby. He ordered the deputation to leave St. Petersburg forthwith and threatened that if the Livonians did not do so they would be proceeded against.

Boozy Mayor Condemned

Atlanta, Sept. 2.—The city council last night adopted resolutions condemning Mayor Woodward for his conduct at the recent meeting of the League of American Municipalities at Toledo. The resolutions declare that while Woodward was attending the convention in his official capacity he appeared on the floor of the convention in a state of partial intoxication and made a spectacle of himself, bringing discredit upon this city.

Printers May Order General Strike

Chicago, Sept. 2.—A spread of the Job printers' strike to other cities is a possibility following the arrival of President Lynch of the International Typographical union. After the conference an order may be issued calling out printers in several large cities where the National Typothatae has shops. The employers here claim they are getting in first-class non-union men rapidly.

A Chance For Architects

New York, Sept. 2.—Prizes amounting to $15,000 are offered to architects for the five best plans for the peace palace to be used by the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague. Architects of all nations are eligible, according to the prospectus issued by the Carnegie foundation. The palace contemplated in the announcement is to cost about $640,000.

To Become an American

Cleveland, Sept. 2.—Disappointed because the Japanese government renounced all indemnity in the peace settlement and did not insist on greater territorial acquisitions from Russia, Sinosuke Kitani, a local Japanese merchant, has renounced his allegiance to the Japanese emperor by taking out his first naturalization papers.

Sailors' Severe Experience

St. Johns, Sept. 2.—The Norwegian bark Capella, from Gaspe for Preston, Eng., lumber-laden, was towed here waterlogged, having met terrible weather, during which her deckload was swept overboard and her bulwarks demolished. The crew was forced to spend 24 hours lashed to the rigging.

Warships' Engines Too Big

London, Sept. 2.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says that the three battleships now in course of construction, the Andrei Pervozvannui, the Imperator Pavet I, and the Ivan Zlatoust, cannot be completed because their engines have been found to be too big for their hulls.

Suicide at Mother's Grave

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Kneeling at the side of his mother's grave in Rose Hill cemetery, Harry L. Hoffman shot himself in the temple, dying two hours later. The suicide was witnessed by a throng of mourners returning from a funeral.

Won't Raise Cattle Embargo

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The Canadian Gasset contains the reply of the imperial government to the protest of the Dominion against the embargo against Canadian cattle. The reply is a refusal to make any change in the present law.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Sept. 3.
Sun rises—5:11; sets—6:16.
Moon sets—9:02 p. m.
High water—1:30 a. m.; 2 p. m.
It will be fair in northern New England; showers in south portion.

How He Got His Nest Egg

[Original.]

Who does not remember some schoolmate who was especially antagonistic? Morgan Enright was so to me. He was two years older than I, and until we were respectively seventeen and fifteen he tyrannized over me. At fifteen I was fully as tall as he, though not as well developed. At any rate, I gave him a good thrashing, and that ended his annoying me, though his ugliness toward me was increased.

When I began to earn a living I was attracted by the large sums paid to divers and became a diver. The truth is, I was in love, and, being anxious to marry, chose that which promised to enable me to secure a nest egg. My sweetheart didn't approve of my occupation at all, but, like me, wanted the nest egg. However, I had a mother to take care of, and the nest egg failed to appear. I was pretty well discouraged when something happened that very nearly rendered it unnecessary.

A ship had gone down close to shore on which there was heavy insurance. A diver was to be sent down representing the underwriters, together with one representing the owners and the captain. I was chosen to represent the underwriters. I was standing on the float in diver's rig, all except the helmet, waiting for the owners' diver, when a boat pulled off from the shore, and when it came near enough who should be in it but Morgan Enright. He was as much astonished to see me as I was to see him. Neither knew that the other was a diver, much less that we were to go down together, but we were boys no longer, and I offered him my hand. He took it, but the look on his face froze the marrow in my bones—a look that I did not fully understand till later.

Well, we struck bottom about the same time on a stretch of white sand. The ship was in a good position for inspection, for her bow had come down on a ledge of rock that lifted it above the sand and only a few feet above our heads. It was no secret that I was there to look for foul play, and the place to find it was on the ship's bottom. I walked along, looking upward, till at last my head was even with the inclining bottom, and after that I was obliged to stoop. Enright accompanied me, also looking. He soon got ahead of me and motioned me to come on, shaking his head as if to say that he had been looking carefully where I was hunting and had found nothing. I looked all the more carefully and at one place, poking my finger in an indentation, found a hole. I succeeded in pushing my fist through the bottom and into the ship. Enright turned back and saw me stooping, with my arm thrust into the hole. He came up to me and the first thing I knew seized me around the body and gave me a wrench that broke my arm. It occurred to me at once that he had been sent down by the owners to foil an attempt to discover, or at least report, on the scuttling of the vessel. Quick as a flash of lightning all that had passed between me and him from the first blow he had given me before I was old enough to protect myself till the day I had thrashed him came up before me. And now he was to take his revenge fifty feet under water. He was to kill two birds with one stone—have his revenge and prevent my reporting the scuttling of the ship.

Realizing that, handicapped as I was, I would be no match for him in a struggle, I pretended to faint and sank down on the sand. He raised his heel and brought it down on the glass over my face, but its thickness, together with the resistance of the water under his foot, saved me. He failed in the attempt. Then he took a knife from his pocket and cut the signal line. He was too late, for I managed to give the signal to be raised. When he saw me rising he cut the rope that was lifting me, and I sank again on the sand. Then seeing that I was cut off from succor he gave the signal to be taken up. As he was rising I saw one chance for my life. Encircling his leg with my sound arm. I clung with the strength of despair. Had he been above water he might have shaken me off. As it was, he was unable to do so. The men above, feeling the extra weight, pulled hard, and before my enemy could do anything to prevent we were both at the surface.

As soon as I saw that I was saved I fainted. When I came to myself Enright had gone, but, turning my eyes toward the shore, I saw him pulling for the dock with furious strokes. Hurriedly I called on those standing by to stop him, and two of them, entering another boat, reached the dock in time to prevent him from getting away.

When the underwriters heard my story they resolved to push both the owners, the captain of the ship and especially Enright to the wall. They had no end of money with which to do the job and landed every one connected with the swindle in state prison. The courts couldn't hang Enright, as he deserved, because he had not succeeded in taking my life, but the judge gave him twenty years, and he still has ten of them to serve.

That was my last trip under water. No man could get me to put on a helmet for any money, but it has not been necessary. I had saved the insurance to the underwriters, coming within an ace of losing my life in doing so. They made up a purse for me, each putting in $2,000, and as there were seven of them you can figure that I got my nest egg. Besides, I have been in their employ ever since. I was married that autumn and have lived comfortably on my salary and the interest of my capital, which has been steadily growing.

The Ways of a New World

By WILLIS EMERY

Copyright, 1905, by Charles N. Lurie

FRANZ was a sturdy lad of good German stock, and he had the pluck that comes of pure blood, yet he was forced to confess that the future looked extremely black when he found himself utterly alone and friendless in New York on the first day of his arrival. Aside from the dreadful noise, the bewildering confusion, the frantic haste and rudeness of the people, he had a private cause for fearing the great city. He had no money, not a single penny, and he had always been told that something in one's pocket was more absolutely essential to one's existence in New York than anywhere else in the world.

They sent people home again if they were caught without money, he had heard, and that would be a bitter experience for a boy who had come to make his fortune. It would be gross injustice also, for he was not a pauper. He had brought capital to the new world amounting to more than a thousand marks in clean white currency. It was neatly stowed away inside a money belt around the waist of Wilhelm Muller, who was Franz's only near relative and who had come with him to this country.

So the money was all right. It was safe as a church, but Uncle Wilhelm was lost. What could have become of him?

He had left Franz sitting on a bench in Battery park and had gone to have a glass of beer with a red faced man whose acquaintance he had made on the ferryboat coming across from Hoboken.

Franz sat on the bench and turned his back to the bay. He had seen enough water in the last week and naturally found the tall buildings more interesting. By and by he began to feel the machinery of the ship that had brought him over the ocean throbbing in that wooden bench. This phenomenon was at first mysterious and then distressing. Franz's stomach protested against it, and the boy was compelled to walk about.

He felt so much better afoot that he walked too far and could not find his way back to the bench where his uncle had left him. It seemed that this park, though so small, was a very confusing place, and yet if he and his uncle should walk about there looking for each other they must meet eventually. So Franz tramped and tramped until the clock on the square red tower had measured the flight of two hours.

He was then quite sure that Uncle Wilhelm was not in the park. He therefore accosted a man in a blue uniform and began to state the case to him, but the individual in blue could not understand German and clearly regarded the matter as none of his business. But another man who had been strolling along behind Franz for several minutes stepped up to him at this juncture.

"That isn't a policeman," said he in German. "That's a conductor of a car. If you want to go to the station house I'll show you the way."

Franz thought that the man was very obliging, but he proved to be somewhat too inquisitive. They had no sooner started off together than he began to question the boy about his money. Franz dared not say that he had none lest he should be sent back to Germany, and so he assured the kind stranger that he had a thousand marks.

"I hope you keep it in a safe place," said his acquaintance. "There are a great many thieves in this city."

"It is in a money belt," replied Franz, whereat the stranger slapped him on the back and said that he was a clever boy.

They walked quite a long way, but did not reach the police station. Meanwhile the stranger repeatedly urged Franz to have some beer and was very much offended at his persistent refusal. This was very queer, but another feature of the case was much more extraordinary. The stranger always asked Franz to drink in the same bar.

Although this proceeding savored of evil, it excited Franz's curiosity much more than his alarm. The stranger was a lean, limp, puny man, and Franz had no fear of him. So upon a sudden impulse the boy said: "Very well. We will go in."

They entered, and the stranger ordered two glasses of beer. Just as they were set upon the bar at the rear of the saloon, where there was the least light, Franz felt a quick tap on his back. He was far from suspecting that the man beside him had reached around and tapped him on the far shoulder with the end of a stick, but such was the case. The boy turned and saw no one. Naturally he was surprised and stood staring at a partition which was the nearest object within range. Meanwhile the stranger deftly drugged the glass of beer.

At that moment, however, a door in the partition was opened, giving a glimpse of a room with tables and chairs. In a corner of this room sat Uncle Wilhelm with the red faced man whom he had met on the pier.

Franz passed the door before it could close upon the spring that controlled its hinges and he seized Uncle Wilhelm by his two hands. Muller sat back in his chair and gaped at his nephew.

"Da," said he, "da!"

And it was nearly a minute before he could ask how the boy had come there.

"I was looking for the police station," said Franz, whereat Uncle Wilhelm stared harder and his mouth opened wider.

"So," said he, "so. What for?"

At this Franz narrated his adventures and his uncle seemed considerably relieved. Meanwhile the man who had guided Franz to this place entered the back room and stood by the door, glowering. Presently the red faced man got up and spoke to him. They seemed to know each other quite well, but they had a silent, surly manner and reminded Franz of two dogs that growl softly, but will not fight.

They spoke in English, and the boy, who had become somewhat accustomed to the sound of that language, caught a few words that meant very little to him. He made out, however, that the red faced man wanted the other to go away and that he refused some proposition, the nature of which was a complete mystery. One meaningless phrase from this conversation stuck in Franz's mind. It was, "No Peter in mine." The absurdity of it was attractive, like a riddle. It was the red faced man who spoke the words, and he shook his head decisively. If Franz had known that "Peter" is a mixture of deadly poisons used by thieves to stupefy their intended victims he would have been even more deeply impressed by that sentence of jargon.

The red faced man returned to the table, and the other went away angry. At Uncle Wilhelm's invitation Franz ate a sandwich and drank a glass of beer, and then he leaned back in a corner and fell into a light sleep, but whenever either of the two men stirred he opened his eyes and always found Uncle Wilhelm looking at him.

By and by a bullet headed man with a stupid countenance joined the party and was introduced to Uncle Wilhelm by the name of Weber. It appeared presently that Mr. Weber was going to Germany on a steamer that sailed early on the following day. He did not look like a German and spoke the language very badly, so Franz was not surprised to hear that he had been born in America and had never been across the water. It appeared that he had made a little money in a gold mine and was going to Germany to claim a small inheritance.

He asked some stupid questions about Germany which amused Franz, and finally he spoke of money. He had just come from the west, and all his money was in American gold coin. Some one had told him that he ought to change it for German money.

"I want to have plenty with me," he said. "German money is in marks. How many do I get for $2,000?"

"Two thousand marks, of course," said the red faced man, gripping Uncle Wilhelm's leg under the shelter of the table. "A mark is a dollar."

"Of course," said Mr. Weber, as if his intelligence had been insulted, "but don't you have to pay something to get it changed?"

"You do at the bank," said the red faced man, "but if you could find some German just over from the fatherland he would be glad to change your money and charge you nothing."

"I have 2,000 marks," said Uncle Wilhelm in a tone of suppressed eagerness. And, hearing this, Franz sat up straight and opened his eyes wide.

He knew the relative value of American and German money and was well aware that a dollar is worth more than 4 marks, so that Mr. Weber would lose not less than $1,500 by the proposed transaction.

"Why, uncle"— he began. But at this moment Mr. Weber saw some one whom he knew in the outer room and hurriedly went out, saying that he would come back directly.

Uncle Wilhelm turned toward Franz in a black rage.

"You keep still," he said. "This is none of your business. In this country they do these things. Everybody cheats everybody else. That is why they are so rich."

Franz was not in the least afraid, and certainly his view of this affair was not altered by his uncle's remark.

"I won't let you do this," said he stubbornly.

"The boy is right!" exclaimed the red faced man. "It wouldn't be honest. I was only joking anyhow. I'll take Weber to the bank and see that he gets his money changed all right. You wait for me in my room." And he pointed toward the ceiling. "I'll get the key for you."

Franz was well satisfied to be alone with his uncle and have a straightforward talk. His mind was beginning to be very uneasy. He remembered that Uncle Wilhelm did not enjoy a very good reputation for honesty at home, though he himself had never believed any of the stories. In view of what had happened that morning—the mysterious disappearance of his uncle and the plot to rob Weber—his thousand marks might be safer in his own pocket than in Uncle Wilhelm's money belt, so when the red faced man came back with the key Franz followed his uncle readily.

They ascended two flights of dark stairs, and then Muller opened a door. Franz stepped into a small, unsavory room, and the next instant the door was locked behind him.

The boy was momentarily bewildered. Then he sprang to the door and shook and kicked it, but it was too strong for him. He heard a chuckling laugh and then the sound of Muller's steps on the creaking boards of the hall.

Franz tried the door again and then ran to the single small window. It opened on a little hole in the midst of the buildings. It was possible that an outcry might bring help, but the boy preferred to help himself if he could. He did some rapid thinking. Then he stepped to the side of the unclean bed that was in the room and dragged off the covers, which he proceeded to tear into strips. To these he recklessly intrusted his mortal part, and they did not fail him. He reached the bottom of the shaft safely, climbed into the basement of the hotel and eventually emerged upon the street.

One of the first objects which met his gaze as he came out into daylight was the broad back of Mr. Weber. That individual was walking rapidly away. Clearly the fraud had already been perpetrated upon him.

Franz overtook him at the corner of the street and laid a hand upon his arm.

"Come back with me!" he cried. "You have been cheated!"

Weber looked at him for a moment in blank surprise. Then he suddenly seized the boy by the back of the neck and threw him headlong against the swinging doors of a barroom. Franz landed flat on his face on the floor.

He bounced up like a rubber ball, and he was the "maddest" Teuton that ever came out of Germany. It seemed to him that he flew after Weber without the necessity of touching the sidewalk. He caught him around the neck from behind, and the two fell in a heap.

His vengeance was only beginning, however, when he was suddenly pulled to his feet by an enormous man dressed in blue and carrying a club.

"What's the matter?" demanded this formidable creature and then repeated the question in German.

Franz hardly knew what to say. He could not shake himself free of all loyalty to his uncle and openly denounce him as a thief.

"I was trying to do this man a favor," said he. "There has been a mistake. He has changed American gold for German marks"—

Before he could speak another word the giant seized him and Weber, one in each hand, and whisked them through a door. It was done as rapidly as magic, and they were in a small room alone.

"Now, Dutchy," said the big man, addressing Weber with great earnestness, "speak up. What was it—gold plated nickels with the 'cents' rubbed off?"

Weber nodded sullenly.

"Was it your money?" demanded the officer, pointing at Franz with his club.

"My uncle's," replied the boy.

"Well, you take it and give it back to him and say nothing. Understand? You'll get into trouble if you talk too much in this country. Tell that to your uncle. Tell him he'll go to jail if he talks. Now, Dutchy"—to Weber—"yield up."

Weber, with a groan, drew 2,000 marks in bills from his pocket and gave them to Franz.

"This is the best I can do for you, Dutchy," said the officer. "I won't make you any trouble. Now run along."

Weber lost no time in making his exit. Franz, under the policeman's guidance, returned to the thief's resort where Weber and his pal had perpetrated the confidence game upon Uncle Wilhelm.

But Franz did not find his uncle. He has not found him yet, though these events happened some years ago. Uncle Wilhelm skipped to South America, carrying with him his nephew's thousand marks and a bag containing a large number of American five cent pieces thinly coated with gold and without the word "cents" which usually appears under the V.

British Aristocracy And the American Bank

By HENRY WATTERSON, Editor

I HAVE been quoted as saying that the aristocracy of Europe is superior to the aristocracy of America. Let me explain. An aristocracy built ON MONEY ALONE must naturally be inferior to an aristocracy built on something higher, if not more substantial.

By this I do not mean to say that money isn't a great factor in the aristocracy of the other side, but there was in America, and there still is in Switzerland, a kind of simplicity. From us it is going fast, and as the forces which made English society what it is increase in volume and widen their application it is going yet faster in England. There society still has its pedigrees and its heraldry.

TITLE DEEDS ARE CERTAINLY PREFERABLE TO TRADEMARKS AS BADGES OF SOCIAL DISTINCTION.

That is what I meant when I spoke of a money aristocracy. In each and every case, in spite of the stamp, whether it represent a guinea or a dollar, the "man's a man for a' that," and always will be.

But in society the artificial arrangement by which a number of men and women, their followers and retainers, parcel out among themselves their days and their nights, questions of REAL manhood and WOMANHOOD enter very little. Acquaintance with the moving currents of life and thought is so indispensable that if one has it not he must affect it. Why should they who have a through ticket from the cradle to the grave concern themselves about any other state of being than their own? And, of course, those who get on at the way station, who are admitted on sufferance and are therefore only great by reflection, are bound in copying to EXAGGERATE the aspects and features of the company they find already abroad.

THE AIRS OF THE BUTLER AND THE LADY'S MAID HAVE BECOME SO PERENNIAL AND STEREOTYPED THAT, GIVEN THE OPPORTUNITY, THEY MIGHT PASS FOR GENUINE REPRODUCTIONS.

It is the aspiring parvenu who, by hook or crook, by good fortune or by fawning, gets into the charmed circle without having had the chance to study its methods who needs to look to his manners. Of this category I see and have been seeing for forty years more of MY COUNTRYMEN and country women than I care to see. Occasionally I have seen an American in London (I have been going abroad ever since I was a child) who cut a swath on nothing, and have rejoiced accordingly. Once or twice I have known an American who was rich enough to go with the best, and to go the best one better, and still have money left to lend a sovereign or two, and that has positively rejoiced me. I do not like to see a silly American girl squander her dowry on an ignoble though titled marriage, but when I see a fly American girl carry off an English duke I exclaim, "Bully for you, Mary Jane!"

This is not to say the British peerage is not the best blooded and best mannered body of men and women, despite the too frequent bar sinister, in the world. It is not to say that the English people, take them as they stand in their bare feet, are not the best people in the world. I wish to the Lord our people equaled them in genuine love of liberty, IN GENUINE RESPECT FOR LAW, in sturdy self sustaining manhood. PERSONALLY I do not like, and have never liked, their class system, either political or personal.

War Has Taught Russia a Lesson

By MAXIM GORKY, Russian Reformer

IT would be, to say the least, absurd to deprive workmen and peasants of the right of participation in the expected national representation OR TO RESTRICT THESE RIGHTS. What sort of a national representation can it be if the nation does not take part in it, if THE PEOPLE should occupy the last place in it?

It is a great mistake to consider our peasantry from the point of view of the zgonsky nachalnik (nearest representative of administration). Our people are in many respects above those WHO NOW GOVERN their destinies.

Their social-political horizon is by no means a narrow one. I had a visit from some peasants and workmen quite lately, and conversation with them assured me that in questions of state and of social economy they do not understand less than any Petersburg official. People who think them incapable of an active part in the life of the country do not know our peasants or their opinion of workmen and peasants is simply naive.

The elective principle is of interest to the Russian people historically. Remember the vetche, the village meetings. Errors were committed there NOT BY THE PEASANTS, but by representatives of the administration. As to the different nationalities, they must also absolutely have their place in national representation.

I have lived at manufactories and have seen how well Russians, Finns, Poles, Jews and Tartars can live together. It is only necessary that they should not be disjoined by the false principle of protection for one of the religions and one of the nationalities. The idea of a national dislike of the Russian people for Jews is perfectly false. The REAL Russian people are most good naturedly disposed toward all nationalities. Those who try to excite animosity in them ought to be ashamed of themselves.

I AM FOR CONTINUING THE WAR. It has taught a good deal to those who caused it. The best proofs are the changes now going on.

THE PRESENT WAR HELPS US TO GET RID OF THE OPPRESSION OF OTHER ENEMIES, AND AT ITS HEAVY COST WE SHALL CONQUER THE GUARANTEES THAT WILL ALLOW OUR NATION TO DEVELOP FREELY AND TO REGENERATE THE RUSSIAN COUNTRY ON NEW PRINCIPLES BENEFICENT FOR THE STATE.

I AM FOR THE WAR.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Charles P. Costa, engineer of the steamer, was in Montreal last week on his vacation.

The Quincy Day Nursery association meeting is to be held on the 12th instead of the 5th.

Work building Sagamore street, Atlantic, as relocated is being pushed rapidly along and is nearing completion.

Commodore Bryant's new and powerful gasolene power boat, the Squantum, was damaged in a collision the first of the week.

The postoffice will be open Monday from 6.30 to 10 A. M., and from 5 to 7 P. M. There will be one collection and delivery in the morning.

The report of the National Granite Bank for Aug. 31 shows deposits of $450,103.72. The resourses of the bank foot up nearly a million dollars.

After being closed during August First church opens tomorrow, with services at half past ten, followed by Sunday school at twelve o'clock.

Ex-Commodore Sheppard of the Quincy Yacht club went to Duxbury this morning to come home with the club yachts which have been participating in the club cruise to the Cape.

Quincy yachts met with rough weather at the South Shore the past week, and several had their masts taken out. Some had new masts put in, while others will be brought home in tow to be repaired.

The musical entertainment given at the M. E. church, Wednesday evening, was very interesting. Much praise is due those that took part in playing and singing which were highly appreciated by the audience.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Edward Devine, for violation of the liquor law at Randolph, was called and he was fined $50.

The continued case of A. A. Linscott for larceny from Patrick Flemming at Quincy was called. Linscott waived examination in the lower court and was held in $300 for the grand jury.

John Brady was arraigned for drunkenness and assault at Quincy. He was fined $5 for drunkenness, and $10 for the assault.

BRAINTREE.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Pratt of Washington street is recovering from a serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hussey of Liberty street will attend the Encampment of the G. A. R. at Denver, Colorado. The party left Friday.

The regular services at the Union church will be resumed on Sunday, Sept. 3d. The observation of the Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be postponed until Sunday, Sept. 10th.

Thomas O'Brien, son of Mr. T. J. O'Brien of Commercial street, was taken seriously ill on Monday. Dr. G. W. Tinkham was called and pronounced the boy sick with appendicitis and the lad was taken to Carney hospital and the necessary operation immediately performed. We are very glad to note that he is doing well and hope soon to see him at home.

Rev. C. F. H. Crathern will occupy his pulpit on Sunday.

Antietam Camp 32 S. of V, with their friends have been invited to join with the other camps in and around Boston in a basket picnic at Robert's grove, Randolph, Labor day, September 4th.

Owing to the severe illness of the Lord Chamberlin, Elmer E. Brown, the outing of the Loyal Knights and Ladies at Monponsett on Labor day is abandoned.

A South Braintree cat, probably not intending to steal, has been bringing home pears from a neighbor's yard and has put them together in a pile.

Elijah C. Hall has just patented a lock blind hinge which fastens the blind shut, out or back, without the use of sill staple or back catch. The blind is easily operated and will not blow or push off.

At the annual meeting of the Cottage City Water Co. held August 21, in Cottage City the following officers were elected: L. H. Fuller, Putnam, Conn., pres.; Edw. Mullan, Pntnam, Conn., vice pres.; William Wheeler, Concord, Mass., treas.; J. F. J. Mulhall, Boston, clerk; and the above with Elisha Thayer, South Braintree, H. J. Greene, Cottage City and Samuel A. Willis, Worcester, directors.

The members of the canoe club are making plans to hold an illumination and carnival on Sunset lake sometime in the early part of September.

Rev. E. C. Stover will preach Sunday at the Immanuel Baptist church in Lowell

Mr. H. B. Whitman went west yesterday to attend the G. A. R. convention in Denver, Col., and will visit his son and wife at Omaha, Neb. During Mr. Whitman's absence of a month, Mrs. Whitman will stay in Plymouth.

The good wishes of his many friends for a pleasant trip go with our genial Town Clerk H. A. Monk, who left yesterday for the G. A. R. convention at Denver, Colorado. He attends as a delegate from Post 87, G. A. R., and expects to be absent about fifteen days.

Miss Cora Wilson of 582 Washington street returned Sunday from a six weeks' vacation in Nova Scotia.

Miss Sarah Bailey (for many years a successful teacher at the Monatiquot Female Seminary which flourished under the leadership of Miss R. A. Faxon at East Braintree, in the sixties and seventies), died on Saturday, after four years of illness, and one year of utter helplessness. Some eight or ten of Miss Bailey's former pupils attended the funeral service on Wednesday, and marched to the burial place.

Last Monday evening Miss Jennie Alberta Shaw died at her home, 659 Washington street, Braintree, in her eighteenth year. She was born in Braintree, Dec. 15, 1887, the daughter of Edwin Francis and Lu Linda (Kingsley) Shaw. Her father died May 26, 1897 and since that time she has lived with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Shaw.

An invitation has been extended by the Brockton Epworth league for the members of the Old Colony league to join them in an all day picnic at "Big Sandy," in Hanson, on Labor day. This includes the Methodist churches of Braintree.

On August 29, Mrs. Alice Bestick entertained at her birthday party Mrs. Wilbur E. Watson, Misses Elsie, Helen and Isabelle Watson, and Lester Watson of Lynn; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bestick and son Earl, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dutton of Braintree, Clifton Bestick, George Bestick, and Mrs. Clarence Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burnett of South Braintree; Mrs. Charles F. Bean, Miss Maud Howard, Mrs. Ellen Wilde, Mrs. Georgeanna Jaquith, Mrs. Fred Jaquith of Randolph.

The open-air concert at Washington square, Saturday evening, attracted a large crowd from this vicinity. The American band of East Weymouth, composed of members of the Italian colony, played the sweet melodies of the Italian operas. The strains of Verdi and Donizetti were appreciated by all. The Miserere called forth an encore and was repeated. Patriotic selections of the American national airs completed the evening's program.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

On Monday, with the opening of the season at the Castle Square Theatre, Mr. John Craig returns to the position of leading man which he so ably filled for several seasons. During his absence from Boston, Mr. Craig has acted leading parts in several important companies, but notwithstanding his success elsewhere, he is more than glad to be once more among his Boston friends. The Castle Square stock company, with Mr. Craig as its leading man, and Miss Lillian Kemble as its leading lady, will be larger and stronger than ever before, and there is no doubt that the long list of notable plays selected for the production each week by the management will receive adequate and artistic presentation. The play for the opening week of the season, which begins with a special holiday matinnee on Labor Day, will be "Old Heidelberg," a romantic comedy of German student life in which Richard Mansfield won an extraordinary success two seasons ago.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Among the entertainers scheduled to appear at Keith's for the week of Sept 4, are May Duryea, and W. H. Mortimer, who are well-known to amusement seekers here abouts, presenting the one-act comedy sketch, "The Imposter." Other entertainers of note on the bill are Sallie Stembler, popular singing comedienne; DeWitt, Burns and Torrance, in their novel and original creation, "The Awakening of Toys," one of the best acts of the kind in the varieties for the juveniles; Murphy and Francis, the greatest of all the "real coon" comedians, singers, and dancers; The Tobins Two handsome young women, who play on a variety of musical instruments; Jack Gardner clever black face comedian and parody singer; Marie Laurent, a pleasing vocalist in high class selections.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The Empire stock company will begin its fall and winter season with the matinee on Labor Day and continue with two daily performances until further notice. The stock company organized by Manager Lindsay Morison has been carefully selected with a view to meeting the most exacting demands of the repertoire of modern plays which he has planned for the season. Manager Morison announces that the opening attraction will be Capt. Marshall's amusing comedy "The Second In Command" in which John Drew and the Empire company of New York made such a pronounced success a few seasons ago. The play like all of Capt Marshall's productions is thoroughly clean as well as thoroughly clever and its story of English military life is one that appeals to the general public most successfully.

DISMASTED.

Crew of Hutoka Have an Experience.

Lose Their Launch, Then the Mast.

Life Crew from Brant Rock to the Rescue.

Ex-Commander Sheppard had an exciting time on his trip home from Duxbury in the Hutoka. The yawl had participated in the cruise of the Quincy yacht club along the South Shore and was at Duxbury on Saturday.

Mr. Sheppard did not go down on the cruise with her but went down Saturday to sail home. They started Sunday morning in an easterly breeze that blew almost a gale. They reached a point off Brant Rock life saving station about 9.30 Sunday morning.

Here they were unfortunate enough to carry away their mast. They still managed to carry a small sail however, and were working along toward Scituate. They were well inshore and in no immediate danger.

But it was decided to come to anchor until the storm abated.

That the yacht had met with some mishap was evident to the cottagers, and although storming hard many people were on the piazzas watching the yacht through glasses or with the naked eye. Among these was the representative of the Daily Ledger.

The men on the yacht could be seen busily at work cleaning the wreckage, but no distress signal had been hoisted so that the cottagers felt sure the party was not in danger.

During the middle of the afternoon the life boat was launched and the life saving crew put out to the yacht.

At this time there were many speculations among the cottagers as to what boat it was, and the work of the life boat became the one object of interest.

The life boat remained alongside of the yacht fifteen minutes and then started for the shore.

This was a signal to the cottagers to flock to the life saving station and when the boat arrived there were several hundred people waiting for her.

The representative of the Daily Ledger soon learned that the yawl was the handsome boat of Joel F. Sheppard of Braintree, and that the party aboard included Capt. Sheppard; his son, Eben W. Sheppard; his grandson, Joel Sheppard; Frank Baxter of Harpswell, Maine, and Joe Shaw. Others on the boat while on the cruise were: Arthur Pratt and William Hall of Weymouth and Willard Sheppard, who left at Duxbury.

None of those on the Hutoka came ashore. The captain's story was soon told. The cottagers gave a sigh of relief and trudged back through the rain and mud to their cottages. Previous to carrying away the mast their naphtha launch was lost, and in manoeuvreing to recover it, the mast went by the board and went ashore at Brant Rock.

Monday morning the life crew again went out to the yacht with a message that had been received and a tug boat that had been telephoned for also came in sight. At 9.30 the tug with the Hutoka in tow started for Quincy, where they arrived safe and sound during the afternoon.

The first news that the people at home received was by the daily papers, and as the story was exaggerated it was quite a shock to Mrs. Sheppard. She soon learned that all were safe, and had been in no great danger.

The other yachts of the Quincy Yacht club volunteered assistance, but there was nothing that they could do except get a tug, and one was ordered.

Atlantic Streets.

The work begun by Patrick Barry of renovating Atlantic's streets, after the Coleman Bros. raid with draft horses and heavily loaded teams, is being continued by Dennis O'Neil and the latter's tall form may be seen directing the spread of gravel and the steam roller, as people pass along the greatly improved streets and sidewalks. Sagamore street has received Mr. O'Neil's attention in the way of forestry, a much needed pruning of the shade trees having been accomplished.

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf

HOSE CO. REUNION.

Old Fashioned Clambake for W. M. French Association.

Rain, and plenty of it interfered somewhat with the attendance Monday at the annual outing of the W. M. French Hose Association, although about 100 were present. The outing this year was held at Germantown beneath a large tent.

Although things were unpleasant outside, good cheer prevailed within. Those who did attend were amply repaid for a grand good time resulted.

Fred H. French, a son of Washington M. French for whom the old hose reel was named, is president of the association and presided at Monday's gathering. He kept things moving.

There was more or less informal speechmaking during which tales of bygone days were recounted. The feature of the afternoon was an old-fashioned clambake to which all did justice.

Among those present were Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams, District Engineers John H. O'Brien and Frank C. Packard ex-Chief Engineer Walter H. Ripley, and ex-Assistant Engineer A. L. Litchfield.

Funeral of J. T. Hayward.

The funeral of John T. Hayward was held Monday from his late residence on Chestnut street. Services were conducted by Rev. Edwin N. Hardy of Bethany church. There were a number of floral pieces including a large piece from the Ramblers. The body was taken to Cobasset today for burial.

Hustler and Eclipse.

The Quincy boats added much to the interest of the last race of the South Shore circuit sailed off Duxbury on Saturday. The Marvel finished first in the Cape cats' class but the Hustler and Stranger took first and second places on time allowance.

In the handicap class, the Eclipse was at the top of both columns, having an easy victory.

The summary of the two classes follow:

| Name and owner. | Elapsed time. h. m. s. | Corrected time. h. m. s. |
|---|---|---|
| Hustler, H. W. Robbins | 2 10 18 | 2 06 00 |
| Stranger, F. E. Dawes | 2 11 09 | 2 06 14 |
| Marvel, I. M. Whittemore | 2 10 04 | 2 06 42 |
| Goblin, R. M. Lothrop | 5 14 02 | 2 07 31 |
| Moondyne, Shaw Bros. | 2 13 38 | 2 11 32 |
| FIRST HANDICAP CLASS. | | |
| Eclipse, G. F. Sawyer Jr. | 2 09 20 | 2 00 20 |
| As you like it, W. W. Whitman | 2 06 57 | 2 03 57 |
| Challenge, | 2 14 20 | 2 11 20 |

The Dorchen and Pokonoket won in the other classes.

Good Fishermen.

Frederick Leavitt and David Farrell have returned from a week's fishing trip at Warren, N. H. The lake was never so full of fish and David had the honor of catching the biggest rainbow trout of the season. It weighed two and three quarters pounds. They brought home twenty pounds of rainbow trout, eighteen pounds of bass and twenty-four pounds of speckled trout. These weights were all witnessed and five men swear no "fish stories" were reckoned. The Warren papers proclaimed them the best fishermen who have visited the lake this year.

Injured Party Paid Fines.

John Brady was in court Saturday upon two complaints charging him with drunkenness and with assault on John T. Skillen. The latter swore out the complaint and appeared against Brady in court. He was fined $5 on the complaint for drunkenness and $10 for the assault. He had no money to pay and would have gone to jail if Skillen had not come forward and furnished the money to pay the fines.

Granite Polisher Dead.

George Milligan died Sunday at the residence of his son, James Milligan, on Smith street, aged 62 years. Mr. Milligan was a granite polisher and had resided in Quincy many years. He was a member of Clan McGregor, O. S. C. He leaves three sons.

COUNCIL DOCKET.

Several Reports and Hearings at Meeting This Evening.

A meeting of the City Council will be held tonight. The Committee on Streets will report on the order for $5000 for changing the grade of Hancock street south of the Atlantic bridge.

The Joint Committee on Health and Ordinances will report on the order amending the plumbing ordinance, and reports may be expected from the Finance Committee.

Public hearings will be held on the acceptance of Cottage avenue, accepting Eustis street and on petition to plant and grow oysters at Squantum.

In the calendar are a number of orders granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. attachments of wires to poles of other companies, and granting the Q. E. L. & Power Co. a location for poles.

W. Y. C. Cruise.

The yachts of the Wollaston club started Saturday on the annual club cruise. As many of the club boats were in attendance at the Duxbury races they were unable to be here at the start.

The boats to start were:

Claytonia,—Commodore S. B. Wiley, Jr.

Sylvia,—Capt. W. H. McLaughlin.

Coming,—Capt. H. C. Chase.

Enigma,—Capt. G. A. Dickey.

Weymouth Fair.

The labor union boycott did not prevent a record breaking attendance at the Weymouth fair on Saturday. The event of interest was the firemen's muster. Six tubs entered, the Defender of Weymouth took first money, and Unions of Braintree second.

There was also considerable interest in the horse trotting. Charles Hall of Quincy put his chestnut gelding Mill Race into the 2.40 class and took second money. The other event was a ball game between two local teams.

Drift of Opinion.

☞With John Burdakin housed in the rooms of the new Register of Deeds building on one side of the street, and "Charley" Smith, county treasurer, in new quarters in the old Court House opposite, there will be less opportunity for swapping fish stories and discussing county politics. But in the absence of the subway, the telephone can be brought into action when anything sensational occurs. These two county officials have been bosom friends for years, and it it to be regretted that High street, up which the wind is always blowing, should now separate them.—Hyde Park Gazette.

New Sunday Trains.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad announces the inauguration of Sunday service from Boston to stations on the Chatham branch. This Sunday service commenced September 3rd and continues throughout the month of September. The train will leave Boston at 8.25 A. M., and arrive at Chatham at 11.14 A. M.; returning leave Chatham 3.21 P. M., arrive Boston 6.10 P. M. Connection can be made from various points along the line for this train.

This train is put on as an experiment by the railroad company and it is hoped that sufficient patronage will warrent the running of this train on Sundays next year.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LOOMIS WILL QUIT

Leaves State Department In Middle of October

HIS SUCCESSOR IS NAMED

Robert Bacon, Former Partner In Morgan Banking Firm, Who Has Largely Figured In New York Business Equation

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 5.—President Roosevelt has announced officially the appointment of Robert Bacon of New York to be first assistant secretary of state to succeed Francis B. Loomis.

The announcement was accompanied by a statement that Bacon would not assume the duties of his office for some time, perhaps about the middle of October, after Secretary Root had become settled in the office of secretary of state.

Mr. Loomis' resignation has been practically in the hands of President Roosevelt for several months. His desire to retire from the office of assistant secretary was known to the president at the conclusion of the Bowen-Loomis inquiry which resulted in the forced retirement of Minister Bowen from the diplomatic service. The death of John Hay made it necessary for the president to select not only a secretary of state, but also a first assistant secretary who would be acceptable to the chief of the department. Practically immediately upon the acceptance of Elihu Root of the office of secretary of state, he and the president determined upon the appointment of Bacon as assistant secretary.

Mr. Bacon is held in high regard by both the president and Secretary Root, who have known him intimately for many years. For years Bacon has been an important factor in the business equation of New York. Until within comparatively recent months he was a junior partner in the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. At the time of the settlement by President Roosevelt of the anthracite coal strike Bacon represented Morgan in two conferences in Washington which made for an amicable adjustment of the trouble. The president was then impressed with Bacon's ability. Subsequently, when he retired from the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., the president determined to utilize his services if a suitable place for him could be found.

Mr. Bacon was here as the guest of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at luncheon yesterday. He is understood to have arrived in Oyster Bay on a yacht and to have left the same way. It is expected that Loomis will relinquish his office in a short time and that his resignation will take effect at the conclusion of a leave of absence which he proposes to take. No statement is made concerning his possible future in official life, but as heretofore noted in these dispatches, his appointment to an important diplomatic post is problematical.

The appointment of Bacon was decided upon almost immediately after Root had accepted the office of secretary of state.

At the time of the memorable panic in the stock market on May 9, 1901, when he was a partner of Morgan and was temporarily in charge of his affairs while Morgan was in Europe, Bacon was prominently before the financial world.

It has been understood in Wall and State streets that Morgan held Bacon more or less responsible for the condition of affairs which culminated in the corner of Northern Pacific stock and precipitated the panic.

Shortly after Morgan's return from his tour there was a break between the two and Bacon resigned. George Perkins of the New York Life Insurance company succeeded him.

After Bacon's graduation from Harvard with Roosevelt's class, he entered the employ of Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston bankers. In 1883 he joined the firm of Eli Small, bankers, and in 1894 he went to New York. From then until 1902 he was in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

In 1880 he was elected an overseer of Harvard and was re-elected in 1895. In 1902 he was appointed chief marshal of the class exercises. He has made his home in New York since he went there in 1894.

"An Admirable Selection"

New York, Sept. 5.—When asked for a statement regarding the appointment of Robert Bacon to succeed him as assistant secretary of state, Francis B. Loomis dictated the following statement last night: "About a month ago I informally tendered my resignation to the president and about 10 days ago I made public the specific announcement of the fact that I expected to resign. When I have finished up my affairs in Washington I have private engagements which will in all probability take me abroad. The president made an admirable selection in choosing Mr. Bacon for my successor."

Thousands Are Homeless

Constantinople, Sept. 5.—The fire which broke out at Adrianople raged two days, owing to lack of water. The greater part of each of the six quarters of the city was destroyed and the damage is estimated at $5,000,000. Thousands of persons are homeless.

Chinese Tiring of Boycott

Washington, Sept. 5.—Consul General Rodgers at Shanghai cables the state department as follows: "Northern trade is opening and the boycott is apparently subsiding."

EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE

Starts Fire Which Levels Largest Hotel on Cape Cod

Hyannis, Mass., Sept. 5.—While the guests at the Hallet house at Hyannisport were at supper last evening there was an explosion of gasoline in a room near the kitchen, which resulted in the hotel taking fire, and within an hour it was burned to the ground. The 60 guests, with the assistance of the cottagers and a number of yachtsmen, were able to save nearly all of their personal effects, while, with the exception of John Scannell, the clerk, no one was injured.

All the servants, nearly 20 in number, lost everything that they had in their rooms, as the fire started directly under the annex. Mrs. J. A. Kennedy and daughter of Pittsburg reported after the fire that they were unable to save their jewelry, but refused to state the value of the loss.

The Hallett house was built in 1872, at a cost of $30,000. The loss on the contents may reach $15,000. With the exception of the Hotel Chatham, which has not been used for many years, it was the largest hotel on Cape Cod.

"Wild Man" at Large

East Kingston, N. H., Sept. 5.—A partly nude man of gigantic height, believed to be an escaped lunatic, is causing alarm in this town. Reports for the last week as to the real existence of the wild man have been fully verified by Marion and Ethel Tucker. The two young women were driving along Sanborn road, when suddenly a rustling in the bushes at their side caused them to glance in that direction. They saw, half running toward them, the monster of whom they had been warned. The girls, although badly frightened, retained their composure and drove away as rapidly as possible. He has also been seen by several residents of East Kingston.

Collision Narrowly Averted

Providence, Sept. 5.—As steamer Mount Hope, from Block Island, was about to enter the eastern passage of Narragansett bay, with a dense fog enveloping her, an outward-bound steamer, whose name could not be ascertained, suddenly loomed up in the mist and crossed the Mount Hope's bows so closely that a collision was averted only by a margin of a few yards. The 400 passengers on board the Mount Hope were panic-stricken by the sight of the steamer so close to them.

Labor Leaders Disappointed

Boston, Sept. 5.—A downpour of rain in the forenoon and the wet and muddy condition of the ground in the afternoon necessitated the postponement of the majority of events which had been arranged in celebration of the holiday in New England. The usual Labor day parade here was a disappointment to the leaders, as thousands of union members declined to walk in the rain. Less than 2500 men, nearly all carrying umbrellas, were in line.

Badly Mutilated by a Car

Rockland, Mass., Sept. 5.—An electric car last night struck a man on West Water street, killing him instantly. The car was proceeding at a rapid rate of speed. The man was lying on the track and could not be seen by the motorman until too late to avert an accident. The man was decapitated, his face rendered unrecognizable and one of his legs was severed from the body. The identity of the victim has not been established.

From Train to River

Boston, Sept. 5.—The body of Pierre Therriault of Salem, Mass., aged 39, who fell from a trestle into the Charles river outside the Boston and Maine depot here, has been recovered. Therriault had come to this city to see his sister-in-law off to Canada. He delayed his farewell too long and jumped from a train when it had gone beyond the train shed. It is assumed he did not know the open trestle work had been reached.

No Foul Play In Larner Death

Amesbury, Mass., Sept. 5.—Sheriff Collis and Deputy Sheriff Scott, who have been investigating the death of Thomas Larner of Amesbury at Newton, N. H., announce that they have satisfied themselves that the man did not meet with foul play, as was at first suspected. The sheriff is certain that Larner was struck by an electric car.

Was Determined to Die

Waterville, Me., Sept. 5.—Frank Tuttle, a Skowhegan man, came here and, while he was walking down Main street, suddenly drew a knife from his pocket and stabbed himself in the neck. He was locked up in the police station. While in the cell he hanged himself to the door with his suspenders. When discovered Tuttle was dead.

Record Breaker For Moisture

Boston, Sept. 5.—A record-breaking rainstorm that began last Saturday evening and lingered unusually long continued on its way toward the northeast yesterday afternoon after distributing on an average of about five inches of moisture over eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Washouts From Heavy Rains

Providence, Sept. 5.—Over four inches of rain fell in Providence and vicinity during the southeast rainstorm which terminated shortly after noon yesterday. The heavy rainfall caused many small washouts along the steam and trolley roads.

Killed by Fall From Wagon

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 5.—Walter O'Brien, 15 years old, fell from a wagon on which he was riding and the wheels passed over his head, causing injuries from which he died on the way to a hospital.

Irrigation is Independence

In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.

"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."

Training for Business.

The establishment of a Business school in Quincy will meet a long felt want in the community. It will enable our young men and women who, wish to enter the business world to take up this practical course of study right here at home at a smaller cost than attending similar schools elsewhere.

The Plymouth Business school of which this school is a branch conducts four other schools in southeastern Massachusetts and was established in 1897. It is recognized as one of the foremost in this line of educational work. The principal reports that a good number of applicants have already registered and the school from all indications will have a large attendance.

The location in Colonial hall is central and will make excellent quarters for the purpose. The school year begins Monday, Sept. 11th. The school session is from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.

BABY "IN THE WAY"

Inhuman Action In Disposing of Little One

BEATEN AND STABBED

Father of Three Children Killed His Housekeeper's Attractive Child and Was Assisted by Her In the Fiendish Work

New York, Sept. 5.—A confessed accomplice in the murder of her 2-year-old daughter, whose mutilated body was subsequently bathed and neatly clad in its best clothes and then tossed into the open doorway of a West Side tenement house, Agnes Hyland, aged 23 years, was locked up last night.

Gustave Denser, a plumber with whom the woman lived as a housekeeper, is also under arrest. The mother told the police that Denser killed her baby girl, Gertrude, because she "was in the way" and that she helped to dispose of the body.

The janitor of the tenement stumbled over the body in the corner of the dark stairway. Physicians found a fatal wound on the temple, while the face showed many stab wounds, apparently made by a penknife. Later in the day the body was identified by the janitor of a tenement on West Forty-Fifth street, the home of the Hyland woman. The arrest of the mother and Denser and the confession of the former followed.

According to the mother, the child, who was an attractive, robust youngster with a profusion of light, curly hair and blue eyes, was beaten to death during Sunday night because Denser, who has three children of his own, objected to her presence in the home. Later she washed the body to remove blood stains and, dressing it in a petticoat, white dress, white cloak, held at the waist with a leather belt, and patent leather shoes, carried it to the doorway where it was found.

Denser denied the murder of the child, to the support of which, he said, he had, however, objected. He said that at the request of the mother he had punished Gertrude Sunday night and afterwards left the house. When he returned at midnight the mother told him the child was dead and he went with her to dispose of the body.

Brave Newspaper Man Gone

New York, Sept. 5.—Colonel Finlay Anderson, journalist, died here after a long illness. Anderson was born in Ireland 67 years ago and came to this country when 9 years old. For gallantry displayed while acting as a correspondent in the field during the Civil war he was given the rank of colonel by President Lincoln. Anderson leaves a widow, who was Miss Emma Abercrombie, a Virginia authoress. At the dedication of the Grant tomb Anderson was thrown from his horse, receiving injuries from which he never recovered.

Millionaire Seeks Divorce

New York, Sept. 5.—James B. Duke, millionaire, president of the great tobacco trust and one of the richest men in the country, is pressing action for absolute divorce against his beautiful bride of 10 months. Frank T. Huntoon, a well known man about town, is named. Huntoon is the president and manager of a mineral water concern. He is known on the race track and as a "first nighter" at the theatres. He is a bachelor and is 50 years of age.

Mistook Wife For Animal

Livingstone, Mont., Sept. 5.—Dr. oventry of Deadwood, S. D., while hunting bobcats near Clyde Park, accidentally shot and killed his wife. Mrs. Coventry had followed her husband unknown to him and was approaching in the brush when he mistook her for an animal and fired. A bullet pierced her brain.

Vaudeville Performer Killed

Pittsburg, Sept. 5.—During the performance of "Fighting the Flames" at the Pittsburg exposition last evening, Miss Jeanette Lawrence, 25 years old, a vaudeville performer, was dashed to her death from a window 30 feet above the stage. The accident was witnessed by about 200 spectators.

Sailors Charged With Murder

New York, Sept. 5.—The arrest of three of her crew, charged with murder, because of a seamen's brawl, was reported by the steamer Maracaibo on her arrival here. The arrest occurred at Curacao, from which port the steamer sailed. The men arrested were all Spaniards.

Prepared to Receive Prince

St. Johns, Sept. 5.—Prince Louis of Battenberg is expected to arrive here today for a week's stay. Elaborate preparations for the prince's reception have been made. Five British cruisers are assembled in the harbor and two French cruisers will arrive today.

Cholera Cases Concealed

London, Sept. 5.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Vienna says that 200 deaths from cholera in the provinces of Galacia and Bukovisa have been concealed by the local authorities under the description of European cholera.

Atlanta Has Fever Case

Atlanta, Sept. 5.—J. C. Carruthers, who arrived from Pensacola last Friday with a well developed case of yellow fever, is reported to be improving satisfactorily. A quarantine against Atlanta exists in one or two instances.

STRICTLY FORMAL

Will Be No Display In Signing Peace Treaty

JAPS HOLD A RECEPTION

Russian Envoys and Their Entire Suite Pay Respects to Hosts--Komura Satisfied With Result of the Conference

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 5.—The closing act of the peace conference promises to be a very tame affair. There will be no spectacular features. Final arrangements have been made for the signing of the "treaty of Portsmouth" at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the conference room of the naval stores building. Besides the plenipotentiaries only Assistant Secretary Peirce, representing the president, Governor McLane, the mayor of Portsmouth, Admiral Mead and Commander Winslow will be present.

The ceremony will be very brief. After the signing the members of the Russian mission will go to Christ church, Portsmouth, where a Te Deum service will be held. A Russian orthodox priest at New York, accompanied by 20 priests and about 70 choristers, arrived last evening on a special train. Mr. Witte and the members of his suite will leave for New York at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Baron Komura, before going to Oyster Bay, will visit Harvard, his alma mater. Mr. Takahira goes straight through to New York.

Baron Komura, Mr. Takahira and the members of the Japanese mission held a reception in the ball room of the hotel last evening. It was an exceedingly pleasant affair, marked by the most friendly exchanges between the Russians and Japanese. Governor McLane and his staff, Admiral Mead and the naval officers in the harbor, the newspaper correspondents and all the hotel guests were present.

In the midst of the gayety Messrs. Witte and Rosen, followed by all the Russian suite, entered and paid their respects to the hosts. The greetings and exchanges between the erstwhile foes were very cordial. Mr. Witte, after he withdrew from the line, finding that he was becoming the centre of a throng who desired to be presented, quietly left the ball room. Supper was served and there were many banzai toasts and toasts to Roosevelt and peace.

At the close of the reception Baron Komura, speaking to newspaper men, said he was very well satisfied with the result of the peace conference, adding that what has been done here had been for the best interests of Russia and Japan. He attached no importance to the telegram from Lidziapudze, saying that the Russians were apprehensive of a Japanese attack. He regarded it as simply an indication of the natural nervousness and tension that existed on both sides, and said he should not be surprised if a similar telegram came from the Japanese lines.

Russian Nervousness

Lidziapudze, Manchuria, Sept. 5.—The Japanese are continuing preparations for a battle. This is the cause of astonishment, coming at the moment when the peace treaty is on the eve of being signed at Portsmouth. The Russian advance posts report that the Japanese troops are very much dissatisfied with the peace agreement.

Guardian Asked For Millionaire

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 5.—Proceedings have commenced to have a guardian appointed for Irving D. Smith, known as the millionaire farmer of South Dakota. The proceedings were instituted in behalf of his wife. It is asserted that Smith is incapable of handling the business of his estate. His benefactions have caused him to be besieged with requests for donations for all sorts of purposes.

Forty-Eight Years In One Position

Boston, Sept. 5.—Edward E. Edwards, dramatic editor of the Boston Transcript, died at his home in Dorchester after an illness of two months. He was connected with The Transcript for 48 years and had been political news editor and general editorial writer. Edwards was born in Boston in 1838. He was a Civil war veteran. He is survived by a widow and two sons.

Long Chase Is Rewarded

Chicago, Sept. 5.—A search which had lasted for over a year and which had extended through Europe, Mexico and the United States, culminated here in the arrest of D. R. Willson, formerly a prominent politician at Shenandoah, Ia. Willson is charged with forgery amounting to $40,000, of which amount the First National bank of Shenandoah is the principal loser.

Murderess Seeks Friends' Aid

Boston, Sept. 5.—Mary H. Young, who is under sentence of death at Digby, N. S., for the murder of Minnie Ward, has sent an appeal to former friends in this city asking funds to prosecute her appeal to the higher court. She states that she is without means and without friends.

Baku In State of Warfare

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—Advices from Baku say that firing again commenced Sunday, the Tartars attacking the troops with great desperation. Thus far the killed or wounded, according to these advices, exceed 100. Prince Nisheradzee was wounded.

SCORE OF LIVES LOST

Continous Gale Very Destructive to Lake Shipping

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 5.—More than a score of lives were lost and property valued at $500,000 was destroyed in a furious storm that swept over Lake Superior from Friday night to Sunday night, according to reports received up to last night. Besides the wreck of the steamer Sevona, which broke in two on Sand Island reef, seven of the crew, including the captain, losing their lives, the barge Pretoria, carrying a crew of 10 men, sank, five sailors drowning.

The schooner Olive Jeanette, which carried a crew of seven men, is also thought to be lost. The Olive Jeanette, it is believed went to the bottom about 10 miles from Portage entry.

The storm of the last three days at times reached the proportions of a hurricane and the staunchest new steel vessels were forced to run for shelter. The new steel steamer Stackhouse arrived at the Soo on her first trip with her hatch covers so badly sprung that water poured continually into her hold. One of the crew was washed overboard. The whaleback steamer Samuel Mather also lost one of its crew overboard.

The battering sustained by steel steamers gives rise to the gravest fears for the safety of many wooden ships which have not yet reported.

Cabins, small boats and other parts of a ship have been washed ashore in Keweenaw bay, but there is no name on the wreckage.

Broker Behind the Bars

New York, Sept. 5.—Upon the request of the police of Pittsburg where, it was explained, he was wanted to answer to a charge of embezzlement, Arthur G. Marshall, a broker, 40 years old, was taken into custody in this city last night. Marshall says his arrest is due to a misunderstanding which will be cleared. The broker was locked up as a fugitive from justice.

Pittsburg, Sept. 5.—A. G. Marshall, with Frank D. Dunbar, is facing many charges in connection with the alleged swindle in the North American, the Lafayette and the Duquesne Fire Insurance companies.

An Obstreperous Simian

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 5.—For over an hour a monkey held possession of the railroad passenger station here, having driven out the waiting passengers and employes, after worsting a big policeman, the janitor and baggageman. The animal threw peaches through windows and mirrors and at all passengers attempting to enter the station. After doing much damage, the creature was clubbed into submission by a policeman, who was badly hurt during the fray.

Rain, Cloudburst and Flood

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The water in the section of Norwich is the highest ever known, as the result of the continued rains and a cloudburst. The flood that came down the Kings settlement creek, when the Sherburne water works reservoir burst, struck the house of Mrs. Cushman, which was washed away and broken to pieces. It is supposed that the woman was drowned. The Ontario and Western railroad is tied up in that vicinity.

Suit Involves Two Million Dollars

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Before Judge Alton B. Parker as referee, a hearing in a lawsuit involving $2,000,000 for construction of the Chateaugay railroad, in the Adirondacks, has begun here against the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company, defendants. The suit is brought by Charles Sundstrom and Frank M. Stratton, who sue for the balance alleged to be due them for construction work.

People Fleeing From Upheaval

Mexico City, Sept. 5.—A great volcanic upheaval threatens the city and valley of San Luis. The people are fleeing into the interior. The entire side of a precipice on the mountain called Cerro Dolores suddenly moved upward and great masses of rock fell into the valley. For two months slight local earthquakes have been of daily occurrence.

Inquest In Steamer Disaster

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The bodies of Miss Sarah Brown and Miss [illegible] L. Bedell, who, with Mrs. Margaret McKay and Miss Mary C. Bedell, were drowned by the collision of the ferryboat George H. Power with the steamer Young America, have been recovered. Coroner Lisk will hold an inquest.

Champion Amateur Swimmer

New York, Sept. 5.—C. M. Daniels of the New York Athletic club won two amateur athletic union swimming championships at Travers island. After taking the 100-yard dash he came out later and won the one-mile race and in winning made a new American record for the distance of 20:41 4-5.

Big Steamer Won't Budge

Montreal, Sept. 5.—The Allan liner Victorian is in the same position as when she grounded on Friday morning. The Leyland liner Virginian, aground off Crane island, is still submerged at high tide. The bottom of the Virginian is said to be all out.

Crowd Caused Child's Death

New York, Sept. 5.—Anna Schrinshock, 2 years old, with her father and another man, was being led across Clinton street when a car rolled the girl under the fender, where she lay apparently uninjured. Before the motorman could step from the platform and lift the fender a crowd made a rush for him and in the trample he was forced against the controller, turning it around and pulling a full current. Instantly the car shot forward a distance of about 200 feet and the childs body was ground to pieces. The motorman was dragged from the car and nearly beaten to death. A policeman who interfered was disarmed and his uniform torn off. Reserves had a difficult time dispersing the crowd.

Kishineff Jews Shot Down

Kishineff, Sept. 5.—During the progress here of a funeral procession of Jewish workmen following the body of a woman who had been killed by roughs, shots were suddenly heard and the procession was charged by troops and police. Many of the workmen were wounded and 50 of them were arrested. Several are missing and are supposed to have been killed. The officers declined to give any explanation of the cause of the occurrence and refused to allow sympathizers with the wounded men to accompany them to the hospitals. The Jewish hospital is surrounded by soldiers and patrols are stationed at central points in the town. Great alarm prevails.

Grand Army Staff Changes

Denver, Sept. 5.—The first official business of the 39th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was transacted when the national council of administration met and selected E. B. Stillings of Boston for junior vice commander-in-chief to fill the vacancy caused by promotions due to the death of Commander-in-Chief Blackmar.

Foreign Creditors Must Wait

San Jose, C. R., Sept. 5.—According to La Gaceta Official, the income of the government for the fiscal year of 1905-06 will approximate $3,041,000 and the expenditures $2,890,000, leaving a surplus of $151,000, which will be applicable preferentially to the decrease of the interior debts, leaving no provision for the reduction of the foreign debts.

The Merrymounts Defeat Braintrees.

Sacred Hearts and Bigelows Win.

Double Headers in Granite City League.

At Braintree on Saturday the Merrymounts defeated the Braintrees in a rubber game by the score of 6 to 3.

In the second, Braintree started the scoring by putting Dam on first through an error made by Donaher. Splane was out in an easy assist by Kolson, but Granahan muffed Morales fly to center. Eagan then made a long hit into the outfield scoring Dam and Morales.

In the sixth Braintree again crossed the rubber for a single tally, Cameron getting a clean single. Hafford flied out to Taylor and Dam fanned. Splane then knocked out a two bagger scoring Cameron. This ended the attempts of Braintree.

Merrymount did not cross the plate for a run until the seventh, when they scored three runs. Drake led off with a single, but Taylor who ran for him had hard luck and was finally put out at third after a series of errors and mistakes. Cole followed with a single and advanced on a fielder's choice batted by Granahan. Kolson then surprised the crowd by getting a single which scored Cole and Granahan. Taylor followed with another, putting Kolson across for the third run. Donaher got first on a fielder's choice and promptly stole second, but Stevens fanned and Atkins was an easy out, Splane to Cannon.

In the ninth the Merrymounts again started a batting bee and secured three more runs. Kolson started with a two bagger followed by Taylor and Donaher, each with a single. Stevens was out on a foul fly to Cannon, and Atkins got first on an error. Slade got first on a fielder's choice scoring Donaher when the third out was made by Drake.

The feature of the game was the steady pitching and fine batting of Kolson. Early in the game Drake strained a cord in his leg which did not allow him to play his usual brilliant game.

The Merrymount team was accompanied by a large crowd of rooters, who made things lively under the leadership of Cliff Baker.

HONORS DIVIDED.

The Victors and the Orients Each Win in Double Header.

Saturday afternoon the Victors and Orients of the Granite City League clashed in a doubleheader, six innings to each game. The former won the first game by the score of 4 to 0 and the latter the second game by the score of 4 to 3. Both games were very interesting from a spectators standpoint, both teams contributing good and bad plays. For the Victors, Harland, Smith, Craig and Spargo excelled; while for the Orients, Prevost, Deacon Barron and Williams did the lion's share of the work.

The features of the game were a double play by Prevost unassisted, and Deacon's batting, getting three sacrifice hits out of as many times at the bat in the second game.

Harland and Craig were the battery of the Victors in both games, and Deacon and Barron did like honors for the Orients.

The summary of the first game follows:

| Innings, | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | |

Two for Makarias.

The Makarias succeeded in twice defeating the Athletics on Saturday in a hotly contested double-header. The features of the game were the fielding of Bean and Mitchell and the staying powers of the pitchers. Thompson and Geekie both pitched 18 innings.

In the first game the score by innings was:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

League Standing.

The Granite City league standing to date is:

| | Won | Lost | Per Cent |
|---|---|---|---|
| Athletics | 9 | 3 | .780 |
| Makarias | 7 | 5 | .534 |
| Victors | 6 | 5 | .545 |
| Orients | 3 | 10 | .231 |

The season ends Saturday with the Makarias and Athletics playing a doublehead at Merrymount park and the Victors and Orients at South Quincy.

The race of the Quincy Yacht club scheduled for Labor day was declared off, as the skippers were too tired after a weeks racing at the Cape to sail. All of the fleet that had been on the cruise returned Sunday.

HAVE AN ALARM CLOCK.

It May Save You Many Minutes For Yourself During the Day.

Does the average housekeeper know how important an article of household furnishing is the alarm clock?

A young friend of mine, about to marry, said to me: "I intend to purchase as the first article for my home the most necessary and important one, as an omen for the future. Now, what shall it be?"

At my reply, "An alarm clock," she appeared so surprised that I delivered a little lecture on the value and uses of the same, somewhat as follows:

The average home maker and home keeper breaks down frequently, not so much from overwork as from lack of rest, for there is a vast difference between the two. She just "keeps going" all the time all the long day through and often into the night and never thinks of conserving her energy or her strength by the frequent brief resting times she might have did she know the use and value of an alarm clock.

There may be, perhaps, five or ten minutes before the bread need come out of the oven and it has reached that stage and the temperature of the oven is such that it requires no looking after. She might just as well drop down on the couch for five or ten minutes' rest, and she is so tired she may fall asleep and not awake until the bread is overdone, says the Ladies' World.

Again, the children's noonday lunch is ready, but they won't be home from school for fifteen minutes. Lunch must be on the table when they reach the house, else there is a fair probability that they will be late for the afternoon session, and so she dare not rest or close her eyes.

REAL MINT SAUCE.

A Recipe That Is Vouched For by an Experienced Cook.

Mint sauce is usually a delusion and a snare, being merely very sharp vinegar and a few fragments of tasteless mint leaves. Real mint sauce is another thing. Here is a recipe vouched for by an experienced cook: Let the water from the cold water tap run over a bunch of mint until it is perfectly clean of dust, strip the leaves from the stalks, tear them in small pieces and put in a bowl. Pour boiling water over the mint and cover the bowl closely. A little sugar may be added with the hot water, as it helps to bring out the flavor of the leaves. Make a roux of a tablespoonful or more of the gravy from the pan in which the lamb was roasted, with a little flour. Add the water in which the mint has soaked and thin with more of the gravy and a little water. The sauce is not to be a gravy. Season with salt and paprika. Unless a strong flavor of mint is liked, strain the leaves from the sauce before serving.

The simplest mint sauce is made by steeping the chopped mint in boiling water, about half a cupful to a handful of mint, covering the bowl and placing where it will cool quickly. Let it stand for three-quarters of an hour, when add a little sugar, salt, paprika and four tablespoonfuls of mild vinegar.—New York Post.

NURSERY NOTES.

Thoroughly cleanse the nostrils before going to sleep. This gives a free nasal respiration and with children prevents their becoming mouth breathers.

Children that are delicate or ailing require a great deal of kindness, but a firm hand as well, or they will become unbearable cranks.

Dry children's ears carefully, both in the folds and behind, using a very soft towel or old handkerchief. Careless drying of this delicate organ will produce deafness.

Dried grapes or raisins should be given with caution to children, and, indeed, they are better altogether without them, for they are liable to disorder the digestive organs.

Small children should be allowed to drink as much water as they like. It helps to clear the system of effete matter quickly and so keep the stomach and bowels in good condition.

Letter Paper.

An authority on letter and all correspondence paper declares unreservedly for white paper, while acknowledging that women may use colors when they are in good taste. Pale color paper tints only should be their choice. For formal correspondence letters or devices should be stamped, not printed. Monograms or initials unless uncommonly well executed had better be omitted and Roman type substituted, says Vogue. In this respect American taste is thought superior to foreign. The same authority advocates pictorial headings upon special country house stationery, these to be printed. These landscape headings are much in vogue in England and should find equal favor with us. The chance for having charmingly suggestive and attractive picturesque sketches made for this purpose lends itself to a vista of possibilities of beauty not to be neglected by owners of country seats.

Tights For the Children.

Children from three to eight or ten years of age always have a neat appearance when black tights are worn. They may be made from a pair of stockings when the feet are worn beyond use. Rip the seams down from the top to the depth required, then seam the opposite sides together for a small child or insert an extra piece to make the size desired, says London Queen. The top is finished with a hem and elastic inserted to fit the waist. The bottoms may be allowed to extend down to the ankles or cut off at the knee, where elastic may be inserted to keep them in place. In winter they are especially fitting, even for younger children.

Farmer Bunker and the Widow

[Original.]

"Zeke," said Farmer Bunker, "why don't y' make up to Mandy Sniffen? She's purtier 'n a new mowin' machine an' as good a gal as ever lived."

"H'm," replied the wary son, "wimmen's what y' say—jist like a mowin' machine. They're purty enough till y' git 'em harnessed up; then they cut down everything in their way."

Farmer Bunker since the death of Zeke's mother, a year before, had been casting longing eyes at the widow Sniffen, Mandy's mother. Knowing that his son had an objection to having any one put in his own mother's place, he felt if he could get Zeke to make a match with the daughter he might overcome the boy's scruples. But Zeke saw the trap and did not relish the advantage his falling into it would give his father. The old man, having failed with his bait, concluded to do a little courting and then propose. Zeke watched the maneuvers with anxiety.

One morning after one of the farmer's visits to the widow he awoke to see the widow's cow rummaging in his corn, some of which she had trampled underfoot. The old man fired up at once, but, remembering the situation between him and the widow, quietly drove the cow over a low place in the fence by which she had made her entrance to the shed where she belonged. He asked Zeke if he had carelessly left the fence lowered, and Zeke said that he had not. Then the farmer surmised that the cow had done it with her horns.

In a few days the cow was in the corn again. This time, after the farmer had driven her out, he went to the widow and suggested that she put a poke around the cow's neck. The widow declared that the cow didn't need a poke, that she was as good a cow as ever gave milk and that some one on the Bunker farm must have been careless about the fence. Bunker assured her that there was no one on his farm except himself and his son and neither of them had touched the fence. There was a flash of temper between the two, and the farmer went away insisting on a poke for the cow. Zeke heard him grumbling and said:

"Father, don't y' believe me when I say I hain't touched the fence?"

"Of course I do, Zeke."

"Well, if I didn't do it an' y' didn't do it, the cow must 'a' done it. The widder should get her a poke."

"That's what I tole her, an' she 'lows the cow don't need a poke. She kind o' fired up when I mentioned it."

"What'd I tell y' about mowin' machines, father?"

The old man went off snorting.

Again the cow was found in the corn, and this time there was no change to be noticed in the fence. The balance of the farmer's corn was destroyed, and he went to the widow in a frame of mind by no means lovely.

"Mis' Sniffen," he began in an unacceptable tone, "y'r cow has ruined $50 wo'th of corn for me, an' I suppose"—

"Mr. Bunker, I want y' to understand that I hain't responsible for my cow gittin' into no farm that's not properly protected."

"My farm is properly protected," the farmer retorted.

At this moment Mandy appeared on the scene and took a hand in the proceedings, but not as might be expected. "Mr. Bunker," she said, "I think y' are right. Our cow's a bad un."

"Mandy," said her mother hotly, "y' go straight into the house."

Mandy obeyed, pouting, and, her interference having only added fuel to her mother's anger, the widow gave the farmer such a dressing as he had never had before. The old man went home, muttering, and as he passed his son, who had been leaning on the fence listening, he said, "Wimmin is mowin' machines, true 'nough, Zeke, all except the gal, an' she's an angel."

"Wouldn't trust any of 'em, father?"

"Y' kin trust her sartin. She hain't like her mother a bit. She tole the ole hag jist what she was."

About a week after this, when the feelings of the two old persons had had time to cool, Zeke, who was sleeping comfortably in bed, awoke and heard a sound without. He got up and, going to the window, saw by the light of the moon, which was full, Mandy let down the fence and drive her mother's cow into the inclosure.

"Mandy," he said, "y'r keched. I sor y' drivin' the cow into our farm. What'd y' do it for?"

Mandy hung her head. Most girls look pretty in moonlight, and Mandy was a pretty girl at any time. She made a confession. Fearing that her mother would give her a stepfather, she had been putting the cow in among his corn for the purpose of making trouble. She had served a double purpose for herself and Zeke.

"What'd y' take sides with dad for?" he asked.

"Oh, I know mother. If I'd 'a' sided with her she'd 'a' turned in his favor an' made it up."

"Mandy," said Zeke, "y'r a remarkable smart gal. Y've broke it off between the two old uns, an' dad wants"— He hesitated.

"What's he want?"

"He wants me to marry y'."

Mandy turned half around, looked down and waited. Zeke went to her and put his arm around her waist, and they stood silent, with none but the round moon looking down on them.

One day Mandy and Zeke walked off to a parson and were married. Farmer Bunker's delight was in proportion to the widow's chagrin.

WANTS A FIGHT.

Councilman Chamberlin Expects the Mayor to Make It.

Under Order to Petition Gas and Electric Light Commissioners.

For Cheaper Gas in Quincy and an Improvement in the Service.

Monday night's meeting of the City Council was one of the livelist sessions that the body has held for some months. Councilman Chamberlin started the ball rolling when he asked what was being done under the order passed several months ago requesting the Mayor to petition the Gas Commission relative to receiving a reduction in price paid for gas, better service, etc.

Councilmen Barry, Hughes, Hynes, Sawyer and Stone were absent.

ELECTION OFFICERS.

The appointment of election officers by the Mayor was taken up and confirmed.

PETITIONS.

Several petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

The Telephone Co. petitioned for permission to attach its wires and fixtures to poles on Newbury avenue. To Committee on Streets.

Badger Bros. petitioned for permission to run an air pipe across Furnace avenue. To Executive Department.

Councilman McLane presented a petition of Jeremiah W. Donovan for a refund of $35, the amount of double assessment on property for 1900 and 1901. To Finance Committee.

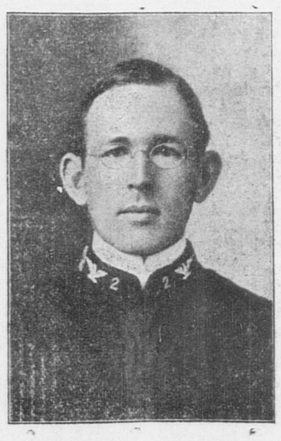

HANCOCK STREET GRADE.

The Committee on Streets reported ought to pass on the order for $5,000 for changing the grade of Hancock street near the Atlantic bridge. To Finance Committee.

PLUMBING RULES.

The joint Committee on Health and Ordinances reported a substitute order amending the plumbing ordinance. Rules suspended and order passed.

It was Councilman Adams who successfully put through the important changes.

COUNCILMAN ADAMS.

COTTAGE AVENUE.

A public hearing was held on laying out and widening Cottage avenue.

P. T. Fallon favored, saying this matter had been before the town and city for many years. There were no obstructionists here to contend with, only to consider what was best to be done. The property on the south side was assessed for fourteen cents and on the north side in a lump sum. The traffic was so great that it demanded widening. He had put up with this nuisance without causing any talk. It can be done for less than $1,000 outside of land damage. The place was now a disgrace. It was a drain for the whole district. There was mud and water there three months in the year.

John H. Bent asked which plan the hearing was on, and was informed it was the 40 foot one. He said the street was 400 feet long and 24 feet wide. The people who want this done have no land to give. The party on the other side never showed any inclination to sell. All the water from Hancock, Chestnut and Foster streets is diverted into this street. There was a great amount of water there every time it rained. He asked to have street widened. A strip of land from the north side will be no hardship, and it was not an expensive proposition. Thought more would have been present had they known a 40 foot street was proposed.

Councilman Bass asked if the speaker desired to have the hearing continued that others might appear.

Mr. Bent replied, they ought to be heard before the Council or Committee, but he was not particular.

Councilman Gassett said they could have an opportunity to appear before the Committee.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

EUSTIS STREET.

A public hearing was held on laying out Eustis street.

COUNCILMAN CHAMBERLIN.

Patrick F. Downey favored. It would be a benefit to city and taxpayers. There was no property to be taken and it was not an expensive job. He hoped in justice to tax payers something would be done.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

OYSTER BED.

A public hearing was held on the petition of L. B. Titus for a license to plant and grow oysters at Squantum.

John J. Byron opposed. If it was a public necessity he would not oppose. It takes away public rights on this shore.

For years people believed they had an inherited right to go there and dig clams. If you give a license to grow oysters there will be trouble for everybody. He believed the locality unfavorable for oysters. He did not believe it would be of any commercial value. Whatever rights we have should be preserved.

In reply to a question the speaker said he could not tell how much land the petition required. If granted it should be marked so people could tell where the bounds were.

Mrs. L. B. Titus was given permission to speak in favor. Mrs. Titus said she had lived there thirty years and it was wrong to say oysters would not grow.

This place pays a large sum in taxes and the people are entitled to some consideration. To reach the beach people have to walk over private property. The area is clearly defined. She had not seen a single voter in Quincy dig clams. It was Italians and others from Boston and Nantasket who dig there to sell. She paid $5,000 for the property in 1885.

Twenty and thirty years ago her father and grandfather had tried planting oysters and found it all right.

In reply to a question by Councilman Spargo, Mrs. Titus said there were channels running across the flats and it was in these channels it was proposed to plant the oysters.

The Councilman contended they would not grow above low water mark.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

MINOR OFFICERS.

Upon motion of Councilman Piper the following officers were elected:

Measurers of Wood and Bark: Frank S. Patch, Herbert D. Adams, Thomas J. Foley, Frank W. Crane, John J. Connor, Eben W. Sheppard, George P. Mead, Lysander W. Nash, E. Frank Mitchell.

Fence Viewers: John R. O'Neil, David J. Barry.

Pound Keeper: William J. Vaughn.

GAS HEARING.

Councilman Chamberlin asked of the Mayor what had been done in relation to the order passed by the Council six months ago relative to the price and quality of gas, or if he was likely to do anything in the near future.

Mayor Thompson replied that he was sorry that the City Solicitor was not present as he could say what progress had been made.

Councilman Chamberlin asked as to the Mayor's position. We are paying more for gas than any other city in the Commonwealth, and it should be stopped. If the administration was prepared to take up the fight, and it was the purpose of the administration to fight for the city.

Mayor Thompson replied that the concurrence of the Mayor in the order showed his disposition in the matter.

BIG NEW STUDIO.

The Kitsons of Quincy Have Lots of Work Underway.

Granted that there is no sex in art, it is, nevertheless, surprising to find a woman artist working on such a heroic scale as Theo Ruggles Kitson of Quincy, says the Boston Herald. Her work is well typified by her revolutionary blacksmith, now on exhibited in Copley Hall. The patriotic and soldierly seems her especial forte. More, the excellence of her work has given an impetus to laggard local patriotism, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that when some hero of warlike fame is to be immortalized a statue by one of the Kitsons will be the form the memorial takes.

Henry Hudson Kitson and Mrs. Theo Ruggles Kitson are just now at work on several important compositions. During the Grand Army encampment at Galesburg, Ill., in April next Mrs. Kitson's statue of Mother Bickerdyke will be unveiled. The nurse-heroine is shown characteristically, supporting in her arms a wounded soldier.

Another statue of heroic size is soon to be completed for the University of Minnesota. It is to be placed in the campus, directly opposite the armory. This monument will commemorate the services of the students in the Cuban and Philippine campaigns. The University of Minnesota sent over 200 of her sons to fight for their country in the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. Kitson has also been commissioned to design and execute the memorial to the heroic dead of the 124th New York volunteer infantry of the civil war known to their contemporaries and to history with ironical inappropriateness as the "Orange Blossoms." The statue which will be cast in bronze, will represent a color sergeant on the march, with standard flying in the breeze. This pose, spirited and instinct with life will be unique in soldier work. Nothing of the kind has been heretofore attempted. This figure is to be placed at Goshen, the county seat of Orange county.

Henry Hudson Kitson has just completed six large reliefs representing as many memorable scenes from American history, an epic in bronze, wrought in a spirit of "Lest we forget." The subjects are: (1) "The Bombardment of Grand Bluff;" (2) "Port Gibson;" (3) "The Capture of Jackson;" (4) "The Battle of Champion's Hill;" (5) "The Bayonet Charge at Big Block River;" (6) "The Assault on the Confederate Works at Vicksburg, May 22, 1863."

Mr. Kitson is building a big studio in Quincy in which to make his equestrian statue for the Iowa state memorial, which, when completed, will be placed in the National Military Park at Vicksburg.

At present, he is at work on a heroic statue of Lord Nelson, which will be seen in Tremont Temple at the centenary of the battle of Trafalgar, Oct. 22, 1905, on which occasion Capt. Mahan will be the chief speaker. It is expected that H. R. H. Prince Louis of Battenberg and the officers of the cruiser squadron now in American waters will participate in the ceremony.

Beside this, Mr. Kitson is making a portrait of Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, to be placed in the new library of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt.

Criers at the Paris Halles.

The position of crier at the Paris halles, or central markets, is one which, in view of recent revelations in a case before the law courts, ought not to be despised. The men who cry Gatinais fowls for sale earn £20 a month. Those who sell Brittany fowls get £16 a month, and those who dispose of ducks only receive £10 per month. Rabbits bring the crier only a pittance, for £6 a month is all he gets. Not everybody can be a crier, for unless you have sound vocal chords and a passable voice you will not be engaged. It also requires a man with a strong constitution, for the crier is at work from 6 o'clock in the morning till 8 o'clock in the evening, and on an average he should sell 2,000 fowls per hour.—London Globe.

Cromwell and Christmas.

During the commonwealth in England, when puritanical feeling held sway, many determined efforts were made to put down what were termed superstitious festivals and among these that of Christmas day. The holly and the mistletoe bough were to be cut up root and branch as plants of the evil one. Cakes and ale were held to be impious offerings to superstition. Thus in 1647 the Cromwell party ordered throughout the country by the mouth of the common crier that Christmas should no longer be observed.

Waste and Poverty.

With regard to waste, which lies at the foundation of nearly all poverty, the working classes have exalted it into a principle of action. An English servant, as a rule, wastes as much of her employer's substance as possible. When she marries and has children she continues to be wasteful in her own home.—London Hospital.

Physical Evidence.

"Do you know," said a Sunday school teacher, addressing a new pupil in the infant class, "that you have a soul?"

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

LAST CHAPTER IN GREAT WAR

Signing of Treaty Brings Peace In the Far East

MOST IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Not a Word Spoken During the Ceremony of Putting Names to Momentous Document--The Envoys Clasp Hands as Brothers and Express Hopes of Firm and Lasting Friendship Between Russsia and Japan

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 6.—The treaty of Portsmouth was signed shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the conference room of the naval general store at the navy yard.

It was 3:45 when the plenipotentiaries entered the conference room from their respective offices. They merely bowed to each other and took their accustomed seats at the long table around which their negotiations had been conducted. Instead of the secretaries sitting next the plenipotentiaries, however, these chairs were occupied by the remaining delegates.

Grouped around the table were the other members of the two missions and the invited witnesses, Mr. Peirce, as the personal representative of the president, Commandant Mead of the navy yard, Captain Winslow of the Mayflower, Governor McLane of New Hampshire, and the mayor of Portsmouth.

As soon as the delegates had taken their seats Mr. Sato left his chair and went to Mr. Witte's side with the Japanese copies of the treaty, which he placed before him. At the same time Mr. Plancon placed the Russian copies of the treaty before Baron Komura. Almost at the same moment the two selected pens from the centre of the table and signed their names, first to the French and then to the English text. The copies were then signed by Baron Rosen and Mr. Takahira. Mr. Sato returned the Japanese copies for the signatures of Komura and Takahira. Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen affixed their signatures to the Russian copies and the treaty of Portsmouth was signed, the ceremony being completed at 3:50.

To this moment no word had broken the silence of the conference room. Throwing his pen aside, Mr. Witte, without a word, reached across the table and grasped Baron Komura's hand. His conferees followed and the Russian and Japanese delegates remained for a moment in silence, their right hands tightly clasped across the conference table. The war was over, Russia and Japan were once more friends.

There was nothing stagey about this simple ceremony. It rang true and deeply impressed the attaches and secretaries of the two missions who, with the invited witnesses, had formed a large circle around the delegates sitting at the table.

Baron Rosen was the first to break the silence. Rising from his seat, the ambassador, looking Komura and Takahira straight in the eye, said a few words which one had only to hear to know that they came straight from his heart. He began by saying that he wished on behalf of Witte, Russia's first plenipotentiary, and in his own name, to say a few words.

"We have just signed," continued the ambassador, "an act which will have forever a place in the annals of history. It is not for us active participants in the conclusion of this treaty to pass judgment on its import and significance. As negotiators on behalf of the empire of Russia, as well as the empire of Japan, we may with tranquil conscience say that we have done all that was in our power in order to bring about the peace for which the whole civilized world was longing.

"As plenipotentiaries of Russia we fulfil a most agreeable duty in acknowledging that, in negotiating with our hitherto adversaries and from this hour our friends, we have been dealing with true and thorough gentlemen, to whom we are happy to express our high esteem and personal regard. We earnestly hope that friendly relations between the two empires will henceforth be firmly established, and we trust that his excellency Baron Komura, as minister of foreign affairs and one of the leading statesmen of his country, will apply to the strengthening of these relations the wide experience and wise statesmanship he so conspicuously displayed during these negotiations which have now been so auspiciously concluded."

Baron Komura replied that he shared entirely the views of Baron Rosen. The treaty of peace which they had just signed was in the interest of humanity and civilization and he was happy to believe that it would bring about a firm, lasting peace between two neighboring empires. He added that it would always be pleasant for him to recall that, throughout the long and serious negotiations which they have now left behind them, he and his colleague had invariably received from the Russian plenipotentiaries the highest courtesy and consideration, and finally he begged to assure the Russian plenipotentiaries that it would be his duty, as well as his pleasure, to do everything in his power to make the treaty in fact what it professes to be in words—a treaty of peace and amity.

At the conclusion of Komura's remarks, Witte arose and said he desired to see Rosen and the Japanese plenipotentiaries alone for a few minutes. The four retired to the Russian office and were closeted for 10 minutes. What transpired in that final conference of the peacemakers the world may never know. The plenipotentiaries have refused to discuss it even to their secretaries.

While the conference was in progress the secretaries were affixing the official seal of the treaty, there being four seals to each of the four copies. Upon their return to the conference, the plenipotentiaries then signed the protocol of their last meeting, which records the signing of the treaty, Sept. 5, 1905, at 3:50, in the Portsmouth navy yard.

After this there was general handshaking and a buffet luncheon was served in the cafe across the hall, the Russians and Japanese informally drinking each other's health. Shortly before 5 o'clock the Russian mission left the yard for the thanksgiving service at Christ church and the Japanese returned to the hotel.

The principal points covered by the treaty are the recognition by Russia of the preponderant influence, political, military and economic, of Japan in Korea; the simultaneous evacuation of Manchuria by the Russian and Japanese troops within 18 months; the cession to Japan of the Russian rights at Port Arthur and Dalny; the operation of the Manchurian railway, the cession to Japan of the southern half of Sakhalin island, the renewal of the commercial treaty existing before the war, the restitution of prisoners by both countries and the payment for cost of keeping.

With the signature of the peace treaty by the envoys the armistice signed last week will at once take effect, and therewith the war comes to an actual end. The formal exchange of ratifications by the respective sovereigns is required within 50 days, but this is a mere formality, certain to be carried out.

Alliance Stronger Than Treaty

London, Sept. 6.—The publication of the terms of the treaty signed by the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries confirms the London newspapers in their belief that a lasting peace is to be expected rather as the outcome of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance than as the result of the Portsmouth conference. It is considered that there is little in the articles of the treaty of Portsmouth to prevent Russia, if she should be so disposed a few years hence, attempting to recover what she has lost.

Russians Are Not Stirred

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The news of the signing at Portsmouth of the treaty of peace was received here with the same apathy that has marked the attitude of the Russian people throughout the war. No extra editions of the newspapers were issued and a large part of the population of St. Petersburg was ignorant of the final act of the plenipotentiaries until they read of it in this morning's newspapers.

Roosevelt's Services Appreciated

Paris, Sept. 6.—The newspapers hail the signing of the treaty of peace with profound satisfaction, laying stress on the concise form of the historical document with a clear allusion to the future friendship of the two nations. The Journal says the document proves that the czar and mikado were inspired by President Roosevelt's intelligence and tenacity.

Russians to Attend Reception

New York, Sept. 6.—The invitation of the New York Produce Exchange to the Russian and Japanese peace commissioners to attend a reception in their honor at the Produce Exchange, on a date to be fixed by them, has been accepted on the part of the Russian delegation and staff. It is understood that the early sailing date of the Japanese envoys will prevent their acceptance.

Komura at Harvard College

Boston, Sept. 6.—Baron Komura and his suite reached this city last night from Portsmouth. The party was driven to the Hotel Touraine, where they remained over night. This forenoon Komura and his suite were escorted to Harvard university, where lunch was served at the Colonial club.

Won't Grant Eight-Hour Day

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 6.—After a six-hour session of the United Typothetae here the executive committee declined to make any statement of the proceedings A prominent member, speaking unofficially, however, said: "Under no circumstances is it plain that we can accede to the demand for an eight-hour day."

Battenberg at St John

St. Johns, Sept. 6.—Prince Louis of Battenburg has arrived here for the purpose of going on a deer stalking expedition. He is a guest of Governor McGregor. A dinner was given in his honor at the government house and a reception at the parliament building last night.

Bomb Intended For Police

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 6.—A bomb was thrown in front of the police station on Erik street last night. One person was wounded. The perpetrator of the outrage escaped.

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

Irrigation is Independence

In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.

"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."

It is traversed by the

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY

Irrigated lands in this valley produce per acre per year as follows:
Alfalfa, three crops, 5 to 7 tons. Oats, one crop, 40 to 90 bu., machine meas.
Potatoes, one crop, 300 to 600 bushels.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of land along the Northern Pacific Railway in North Dakota, Montana and Washington are and will be made available for cultivation by goverument and private irrigation projects. Write for maps and pamphlets to C. W. Mott, General Emigration Agent, St. Paul.

PALMER OUSTED

Public Printer to Resign at President's Request

CLIQUES IN THE OFFICE

Charges Against Two Men Who Testified Before Keep Inquiry Commission Acted as a Boomerang For Complainant

Washington, Sept. 6.—Public Printer F. W. Palmer practically has been ousted from office. It is learned authoritatively that President Roosevelt has demanded Palmer's resignation, to take effect on the 15th inst.

The demand of the president for Palmer's resignation is due primarily to the latter's action in trying to force Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing, and L. C. Hay, a foreman of division, out of the government printing office. Palmer asked for the resignations of Ricketts and Hay on the ground that they had been insubordinate. The public printer formulated a series of charges against the two men. These charges were forwarded to Oyster Bay.

As soon as President Roosevelt learned of the situation that had developed, he directed Palmer to forward to him his resignation, to take effect in two weeks.

The investigation made by the Keep commission into the letting of a contract for 72 Lanston type-setting machines for use in the government printing office disclosed a serious condition of affairs in the management of the office. Prominent men in the office force were divided into cliques. These cliques were so detrimental to the interests of the government that the standard of efficiency in the establishment was reduced materially.

The evidence adduced by the commission in the course of its inquiry created much bitter feeling among the men holding high positions in the office. One of the direct results of this feeling was the demand made by Palmer for the resignations of Ricketts and Hay. As the Keep commission inquiry, so far as known, developed nothing to the disadvantage of Ricketts or Hay, the president acted promptly in taking the whole matter out of Palmer's hands and placing it in the hands of the Keep commission for such further investigation as might be necessary. Coupled with this action of the president was the demand on Palmer for his resignation.

Palmer had threatened that if Ricketts and Hay did not resign they must show cause before noon yesterday for not being removed. Independent of their personal efficiency, the Keep commission cannot afford to remove men dismissed for testifying freely and honestly before it. The public printer stated that he had dismissed these men for "insubordination," and when his office was asked if that was shown in their testimony before the Keep commission the answer came "partly."

With the incoming of Palmer's successor—and there is ample authority for the statement that he has not been selected yet—it is expected a thorough reorganization of the working force of the government printing office will take place. Among the men mentioned in connection with the office are Oscar J. Ricketts, whom the public printer sought to remove; H. T. Brian, chief clerk of the office; William S. Rossiter, chief clerk of the census bureau, and John Leech, public printer in the Philippines.

The office pays a salary of $4500 a year. The annual disbursements for the government printing office aggregate about $7,000,000.

Two Autoists Killed

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—While en route from Atlantic City to Philadelphia in an automobile, Neill Wolfe, secretary and treasurer of an automobile company, and Miss Marie Hamill, daughter of a wealthy shoddy manufacturer, were thrown from the machine on a railroad bridge near Atco, N. J., and hurled 90 feet to the track below. Miss Hamill was almost instantly killed and Wolfe died immediately after. They were engaged to be married. The accident was due to defective steering gear.

Jeffries Will Be Referee

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The last remaining obstacle to the completion of preparations for the Britt-Nelson glove contest was removed when James J. Jeffries accepted the offer to act as referee for $1000 compensation. The encounter will take place on Saturday afternoon. Both men are in perfect condition. The odds are at 10 to 7 in favor of Britt.

FOR THE FIRST TIME

President and Czar's Names Linked In Russian Prayer

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Protestant and Orthodox Clergy Use the English and Russian Tongue In Giving Praise For Peace Between Two Nations

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 6.—A solemn and impressive service of thanksgiving of nearly two hours' duration was held in the Christ Episcopal church last evening. For the first time in this country, it is said, the English and Russian tongues were used at a service in the Anglican church. The service was arranged by the rector of Christ church, Rev. Mr. Brine, and by the priests of the Russian Orthodox church in the country.

A pew was reserved for the Japanese, but they were unable to be present. Every seat in the body of the church was filled some time before the services were begun and about 2000 persons stood outside of the building. The entire Russian suite, numbering 19 persons, attended. Messrs. Witte and Rosen were escorted to seats reserved for them just within the chancel rail. The clergy present included seven Russian priests from various cities of the United States and four of the Episcopal body.

The services began with a solemn procession about the church. Headed by the cross bearer and acolytes carrying lighted tapers, a choir of 60 voices passed the entire length of the edifice. The smoke of the incense from the censors ascended aloft and the rich vestments worn by Fr. Brine and the Russian clergy added to the grandeur of the spectacle.

After the priests, acolytes, attendants and choristers had been seated in the sanctuary, the service prayer was begun by Fr. Brine, who intoned the prayer book passages and prayers throughout, the choir singing the responses. A brief sermon in English was given by Rev. Alexander A. Hotovitsky, archpriest of St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox church, New York city. In his discourse he emphasized the blessings of peace. His prayer, he said, was that all the people of Russia and Japan might be of one mind regarding the dangers of war of strife.

Following the sermon the Russian priests and attendants took positions before the high altar and chanted a solemn Te Deum in Russian. Messrs. Witte and Rosen left their seats and stood in the chancel facing the altar, and were surrounded by the Russian priests during the singing of the lengthy chant. This ceremony was the most solemn and impressive of the service. While the hymn of thanksgiving was being sung the smoke from the censors ascended to the arched roof of the sanctuary, and obscured at times the light from half a hundred candles.

A number of choristers of New York churches and elsewhere assisted in singing the Te Deum, and also sung the responses to prayers offered by Fr. Hotovitsky. After a prayer for the Russian army a prayer for all those who lost their lives in the war was chanted.

As Witte and other members of the Russians arose at the conclusion of the prayer for those who lost their lives their tears had not yet dried. It was a solemn moment. Although the Americans could not follow the service, all seemed to feel the solemnity of this moment. The concluding prayer was for the health and prosperity of Emperor Nicholas and President Roosevelt, the first time such a prayer has been offered in a Russian service.

The service closed with a brief address by the priest to Witte and Rosen, whom he extolled for their work in bringing about peace. The priest expressed the hope that the people of Russia and Japan, now that the war is over, would draw near to each other in all kindness of heart and do their utmost to comfort the sorrows of the many who have lost their dear ones in the conflict just closed. The Russian and American national hymns were sung during the service.

A high officer of the Russian mission said to a press correspondent regarding the service: "The ceremony was a most extraordinary one, as there is probably no example of such a ceremony since the separation of the Orthodox from the Roman Catholic church. The ceremony was performed by Orthodox and Protestant priests who had, for the time, put aside all their misunderstandings. They went back, at least in spirit, to the early days of Christianity, when there was but one church. The human, Christian feeling was so strongly shown that all their misunderstandings which have caused the shedding of so much blood and about which so many thousands of books have been written were forgotten. All this proved that the signing of the treaty of Portsmouth was an act which had strengthened, elevated and broadened the human soul."

OLD HORSEMEN WEPT

Sadie Mac, One of Turf's Queens, Drops Dead on Track

Hartford, Sept. 6.—The opening day of the Grand Circuit races at Charter Oak park ended in a tragedy, when Sadie Mac dropped dead in the fourth heat of the $10,000 Charter Oak trot. She fell about 200 yards from the finish while making a desperate effort to regain a lead which she gallantly held until rounding the last turn. Sadie Mac seemed to have lost her strength just at the period when her driver was urging her to do her best, but she was exhausted and, dropping to the track, rolled over and died instantly.

A veterinary surgeon attributed death to a broken blood vessel and horsemen who had been watching her declare that she acted strangely all the afternoon. The gallant mare had met her Waterloo, failing to take a single heat of the four that were run. It was apparent from the outset that she was in the fastest company of her brilliant turf career and she died trying to save her laurels.

When the tragic climax came hundreds of men thronged on the track and when it was announced that the great mare was dead all sorts of rumors spread through the crowd. It was first hinted that she had been drugged, but those wild rumors were finally discredited and the word of the veterinary was accepted. Scores of hardened old horsemen actually wept as they saw the great mare lying dead on the turf, and when her owner, Miss Katherine Wilkes, heard of her death, she was deeply affected.

Boston Negro's Good Fortune

Boston, Sept. 6.—Boston police yesterday were asked by wire from Colorado to locate Roy Jones, a negro, and to send him at once to Lake City, Col., as considerable mining property had been left him. The officials found Jones waiting on table in a hotel. He is making ready to start west. Jones was born a slave 53 years ago in Virginia. At the close of the Civil war the brothers parted. One went west and became possessed of valuable mining property. He died recently and has left his property to the hotel waiter.

Boothby Sent to State Prison

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 6.—W. B. Boothby, formerly city treasurer of Berlin, in court here was sentenced to not less than four nor more than six years in state prison and to pay a fine of $300 for embezzling city funds. The grand jury had returned eight counts of an indictment against Boothby, and the sentence was passed upon three of the number. They covered a shortage of about $12,000. When the irregularities were brought to light Boothby attempted to poison himself.

RESORT TO THE TORCH

Russian Combatants Creating a Veritable Reign of Terror

Baku, Sept. 6.—Troops under the direction of the governor are acting with the utmost vigor, but they have not succeeded in restoring order. Armed rioters attacked the oil works in the suburb of Balakhan and after a hot fight set fire to them.

Hundreds of tanks of oil and naphtha and several important refineries are now in flames. Oil men here believe the loss will run into millions of dollars in Baku alone.

At Blebat, near Baku, the works of the Mantascheff company, among the most important in Russia, and the works of the Tiflis society are on fire. Refineries at Nomani and Sabunto have been destroyed and railway communication with Sabunto has been interrupted.

Tartar bands are scouring the country, murdering and pillaging. The country is in a state of wild panic and country houses and farms are being abandoned.

The famine in many parts of the country renders the situation more terrible.

Suits Improperly Joined

Buffalo, Sept. 6.—The actions brought by Receiver Wheeler of the defunct German bank against Messrs. Appleyard, Georger, Emery, Dold and other directors of the bank to recover $662,000, on the ground that the defendants conspired to wreck the institution, were thrown out of court by Judge Kenefick, the causes of action being improperly joined. Wheeler will start new actions against the defendants, suing several of them separately.

Beef Packers Want Separate Trials

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Twenty-one separate trials may be demanded before federal judges by the Chicago packers indicted on charges of conspiracy in restraint of trade. After the matter of pleading had been continued until Sept. 18 by Judge Humphrey many of the attorneys interested in the case held a consultation and at least one agreement was reached whereby a separate trial will be demanded from the government.

Howard Homested Changes Hands

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Edward Morris, the packer, has purchased the historic Harvard homestead of Stratford-on-Avon, Eng. The purchase of the old house erected by the ancestors of John Harvard, founder of Harvard university, was arranged for by Morris during a trip in England, from which he has just returned. He says he has not yet decided what disposition to make of the property.

A HUNTING PARTY

[Original.]

After father's death mother and I lived alone together. It was pretty hard for mother, with no man in the house, and I was only a girl of sixteen. We did all the housework ourselves, which wasn't much, and as much of the farm work as we were able to do.

Mother never kept any money in bank. In the first place, there was no bank nearer than ten miles, and, in the second, she wouldn't have known how to keep a bank account.

One day, one of our horses having died, mother went to town to buy another. At the time one farm hand was at work for us, a man we had engaged a few days before. Mother had been gone but about half an hour when he came into the house and told me she had asked him to keep a sharp lookout for me, as I was only a girl, alone, and without protection. He was so kindly spoken that at first I believed him. This emboldened him to say that there were tramps lurking about and I would do well to put any money there might be in the house in a safe place. Then I began to suspect that he said this to find out whether there was any money in the house, so I told him that all the money had been paid out except what mother had taken with her to pay for the horse she intended to buy. Then he threw off all pretense and ransacked the house. Not finding what he was after, he came into the kitchen, where I was washing dishes, and, taking up a knife, threatened to kill me if I didn't tell where the money was kept.

Our sex are always dreading such trials as I was passing through, but when they come we surprise ourselves by standing up under them with unexpected coolness. I couldn't see how it was his interest to kill me, since the secret (for him) would die with me. I kept my mind bent on the problem of how to outwit him, but to outwit a man in a farmhouse, with no telegraph or telephone or any one within calling distance, is not an easy matter, and I made no headway.

The only thing I could do was to tell him that there wasn't any money in the house, or, if there was, that I didn't know where it was kept. I recommended him to look in different places, the cellar, the cupboard and the upstairs closets. He ransacked every place I suggested, but found nothing.

He was not likely to find the place where the money was hidden. Our house was very old and had been built with an old fashioned big fireplace in the kitchen. Up the chimney, which was large enough to admit a human body, mother had taken out a brick and broken off half of it. This left room for any money she had behind the brick. When it was put back in its place it looked like the other bricks.

Well, at last the man grew so fierce that I was afraid he might murder me, and I told him where the money was. He at once stood in the chimney and began to hunt. I told him the money was higher, and he pulled the kitchen table on to the hearth. In his search he supported himself by bracing his knees and back. I shoved the table farther in, so that it covered the mouth of the chimney. Then for the first time it occurred to me that I had him in a trap. There was a heavy cupboard in the kitchen, and I moved it against the table. Just then I heard an exclamation of delight and knew he had found the money.

His next move was to order me to take away the table, but I had another matter to attend to. Knowing that when he found he couldn't come down he would go up, I ran to mother's bedroom, where since father's death she had kept his rifle, loaded, standing at the head of her bed, and, seizing it, ran outside and was just in time to take aim at the man's head, which was above the top of the chimney.

I shall never forget the expression of his face when he saw me, a mere chit of a girl, pointing a rifle at him, cocked and ready to fire. He knew enough of country girls to understand that most of them could shoot pretty straight and that if I chose I could put a bullet through his head.

"See here, little girl, you've caught me fair. Now if you'll let me out of this I'll go about my business."

I didn't like the probability of having to watch him all day, and if I could have trusted him I would have let him go. As it was, I told him to get below the top of the chimney or I would shoot him. He offered to throw down the money if I would let him off, but I refused to do so. I made him believe that I would carry out my threat, and he disappeared down the chimney. He called to me that he would burn the money, but even this didn't move me.

Well, all this happened in the early morning, and till 10 o'clock I felt obliged to keep on a strain lest the outwit me and get the upper hand again. Then when all was quiet I heard the sound of horses' hoofs and a gentleman in a red coat came riding up to the house.

"Did you see a hunting party go by here?" he asked.

"Haven't had time to notice. I've got a hunting party of my own."

He looked surprised and then for the first time noticed my gun. I told him my story, and when he learned that I had a man cornered in the chimney he burst into a laugh. I, relieved from the terrible strain I had been enduring, burst into tears.

Then the gentleman took my rifle and stood guard, while I took his horse and rode away for assistance. The game I had bagged alive was kept after that in the penitentiary.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Almost pleasant today.

No more Council meetings until Sept. 18.

A patent was this week issued to Robert G. Griswold and C. C. Willits.

Quincy officers are in attendance before the grand jury at Dedham today.

The City Council Committee on Streets will meet on Friday evening.

It was quiet at the District court today, not a case of any kind being heard.

Ezekiel Sargent of the City Engineer's office at City Hall is having his annual vacation.

The installation of the new sanitaries at the Adams school is being rushed to completion, and will be ready soon after the opening of school.

Nomination papers of Republicans to be voted for at the caucuses must be filed between Sept. 6 and 12, and the Democrats between Sept. 12 and 14.

Lieut. Col. H. L. Kincaide accompanied Gov. Douglas to the New England fair at Worcester on Tuesday. Gov. Bell of Vermont was also present.

William Chamberlain of Middleboro formerly of Quincy was here today with one of his sons renewing old acquaintances. He is now in the hardware business.

Alice D. King of Union street, has returned to her school, at Milford, N. H., accompanied by her sister, Mary E. King, who will remain with her during the balance of the school vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fairbanks, Jr., (nee Fletcher) left this morning on their wedding trip to New York and Washington. Upon their return they will reside on Warren street, Roxbury.

CITY COUNCIL.

It is an apparent fact that we are paying heavy rates for gas. He understood by the change in ownership that we would have a better supply and better rates. Very little progress had been made however for lack of capital.

Councilman Chamberlin. There have been hearings before the Commission in response to petitions of individuals but with no results. I thought it best to go at it through the City of Quincy. He proposed to make the fight no matter what the situation of the Gas Company. We want the change. If they will not give it to us we will franchise some other company. He had waited six months for the administration to move. It will take several months to prepare the case before the commissioners.

Councilman Chamberlin then offered the following order which was adopted:

That a committee of five be appointed by the President to consider the advisability and feasibility of the establishment by purchase or otherwise of a Municipal Gas and Electric plant, either or both, and to recommend such action thereon as it deems best; and to consider and recommend any other means by which better or cheaper gas and electric service may be secured by the citizens of this city.

At this time City Solicitor Thomas came into the Council Chamber and upon motion of Councilman Chamberlin he was allowed to speak.

The City Solicitor said, at the time the order was adapted, I said as soon as the vacation season was over the matter would be taken up. If the Councilman wishes to go to the Commission as intimated, it will take three months to prepare the case. Had been waiting to have a conference with the Councilman but he was out of town or sick. He was to obtain witnesses in his section. Up to date I have received but two names. If he will present the data he has I will be only too happy to go ahead.

Councilman Chamberlin was given permission to reply. He regretted to say that a question of veracity had been raised but it was not of his seeking. I never intimated that I would assist in the preparation of the case. I would be glad to do so but never said so. The Council has asked the administration to make a complaint and back it up. Is it to take the position that it will not do so unless the Council will back it up? It means that the administration is not interested as it should be. It effects 1000 people and I thought it proper to word it as I did. I think my position is plain that the Mayor and City Solicitor, at the request of the Council, should make the complaint forthwith and prepare the case and present it.

City Solicitor Thomas being given permission to reply said: The difference comes on the meaning of two words "prepare and present." He asked me if I would present the matter and I said yes, if he would present the data.

A motion to adjourn by Councilman Savage was lost.

POLES AND WIRES.

The orders granting the Telephone Company attachments on Franklin, Adams, Brooks, Marion and Davis streets and Billings road took their second reading and were referred to the Ordinance Committee.

The order granting the Telephone Company permission to attach wires to poles on Squantum street took its second reading. The rules were suspended and the order passed to be ordained.

The order granting the Electric Light Company permission to locate poles on Washington court took its second reading and was referred to the Ordinance Committee.

Adjourned at 9.45, to meet Sept. 18.

English Team Coming.

Much interest is being taken in an Association foot ball game to be played next month between a picked team to represent Boston and the English Association foot ball team now in Canada. At a meeting in Boston Tuesday evening there were present representatives of the clubs in the Merrimac Valley league, the Boston association and the Harvard association. A game will be played Oct. 16 or 17 to select a team.

The committee while sitting passed the following men as being qualified to referee during the coming season: W. Connors of Andover, Walter Pollitt of Lawrence, Thomas McDermott of Lawrence, A. Crabbe of Lynn, T. Littleson of Methuen, David Edgar of Lynn, H. Gordon of Lynn, Albert Moss of Lawrence and J. Stephenson of Lawrence.

THE GIRL LOAFER.

She Who Spends Her Time In Doing Absolutely Nothing.

A girl loafer—that does not sound very pretty, does it? And yet there are a good many girls whom the title fits. In other words, there are girls who spend their time doing absolutely nothing. Circumstances do not render it necessary for them to earn their living, and so they stay at home and fritter the precious moments away in useless pursuit or idleness. Don't a good many of them lie in bed in the morning and let their mothers get up and get breakfast? And don't you think they also dress up in their best clothes and spend the afternoon enjoying themselves while their mothers stay home and prepare the evening meal? And when they are home they spend their time reading trashy novels or trimming equally trashy hats.

When a girl goes to a party and is late in getting to bed, she looks on it as quite proper and natural that she should be in bed late the next morning, and all of the family accepts the fact as a matter of course. But if the mother is up half the night with an ailing baby, neither her lazy daughter nor any other member of the family seems to think it necessary that she should stay in bed and make up her broken sleep. Perhaps if some of these girls could appreciate the enormous value of time they would not waste it. Our lives are such tiny drops in the ocean of time, and we can never, never call back one precious lost minute.

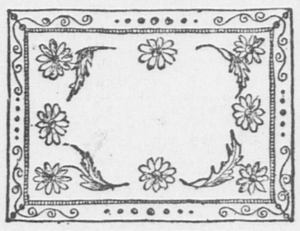

Dear girls, don't allow yourselves to be called by that ugly word "loafer," and yet you will be if you deserve it. If your brothers lie around the house all day, half dressed and doing nothing, they would be called loafers, so why not you as well as they? Loafing is a habit that grows on one with fatal rapidity, and unless you want to be held irrevocably in its clutches you must break away from it at once.—Detroit News-Tribune.

THE CARVING CLOTH.

A carving cloth is a necessity if one has any regard for the dainty spotlessness of the tablecloth, and it is as easy to have a pretty carving cloth—one that will add to the appearance of the table—as it is to have a plain one.

No really careful housekeeper allows her table to be laid without the protective cloth beneath the dish of meat.

EMBROIDERED CARVING CLOTH.

The one shown in the illustration is durable as well as ornamental and involves only a moderate amount of labor. The material is Belgian linen. The flowers are embroidered with white, shaded with palest gray, and the leaves with delicate greens. The edge is hemmed and hemstitched, and on the hem the scrolls and disks are embroidered with white.

Soft Castile Soap.

Many persons who cannot use castile soap for the face and hands will find it agrees perfectly with the body and in that case is better for the bath than any other soap. One of the most convenient things to have on every washstand is a jar of soft castile soap. This is made by scraping a cake of pure soap and adding about a pint and a half of water. Put them together into a saucepan and stand over a brisk heat, but not one that will boil the liquid. When the soap is dissolved pour into a wide mouthed jar. When the mixture cools it will be jelly. This is excellent to have by to rub on the hands when washing, diluted with more water to which a couple of pinches of soda are added. It is a harmless and cleansing shampoo to be rubbed into the head, which is then rinsed thoroughly.

Tact In Dress.

Tact in dress is necessary to every woman who hopes to become representative of that refinement which is the chief ornament of womanhood or girlhood. It is rare that one sees French people dressed out of keeping with their surroundings or position. In the latter half of the nineteenth century a noted woman of France, Mme. de Girardin, said: "Style ought inevitably to vary according to position and age. It should fit itself to the fortune, to the habits, to the form, to the circumstances and, indeed, to every detail in the life of those who wish to appear its leaders." This truism is as real today as at the time it was written, but unfortunately outside of la belle France this fitting of self to one's sphere is honored more in the breach than in the observance.

Pantry Shelves.

A fine idea for pantry shelves is to use two coats of white paint and then a finishing coat of white enamel. Wash the shelves with cold water as soon as the enamel dries, and then it will harden quickly. Over this place no oilcloth or papers, but leave the shelves bare, and notice the improvement. Since there are no covers under which crumbs can collect, there is no encouragement for mice, the enamel is easily wiped off with a damp cloth, and with such a finish it is never necessary to clean the entire pantry at once. It keeps clean all the time.

Wilson—Andrews.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Ruby Ada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Andrews of Fayette street, Wollaston, and John Robert Wilson of Neponset, which took place at the bride's home Monday. After a wedding trip through Maine, they will reside at 191 Fayette street, and will be at home to their friends after December 1.

Civil Court.

The September civil session of the Norfolk superior court, without juries, came in this week at Dedham, before Judge Schofield. The trial list contains 59 cases—six suits in equity, 11 in which motions are pending, 21 actions at law and 21 uncontested and nine contested libels for divorce.

The Leader of Peace.

All Hail to the Chief of our Nation
Whose praises resound with glad congratulation
Peace! peace! wonderful peace! is restored!
No longer the cry of battle is heard,
For Russia and Japan
Have ceased the loud clang,
And peace spreads her wings,
While Russia and Japan to their Countries still cling.

And new energy and enterprise will start
Out of the din and clamor of war each take part,
Unknown yet are the prospects of Japan;
Russia unites with hope and courage again.
All praise to our President, the leader of Peace;
In history his brave deeds and memory never cease;
Then sound the loud timble all o'er the wide world,
For among all Nations the glad tidings are herald.

MISS L. A. HINCKLEY.
Roxbury, Sept. 4, 1905.

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf

A VIEW OF RACE SUICIDE.

Effect of Modern Industrial Life on Size of Families.

If the average American whose ancestors were born in this country since Revolutionary times will examine his genealogical tree he will find that as they were pioneers upon the advancing border of civilization their families numbered from six to sixteen children. As these children of large families remained "east" they of necessity became farm renters, laborers, entered the professions or were employees in the larger cities. Race suicide was not thought of until the rich government land was all taken. The number of children in succeeding generations steadily decreased, often from a baker's dozen to nil in three generations. The student of history will uniformly note that the breeding grounds of the human race are where land is practically free by possession or conquest for individual enterprises, where the settler controls all the labor of his mind and body and is sure of possessing all that he produces under these conditions. Though the risk be hazardous and the toil and sacrifice enormous, large families are the rule.

When individual liberty to engage in personal enterprise is gone or the individual cannot be sure of possessing all that he risks and works to gain, race suicide is the rule. Industrial liberty is, therefore, one condition of increase of population.

In all cases of race suicide the natural increase of population is thrown back into the hereditary and acquired interests of society, which freeze out personal enterprise and incidentally starve the children of the man who attempts it—if he has any. The increase of population is forced to become hired men and, sad to say, hired women and children too. The energy of mind and body is directed by an aristocracy of intellect and wealth.

Here and there large families are raised up by the most heroic work of parents, who literally work themselves to death for their children, sacrificing themselves every day with more heroism and courage than soldiers know, but the children or the children's children do not repeat the offering. Indeed, a few generations of modern industrial life tend to make the bearing and rearing of vigorous children impossible.

The remedy lies with a government which will prevent one class of citizens from preying upon another and provide a way for the industrial freedom of increasing population. Much can be done through the public schools and general agitation, but both government and education must be supplemented by home and religious training, according to the dictates of conscience, and it is assumed by the principles which underlie the constitution of the United States that the people will voluntarily do this.—H. Gillespie in American Federationist.

THE TEAMSTERS' STRIKE.

Although Defeated, the Union Is Still a Great Power.

With the teamsters' strike officially ended the local labor atmosphere is clearer than it has been at any time for months, says Luke Grant in the Chicago Inter Ocean. The indications are that the next big battle will be between the United Typothetae and the International Typographical union when the latter attempts to enforce the eight hour day Jan. 1 next.

The result of the teamsters' strike will probably have the effect of making other unions go slowly; but, although it has been a costly fight to both sides, the lessons it has taught will be of incalculable benefit to both employers and teamsters.

The strike resulted in a defeat for the teamsters, but the employers will not look for another fight for a long time. Today they are victorious, and it is probably the best thing for the teamsters' organization that such is the case. The teamsters need not feel ashamed of the battle they put up, for throughout the long struggle they stood with almost unbroken ranks.

In the three and one-half months that the contest lasted many of the strikers got work in other lines of industry, but the number who deserted and returned to their former employers was insignificant. Two local unions are badly demoralized, and it will take some months to build them up again, but the organization as a whole in the city has not suffered seriously. It still remains a great power, and perhaps the experience it has got will teach it to direct that power more wisely in the future.

In the history of every labor organization there comes a time when success is more to be feared than defeat. This time usually comes in the early stages of the organization, especially when, as in the case of the teamsters in this city, it has never experienced a reverse. Success is apt to turn the heads of unions in their collective capacity, as it frequently turns the heads of individuals. They believe they are invincible, and they rush headlong into trouble A reverse acts as a wholesome check and has the effect of steadying them.

The Unionists Won.

The Trades and Labor assembly of Logansport, Ind., has started a movement in favor of a public bath house. Some time ago the same organization began an agitation for a public park. The unionists were at first laughed at and told the city could not maintain a public park. But the unions kept at it, and the park is now a fact. O. P. Smith, secretary of the central body, who is chairman of the committee appointed on the public bath house, writes that they are the most progressive unionists in the country, and it does look as if they were accomplishing good work in the Hoosier burg.

New Furniture Given For Old.

There is fashion in furniture just as much as in clothing or anything else, and if you desire to keep up to the times you must occasionally let go of some old piece and replace it with new.

We take your old furniture, carpets, or range, and make you a liberal allowance for it in payment for new. A little each week will pay the balance. Our low suburban expenses enable us to undersell all Boston Stores.

We have much that is of interest to the thrifty housekeeper.

AN OBSTRUCTION.

Mayor Should Order Crescent Street Cleared.

Board of Trade Adopt Resolution.

Several Other Questions Considered at Meeting.

There was an interesting and well-attended meeting of the Board of Trade Wednesday evening. Several questions of public concern were discussed, after which refreshments and cigars were served, and remarks for the good of the city indulged in.

The principal discussion was on the recent fencing in of a portion of Crescent street, and it was evident from the tone of the speeches made, and the resolution passed later, that the members don't intend to acquiesce with much meekness. They want the question decided by the court, and they consider the most expeditious way of getting the question before the courts the following: Let the Mayor order the street cleared of obstructions and keep it clear until the courts decide that there is good cause for obstructing it.

In such a proceeding the city would be exercising a prima facie right and the burden would be on him who wanted the street closed. One member gave an interesting exposition of the law relating to public highways, explaining that no matter how a public way is acquired,— whether by prescription, dedication, or eminent domain,—the fee does not pass but remains in the owner, and on the abandonment of the street the property reverts to the owner or his heirs or assigns; that the Commission deeded something which they did not own; that the opinion of Mr. Doge was to be taken with large grains of reservation, because he represented virtually the adverse party, and more especially because he dodged an opinion on the constitutionality of the Act involved, which was really the only material question; that nothing short of a decision from the highest tribunal of the Commonwealth should satisfy the citizens of Quincy as to the legality of the extraordinary inconvenience to which they had been put of late; and that pending such decision the street should be kept open to travel.

The following resolution was finally offered and passed:

"Resolved,—That it is the opinion of the Quincy Board of Trade that the rights of the citizens of Quincy are being invaded by the obstruction now existing on Crescent street; and it is the sense of this Board of Trade that the Executive should at once cause the obstruction now existing on said Crescent street removed, so that the citizens of Quincy shall no longer be deprived of their rights."

The beautifying of private estates, the commissionership of public works in cities, the town form of government and the Atlantic bridge grade were among the other subjects discussed.

Funeral of Mr. Milligan.

The funeral of Mr. George Milligan was held at the residence of his son James at 28 Smith street, Wednesday, at 2 P. M. Rev. Mr. Sproul officiated and the interment was in the family lot at Mt. Wollaston. Clan McGregor No. 5, O. S. C., of which Mr. Milligan was a member, conducted the services at the grave.

There were many flowers. Among them: A pillow from Clan McGregor; gates ajar, a standing wreath and sickle, a large pillow of white roses and a bunch of 62 roses from relatives; besides many bouquets from friends.

Mr. Milligan has been a resident of Quincy for some thirty-five years, he being a native of Scotland. He is survived by five sons, James of Quincy, Walter, George and Charles of Boston, and William of Athol.

IN NEW REGISTRY.

Norfolk County Probate Court Opened with Prayer.

The first session of the Norfolk county probate court in the new Registry building at Dedham was held on Wednesday. It was also the first session since July, a vacation having been taken in August. An innovation at probate court was a prayer in the opening by Rev. E. H. Rudd of the Dedham Congregational church.

Judge James H. Flint of Weymouth was on the bench and expressed regret that the building had not been formally dedicated. John D. Cobb, the register of probate, was in his place, and George H. Field of Quincy was the deputy sheriff who acted as court officer. John E. Drummond, the janitor, had everything spic and span.

The probate business transacted:

Wills allowed—Betsy Sabin of Dedham, who bequeathed $500 to the First Congregational church for a fund for the benefit of the poor; George Eddy of Holbrook, William B. Woodbridge of Brookline and John H. Dinsmore of Braintree.

Trusteeship granted—To F. W. Ganse, Percy Parker and James Westervelt, on the estate of W. B. Woodbridge, Brookline; bond $20,000.

Administrations granted—On the estates of Martha E. Southworth of Stoughton, Estie E. Smith of Foxboro, James A. Sawtelle of Brookline, Charles F. Paine of Hyde Park, Caroline A. T. Scudder of Brookline, Henry J. Wales of Randolph, Augustus P. Folk of Sharon, Samuel S. C. Williams of Brookline, Annie C. E. Elischer of Norwood, Sophia Stoyle of Stoughton, Edward O'Connor of Randolph, Sarah M. Bump of Randolph and Roland F. Downer of Needham.

League Football.

The opening game in the Merrimac football league will be played Saturday on the Ward Two playground, between the Fore Rivers and Methuens. The Fore River team holds the championship for 1904, and a hot game may be expected. The kick off will be promptly at 3.15.

—Wellesley college will reopen Sept. 28.

ORGANIST MARRIED.

Miss Anastatia A. Hughes Bride of Mr. John Edward Lacy.

The Sacred Heart church at Malden was well filled Wednesday forenoon, says the Boston Globe, with people from Malden, Medford, Quincy and West Somerville, who had gathered to witness the marriage of Miss Anastatia A. Hughes, formerly organist at the Sacred Heart church, and for the past few years organist at St. John's church, Quincy, to John Edward Lacy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lacy of West Somerville. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Fr. T. J. Hally, pastor of the church. Following the marriage there was a solemn high nuptial mass, with Rev. Fr. T. J. Hally as celebrant, Rev. Fr. John J. Coan of Quincy as deacon, and Rev. Fr. Hugh McDermod of Lowell as subdeacon.

The best man was James Lacy of West Somerville, brother of the groom, and the maid of honor was Miss Teresa Hughes, sister of the bride. The attendants were Miss Margaret O'Connell, Miss Marie Gibbons, Miss Mary O'Laughlin, Miss Bernice May, Miss Elizabeth Moran, Miss Mary McShane, Miss Rose Steffins, Miss Lena Haley, Miss Helen Hoar, Miss Lillian Driscoll of Everett, Miss Florence Kelley, Miss Helen Meach of Medford, Misses Margaret and Mary Smith of Allston, Misses Evelyn and Zayma Galvin of Quincy, Miss Bella Winstanley of Allston and Miss Ethel Cook of Quincy. The ribbon boys were Thomas McDermot, Philip Cook of Quincy, M. J. Broderick of New York.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of ivory duchesse satin trimmed with bruges lace and conventional train, and the tulle veil was trimmed with orange blossoms. The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Hughes, 37 Newbury street. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by their parents and Mrs. Mary V. Cox, Miss Katherine A. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Record, Miss Ellen Broderick. The decorations were palms, white asters, pinks and roses. After returning from their wedding tour they will reside at 286 Summer street, West Somerville.

WOODS---POLSON.

Marriage of a Former Resident of Wollaston.

There was a large attendance of Wollaston people Wednesday noon at the wedding of Miss Edna Polson and Mr. Frederic Lester Woods at the Somerset, Boston. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Polson, formerly of Wollaston, and the groom is the youngest son of Col. and Mrs. E. H. Woods of Commonwealth avenue.

The ceremony, at which the Rev. E. A. Horton officiated, was solemnized, says the Herald, in the Louis XIV room, in the presence of the families of the bride and groom, and was followed by a large reception.

The room was beautifully decorated in white and green, with quantities of white roses and southern smilax in the bay window, where the bridal party stood, and with the stately gladioli with ferns on the mantel. An improvised frieze about the room was of the graceful smilax, dotted with white rosebuds.

The wedding breakfast was served in the red room. The mantles were banked with liberty roses and ferns, and a large basket of the same was in the centre of the table.

The bride, who is a handsome brunette, with rich coloring and a graceful figure, wore a trained gown of white baronette satin, the skirt shirred and with panels of hand-embroidery. The corsage had a yoke of point duchesse lace, and the tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of valley lilies, and wore a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom, and a diamond crescent.

The maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Miss Mildred W. Polson of New York, who was in white crepe de chine with lace yoke. Her white lace hat was trimmed with pink roses and pink ribbon. She carried bride roses.

Little Miss Edwina Hutton Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Woods, as a flower girl, was a charming part of the picture. She was dressed daintily in white, with white ribbons, and carried a basket of Catherine Mermet roses.

The best man was Richard A. Polson, brother of the bride, and the ushers included Victor F. Jewett and Jackson Palmer of Lowell, Harvard '05, classmates of the bridegroom; Rufus S. Tilden, New York; Walter P. Keyes, Boston.

The newly wedded couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Polson and Col. and Mrs. Woods.

Mrs. Polson's costume was of pale gray crepe de chine, trimmed with duchesse lace, white fancy straw hat, with white ostrich plumes, diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Woods was gowned in pale petunia voile, trimmed with much Valenciennes lace. Her white turban was trimmed with white plumes, and her ornaments were diamonds and a pearl necklace.

Mrs. Chester L. McClintock's gown was of bisque crepe, trimmed with duchesse lace, and she wore a large white hat with white feathers.

Mrs. Walter H. Woods was in black lace, and wore a white satin straw hat with white flowers and plumes and a white ostrich feather boa.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods left during the afternoon on an automobile for their wedding tour. They will be at home after Dec. 1 at 1122 Commonwealth avenue.

Among the invited guests were the following:

Mrs. A. C. Armstrong, Everett Armstrong, Albert C. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burgin, Mrs. Frances Dalrymple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fairbanks, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gannett, Howard Gannett, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Judkins, Mr. and Mrs. James Nowland, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Olney, Miss Mary Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Polson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ripley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sibley, Miss Katherine Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Sherman.

Perkins—Coolidge.

At Portsmouth on Wednesday morning at the historic old Wentworth mansion was united in marriage, Miss Mary Coolidge daughter of John T. Coolidge, Jr., of Beacon street, Boston, and John Forbes Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Perkins of Boston and Milton. One hundred witnessed the ceremony which was followed by a large reception the guests going from Boston and vicinity by special cars. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins are touring the White Mountains and on their return are to reside in Milton.

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for six days, beginning Sept. 4, at Denver, Col., having begun, there is, after all, the thought of glad greetings and exchange of reminiscences, the ever recurring condition of meeting as in days of the war when the first sargeants of companies called the roll, or in some way best possible, obtained the story of battles' sacrifice by their respective commands and turned the record in to the adjutant of their regiments for the great history of the Union armies of such data compiled.

Even the terrible attrition of numbers by battle is almost forgotten by the long interval of meeting, and advanced years of the patriots, and the "otherwise accounted for" our dead. And quickly, one by one are marshaled.

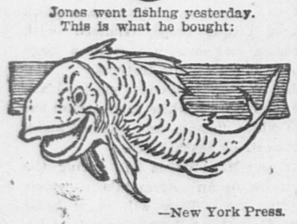

"Under death whom he owns his commander-in-chief,
No more he'll turn out with the ready relief,
But in spite of death's terrors or cannon's alarms,
When he hears the last tramp he will stand to his arms."

MUTUAL IN THEORY

Policyholders Ignored In Insurance Elections

INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN

No Examination of Credentials of Electors--Salaries of Presidents and the Vice Presidents Range From $100,000 Down to 18,000 a Year

New York, Sept. 7.—Frank S. Black appeared as counsel for the Equitable Life Assurance society before the joint legislative committee when the committee began its investigation of life insurance conditions in this state. Paul D. Cravath was present in the interests of Thomas F. Ryan and W. C. Gulliver was present as counsel for James H. Hyde.

Senator Armstrong said that the object of the committee was not to institute criminal proceedings or to punish anybody for wrongdoing, but to get at all of the salient features of the modern insurance business, so as to suggest needful legislation to the next legislature. He added: "As most insurance companies are mutual in theory, we shall endeavor to pass a law that will compel them to be mutual in fact."

Several of the officers of the New York Life Insurance company who had been subpoenaed appeared before the committee and also several officers who were not summoned. With them came the company's books, covering the business of the past 10 years.

James M. Beck represented the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, Frank R. Lawrence and Frank H. Platt the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company and Richard V. Lindabury the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Robert A. Grannis, first vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was called as the first witness. He testified that he was a director of the United States Mortgage and Trust company, and of the Lawyers' Trust company. Grannis testified that there had been only one case in the last five or six years of votes cast by proxy in the Mutual Life Insurance company's elections. He estimated that President McCurdy of the Mutual and himself held about 20,000 proxies.

Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, asked who was the general manager of the Mutual, receiving the reply that this position was filled by Robert H. McCurdy, son of the president of the company.

Walter G. Oakman, himself a trustee of the Mutual, who testified that he had served as an inspector of the elections in question, was asked how he knew that the electors were genuine policyholders. In reply he said that there was no examination of credentials, no presentation of policies or any other way of certifying the right of a prospective voter to cast his ballot. Oakman stated that he relied on officers of the company to tell him whether the electors presenting themselves were entitled to vote.

George M. Cimming, president of the United States Mortgage Trust company, who had acted as a Mutual election inspector, said that in all cases the inspectors accepted the statements of voters as to their eligibility.

The amounts of salaries paid to officers of the New York Life Insurance company were given by Secretary John C. McCall of that company. He said that he was a son of President John A. McCall of the New York Life; that the day after he graduated from Harvard in 1899, he went to work for the New York Life Insurance company at a salary of $2500 a year as assistant secretary, and that he now received $14,000. The president's salary, he said, was $100,000. The salaries of the first vice presidents were $25,000, $35,000 and $40,000, and of the three second vice presidents at $30,000, $21,000 and $18,000 respectively. There were, McCall said, about 25,000 proxies in the office of the company made out in the names of the president and vice presidents.

Edward Rhodes appeared for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company of New Jersey, which does business in New York. He claimed that the salaries paid to the officers of the New Jersey company were very low, but the figures were not stated.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company was represented among the witnesses by Vice President Fiske, and by F. H. Ecker, controller.

The latter said that in an election of 1904, out of 38,030 votes cast all except three or four were voted by proxy. Fiske said that the president's salary was $100,000, his own $75,000 and the lesser officers from $25,000 down.

Charles W. Camp of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company was the last witness examined.

"Partial Satisfaction" Granted

Paris, Sept. 7.—The Temps has a dispatch from Tangier saying that couriers from Fez report that the sultan is seeking to reconcile the French minister by granting partial satisfaction of the demands of France so as to prevent the departure of the legation.

Commissariat Trouble Ended

Panama, Sept. 7.—The differences between the canal commission and local merchants regarding the establishment of commissariats in the canal zone has practically been settled to the satisfaction of both sides.

SUDDENLY TAKEN "ILL"

How Striking Mail Wagon Drivers Evaded Breaking Law

New York, Sept. 7.—Three hundred drivers of United States mail wagons quit work at 10 o'clock last night. More than a score of them deserted their wagons at the Mail street entrance of the general postoffice after they had received word that a strike had been decided upon.

The strike is an echo of the trouble over wages of some weeks ago. The leaders say that the agreement the bosses made with them has not been lived up to, and they also demand an increase of wages.

Instead of deserting the teams as the men at the general postoffice did, the men at the Fifteenth street stables acted on another plan. They bore in mind the federal statute in regard to the penalty for interference with the carrying of the mails. As each wagon reached the stables after delivering a load of mail matter, the driver reported to the stable foreman that he would be unable to work longer, as he was ill and, therefore, incapacitated for work. Two hundred wagons were thus returned to the stables.

Values Services at $25,000

Omaha, Sept. 7.—Mae C. Wood has filed a civil suit in the district court against Senator T. C. Platt and the United States Express company for $25,000, alleging that while she was employed in the postoffice department at Washington she rendered service to the defendants by "tipping off" the inside workings of the office and by assisting to keep out of Postmaster General Payne's annual report of May, 1903, a recommendation of the "post check" system, "thus saving the express company several hundred thousands of dollars."

Return to Old Transportation Plan

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Philippine government has decided to discontinue the operation of the 17 coast guardships and turn the inter-island water traffic of the government over to commercial lines of steamers. Proposals will be invited for carrying the mails and government passengers and supplies over 21 routes in the island. This plan is practically a return to the method of transportation in vogue under Spanish rule in the islands.

Free Trade Strongly Endorsed

London, Sept. 7.—The attitude of labor towards Joseph Chamberlain's fiscal policy was emphatically attested by a vote of the trades union congress, which is holding its annual meeting at Hanley. By a vote representing 1,253,000 members against 26,000, the congress declared that "any departure from free trade would be detrimental to the interests of the working classes, upon whom the burden of protection would press the most heavily."

Cattle Scarce In Germany

Berlin, Sept. 7.—A convention of 2000 butchers from all parts of Germany met here and adopted resolutions declaring that a great and increasing scarcity of live animals exists in the German empire and petitioning the government to speedily abolish the meat famine by opening the frontiers for the admission of animals from other countries.

Prize For Roosevelt Next Year

Christiania, Sept. 7.—All the Norwegian papers express regret that it will be impossible to award to President Roosevelt the Nobel peace prize this year, owing to the requirement that candidates for the prize be nominated before Feburary. It is expected, however, that Mr. Roosevelt will be chosen for the prize in 1906.

Fifteen Thousand Veterans Paraded

Denver, Sept. 7.—It took the Grand Army parade three hours and five minutes to pass the grand stand in front of which was the reviewing stand. It is estimated that 15,000 men participated in the parade. Kansas carried off the honors for the largest representation, having nearly 2500 men in line.

Scandinavians Will Agree

Karlstad, Sweden, Sept. 7.—The commissioners of Sweden and Norway who are considering the question of the dissolution of the union held two sessions yesterday. While no official statement was given out, it is regarded that an agreement between the commissioners is probable.

Big Steamship a Total Loss

Montreal, Sept. 7.—The sunken Leyland liner Virginian has been turned over to a salvage company. Heavy gales and high water have interfered with the work of removing the cargo. The vessel probably will be a total loss.

Private Bank Closes Doors

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 7.—The Bank of Commerce, a private institution, has voluntarily closed its doors pending the action of creditors. The bank was organized in 1904, and at that time claimed a paid up capital of $100,000.

Riotous Swiss Strikers

Berne, Sept. 7.—The strikers in the iron district of Rorschach made a violent demonstration, partially destroying the foundry and sacking a hotel where Alsatian workers who were replacing strikers were housed.

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

Irrigation is Independence

In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.

"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion. The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."

It is traversed by the

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY

Irrigated lands in this valley produce per acre per year as follows:
Alfalfa, three crops, 5 to 7 tons. Oats, one crop, 40 to 90 bu., machine meas.
Potatoes, one crop, 300 to 600 bushels.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of land along the Northern Pacific Railway in North Dakota, Montana and Washington are and will be made available for cultivation by government and private irrigation projects. ## HEADACHES.

Bad Feeding and Bad Breathing Are Their Most Frequent Causes.

Headaches are for the most part the result of bad feeding and bad breathing. The first is the more frequent cause. Headache people, as a rule, do not select food to repair the body or to bring health, but eat hurriedly what they like and to satisfy "hunger." Sick headache women—and this condition is most prevalent among women—eat too much yeast bread, drink too much with meals and eat too many sweats and meats. Bread to them is the "staff of life," and, while they have no life, which is health, they go on eating ill adapted food and taking useless drugs to alleviate preventable troubles, says a writer in the Ladies' Home Journal.

The ignorance that prevails on the subject of man's food is astonishing. When we have fine dogs, cows or horses we immediately buy and study all the best books upon the care and feeding of these animals and at the same time give our children, poor things, what they like, or, more often, what is convenient. Health is under the control of vital laws, and, while we must all give up our lives sooner or later, let us be alive while we live.

I should be ashamed to break an engagement or spoil a day of my life with a headache from a preventable cause. We are coming, I am sure, to the time when overeating will be looked upon with the same disfavor as overdrinking. For the welfare of our children we should be temperate in all things. We must build humanity, not tear it down. Note the mortality of the young in this country and you will see at once that something is radically wrong with their feeding.

CHILDREN OF TODAY.

A Comparison With Those of a Hundred Years Ago.

The child of today thinks more, knows more, questions more, talks a hundred times more than its contemporary fifteen years ago.

Fifty years ago children were unknown in society life. A hundred years ago they were unknown in any grown-up life at all.

A hundred years ago children saw only their mothers. Their books and toys were few. Their friends fewer. Naturally all children are today more intelligent than then, but it is paid for by a decrease in physique.

The modern mother interferes spasmodically with the conduct of the nursery or the school room, and there is no one in authority to say nay to what may be harmful whims and fancies.

The reason children show a decrease in physique today is due in a great measure to unwholesome food, late hours, prolonged excitement, and, above all, to fashionable invalid talk. A sick child's ailments are discussed before it, and nothing could be worse for a child than let it think that its maladies are an object of serious interest to its elders. It becomes a hypochondriac at once.—Exchange.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Paper can be got from lard or butter immediately if the outside is dipped in water for a moment.

Rancid butter, boiled in water with a pinch of charcoal, will be divested of its rancidity and may be used for cooking purposes.

To clean dish covers rub the covers with sweet oil and then with finely powdered whiting. Polish them with soft cloths—rags will do, but of course they must be clean.

Blinds can be nicely cleaned and brightened if after dusting and washing they are rinsed in clear water and ammonia. Use four tablespoonfuls of ammonia to every gallon of water.

Oxalic acid will remove stains from ivory, say, piano keys. Ordinarily the keys may be kept in condition of whiteness by simple rubbing with alcohol. This means spirits, not wood alcohol.

The Neglected One.

When "Martha, careful and troubled about many things," sighs at the mirrored change in herself, she must search within for the cause. She has baked and patched and mended. She has swept and washed and polished. She has worried and fretted and scolded. She has nagged and reproved and punished. Her house is spotless, her children healthy and attractive, her husband successful and well informed. She, alas, in foolish self forgetfulness, is out of date, prematurely wrinkled, nervous and uncomely! Poor Mrs. Atlas! She has carried her little world upon her shoulders so unnecessarily, and has missed the sweet process of evolution in her own life. It is not the years, nor the burden of the years, but how she has borne them that counts.—London Madame.

Baked Apples.

One of the most wholesome dishes is a baked apple. It is delicious at breakfast as well as at supper. In fact, apples in almost any form are invaluable. For variety's sake, try peeling the apples before baking them. Peel and core them, fill the hollows with spice and sugar and bake long enough to give them a thin, crispy crust. Sometimes a bit of butter is placed on top of each apple before putting in the oven. Serve them cold with whipped cream.

Useful Boards.

The boards that fine woolen dress goods are wrapped about are to be had at every drygoods store for the asking and are great conveniences about the house. In the guest chamber they make a comfortable writing pad and are invaluable as lapboards for the home dressmaker.

RIOTING AT TOKIO

Hundreds Wounded and Police Stations Destroyed

A DISAPPOINTED NATION

Feeling That Russia Got Too Much In Peace Settlement--Progressive Leader Sees Opportunity For Further Trouble When China Has Manchuria

Tokio, Sept. 7.—Rioting broke out here Tuesday night in connection with the dissatisfaction over the results of the peace settlement. There were several clashes with the police and it is estimated that two were killed and 500 wounded. The rioting ceased at midnight. Police stations were the only property destroyed.

Count Okuma, leader of the Progressive party, in discussing the settlement, said he was unable to reconcile himself to the result because the conditions preventing Russian aggression in Korea and Manchuria were insufficient. "They leave," he said, "an ample root for Russian ambition in the future. The conditions prevailing before the war are liable to repetition at any time. Both nations agree to evacuate Manchuria. But if China is unable to maintain order there Russia will have an opportunity to sow seeds of war instead of removing causes for a future dispute. It leaves the conditions exactly as before hostilities began."

Under a vigorous defense by the conservative journals supporting the government and a fuller and better appreciation of the situation confronting the country, public sentiment is showing some evidence of reaction. The argument that it is impossible for Japan to continue the bloody war merely for the purpose of securing indemnity is proving effective in allaying dissatisfaction. It is believed that when the government is free to explain fully the conditions of the settlement and the logic appertaining to them, the reaction of sentiment will largely increase.

The entire nation is keenly disappointed at the outcome. Nowhere throughout the empire has there been a step taken toward the celebration of the conclusion of peace. The radicals continue their campaign against the government, demanding the punishment of those responsible for the compromise. The forthcoming diet is certain to be turbulent, and it is predicted that the Katsura government will be forced from office.

The declines in the market and the unsatisfactory crop conditions, coupled, naturally, with the heavy obligations of the government, have created a fear in some quarters that a financial depression and unsatisfactory business conditions are impending. A prominent banker says that the Tokio exchange is an inaccurate barometer of real conditions, as lately the exchange transactions have been largely speculative. The August settlement was the largest in the history of the exchange. The recent decline, he said, was the result of conditions within the exchange, and not a correct reflection of general conditions. The banker added:

"There is plenty of money in the country and undoubtedly we will weather any difficulty that may occur. The repatriation of the army will occupy at least 10 months, there being in round numbers a million of all arms in every department. This will cost many million yen. The government may seek a domestic loan, but the disappointment and depression over the result may show that the people are unwilling to subscribe.

"However, the government possesses considerable money and probably will manage the matter without embarrassment. I believe that much of the present agitation will pass away, when the people appreciate the conditions. We win more than we started in to fight for and occupy a highly satisfactory position before the world. The cabinet and elder statesmen acted wisely, although it is probable that public sentimet will blindly demand that somebody be sacrificed.

"Knowing the temper and expectations of the people, the government has shown wonderful and commendable courage by stopping the war."

Steamer Lost Seventeen Men

Charleston, Sept. 7.—The British steamer Tropic arrived in this port after an exciting voyage that had lasted nearly three months. Sailing from Valparaiso June 28, while about 15 miles from Constitucion the ship went hard aground. The second mate, purser and 15 seamen put out in the lifeboat for Constitucion for aid, but were lost. The Tropic was 28 days overdue.

Railroads Given More Time

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Armour Car Lines company has been granted by the interstate commerce commission an extension until Sept. 10 in which to file its answer to the inquiry concerning relations between refrigerator lines and railroads. Several railroads have been granted extension ranging up to Sept. 25. The time in which to answer was set originally has expired.

Reached Remarkable Age

Halifax, Sept. 7.—The oldest man in Canada, Alexander Emmerson, a negro, died at his home at Hammonds Plains at the age of 112 years. His son, aged 74, brought the news to the city. The deceased was born in slavery in Pennsylvania.

HAD DISPLAYED MONEY

Circumstances Indicate Murder of a Connecticut Man

Torrington, Conn., Sept. 7.—The body of John E. Bushey was found in the East branch reservoir last night. Medical Examiner Hanchett found a deep gash over the right eye, and states that the blow that caused it would have been sufficient to have caused death. Bushey was seen alive about 11 o'clock Saturday night in company with a stranger. It is said that early in the night he had displayed a large roll of money.

Mill to Cost a Million

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 7.—The Wood worsted mill corporation was organized in Portland, Me., yesterday with an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000. The capital stock is owned by the American Woolen company. Ground was broken last week for the plant which is to be erected here by the corporation at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. When completed it will handle all the worsted goods and those that require the worsted process from the various mills controlled by the American Woolen company.

Angiola Wins Charter Oak Trot

Hartford, Sept. 7.—Angiola captured the classic Charter Oak trot at Charter Oak park before a big throng of spectators. The purse was distributed as follows: Angiola, $5000; Zephyr, $2500; Norman B, $1500, and Glenwood M, $1000. Sadie Mac, who dropped dead in the fourth heat Tuesday, was buried yesterday afternoon in the horse graveyard at the track. It is said that her owner will erect a tablet at the grave.

Hand Tub Breaks the Record

Taunton, Mass., Sept. 7.—The feature of the second day of the Bristol County fair was the breaking of the world's record for hand engines in the Veteran Firemen's playout by the Hancock company of Brockton, holder of the previous record. With a faint breeze favoring the throw, the Hancock tub wet the paper at a distance of 257 feet 8 1-8 inches. Their previous record was 254 feet 1-8 inches.

Cleveland Buys Two Farms

Sandwich, N. H., Sept. 7.—Former President Cleveland, who with his family has passed the last two summers on the Boyden place in this village, has purchased two farms in the adjacent town of Tamworth with the idea, it is understood, of making the estate his permanent summer home. The newly acquired property is situated about a mile from the farm which Cleveland now occupies.

Caught With Mileage Books

Boston, Sept. 7.—John O'Day, 32 years old, was arrested here on the charge of breaking and entering the Boston and Maine railroad station at Franklin Falls, N. H., last Tuesday. Six mileage books were taken and the police claim to have found them on O'Day's person.

Death From Trolley Accident

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 7.—May Pitts, injured in the Worcester and Southbridge railway accident, died last evening. She never recovered consciousness after admittance to the city hospital. Frank W. Kay is on the dangerous list. Other victims are not in a dangerous condition.

Live Stock Lost by Fire

Great Barrington, Mass., Sept. 7.—One of the largest barns in southern Berkshire county, owned by J. H. Walsh, was burned to the ground last evening and a herd of over 100 cows, as well as five horses, was destroyed. The loss is about $5000.

Fire Started by Lightning

Boston, Sept. 7.—During a brief thunderstorm last night a 2½ story stable at the Brighton stockyards was struck by lightning and set on fire. The building was totally destroyed, at a loss of $7000.

Shot Himself by Accident'

Concord, N. H., Sept. 7.—William Parsons, 17 years old, accidentally shot himself last night as he was returning from a hunting trip with a companion. It is believed that he cannot recover.

Want Name Changed to Sequoyah

Muskogee, I. T., Sept. 7.—The constitutional convention of the five civilized tribes last night adopted a constitution. The preamble, christening the new state Sequoyah, was adopted without a dissenting vote. The bill of rights is similar to that of most states admitted during the last 50 years, including a section prohibiting lotteries, prize fights and slavery. The convention decided to carry on a systematic campaign for the ratification of the constitution.

Solidly Against Eight-Hour Day

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 7.—At the United Typothetae of America convention reports of routine nature from various committees were heard and acted upon, but the one absorbing topic of discussion and conversation was the demand of the printers for the eight-hour day. The convention is solidly opposed to the demand.

Man and Wife Fell Hundred Feet

St. Paul, Sept. 7.—In the presence of thousands of visitors at the state fair, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Seventhal fell from the upper car of an observation wheel to the ground, a distance of nearly 100 feet. The woman was instantly killed and her husband died shortly afterward. The seat in which they were sitting broke.

No Mutual Insurance Feature

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 7.—The national postoffice clerks' convention defeated the organization of the proposed mutual benefit association. The matter was under discussion several hours.

FIRES AND MURDERS

Russia's Warring Factions Beyond Control of Authorities

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The news from Baku is of the gloomiest character. The Armenian and Tartar warring factions now appear to be entirely beyond control. The streets of Baku seem to be unsafe for the inhabitants and the force of troops to be inadequate to restrain the anarchial tendencies of the combatants in the surrounding region.

The troops have been forced to withdraw from the suburb of Balakhan, where the rioters set fire to the oil works, and that place is now in the hands of Tartars, who have completed the work of destruction and who, it is said, massacred the inhabitants who did not accompany the troops in their retirement. Telephonic and railroad communication between Baku and the suburban oil centres is cut and late last night it was reported that the wires into Baku were down.

The viceroy of the Caucasus has dispatched reinforcements of troops from Tiflis, but it is thought that even with these reinforcements the troops will be inadequate to deal with the situation. In the suburban region the fight is desperate and the soldiers are using artillery.

A press dispatch from Baku says: "The rival factions are concentrating in their own quarters. The situation is exceedingly tense. Murders are frequent. Cannonading is heard from time to time. Balakhan is on fire and the Armenians are surrounded by armed villagers, apparently Tartars, and the cannonading there is unceasing."

Other advices state that a hot fight is going on between Armenians and Tartars at Bibiebat and that great fires are still raging in Sabunto and Nomani, fed by immense tanks of naphtha, of which there are 1600 in that region, and that the conflagration at Baku is steadily augmenting.

How Mr. Nickerson Was Won

[Original.]

The Nickersons had been literary people for generations. One of them, who admired Thackeray above all authors, named his only son Pendennis. Pendennis was an honor to the name. He would read no authors except those who were only appreciated by a critical few. He was rich in his own right and had no need to labor—just the man whom girls looking out for love in a chateau are disposed to angle for. Among those who angled for Mr. Nickerson was Miss Lydia Marble, and she angled methodically.

Miss Marble believed that the girl Mr. Nickerson would wed must be intellectual and by all means literary. Having procured a list of his favorite authors, she glanced over some of their works (she was much bored in doing so) and admired them in Mr. Nickerson's hearing. Nickerson was charmed at the discovery. He had usually found his girl friends devoid of good literary taste. How refreshing to meet one who could sympathize with him in his likes and dislikes!

Miss Marble went to the mountains for the summer, and Mr. Nickerson followed her. He carried with him "Muchmore," a book by a new author that critics of the highest grade pronounced a wonder. There was no plot. Nickerson detested all except realistic novels, but the English in it was simply perfect. Nickerson gave the book to Miss Marble, who seized upon it with well feigned avidity, though she was much chagrined at its length.

Now, the stories Miss Marble most loved and the stories Mr. Nickerson most detested were detective stories. Unfortunately, she had just got her hands on "The Mystery of the Munro Murder," a maze out of which the real culprit emerges in the last chapter, having done the murder at the bottom of a well with a gold toothpick. The book was incased in a flaming red cover and easy to be recognized. Miss Marble felt that great care was necessary in order that Mr. Nickerson should not stumble upon it while she was reading it. She first skimmed "Muchmore," making notes upon certain points; then she was ready for keen enjoyment with "The Mystery of the Munro Murder."

There was at the hotel where Mr. Nickerson and Miss Marble were staying a pink cheeked, blue eyed little girl, so demure that it seemed butter wouldn't melt in her mouth. Her name, Kittie Cloverleigh, was as gentle sounding as she was gentle looking. Miss Cloverleigh cast longing eyes on the intellectual Mr. Nickerson. He had noticed her as a delicious bit of flesh and blood who, if devoid of intellect, was surely very kissable. One morning Miss Cloverleigh went to the Marble rooms and there on a table saw a copy of "Muchmore," with notes in pencil. Miss Cloverleigh, believing in the adage, "All's fair in love and war," appropriated the notes and learned that Miss Marble had gone to the cliff to read. The cliff faced the hotel from across a valley about a mile wide.

Miss Marble the evening before had noticed in a periodical a criticism of "Muchmore" by one of the most critical critics of the day. Armed with Miss Marble's notes and a study of this criticism, which she did not understand, she sought Mr. Nickerson, who was reading a review called "The Critic of Critics" on the piazza. She began to scintillate with opinions on his favorite novel, "Muchmore." Nickerson was astonished. Miss Cloverleigh's simple beauty had attracted him, now her subtle analysis of a book that no one could quite understand charmed him.

On the piazza was a small telescope swung on a tripod used by the guests of the hotel to look at the neighboring mountains. As soon as Miss Cloverleigh had impressed Mr. Nickerson with her powers of criticism she proposed that they should amuse themselves with the telescope. She soon turned it to the cliff.

"Why, I declare," she exclaimed, "if there isn't Lydia Marble!"

"Indeed," said Nickerson. "What is she doing?"

"Reading. The book has a red cover. I wonder what book it is?"

Miss Cloverleigh turned the glass over to Nickerson, who looked at the unconscious Miss Marble sitting on a rock devouring a book which from its cover he readily recognized as "The Mystery of the Munro Murder."

"She's reading that detestable detective story," he exclaimed.

"Is she?" replied Miss Cloverleigh. "I don't see how she can read such trash."

At that moment Miss Cloverleigh—possibly she thought he was through with the instrument—tried to look through it and their cheeks rubbed against each other. Both drew away and, both mistaking the other's intentions, again attempted to put an eye to the telescope. The result was another meeting of cheeks.

This was the beginning of a change in Mr. Nickerson's attentions. In vain Miss Marble endeavored to attract his sympathy by her book talk and admiration for literary style and that exquisite handling of the English language without which no book could be to her taste. The pink cheeked Miss Cloverleigh had captivated him and there was no detaching him. Miss Cloverleigh, having put in an entering wedge, dropped book talk and resorted to such means as she had put in practice when Mr. Nickerson had inadvertently rubbed his cheek against hers. The result was that when she left the mountains she and Mr. Nickerson were engaged. BLANCHE T. CARRUS.

Till a bit of love existence leavens,
And then it's a million billion heavens!
—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Cruelty to Animals.

Colonel Martin, resident near the city of Galway, on the southern border of Connemara, Ireland, was probably the first to start the worthy humanitarian crusade against cruelty to animals. The surprised British house of lords shouted insult and derision at Lord Erskine when in 1811 he ventured to gently plead the cause of dumb brutes. The British house of commons would have treated Martin in the same manner when he introduced his bill for the prevention of cruelty to animals but for wholesome regard for his dueling reputation.

"Dick Martin's act," as the humanitarian statute was known, was passed in 1822, "a memorable date in the history of humane legislation." On June 24, 1824, Colonel Martin and a few other benevolent individuals met in London and formed the first society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Forty years later the movement spread to America. In 1866 Henry Bergh formed the New York society.

Not His Fault.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Officer Olsen is having his annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gould left this week for Maine to spend the rest of the month.

The school teachers are coming back preparatory to beginning their duties next Monday.

The Merrymounts and South Quincys meet on the diamond at Merrymount park Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Mueller of Washington street is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Ada Brown of New York.

Communion service will be held at the Washington Street Congregational church on Sunday, Sept. 24.

The Quincy police will finish up their cases before the grand jury today. Quincy had quite a number of cases.

David Waugh has returned to his home in Elizabethport, N. J., after a pleasant visit with his sister at the Point.

The house recently occupied by Mr. Sheldon on Winthrop avenue has been purchased by Mr. E. J. Cummings, of Wollaston.

The Quincy Yacht club's last scheduled race is for Cape cats on Saturday, starting from off Fort Point and finishing at the club house.

Miss Caro B. Rhodes, who was master's assistant at the Lincoln school, has accepted a position in the Wadleigh grammar school at Winchester.

Seventeen of Mrs. Sadie E. Gould's boarders of 91 Revere road, are taking their meals on Chestnut street, for two weeks, giving her a much needed rest.

A number of Quincy people attended the Lacy-Hughes wedding in Malden, on Wednesday. Miss Hughes for the past few years has been organist at St. John's church, this city.

A special meeting of Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, is to be held with Miss Helen Foster, 223 Safford street, next Monday. Plans for the fair are to be perfected.

The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Buchanan of Hammond place was held this morning from St. John's church. Mass was celebrated by Rev. John J. Coan. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Abbott L. Melcher's stay in Webster, N. H., has been prolonged by sickness, she having been taken ill a few days after her arrival. She is now convalescent and will return in a few days.

The Old South School Association of Marshfield held its fifteenth reunion on Wednesday. E. E. Williamson, formerly of Wollaston, is elected vice president and one of the executive committee.

It would not be a bad idea if there were some sort of a red light on Hancock street bridge where the cars stop to connect with those to Squantum. A stranger would have difficulty in being able to find a way down to the Atlantic station in the dark, as the turns and by-ways are many and accidents are bound to happen in such a network of slopes and pitfalls.

Mrs. Loundsbury and son, Carl, are visiting relatives in Nova Scotia.

Aspirants for legislative honors are having nomination papers circulated for signatures.

Whicher's building on Temple street is being painted. It is worthy of note, being a two-story building on one of the principal streets in the centre, that has been long neglected.

MILTON.

Miss C. F. Matchett of the Granite house has returned from Prouts Neck, Me.

The Thursday Evening club resumed its weekly meetings this week.

Rev. and Mrs. Theodore I. Reese sailed from Europe for home this week.

Services were resumed at the East Congregational church last Sunday.

Mrs. Quincy Baxter has gone to New Hampshire on a visit.

M. J. Barry is building an automobile house on his land.

Schools will reopen next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Libby have returned from Hills beach, Maine.

Miss Ella G. Smith has returned from a visit to Long Meadow, Me.

O. W. Smith is at Lowell on a vacation trip.

William B. Tinker is home from a visit to Vermont.

Miss Dorothy L. Tibbits, who has been summering in Maine, has returned home.

New York Excursion.

October 5th the Boston & Maine Railroad will run the annual New York excursion. A two hundred mile train ride through the Deerfield Valley and the Hoosac Mountains to Troy and Albany, N. Y., a delightful sail on the palatial steamers down the Hudson to New York City; two days in the metropolis and back to Boston via the famous Fall River Line steamers. $5.00 for the round trip.

Write to the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railway, Boston, for beautiful illustrated booklet which describes the trip in detail. It will be mailed free upon receipt of a postal card. tf

Photographic Contest.

Owing to the absence of one of the judges, the closing of the photographic contest of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony street railways will be postponed from September 1 to October 1. This will give an opportunity for many to enter who have not during the summer had the time to take any pictures.

--Register at the Plymouth Business School, Savings Bank Building, and be among the first to graduate and to take a position—don't wait and lose all. Office hours 1 to 2 P. M. daily.

Clever With Her Mouth.

To write and even to sew by means of the lips and tongue alone would seem a sheer impossibility, and yet Dr. Rubinstein of Wertheim-on-Main, a medical expert of reputation in Germany, according to the London Globe, vouches for having himself seen an authentic instance. The case was that of a young girl, paralyzed in all her limbs from the age of seven to fourteen, when she died. This afflicted little creature, by a triumph of will and patience than which, in its own way, few finer achievements have been recorded, trained lips and tongue to do the work of the hand, and to do it well, for she could not only sew, but could do it with neatness and speed, even arranging pieces of light stuff in their places by the same means. In three weeks she embroidered designs in silk on a piece of canvas some yards long.

Words In Use.

Ordinary well educated people use from 3,000 to 4,000 words in conversation. Accurate thinkers and reasoners, who avoid vague and general expressions and wait till they find a word that exactly fits their meaning, employ of course a larger stock; eloquent speakers may even rise to a command of 10,000. Shakespeare, who had a greater wealth of expression than any other writer, produced all his plays with about 15,000 words. Milton's works are built up with 8,000 and the Old Testament contains 5,642.

Our language therefore is not, after all, so formidable as it seems when we hear of a dictionary of 250,000 words. Skeats' Etymological Dictionary, which is limited to primary words (that is to say, it would explain luck, but not lucky or unlucky or luckless), deals with no more than 13,000 and among them are some really antiquated ones which were used some centuries ago, but are now to be found in the dictionary only.—Blackwood's.

DIED.

FROST—In Milton, Sept. 6, Willard R., only child of Mr. Edward N. and Mrs. Clemmine Frost, of Elm street, aged 2 months and 21 days.

DYEING.

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

FIGHT FOR A LIFE

Counsel Seek to Save Mabel Page's Murderer

THE TUCKER EXCEPTIONS

His Counsel Recites Them and Pleads That Conviction Was Unjust--Attorney General Insists That Verdict Was Proper

Boston, Sept. 7.—The battle for the life of Charles L. Tucker, convicted of the murder of Miss Mabel Page at Weston on March 31, 1904, has been resumed. The proceedings were transferred from Cambridge to the supreme judicial court here, where arguments were made before the full bench on the exceptions taken at the January trial by Messrs. Vahey, Innes and Mansfield, counsel for the defendant.

Contrary to general expectation, Tucker was not in court, much to the disappointment not only of the defendant himself, but of his counsel and the large crowd that was on hand at the courthouse to get a look at the convicted man.

Following Thomas F. Vahey's summing up of the case James H. Vahey commenced his argument on the judicial error allegation.

Citing the statutes relating to proceedings in the grand jury room, at which State Officer Whitney was present, he argued that the law provided for the utmost secrecy in regard to all that passes in the grand jury room, and declared that great harm and injustice might be done the defendant by the presence of an officer interested as a state officer in the conviction of Tucker.

Mr. Vahey said that the broken pieces of knife found in the Tucker house should not have been taken into consideration, as entrance was gained by a subterfuge.

At great length he argued that the disputed address, "J. L. Morton, Charlestown, Mass.," declared to be Tucker's handwriting, should not be judged from slips bearing his name while salesman at Thorp & Martin's.

From handwriting, Vahey called attention to the bloody corsets of Mabel Page, and contended that it had not been proved that they were in the same condition when offered in evidence as they were when found.

"We have searched faithfully all the records," said Vahey, "and we have found no case in all our search in this commonwealth which went so far as the justice who charged the jury in this case went.

"Justice Sheldon said there might be deliberately premeditated malice aforethought, even though scarcely an appreciable interval of time separated the formation of the purpose and its commission; in other words, that the deliberate premeditation and the act might be instantaneous, or almost instantaneous. We claim the court erred in those respects, and we further say that the illustration he gave is a correct illustration of murder in the second degree."

When Vahey ended Attorney General Parker opened his side. Answering the claim regarding the presence of General Whitney in the jury room he read the statutes to support his contention that there is nothing to forbid such an officer's presence in the jury room.

"As to the alleged illegal entrance to the Tucker home by officers who secured fragments of the broken knife, the court found that the articles offered in evidence were discovered in the course of a search of the defendant's premises, expressly permitted and invited by the householder.

"It appears that the defendant expressly elected to abide by the finding of fact of the trial court, and refused to permit the evidence offered to be heard by the jury. Such ruling is a finding of fact, and, in the absence of error of law, it cannot be revised by this court.

"The address found on the postal card at the Page house, and alleged to be fictitious and testified to be in the handwriting of the defendant, was clearly competent," he said.

Reading the government's objection to the results of experiments performed by Dr. Pease, the basis of an exception, the attorney general said they were absolutely immaterial, decidedly uninstructive and purely deceptive in their conclusion. Adjournment was then declared.

Difficult Passage Predicted

St. Johns, Sept. 7.—The Peary expedition's auxiliary steamer Erik has returned here from Cape Sabine. Greenland, reporting that the Arctic ship Roosevelt with Commander Peary on board left Cape Sabine for the north Aug. 21. The officers of the Erik fear that the Roosevelt will not get very far north this winter, conditions in the northern waters being adverse.

Salmon Drops Out of Office

Washington, Sept. 7.—Dr. David E. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture, has tendered his resignation and it has been accepted, to take effect on Oct. 1. Secretary Wilson declines to state whether the severance is due to the charges filed recently against Salmon.

Rioters Working Undisturbed

Taganrog, Sept. 7.—Agrarian disorders are spreading in this district. The rioters are committing acts of incendiarism and robbery and the authorities are unable to suppress them, owing to lack of sufficient troops.

What It Costs

... AND ...

What It Pays

are two values of newspaper advertising that the merchan has to consider. But the most important thing is to throw away the certainty of the profitable returns which are sure to LEDGER and PATRIOT advertisers, because it costs less to advertise in a cheaper paper?

WHAT IT PAYS.

The merchant can get space in papers of small circulation and little influence for a little less money than the same size space would cost in the DAILY LEDGER and the QUINCY PATRIOT

DOES IT PAY

FOR A NARROW LOT.

The elevation and floor plans here presented show an up to date home with all modern improvements and conveniences which can be erected in most places, under favorable conditions, for $2,200. A glance at the plans will show an unusually convenient arrangement of rooms.

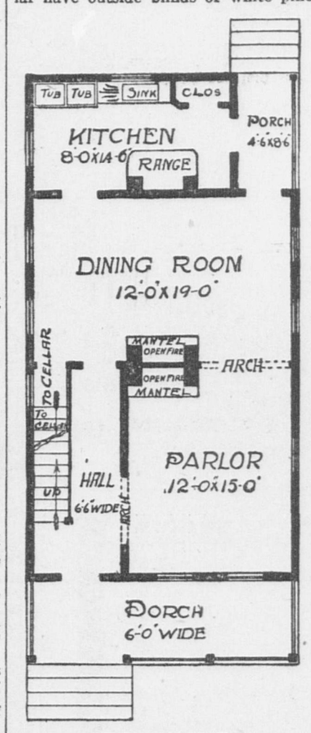

There is a cellar under the entire house, with concrete floor, coal bins, storeroom and a modern hot air furnace which heats the entire house. The frame is of hemlock lumber and timber. The walls are sheathed and covered with two ply building paper, narrow beveled siding and cypress shingles.

All windows except those of the cellar have outside blinds of white pine and are hung with wrought iron hinges and spring back hooks. The front door is of quartered veneered oak with bevel plate glass.

The floors throughout are laid with narrow North Carolina pine tongued and grooved flooring boards nailed up tight. The plastering is of common mortar put on thick, finished with white lime, white sand and plaster of paris troweled down smooth, straight and hard. The trim throughout is of clear kiln dried cypress.

The mantels in parlor and dining room are intended to be all brick, with tiled hearth facings, etc. The dining room dresser, pantry shelving, etc., are of cypress lumber moldings, with glass doors, adjustable shelves, drawers and closets to suit.

The kitchen and bathroom contain modern plumbing and fixtures. The hardware throughout is of plain dark bronze metal, with combination knobs, roses and escutcheons. The entire interior is finished in the natural wood.

Executing a Monster Elephant.

The Indian elephant named Fritz in the zoological gardens of Berlin was Europe's largest animal until it finally had to be killed for distemper. Dr. Schilling was appointed hangman. First he tried strangulation by means of ropes and pulleys, but the ropes broke and the elephant remained intact. Next he tried poisoning. The animal was given fodder of fresh bananas, which was devoured with a relish. Then a few bananas were dipped in carbolic acid, but no amount of coaxing could make Fritz "go" them. Finally shooting was tried. The heaviest big game rifle was procured and a shot was fired into the left armpit. The elephant merely looked around in surprise, the bullet having flattened against the shoulder blade. Then a Maxim gun was pulled up. A fusillade of projectiles was pumped into the big beast under the right armpit. The elephant went down like a house. In its death struggle, which was studied by many scientists, it broke all its chains and reduced part of the iron fence in the paddock to scrap iron.

Wolseley's Opinion of the Chinese.

It was Lord Wolseley who regarded the Chinese as the greatest race in the world. His opinion was formed about 1860, when he was in China, and he never renounced it. He said to a representative of the Strand Magazine: "The Chinese people possess all the elements of being a great people. They have courage, physical power and absolute contempt for death. Today in that country soldiering is looked down upon. Only the 'failures in life' enter the army. Let a Bismarck or a Napoleon rise up among them, and in two generations they would be the greatest nation and conquering power in the world. They only need a leader. Give them progress, and they will conquer. Three hundred years ago they were the head of the world, but their growth was stunted. China wants a modern man with modern ambitions. Let their leader come, and they must revive again."

Wooden Toothpicks.

"Stop chewing toothpicks, young man, if you value your life," said a physician to one of his patients. "You unconsciously swallow little shreds of the wood, which are not digestible and which become compact in the stomach. Finally you are annoyed by a hacking cough and the spitting of blood and you do not know what is the matter with you. You imagine you have consumption or some similar affliction when it is only the foreign substance in your stomach, that makes the strongest protest against your carelessness or ignorance in allowing it to accumulate there. Stop chewing toothpicks and swallowing quack nostrums, and by taking ordinary care of yourself you will live out the allotted threescore and ten years."

A Storm on the Pacific.

"When I say that the waves ran mountain high I am not exaggerating the situation in the least. The tug would be poised on the crest of a sea and then be plunged down into a valley of water which seemed a mile below us. At times the moon would come out through the clouds, and in the uncertain light the waves seemed twice as high. The wind was blowing a perfect hurricane, and our lee rail was under water all the time. The angry sea appeared raging above, below and all around us, and nearly every wave into which we dipped would wash over the tug. It was impossible to remain aft, for the lower deck was flooded."

"Electrified."

The startling physiological effects of electricity upon the human system fully warrant the use of the word as a superlative term to express enthusiastic conditions. This expression must have come into use at an early day, soon after Franklin made the static electrical machine a matter of general knowledge, for Thomas Jefferson in his autobiography stated, "Paine's 'Common Sense' electrified us." Thomas Paine's book was issued Jan. 1, 1776, and as Jefferson's autobiography was founded on his diary it is probable that the sentence was written by Jefferson at the same time.—Electrical Review.

Antiquity of Chairs.

Chairs were in use in Egypt so long ago as 3399 B. C. The Chinese employed them from about 1300 B. C. In India they were used and are mentioned as dating from 1100 B. C. House chairs with backs were in use in India A. D. 300. They are known to have been employed in Rome so early as A. D. 70, being mentioned by Pliny at that date. Chairs with foot rests were used in Rome A. D. 150.

A Double Bull.

A double bull in a single sentence was perpetrated by the late John Hollingshead, an Englishman. He wrote, "When Lord Mohun was killed he was living in Macclesfield house, Gerrard street, Soho, at the back of Leicester house, a site now occupied by the defunct Pelican club."

Vindicated.

"I congratulate you. I, understand you have been vindicated."

"Triumphantly, Johnson. At the first trial the jury disagreed; at the second trial my lawyers found a flaw in the indictment, and the case was thrown out of court."—Chicago Tribune.

Accommodating.

FOURTH TERM

Wanted by Representative R. R. Freeman.

He, However, Has Several Rivals.

Representative Nicol Also Desires to be Returned.

The present indications are that there will be a plentiful supply of candidates seeking nominations as Representatives to the General Court for the voters to select from at the caucus Sept. 26. There will be at least six among the Republicans and two among the Democrats.

Among the Republicans who have taken out nomination papers are Eugene N. Hultman, John O. Hall, Edward J. Sandberg, Arthur E. Baxter, Harry S. Nicol and Richard R. Freeman.

Of the above, Richard R. Freeman has served three terms and desires to be returned for a fourth year, which is against all precedent. Not for 25 years or more has Quincy elected a Representative for four years. In fact three years has been an exception, few Representatives having been thus honored. With so many anxious to represent Quincy at the State House, two years is regarded as long enough.

Many voters believe that Mr. Freeman having already served three terms should retire gracefully and give way to some one of the many who have long been ambitious to help make the laws of the Commonwealth. Just how much of an opposition this feeling will develope at the caucus is hard to tell.

Harry S. Nicol has served one year, and as custom has usually returned a man for at least two terms, the logical conclusion is that he should be returned.

There is a possibility that Councilman George E. Adams may enter the caucus as a candidate.

Ex-Mayor Hall took a back seat last year in the interest of harmony, and did not file the nomination papers which he had all ready. This year, however, he feels that he has held back in the interest of harmony long enough, and will enter the fight in earnest.

Edward J. Sandberg has twice received the nomination at the caucuses, but has been defeated by a few votes at the polls. He believes in the old saying, if once you don't succeed, try, try again.

Mr. Sandberg has in the past had the backing of the Swedish vote. This year however, Eugene N. Hultman will split honors with him in this support. Ex-Councilman Hultman is also of Swedish descent on his father's side, being son of Capt. Eugene C. Hultman who served Ward Two in the City Council several years.

Mr. Hultman also served Ward Two in the City Council and has been promised the support of many friends.

Arthur E. Baxter was a candidate at the election last year by nomination papers. This year he will seek the nomination at the caucuses.

Mr. Baxter looks to the labor element for his support.

The representative bee has long been buzzing around Councilman George E. Adams' ears. He has many friends both in Wards One and Two, and in fact all over the city. That he would be well supported there is no doubt, but with the many candidates in the field it is a question if he enters the contest this year.

Among the democrats the candidates will probably be George H. Elcock and William Walsh. Ex-Councilman Elcock put up a good fight last year against great odd, receiving a very flattering vote.

Mr. Walsh will be the labor union's candidate. He is employed as a conductor on the street railway and is the president of the employes' union and also president of the Central Labor union.

Silver Service to Cost $10,000.

It is probable that before the battleship New Jersey, now being fitted out at Quincy, goes into commission she will be presented by the state of New Jersey with a silver service to cost $10,000. An order has been placed for the service and it is thought now that the presentation will be made at Quincy.

The New Jersey will have her trial trips soon and will go into commission next spring.

STATE SECRETARY

Guest of Quincy Lodge, L. O. L., on Ladies' Night.

There was a large gathering Thursday evening at Wilson's hall at the ladies' night of Quincy lodge, L. O. L. The members were out in full force and there were also many ladies present.

An interesting program had been arranged for their entertainment. It was of a pleasing character and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Worthy Master, Andrew Stewart, presided, and opened the evening with a few extemporaneous remarks of welcome.

There were solos by Mrs. Laura Tirrell, recitations by Miss Alva Hamilton and Miss Mabel Johnson and guitar and mandolin duets by Miss Esther and Master Henry Torn.

J. J. Hickey, State Grand Secretary of the Loyal Orangemen's League, was introduced and spoke for nearly an hour on the principles of the order, whose foundation stone was civil and religious liberty.

After the entertainment ice cream and cake were served and an hour or more passed in social intercourse.

I. O. O. F. Grand Officers.

The Grand lodge, I. O.O. F., of Massachusetts elected these officers on Thursday at the annual session in Boston.

Grand master, Napoleon B. Dana of Somerville.

Deputy grand master, Joseph Belcher of Randolph.

Grand warden, William A. Hastings of Malden.

Grand secretary, John U. Perkins of Chelsea.

Grand treasurer, J. Lawrence Martin of Melrose.

Grand representatives (two years) George H. Fuller of Boston, (one year) Winfield S. Nevins of Salem.

Trustee of funds (three years,) Nathaniel A. Very of Salem.

Trustee of home (five years,) Henry E. Ruggles of Franklin.

Over 500 past grands attended the session.

Two of a Kind.

Officer Murray caught a pair of jags in City Square this noon. One went to sleep on the steps of the First church, and the other was trying to sleep while leaning against one of the gates leading to the old Hancock cemetery. Officer Murray let them have 5 minutes of undisturbed slumber nntil the patrol wagon arrived.

While waiting for wagon "Jim" was softly singing a lull-a-by and the crowd about the square waited to see the sequel. Then the wagon came upon the scene.

The officer gently aroused them from their slumber and assisted them to a seat in the wagon. They resented being disturbed, but when Jim told them that there was a cot at the police station where they could sleep undisturbed, they seemed satisfied and went along peacefully.

Association Football.

The Quincy football club opens its series, in the Merrimac Valley League, on Saturday at Ward Three playground, when it will meet the Lawrence team. Quincy will have a good chance to try out some of her new players and a hard game is expected.

The League consists of eight clubs, namely Fore River, Merrimac, Boston Rovers, Quincy, Lynn, Methuen, Andover, and Lawrence. A series of fourteen games will be played by each club, the club winning the largest number of games, to be presented with a magnificent gold cup, the players to receive gold medals. The players for the club that gets second place to be presented with silver medals.

The games are to be played every Saturday afternoon. The game between Quincy and Lawrence will commence at 3.30 o'clock.

Two Inquests.

Inquests were held before Judge Avery this morning on the deaths of James A. Vaughn, who was injured in the street car accident at Hingham, and later died at the Quincy Hospital; and on the death of James F. Flood, who was killed by jumping from a moving car at East Weymouth.

TODAY'S COURT.

Edgar Small and Mary King were arraigned for lewd cohabitation at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

The continued cases of Angus McArthur for assault and for creating a disturbance on a railroad train were heard.

The Republican City Committee give notice today relative to nomination papers and the caucuses of Sept. 26. Only a few days more in which to file nominations.

A GREAT LOSS.

Two Thousand Days of Schooling by Adams Pupils.

Now it is said that the Adams school will not reopen with the other public schools next Monday, because the little job of installing a plumbing system during the ten weeks vacation is not completed.

The opening date may be Monday, Sept. 18, or even later.

Such a situation is more serious than some may think. In the Adams school are over 400 pupils. Where each loses a week, 400 weeks will be lost in all, or over 2000 days, If one pupil lost 2000 days because of the failure of the city to provide accommodations there would be a great remonstrance.

Of late there seems to be considerable indifference in Quincy relative to school accommodations, not only at the Adams, but at the High school, the Coddington school, and the Quincy school. The repair job at the Wollaston, also, may not be completed this week.

The repair of schoolhouses, new buildings, alterations, etc., are under the Commissioner of Public Works. Sufficient time has elapsed since the passage of the order for the plumbing at the Adams school to have been completed. There should have been some rush work when it was seen the job might not be completed.

Apparently the sooner the repairs of the schoolhouses are restored to the School Committee the better. Amend the City Charter, if necessary. There will be more harmony and work will be accomplished on time.

The Pair Arrested.

By the aid of a ladder and the noise of a passing freight train, which prevented their movements being heard, Officers Goodhue and Crooker entered a building on Granite street at 3.30 this morning and arrested Edgar Small of Quincy and Mary King of Boston for alleged lewd cohabitation.

There have been a number of complaints to the police of the going on in a tenement on Granite street occupied by Small and the King woman, but the police have been unable to obtain evidence enough to warrant their arrest. Thursday night the parties came from Boston somewhat the worse for liquor and went to the rooms.

The officers thought this a good time to act, and about 3.30 procured a ladder and while Officer Crooker held the ladder Officer Goodhue climbed up. The window had to be forced open, which was done, a passing freight drowning the noise made. Entering the room the officer found them together and promptly placed them under arrest. They were arraigned in court.

Bellevue Park and Montclair.

Last week some one took two ladders belonging to E. F. Parlee, one of them was 16 feet long, the other one 24 feet. Mr. Parlee wishes that if the guilty party's eye should happen to fall on this, that as soon as they get through using them they would kindly return them as he would be very much obliged.

The rain on Sunday and Labor day greatly disappointed the golfers, who intended to spend a day on the Merrymount links, Bellevue park, or on the Wollaston links, Montclair, as well as the men in charge of the grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto S. Rymarczick had their baby, Ethel Rose, christened Aug. 30. Four mormon elders took charge of the service.

Drift of Opinion.

☞What is the secret of the successful teacher? Is it education? Is it method? Surely not, for some over-trained teachers have been conspicuous failures. Miss Kate E. McWilliams says it is kindness. That is partly true, but I believe it is deeper. Is it love of children? Yes, but why not go to the root of the matter at once? It is the mother-love. The great heart of a great teacher is filled with mother-love. That the fates have so shaped her destiny that she has neither husband nor children of her own is merely an accident, if you will. She is ready to "mother" the whole world of children, and the little ones—peculiarly susceptible to such divine influence—feel it without knowing why and respond to it with a loving confidence and trust such as childhood only can give. Education, training, tact, character, a charming personality—all these are important, but lacking mother-love they yet may fail. With mother-love they make the great teacher.—Human Life.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff Is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. # MIKADO'S ORDERS

City of Tokio Is Placed Under Martial Law

AN ANTI-PEACE SPIRIT

A Mob Destroys Ten Christian Churches, a Mission School and Stones American Party--Attempt to Destroy American Consulate by Fire

Tokio, Sept. 8.—The masses on the streets here are all opposed to the concessions made by Baron Komura. Angry comment and uncomplimentary epithets are showered on him. The common people are a unit in demanding that the mikado repudiate the peace treaty. Most of all, they are enraged that the Russian indemnity has been surrendered.

After a whole day and night of wild rioting, the city of Tokio has been placed under martial law by orders of the mikado. Troops are patrolling the streets and breaking up the mobs of angry rioters, and are protecting the American consulate from assault and from the torch.

Mobs of thousands of angry Japs, enraged at being shut out of the Tokio public park, where they attempted to gather to protest publicly against the peace terms, have been destroying public property and assailing all public officials.

E. H. Harriman of New York and a party of his friends were stoned by a mob when on their way to attend a dinner given by Baron Sone, minister of finance, and were rescued by a body of troops, who rushed the mob with fixed bayonets. W. G. Lyle and J. C. McKnight of the party were injured by flying stones.

Another mob assailed R. P. Schwerin, vice president of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, and assaulted his runners, but failed to injure Schwerin.

A mob hooted and jeered before the American consulate all night and attempts were made to destroy it by fire.

Ten Christian churches and one mission school have been burned and the inmates were obliged to flee for their lives before the onslaught of the turbulent crowd. The official residence of the minister of home affairs was burned and the Marquis Ito stoned. The residence of Baron Komura, who is now in New York, was assailed and troops saved it from the torch.

The police have been overpowered. Three of the officers have been killed and nearly 500 have been wounded, either with swords or with missiles. Fifteen of the small police stations have been wrecked and burned.

The printing office of the government organ, The Kokumin Shimbun, has been wrecked and the employes mobbed.

A detachment of mounted gendarmes is stationed in front of the foreign office, prepared to meet emergencies in the disturbed district. All of the legations have a guard of troops. Sentries are patrolling in front of all of the public buildings and in front of the residences of public officials.

It is reported that there is rioting at Chiba, a town with a population of 20,000, 20 miles east of Tokio. The prefectorate building and the court-house are reported to have been burned.

The government has suspended the further publication of The Niroku, a newspaper printed in Tokio.

Nothing Official at Oyster Bay

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Not until late last evening did the president learn of the serious disturbances in Tokio. He expressed concern over the situation that had developed over the riots, but had no comments to make on them. Thus far, it is said officially, no advices have been received from Minister Griscom, at Tokio, or from any other official source in Japan.

Harriman Not Heard From

New York, Sept. 8.—At the Southern Pacific offices it is said that no word has been received from Mr. Harriman from Tokio. His associates are of the opinion that the hostile demonstration was in no sense personal. Harriman's visit to Japan, it is declared, is entirely for recreation and pleasure.

Palma Endorses Numez' Action

Havana, Sept. 8.—President Palma has approved the action of Governor Nunez in suspending the seven remaining Liberal members of the Havana municipal council. Nunez suspended the Liberals because they had unlawfully continued the session in which they claimed to have elected Nodarse, the anti-Nunez candidate for mayor, in spite of the fact that the acting mayor had suspended the session.

Must Get Out of Venezuela

Caracas, Sept. 8.—A governmental decree has been issued declaring that M. Brun, manager of the French Cable company, has protested before the national government against the decree closing the overland and coast offices of the company, and "as this action shows that Brun is ignorant of the laws of the republic, the president decrees that Brun be expelled from the territory of the republic."

Declination and a Contribution

Exeter, N. H., Sept. 8.—Edward Tuck, who had been elected as a member of the board of trustees of Hampton academy, has notified the board that he will be obliged to decline the election. He sent a check for $500 with his declination.

A MISSING WITNESS

Wanted to Explain Loan of $685,000 to Equitable Society

New York, Sept. 8.—The affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance society and the Mutual Life Insurance company held the attention yesterday of the legislative life insurance investigating committee in session in this city. Nothing particularly new was developed in regard to the Equitable society other than the statement drawn from one of the officers that the society does not know the present whereabouts of Thomas D. Jordan, the former comptroller. It was stated that Jordan was wanted as a witness to explain the loan of $685,000 made to the Equitable society by the Mercantile Trust company.

The inquiry into the Mutual Life Insurance company was begun. The testimony drawn from an officer of this company showed that the Mutual controls many trust companies, among them the Morton Trust company, the Guarantee Trust company, and the United States Mortgage and Trust company. On deposit with these companies the insurance company keeps hundreds of thousands of dollars against which it does not draw.

Treasurer Cromwell of the Mutual Life said the company had bought securities from syndicates; that officers of the company also bought securities from the syndicate and received individual profits by selling these bonds to the company. He did not see that there was any impropriety in the officers going into syndicates when the company had gone in first.

Will Fight Typographical Union

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The United Typothetae of America unanimously adopted a resolution by which its members pledge themselves singly and collectively to resist any movement on the part of the International Typographical union to bring about an eight-hour day. The resolution maintains the right of each member to keep open shop. The use of the union label was counselled against and members were urged to refuse to use it.

Looking Into Herring Fishery

St. Johns, Sept. 8.—The United States fishing commission vessel Grampus is cruising on the west coast of Newfoundland inquiring into the winter herring fishery in order to fortify Washington authorities with data to enable them to uphold their contention as to the treaty rights of the United States on that coast in case Newfoundland decides to adopt any policy calculated to restrict their present method of conducting that fishery.

Two Killed by Falling Building

New York, Sept. 8.—Joseph Farinia, 48, and Maria Garioso, 16, were killed when a building at Grand and Mott streets collapsed. The building is said to have been condemned two years ago, but has been permitted to be occupied since. Thomas McGovern, a foreman in the building department, is under arrest in connection with the collapse on a charge of criminal negligence. Nearly a score of persons were injured.

Postoffice Clerks Disagree

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 8.—The national convention of postoffice clerks split in two factions when delegates from 55 branches withdrew from the hall. The minority introduced a set of resolutions declaring that the election of officers was illegal. After an acrimonious debate these resolutions were tabled and the sponsors left the convention. The "rump" convention later elected a new set of officers.

Fire In Big Railroad Station

New York, Sept. 8.—Fire last night in the restaurant at the Grand Central station sent hundreds of travelers scurrying from the big waiting rooms, compelled the ticket sellers to close up their offices and caused great confusion among passengers seeking trains. The loss is about $5000.

Striking Drivers' Places Filled

New York, Sept. 8.—There has been practically no delay in collection and distribution of mail in the business districts of New York affected by the strike of 300 drivers in the employ of the New York Mail company. The contractors found no difficulty in securing drivers.

Jerome Not a Fusion Candidate

New York, Sept. 8.—At a meeting of the representatives of the various political organizations opposed to Tammany Hall, Chairman Cutting of the Citizens' Union formally withdrew the name of District Attorney Jerome as the mayoralty candidate of the union.

Haggling Over Referee

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—With hundreds of sportsmen arriving to see the fight between Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson, a referee has not been decided upon. It is thought that Jeffries will referee in spite of objections raised by Nelson's manager.

Over Falls to Death

Ossipee, N. H., Sept. 8.—While shooting the falls in Ossipee river at Cedar Falls, Me., Robert Jacobs of Detroit, aged 21, was drowned. Jacobs was spending his vacation in Freedom and was making a canoe trip from Freedom to Cornish.

Irrigation is Independence

In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.

"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion. The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."

IN COURT'S HANDS

Supreme Justices Will Decide the Fate of Tucker

ARGUMENTS COMPLETED

Contentions of Convicted Man's Counsel Refuted by Attorney General--Says No Error Was Committed In the Trial Court

Boston, Sept. 8.—The full bench of the Massachusetts supreme court now has under consideration the exceptions taken at the January trial of Charles L. Tucker, who is under conviction for the murder of Miss Mabel Page at her Weston home on March 31, 1904. It is for that tribunal to give the decision that means either a new trial for the man or the imposing of a death sentence upon him by a justice of the superior court. It is impossible to say how long it will be before his fate will be known.

Meantime Tucker will remain in the jail at East Cambridge, buoyed up by the hope that the full bench will decide that in at least one of the 17 exceptions presented to the supreme court that body will decide that Judges Sherman and Sheldon of the superior court erred in their rulings during the extended trial. If any one of the exceptions should be sustained, Tucker will be entitled to another trial. On the other hand, if the supreme justices decide that the rulings were according to law, Tucker will then be brought before the superior court, and a sentence of death will be imposed.

In resuming his argument, Attorney General Parker further discussed the exception taken by Mr. Vahey because Dr. Pease was not allowed to testify regarding experiments he had made on a dead body. Mr. Parker said that the experiments could not only have been made to approach the dealing of "an inhuman blow by a murderer," but they had no more standing than if they had been made by someone other than a medical expert and the court acted wisely when it refused to admit testimony on that line. Thus dismissing this exception Parker continued:

"You are asked to grant a new trial to the defendant upon the ground that he was prejudiced by my statement that George Doyle was a 'self-confessed perjurer brought here to do the bidding of the defendant.' My argument was nothing more than that the witness had proved himself a perjurer by swearing to absolutely different statements upon different occasions. There was no suggestion that these false statements were made at the solicitation of or with the knowledge of the defendant's attorneys."

At this point Parker reached the last exception. This covers the ruling of Judge Sheldon as to the definition of "deliberately premeditated malice aforethought," and which Vahey maintains could not have resulted in the jury bringing in any other verdict than murder in the first degree or an absolute acquittal. On this matter the attorney general said:

"There has been no error, but I hesitate to reply to my learned friend's contention on this point because, owing to my limited intelligence, I may not understand exactly what his contention was. As I understand it the gravaman of his contention is that the court failed to note, failed to measure the precise lapse or interval of time within which the deliberately premeditated intent must be held to have formed and crystalized itself into a final conclusion.

"As well attempt to measure by clock or tape the deliberations of the human mind, the possibilities of iniquity or the instantaneous process upon which vital decisions are made. Wisely does the court confine and limit its instructions upon the point to the repeated injunction to the jury that it was for them to determine upon all the facts presented and of the conditions whether that deliberation had taken place and whether the act of murder had followed by reason of that.

"It is true the court repeatedly said to the jury that after the deliberate purpose had been formed, the blow and death might have followed instantaneously and it would be murder in the first degree, but that the jury might find that there was a reasonable opportunity for reflection and determination before they could ascertain and declare that the deliberately premeditated malice which the court contemplated existed. Then it was immaterial how instantaneous after that the blow followed."

In his final words Attorney General Parker maintained that no error had been committed and that the exceptions should not be sustained.

At the conclusion of Parker's argument Vahey briefly replied to Parker regarding certain exceptions, but no new feature of the case was brought out. The attorney general afterward asked Chief Justice Knowlton what should be done with the exhibits in the case, and the latter said that they might remain with the present custodian, State Officer Whitney.

Cotton Men Fix Minimum Price

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 8.—The Southern Cotton association, in convention here, last night established a minimum price of 11 cents for the incoming cotton crop. This action was reached after a four hours' struggle in the minimum price committee's room and a joint secret conference of that committee and the general committee.

CITY BREVITIES.

The mornings and evenings are getting fallish.

The City Council Committee on Streets will meet tonight.

Papers are being circulated endorsing Eugene N. Hultman for representative.

Miss Carrie Fowles spent Sunday and Labor Day with Mrs. F. E. Lowe at Hingham.

Herbert Cassidy and Herbert Percival of Wollaston are guests of Raymond W. Parlin of Ashland, N. H.

Miss Jennette Wilson of Granite street has returned, after two weeks most pleasantly spent with Boston University friends at Lynn.

Among the visitors to the Dorothy Q. house on Thursday were Lucy Ogden of Washington, D. C., and Patty Earle Ogden and Caroline F. Faxon of Quincy.

New York Excursion.

October 5th the Boston & Maine Railroad will run the annual New York excursion. A two hundred mile train ride through the Deerfield Valley and the Hoosac Mountains to Troy and Albany, N. Y., a delightful sail on the palatial steamers down the Hudson to New York City; two days in the metropolis and back to Boston via the famous Fall River Line steamers. $5.00 for the round trip.

Write to the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railway, Boston, for beautiful illustrated booklet which describes the trip in detail. It will be mailed free upon receipt of a postal card. tf

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf

☞Eyeglasses fitted scientifically. No guess work.—Williams.

ARE YOU A MOTHER?

Perhaps There is Something You Would Like to Know Concerning the Care of Children.

One cannot always find a neighbor from whom she can get desired information. Nor does one always like to show her lack of information. The easiest way to get the information, therefore, is to read the Household Department of the Boston Daily Globe. Experienced mothers who write to that department will tell you anything you wish to know about the bringing up of your little ones.

The best Boston paper published—The Boston Globe. Have it at your home every day.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of
late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Olin A. Holbrook of Quincy, without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of September, A. D. 1905, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of September, A. D. 1905.

CITY IS NOW THREATENED

Inhabitants of the Better Class Board Ships and Go to Sea For Safety--Situation Beyond Control of Garrison--Martial Law

Baku, Caucasia, Sept. 8.—The situation here shows no signs of amelioration. It could hardly be worse. The terror-stricken inhabitants are fleeing from the city, knowing that the garrison is utterly inadequate to protect them; and, although the worse scenes of fire and massacre have not yet occurred in Baku itself, none dares think how far the excesses may proceed.

The entire oil and commercial quarters of Balakhan, Sabunto and Nomani have been wiped out by fire, and the inhabitants remaining behind were massacred and thrown into the flames. Bibiebat continues to burn and is threatened with the same fate as Balakhan.

The consulates, banks and administration buildings in Baku are guarded by troops. All of the English residents and almost all other inhabitants of the better class have boarded ships and gone to sea to escape from danger. All available steamers have been employed for this purpose.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the city. Nobody is allowed on the streets after 8 o'clock at night and inhabitants of houses are held strictly responsible for shots fired from them.

The whole army of hungry workmen, driven in from the suburbs, has flocked into the city. There is the greatest destitution. Reinforcements of troops are arriving daily and it is hoped the authorities soon will have the situation better in hand. Following is a brief review of the events of the past few days as witnessed at Baku:

At about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday last reports began running from mouth to mouth that the Tartars and Armenians were massacring each other. Everybody was immediately greatly alarmed. Stores were closed and windows and doors barricaded.

At 7 o'clock in the evening patrols of soldiers armed with rifles began to arrive from the barracks and these troops immediately engaged the rioters. The firing between the warring factions continued all of Saturday night.

On Sunday the situation showed no improvement and firing was in progress all during the day, the streets being deserted except for the combatants. On Sunday evening the first reflection on the sky of fire in the "black town" quarter was noticed and it was learned that the Nobel oil reservoirs were burning. Sunday night was more fearful than the preceding one. Fires broke out in several quarters and the firing of the troops was uninterrupted.

Many of the inhabitants decided to brave the dangers in an effort to leave the city. The flight from the city soon became general, everybody who was able leaving. By this time provisions had become scarce and prices were soaring.

On Monday night the burning, shooting, killing and plundering continued, and a refinery which was in flames beyond Biblebat lit up the whole sky in that direction. A big wood yard in Baku also caught fire and a strong wind fanned the flames, which rapidly spread. These flames continued all of Tuesday, breaking out in several new places.

During Wednesday fugitives from Balakhan began to arrive here and told of the indescribable terrors they had witnessed. All the oil works there, they said, were in the hands of Tartars, who were pillaging the houses of Russian and Armenian workmen, carrying away everything of value and then burning the buildings. Ten thousand workmen, they said, would be left in poverty, and they believe that Balakhan will be totally destroyed.

The firing went on all of Wednesday night. The soldiers, however, continued their efforts to repress the disorders and by Thursday morning matters were more orderly everywhere.

The streets today are deserted and the stores, banks and other public places are closed, hardly anybody venturing out. A pall of heavy black smoke hangs over Baku and its suburbs.

The losses in these six days have not yet been accurately established. It is reported that the Tartars are opposed to the establishment of order and that they demand a substantial sum from the authorities in lieu of permission to continue their pillaging. But for the activity of the soldiers the bloodshed might have been much greater. As it is a great many have been killed.

Cannot Understand Japs' Move

Lamatenzi, Manchuria, Sept. 8.—The result of the Portsmouth conference has been officially announced to the Russian forces here. The army, however, is still without official orders to cease its warlike activities. The soldiers are waiting for an armistice to be declared and they cannot understand how Russia can talk of peace while the Japanese continue reconnaisances in force and outpost engagements. The fighting of Sept. 3 in Korea cannot be understood here.

LOCKBOXES ROBBED

The Third Successful Effort of Thieves In Hartford Postoffice

Hartford, Sept. 8.—Through a complaint made to the police, a daring robbery at the Hartford postoffice, committed last Monday, has just become known. The thief, aided probably by a confederate who acted as a "lookout," entered a corridor leading toward the office of the postmaster and broke into the lockbox of the Connecticut River Banking company. Mail received at the postoffice on Sunday and Labor day was in the box, and it included checks of considerable value, though the exact amount is not known.

This is the third theft of this kind which has occurred within a short time, the other boxes robbed having been those of the Connecticut Trust and Safe Deposit company and the Aetna Indemnity company. Much of the mail stolen from one box was afterward recovered. It was found scattered about an empty freight car in the railroad yard.

Negro Burned at the Stake

Waxahachie, Tex., Sept. 8.—Steve Davis, a young negro who confessed to outraging Mrs. S. P. Norris, aged 20, was tied to an iron post here last night by a mob, who piled fagots around him and set the mass on fire. This is the third negro that has been burned in this section of Texas recently.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The grain and provision store of A. C. Woodward & Son, situated in the centre of Skowhegan, Me., was destroyed by fire, with a loss of $20,000. Four tenants on the floor above the store were unable to save their personal effects. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The main building of the Manila Brewing company's plant at Walpole, N. H., was burned. The loss is $30,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

W. R. Rose of the Cleveland Plain Dealer was elected president of the National Press Humorists' association.

At Daggett park, Pawtucket, R. I., Daughters of the American Revolution formally dedicated the "Daggett house," which was built in 1685, to historical purposes. A memorial tablet was unveiled during the exercises.

While the funeral services of her daughter, Mrs. Bridget Galligan, were being held in a church at Somerville, Mass., Mrs. Ellen Whalen died at her home near the church.

A man who is believed to have been George W. Padien of Woonsocket, R. I., committed suicide by shooting in an outbuilding near Crescent Park, Providence.

A LION'S SPRING

[Copyright, 1905, by R. B. McClure.]

We were washing for gold among the streams of the Wind River mountains and it was midsummer. The Indians were hostile and had given us several close calls until we had penetrated the fastnesses and got beyond their ranging ground.

We had on this morning moved our camp about three miles down the creek and I was not feeling at all well. While my partner Joe went back after a second load I looked for a spot in which to rest for an hour. Ten rods to the west of the creek there was a rocky bluff and ten feet up I saw the mouth of a cave. It was a distressingly hot day, although deep among the mountains, and I sought the cave for its cool shelter. It was a place not over eight feet long by three deep, a crevice among the jagged blocks of limestone, and it was just the spot in which to rest. I had been working in ice cold water, with the hot sun beating down on my head, and I was feverish and hot by turns. I was, in fact, a little light headed and realized that I was. I sat leaning against the back of the cave and almost went to sleep. I was drowsing when I heard a slight noise above me and was wide awake at once. From the lay of the ground I knew that only a wild animal of some sort could have gained the rocks above.

For five minutes I sat without movement, able only to see directly in front of me. Then a shadow appeared on the earth below me. The sun was at my back, and at the back of whatever thing was up there, and its shadow crept into view inch by inch. In time I made out the ears and head of a mountain lion. There was no mistaking it for the head of any other animal. From a lair higher up among the rocks the animal had got my scent on the morning breeze and had come down to stalk me. Down on the other side of the brawling creek was my rifle, and I had even left my hunting knife among the camp equipage. If the lion was minded to leap down on the shelf at the front of the cave, I should be helpless.

I had studied the beast from a hunter's point of view and therefore had no trouble in reading what happened during the next half hour. In the first place, if he had got my scent he had also got that of some one else. It was not the scent of another beast, but of a man. I could tell that by the nervous movements of the beast I could not see. He did not growl, as he would if watching bear or wolf or one of his own species, but now and then he whined and seemed a bit afraid.

When Joe returned he would not pass the cave, but halt 200 feet away. He had his rifle and revolver with him. Missing me, he would call out. The lion would not attempt to attack an armed man by daylight and at that distance. It seemed to me that the beast must be watching some one nearer by. I had not given the lay of the ground much attention, but was under the impression that a shallow ravine led from the cave in a northerly direction, parallel with the stream. This would furnish cover for any one creeping up to view the site of our new camp and lie in ambush for us. I finally settled it in my mind that some Indian hunter or some young brave anxious to make a record had in some way struck our trail and was planning to get our scalps. He was creeping up the ravine, and the lion was watching him.

I could trace the progress of the man by the actions of the animal above. Sometimes the shadow included the neck and shoulders of the lion, and sometimes it retreated altogether. Sometimes there was deepest silence for a moment and then it was broken by a whine or the clicking of claws. What I began to fear as the minutes glided away was that Joe would return and be shot by the lurking savage before the lion could interfere. That he meant to spring when his prey came near enough I had no doubt. It was just the sort of situation to appeal to a lion—the cat and the mouse.

By watching the shadow and listening to the movements of the beast I was enabled to gauge the movements of the enemy in the ravine. How near at hand he was when the lion first caught sight of him I could only guess afterward as I looked over the ground, but I made it about 200 feet. He had the cover of the bowlders and bushes for all that distance, but he moved with the greatest caution. The nearer he approached camp the greater his caution.

At fifty feet away he halted for full ten minutes. During this interval he must have been surveying our camp outfit and wondering why no one was in sight. With the suspicion of his race he probably scented some ambush on our part. I knew when he came moving along again—when he was within thirty feet—twenty—ten. I had now lost all fear that I was to become a victim and was deeply interested in watching for the climax. The lion was fifteen feet above the man and would have to spring outward about ten feet. This would be an easy effort for him.

As the Indian came nearer the lion ceased to whine or click his claws, but I could almost feel the quiver of his muscles as he made ready. I was watching and listening with all my might, and I surely thought I should be able to detect his last movement before taking the leap, but all I saw was a black ball pass before my vision, and then the stillness was rent by a wild scream of surprise and terror. There was a snarl and a growl, sounds of a struggle, and then all was silent.

Cream of Tartar

Baking Powder

ROYAL Baking Powder is Made of Cream of Tartar and is Free From Alum or Phosphatic Acid

Royal Baking Powder is pure and wholesome beyond question. There is never any doubt of the healthfulness nor of the superiority of the food it leavens.

Consumers are sometimes solicited to buy baking powders other than Royal because they cost less. It is evident to cost less they must be made of inferior ingredients.

Low-priced baking powders — 10c., 20c., 25c., etc., — are made from alum, phosphate or other harsh acid

At most, an alum powder would not lessen the cost of a cake or batch of biscuit more than the fraction of a cent. But can you afford for any sum to endanger your health by making your food with a dangerous baking powder?

"I regard the use of alum baking powders as highly injurious to the health of the community, and believe that their sale should be forbidden by law."—GEO. F. BARKER, M.D., University of Pennsylvania.

Notice Your Waiter.

"Did you wait on me?" asked the man at the corner table.

"No, sir," said the tall waiter.

"Then who did?" grumbled the corner man.

"I don't know, sir," was the reply. "You'd better ask the head waiter."

The corner man did ask, but the chief of the staff was no wiser than his assistant.

"What kind of looking man was he?" he asked.

"How should I know?" stormed the hungry diner. "I didn't come here to make a study of waiters' faces. I came to get something to eat, and if somebody doesn't hurry up"—

The head waiter stepped aside too soon to hear the rest of the complaint. "He is like ninety-nine out of a hundred men that dine out," he remarked. "None of them knows his waiter. There would be much less confusion if people would be a little more observing. Any man can take a peep at his waiter without loss of dignity. However, few do, and as a consequence they hail every man that passes with the query, 'Are you the fellow that waited on me?'"—New York Post.

Champagne.

There are two peculiarities about champagne drinking which are capable of explanation. The one is the rapidity with which the wine exhilarates notwithstanding the small proportion of alcohol it contains. This is due to the carbonic acid gas evolved, which is inhaled while drinking, for it is the property of this gas to expedite the action of anything with which it is associated. It is estimated that one glass of champagne is equal in effect to two glasses of still wine of the same strength and is more rapid in action. The other peculiarity is the sort of lethargy or deadness which follows after excessive champagne drinking. This is analogous to the stupor produced by carbonic acid gas, but it is assisted and intensified by the excess of sugar deranging the stomach. The undigested sugar turns into acid, and thus it is that too much champagne is apt to produce dyspepsia.

Not Just What She Meant.

The former head of a large private school in Cleveland was a gentleman of dignified bearing, refined and correct always in manner and speech. By birth and early rearing he was a Vermonter and doubtless of straight Puritan extraction. One day in his boyhood his mother called him in from the yard where he was playing with some other boys to say to him, in a tone suggestive of mingled sadness and severity:

"Noble, my son, I never thought to hear you use a swear word."

"Why, mother," said the boy, "I didn't use any swear word. I only said 'the devil.' Nobody thinks that's swearing."

"I don't care," cried the mother quickly. "It's making light of sacred things."—Cleveland Leader.

Why the Horse Acted So.

"I wonder what's the matter with that horse," said a man to his wife while he was in the act of unhitching the animal. The horse was rearing and plunging and displaying signs of terror whenever his master came near him. A passerby came to his aid, and while quieting the animal explained to the owner. "I noticed," said he, "that you just came out of the zoo over there. A slight scent of the wild animals has clung to your clothing, and, although your horse has probably never seen anything wilder than a cow, his instinct tells him that where that scent is there is danger. It will wear off soon and you will have no more trouble."—Philadelphia Record.

Crescent Shaped Rolls.

The little horseshoe shaped rolls to be seen in every baker's shop in the world have an interesting history. In 1687 Vienna was besieged by the Turks. They were about to enter the town by an underground passage that they had dug when the bakers, who work all night in order to deliver hot bread in the morning, gave the alarm. The authorities were so grateful they allowed them to manufacture a breakfast roll in the shape of the crescent moon, which is a device of the Turkish banner.

A Mathematical Incongruity.

How is this, from an expert accountant:

100 — 100 = 0

By axiom 1 things equal to the same thing are equal to each other; hence 10—10 equals 100—100.

Divide each side of the equation by 10—10, and the result is 1 equals 10. Figures will lie, even women's.—New York Press.

Safe.

"But," said the lawyer, "your case seems hopeless. I don't see what I can do for you. You admit that you beat your wife."

"Yes," replied the defendant, "but my wife's testimony will discount that. She'd never admit that she was beaten."

No Views.

Mrs. Gushington—I suppose, now that you have been abroad, you have your own views of foreign life? Mrs. Newrich—No, we ain't got no views. We didn't take no camera; it's so common.

A Long Wait.

She—No, James, I do not believe in long engagements.

He—Good! Then we'll be married just as soon as I grows a mustache!—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Greater Scoundrel.

A famous master of Trinity college, Cambridge, had been a friend in earlier days of one Jemmy Gordon, a solicitor. But Jemmy went to the bad, was struck off the rolls and lived from what he could get from old acquaintances. One day he met the master and asked for a shilling.

"Gordon," thundered the master, "if you could show me a greater scoundrel than yourself I would give you half a crown." And he stalked stiffly away to his rooms. In half an hour's time the butler announced that Mr. Pompous, the esquire beadle, wished to see the master. Now, the master had a special detestation of the beadle, who, when admitted and curtly asked what he wanted, replied:

"Mr. Gordon informed me that you desired to see me."

Said the master, "Gordon has made an ass of you!"

In ten minutes more the butler came again, grinning, and said:

"Mr. Jemmy Gordon has called and says you owe him half a crown, sir."—Newcastle Chronicle.

A Lost Custom.

Among the lost customs of merry England is that of the milkmaids' procession. It was a May day observance. The manner of their going was as follows: They borrowed a great quantity of silver plate—not sham plate, real gold plate—dishes, butter boats, cream jugs, tankards, etc. They built up the plate round an obelisk, crowning the whole with a tea urn. They arranged the most showy flowers of the season between and about the silver.

This obelisk was carried by two chairmen in gold laced hats and followed by a troop of handsome milkmaids dressed in pink and blue gowns, "drawn through the pocket holes," whatever that means, with high heeled shoes, mob caps, lappets of lace on their shoulders, nosegays in their bosoms and flat "Woffington hats" covered with ribbons. A fiddler went first in a sky blue coat and hat adorned with ribbons. The procession stopped before the doors of the customers and the milkmaids danced.—London Queen.

The Mace.

The mace was originally a potent weapon of offense, originating doubtless in that earliest and most common weapon, the wooden club. It was an essential part of a knight's accouterment, being useful at close quarters. For ready convenience it was hung at his saddlebow. Says an ancient poem:

And with his heavy mase of stele
Then he gave the kying his dele.

The besague and baston were varied forms of the mace. The mace used on horseback was a small weapon, usually of steel. That used on foot was much longer and commonly of wood, with head armed with iron rings and spikes. It was carried by the escort of magistrates and others as a ready protection against violence. As society quieted down and its original use fell into abeyance the thing assumed the ornamental appearance it now has, it now being carried in a mere honorary form.—Notes and Queries.

Some Words.

"Spider" is a less attractive word than "spinner," but it is really the same. "Spither," the earlier form of the word, stood for "spinther," meaning spinner—the disappearance of the "n" before the "th" being compensated for by the lengthening of the vowel, just as "tooth" really represents "tonth." There was once in use another word for the creature, that was ugly enough in meaning—"attercop," which appears in Wyclif's Bible. It signifies "poison bunch" and is still used in the north of England and in Antrim, Ireland, as an uncomplimentary term for a shrewish person. From "attercop" or from a similar use of "cop" or "cob," a bunch, to mean a spider, comes "cobweb."

A Green Old Age.

"A green old age" is a phrase often grossly abused. It is a literal translation of Virgil's description of Charon, the ferryman of the nether regions. The poet speaks of him as "Jam senior, sed cruda deo viridisque senectus" (somewhat aged, but his godship's old age was still fresh and green). This we might say of a hale sexagenarian, but to talk, as we do, of the green old age of a nonagenarian, however hale, is sheer nonsense.

Peabody Man Misses Being Laid Out In Coffin and Buried

Peabody, Mass., Sept. 8.—Harry Bartlett, aged 45, has been living at the home of E. E. Pratt for the past few weeks. During the greater part of that time he has been ill and under a doctor's care. He has been frequently troubled with fainting spells and periods of semi-consciousness of greater or less duration.

It was while in one of those spells that he was thought to have passed away by Mrs. Pratt, his landlady. The other members of the family looked at the body and agreed that Bartlett was dead, and Mrs. Pratt went to the undertaking rooms of Harry E. Stockwell, to whom she explained her case. Mr. James, the assistant, at once made preparations to embalm the body.

On reaching the house he made a minute examination of the body to make sure that life was extinct. It was while gazing into one of the supposedly dead man's eyes that he noted their peculiar lustre. This indicated that there was still life in the body.

He gazed intently at the face before him for nearly a minute, when, to add to his surprise, one of the eyelids twitched. This might be due to muscular action after death, but, nevertheless, it was a sign to the undertaker to proceed very carefully.

Calling Mrs. Pratt, he told her that he thought it was a case for a doctor, and not an undertaker. While Mrs. Pratt was on her way to find the nearest physician James detected a faint pulse beat and at once set about to revive his subject. The result was that by the time Mrs. Pratt returned with Dr. Tucker Bartlett had fully recovered consciousness and was listening to the congratulations of James.

Boston Business Man Arrested

Boston, Sept. 8.—Frank H. Torrey, a marble dealer of this city, was arrested on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a check for $4000 and a promissory note for $1000 by means of false pretences and conspiracy. He was immediately bailed out in $10,000 bonds. The arrest is incident to a business transaction. Two men purchased a restaurant business from Torrey, the value of which they claim to have been misrepresented.

Cotton Operatives' Wages Raised

North Pownal, Vt., Sept. 8.—The North Pownal Manufacturing company has notified the operatives in its cotton mills here of an advance in wages of 12½ percent. The company reduced wages on July 25, 1904, the date of the general cut in Fall River. The Williamstown Manufacturing company has made a similar advance in its mills at Williamstown, Mass. Both concerns are controlled by the same interests.

Police Searching For Minister

Boston, Sept. 8.—The police of this city have been asked to make a search for Rev. Edward A. Lincoln, pastor of the Baptist church at Deerfield Center, N. H., who has been missing since Aug. 17. On that day he started for this city to consult a specialist, since which all trace of him has been lost. Lincoln sustained severe injuries to his head by a fall and had suffered much from headaches since.

Sawdust Suffocated Aged Man

Northampton, Mass., Sept. 8.—Rollin N. Browne, aged 65, was killed in the village of Haydenville by the partial collapse of a barn used for the storage of ice in which he was at work. Some of the supports of the loft gave way and in the fall smashed through the floor into the basement, where Browne happened to be. He was buried in sawdust and suffocated.

Women Voters Losing Interest

Boston, Sept. 8.—According to the list of women voters issued by the Boston board of election commissioners, the women of the city having the right to vote for members of the school board are 2728 less than last year. The total registration of women in the city election of 1904 was 17,119, while the revised list for this year totals 14,591.

Assault Before Drowning

Torrington, Conn., Sept. 8.—A post-mortem examination of the body of John L. Bushey, whose body was found in the East branch reservoir, was made by Coroner Higgins and Medical Examiner Hanshett. Their verdict is that death was caused by drowning, but that an almost fatal blow was received over the left eye before death occurred.

Cole's Case Before Grand Jury

Portland, Me., Sept. 8.—The case of Edward F. Cole, charged with the murder of John F. Steeves at Falmouth, was considered by the grand jury sitting in this city. A number of witnesses who identified Cole as one of the two men seen at the time in the vicinity of the murder were heard. The nature of this evidence is not disclosed.

Busy Plant Destroyed by Fire

Manchester, Vt., Sept. 8.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Hadley Manufacturing company here. The loss is estimated at $35,000. The company, which manufactures chairs, intended running the plant day and night, beginning next Monday. The fire is believed to have originated in the boiler room.

Woman Canoeist Drowned

Centre Harbor, N. H., Sept. 8.—Miss Pauline G. Brigham of Cambridge, Mass., was drowned by the overturning of a canoe at Squam lake. The other occupant, Professor Johnson of the Harvard Engineering school, was saved after being in the water more than an hour.

THE LABOR MOVEMENT.

Its Aim Is the Upbuilding of the Whole Human Family.

In an address delivered at Kansas City Samuel Gompers said in part:

Capital and concentrated commercialism say a workman deprives himself of liberty and individuality when he joins a labor union. This is not true, but the aim of organized labor is to preserve to the workingman his individuality when he enters a shop supplied with modern machinery and the employer insists that he shall work at reduced wages and long hours. Every thoughtful man who has given the subject of labor thought and investigation realizes there must come improvement to the wage earner, and all will have an ideal of a better and brighter day. Some believe this will happen in a million years, others in a century, others in ten years, others in our time and others immediately. It is coming some time regardless of what position a multimillionaire will take.

The workman has his dreams of some brighter day coming and instead of deferring insists that tomorrow shall be a brighter day than the day before and that all of the tomorrows for all time shall be brighter than the day preceding.

Those who live in the security of their wealth must not expect by their antagonism to the labor movement to put it out of existence. That day is gone when that hope can be realized. Their time to wipe out the labor union has passed.

The employer of labor must either cut bait or fish. He must conform with modern policy. Organized labor wants to be fair to the employer and make him be good, whether he wants to be or not.

The working people of America, men and women, will organize and fraternalize until every injustice is wiped out and they get what is theirs by right and justice. The labor movement is not organized to kill and tear down. It is a constructive source, social, moral, political and economic, for the upbuilding of the whole human family.

Organization is the order of the day. Governments, civilized society, churches, banks, railroads, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, manufacturers' associations, employers' associations and all the different classified trades organize. If all these men owning and controlling millions of dollars find it necessary to organize, how much more essential it is to labor that it organize to achieve the price of labor, and we are going to strike for all we consider our labor is worth.—Kansas City Journal.

FAVORS TRADES UNIONS.

Rev. Dr. Gladden Urges Employers to Co-operate With Workers.

The Congregationalist of July 29 contained a lengthy paper by the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, entitled "My Neighbor the Unionist."

The author takes positive and strong ground in favor of labor unions, holding that they are not only an indisputable right of the workingmen, but that they are the only means by which the laboring classes can escape being enslaved or degraded, and that they protect their own interests, secure fair hours of labor and proper remuneration and fix their social status in accordance with the best ideals and habits of the age.

From this standpoint Dr. Gladden urges all employers to welcome and co-operate with the trades unions.

"Perhaps," says Dr. Gladden, "you will say that some trades unionists sometimes behave like criminals and endanger the peace and welfare of society. That is true. It is also true of ministers of the gospel, of capitalists, of members of great corporations, but that is no reason why we should regard capitalists or members of great corporations as a class as public enemies. There is a great deal of this sweeping judgment on both sides of the labor controversy, and it is wholly wrong and mischievous.

"Sometimes you say that you do not object to trades unions if they keep within their legitimate province, if they do not meddle with what is none of their business. What you mean is that you do not object to the beneficial and social features of the unions and would be glad to encourage them, but you do not approve of their attempts to regulate wages or hours or conditions of labor. These, you think, should be determined by the employer.

"Your neighbor the unionist, as such, is doing what he has a perfect right to do and is bound to do—what you would do if you were in his place."

Eight Hour Day Test.

Advocates of the eight hour day in labor circles are pointing with considerable satisfaction to the comparative test made of the eight and ten hour working days in the building of the battleships Connecticut and Louisiana. The former is being built by the government at the Brooklyn navy yard, the men working eight hours a day. The latter is being built by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, the men working ten hours. The government reports show that the average production a man an hour on the Connecticut exceeded by 24.48 per cent the average production a man an hour on the Louisiana.

Fame of the Blue Label.

Boston's Cigarmakers' union recently found evidence that the fame of its blue label is extending around the world. It received a letter from Aleppo, Syria, asking about it and also how a supply of union labeled Boston made cigars could be obtained.

Union to Build a Brewery.

The International Brewery Workmen's union is seriously considering placing a $100,000 brewery plant in Seattle, Wash.

A Drowning Boy Rescued.

On Wednesday afternoon Judge Avery's second son, Stetson Avery, was enjoying a swim in the Monatiquot river at high tide. His father's boat was moored out in deep water and with several others he was diving and plunging from the boat's deck. After diving twice all right, Stetson's third attempt failed for the undercurrent being very swift he was unable to swim to the surface. He sank twice and was going under for the third time when two experienced swimmers of larger growth, Victor C. Lassen, Jr., and George Mellen after desperate efforts succeeded in seizing the boy by the hair and thus pulled him to the surface and brought him safe to shore.

Although quite exhausted Stetson soon recovered. His many friends are glad to know that he has now fully recovered from the shock.

Much praise is bestowed on the two young men who were so quick and strong and proved by their readiness and daring valiant true helpers in time of need.

Woodward Teachers.

The teachers in Woodward Institute at the opening of the school next Monday will be:

G. A. R. Fair.

The Coliseum building has been engaged for the week of October 9th to 14th by Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., for the purpose of holding their annual fair. $300 will be given away to season ticket holders. All kindred organizations have been invited to assist and it is expected that the fair will be a financial success.

Owing to the absence of one of the judges, the closing of the photographic contest of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony street railways will be postponed from September 1 to October 1. This will give an opportunity for many to enter who have not during the summer had the time to take any pictures.

The Greenleaf Private school opens on Wednesday, September 20th.

The Social Realm.

Back to the city. Oh the pity the pity;
Back to its turmoil, its unceasing roar,
And all the discomforts which stand evermore
For life in the heart of the mortal-made city.
Back from the country, the beautiful country;
From the breath of the mountains, the songs of the shore,
And all the dear comforts which stand evermore
For life in the heart of the God-given country.

Insurance Investigators May Ask Him to Testify

NEW YORK LIFE AFFAIRS

Two Low-Salaried Clerks Signed Notes Aggregating $2,335,000 --Rapid Rise In Salaries of Officials of the Company

New York, Sept. 9.—Friday's session of the legislative life insurance investigating committee was devoted exclusively to the affairs of the New York Life Insurance company and a searching examination was made of its officers who appeared on the stand.

Beginning with the salaries paid to the officers, the line of inquiry extended through all the details of the company's participation in various underwriting syndicates for railroad securities, the New York Life's connection with trust companies, and finally, near the close of the day, developed the fact that it was not an unusual thing for clerks or messengers in the employ of the company, with salaries ranging as low as $500 a year, to sign notes for millions of dollars to be used by the company in relieving its books of undesirable securities.

An interesting feature of the day was the statement that Thomas W. Lawson of Boston might be called as a witness. The committee's chairman, Senator Armstrong, said if the information Lawson is supposed to hold could not be secured from other sources, the Boston financier would be asked to testify. Not being a resident of the state Lawson cannot be compelled to give testimony.

Officers of the New York Life company testified that on one occasion it became necessary for the company to sell certain of its securities in order to satisfy the Prussian government. Two clerks signed notes aggregating $2,335,000 and on the books the securities appeared as sold to these parties, although they really had been turned over to the New York Trust company as security for the loan made on the notes of the two insurance companies' "employes."

It was declared that since 1899 the New York Life Insurance company had not been connected with trust companies, but subsequently it was admitted that the stock of the New York Trust company is now held by the New York Life by a committee of trustees. The New York Trust company is a consolidation of the New York Security and Trust company and the Continental Trust company.

Edmund Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life company, testified that the salary of President McCall of the company had been increased from $40,000 in 1892 to $50,000 in 1895, $75,000 in 1896 and $100,000 since 1901. The salary of George W. Perkins, vice president of that company, Randolph testified, was increased from $20,000 in 1893 to $25,000 in 1897, $30,000 in 1900, $75,000 in 1901, and then reduced to $25,000 in 1902. The reduction was due to Perkins' going into partnership with J. P. Morgan. Randolph's statement of the salaries of the other officials showed a steady increase.

When the committee adjourned it was until next Tuesday.

Hyde Visiting the Hub

Boston, Sept. 9.—James H. Hyde, former vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, is in Boston, being registered at the Hotel Touraine. The length of his stay in this city is indefinite, and it is said that he prefers to remain in Boston while possible process servers are on the lookout for him in his home city.

Want Advance In Wages

Boston, Sept. 9.—The Machine Stone Planermen's union of the Metropolitan district at a meeting last night voted to order a strike at one shop in Lynn, three in Cambridge and three in Boston. The men demand an advance in wages of from $3 to $3.50 a day. The strike occurred this morning.

Eollers Out of Kilter

St. Johns, Sept. 9.—Captain Bartlett, master of Peary's Arctic steamer Roosevelt, in a letter to the St. Johns Herald, dated Etah, North Greenland, says the boilers aboard the Roosevelt are not working satisfactorily and form the only drawback thus far to the expedition's chances. The Roosevelt took north 20 Eskimos and 150 dogs.

Russian Policemen Killed

Warsaw, Sept. 9.—A crowd of workmen armed with revolvers attacked the police at Vlocky last night, killing two and wounding one. In the suburb of Vala a gendarme was killed, the assailants cutting his throat with his own sword. Several isolated attacks on policemen have been reported.

What Gasolene Explosion Did

Newark, N. J., Sept. 9.—One woman was burned to death, another was badly hurt, four men were severely injured and property damage amounting to $25,000 was done here by the explosion of eight gallons of gasolene in a dyeing establishment.

Brun Leaves Venezuela

Caracas, Sept. 9.—Manager Brun of the French Cable company, who was ordered to be expelled from Venezuela, has sailed from Laguira. A ministerial resolution has been gazetted enforcing the closure of the Caracas cable office Sept. 16.

Mysterious Death of Editor

New York, Sept. 9.—Jacob H. Thompson, exchange editor of the New York Times, who was found unconscious in his apartments in the St. James hotel yesterday, died last night without having regained consciousness. Coroner Scholer expresses his belief that the injuries sustained by Thompson were the result of a fall after a stroke of apoplexy, while the police maintain that murder was done. The police theory of a crime is concurred in by the entire staff at Flower hospital, they agreeing in the statement that Thompson had been beaten.

Investigating Mackerel Haunts

Washington, Sept. 9.—The particular point of inquiry in connection with the cruise of the United States fish commission vessel Grampus on the west coast of Newfoundland is to be a study of the movements of the mackerel. American fishermen say that these fish are not to be caught beyond the three-mile limit, and if their contention is true the recent action of the government of Newfoundland in excluding American fishermen from the three-mile zone is practically prohibitive so far as fishing is concerned.

New Record on Pensions

Washington, Sept. 9.—The pension roll reached the maximum number in its history on Jan. 21 last, the number being 1,004.196. The roll passed the million mark in September of last year, and gradually increased for the next four months. The decline began with the first of last February, and by the following May the total had dropped below the million mark. These facts are given in the annual report of Commissioner Warner, covering the operations of his office for the fiscal year ended June 30 last.

Effort to Wipe Out Anarchy

Barcelona, Sept. 9.—At a mass meeting here it was decided to ask the government for sufficient police to exterminate anarchy here. It was further resolved that should the government refuse this request the people of Barcelona will appeal to foreign nations to establish here an international police force similar to the force proposed for Morocco.

Guarding Against Cholera

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—The Vistula river districts have been officially declared to be threatened with cholera and inspection posts have been ordered to be established at various points with a view to preventing the importation of the disease. ## AMERICAN NAVY THIRD.

German Officer Predicts His Country Will Be Supplanted.

It will be but a short time, according to the figures compiled by a German naval officer, before the United States ranks third as a naval power.

| | Tons. |
|---|---|
| Great Britain | 1,593,871 |
| France | 993,721 |
| Germany | 341,246 |
| United States | 316,523 |
| Italy | 254,310 |
| Japan | 252,601 |
| Austria-Hungary | 112,226 |

While these figures show that in naval strength Great Britain is nearly five times as strong as the United States and that France is nearly twice as strong, it will not be long the case, for in tonnage now on the ways or projected the United States is almost on even terms with Great Britain, is twice as strong as Germany and almost twice as strong as France. The figures of vessels in course of construction tell this story:

| | Tons. |
|---|---|
| Great Britain | 338,129 |
| United States | 324,500 |

These last figures show that when the vessels, on the ways and projected, are commissioned Great Britain will still hold her position at the head of the column, but instead of being nearly five times as strong as the United States, as she is at the present time, she will be only about three times as strong. As for France, she will be only 133,977 tons ahead of America, and Germany will be relegated to fourth place.

The ships that will constitute the bulk of this great addition to the American navy consist of fifteen battleships, two of them the mightiest ever planned; six armored cruisers, three scout cruisers and a trio of great protected cruisers.

The battleships are the Connecticut, Louisiana, Kansas, Minnesota, New Hampshire and Vermont, all of 16,000 tons; the 15,000 ton Nebraska; the Georgia, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Virginia, each of 14,900 tons; the Idaho and Mississippi, of 13,000 tons, and the South Carolina and Michigan, which are expected to register 18,000 tons and which, if the bureau of construction has its way, will carry a main battery of ten twelve-inch guns.

DOG UP ON GRAMMAR.

Would Not "Lay" Down, but Responded to "Lie" Down.

Tootsie, a fox terrier that apparently understands grammar, was before Magistrate Cornell in Yorkville court, says the New York Mail. The canine was in the possession of Mrs. Nellie Lyons, but Mrs. Beckie Gordon asserted that she was the rightful owner. Magistrate Cornell finally said the problem of ownership was too weighty for him.

"Tootsie was stolen from me last May, and I hadn't seen her up to yesterday," said Mrs. Gordon.

"That's a lie," said Mrs. Lyons; "I've had Tootsie for three years."

"The dog's only a year and a half old," said Mrs. Gordon. Now, judge, I can easily show you that Tootsie is mine."

The court assented.

"Tootsie, beg," said Mrs. Gordon. Tootsie stood up on her hind legs and begged very prettily.

"Tootsie, lay down," said Mrs. Gordon triumphantly. But Tootsie didn't "lay."

"Perhaps if you say 'lie down' she will," suggested the court. Mrs. Gordon accepted the suggestion and Tootsie evidently liked that form of the verb better, for she did "lie" down.

"Isn't that proof enough?" asked Mrs. Gordon.

Corsets Tabooed In Gym.

Dress reform to a most pronounced degree has been inaugurated by Professor Emil Rath, instructor of the gymnasium and fencing classes at Central Turner hall, says a Pittsburg dispatch to the New York Press. He has formulated a set of rules which can not be broken by those amateur athletes who expect to remain in his classes. In his prospectus, which has just been issued, he sets this forth in conspicuous place: "The wearing of corsets during exercises is positively forbidden." The instructor says that a violation of this rule will result in the dismissal of pupils from his class. During the exercises the girls in his class will wear bloomers. The professor says he wants to make good, healthy athletic young women and not fashion plates out of his pupils. He is the practical and aggressive enemy of the corset.

A Threat.

The trust promoter says that he has come around to stay;
He's pilin' up the dollars, an' he won't be shoo-ed away.
We tell him retribution's bound to come his way at last
An' he'd better mind his manners an' be thinkin' 'bout his past.
He doesn't mind. He keeps on gittin' richer year by year.
It makes no difference how the other folks complain or sheer.
But the time is surely comin' when he'd better look about.
He'll git investigated ef he don't watch out.

An' then he'll have to interrupt his golf or maybe stay
At home when he had planned to take a pleasant holiday.
They'll print his picture, too, and make it
uglier than sin
An' write up things about him as sarcastic as they kin.
An' maybe they'll keep talkin' 'bout the way he got his pelf
Till he has to go to Europe 'fore he kin enjoy hisself.
He'd better mend his manners, 'cause
there isn't any doubt
That he'll git investigated ef he don't watch out.

PALMER BOUNCED.

President Would Not Wait For His Resignation

VIOLATED INSTRUCTIONS

Had Been Directed to Take No Further Action In the Cases of Ricketts and Hay--Permanent Public Printer Not Yet Chosen

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 9.—President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon took summary action in the case of Frank W. Palmer, public printer, and head of the government printing office at Washington, by removing him from office.

Last Monday the president directed Palmer to send to him his resignation, to take effect on the 15th inst. At the same time he directed him not to take any further action in the cases of Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing, and L. C. Hay, a division foreman in the government printing office, whose resignations Palmer had requested. Palmer had given Ricketts and Hay until Tuesday to show cause in writing why the charges he had made against them should not be operative in removing them from their positions in the event of their failure to resign.

In direct disobedience of the president's instructions, Palmer, on the 5th inst, notified Ricketts and Hay that the time which they might have in which to answer his charges would be extended until Saturday, the 9th inst. As this was not only a violation of the president's specific instructions, but as the case of Ricketts and Hay had been placed in the hands of the Keep commission for investigation, the president felt it was time to take positive action regarding Palmer. He therefore removed him from office by telegraph and directed him to turn over the government printing office to Foreman Ricketts, whom he has designated as acting public printer.

It can be said that the appointment of Ricketts as acting public printer is not an assurance that he will succeed permanently to that office. The president has not determined yet whom he may appoint as the successor to Palmer. It is not unlikely that the final determination of the question may depend to a considerable extent upon the result of the further investigation into the affairs of the government printing office to be made by the Keep commission.

Ricketts Considers It Vindication

Washington, Sept. 9.—Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing at the government printing office, who has been designated acting public printer in succession to Frank W. Palmer, took charge of that office today. Ricketts regards the president's action in designating him to act as a vindication of his course in the recent controversy in the government printing office. The new appointee is a native of Illinois and has been an employe of the government printing office for 16 years, rising from the position of printer to that of foreman of printing.

Mr. Palmer, who retires from the office, was not at home when a reporter called to see him. He has uniformly declined to make any statement for publication regarding the request for the resignation of Ricketts and Hay for alleged insubordination.

Sausage Said to Contain Acid

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—F. M. Hall, local agent for Swift & Co., and W. G. Carson, a local retail meat dealer, have been arrested on charges of selling sausage containing boracic acid preservative, contrary to the pure food laws of Pennsylvania. Hall was held in $1000 bail, and Carson in $500. It is alleged that Carson purchased the sausage from the local branch of Swift & Co. and furnished it to the League Island navy yard.

Norway and Sweden May Clash

Christiania, Sept. 9.—With the return from Karstad of the Norwegian commissioners sent to discuss with the commissioners of Sweden the question of dissolution of the union, a decided sense of uneasiness prevails and this is accentuated by the complete silence observed in official circles regarding the progress of the negotiations. The situation is looked upon as having an element of danger.

Considering Naval Program

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—No definite steps towards rebuilding the navy have yet been taken. The naval program is still under the consideration of the technical committee and the committee of national defense. No appropriation has yet been made and the admiralty's estimates, when adopted, must go to the council of the empire before insertion in the budget.

Printers' Strike to Spread

Chicago, Sept. 9.—According to officers of the International Typographical union, the fight between the United Typothetae and the International Typographical union over the latter's demand for an eight-hour day is to become general. Beginning today the strike will spread, it is said, to every city in the country where employers refuse to grant the eight-hour day.

Oldfield's Fast Ten Miles

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 9.—At the state fair here Barney Oldfield, in his automobile racing car, covered 10 miles in 12:86½, clipping two seconds off the world's record for half-mile tracks.

GIFT OF $10,000 EACH

Peace Envoys Appreciated Hospitality of New Hampshire

Concord, N. H., Sept. 9.—Letters from the Russian and Japanese peace plenipotentiaries on the eve of their departure from this country, which accompanied checks of $10,000 each for charitable purposes in the state of New Hampshire, have been made public by Governor McLane. Both the envoys wrote in cordial appreciation of the hospitality and courtesy shown them by the state, and leave the question of the disposition of the gifts to the discretion of the governor. Two letters accompanied the check from the Japanese and both were signed by Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira, while the letter from the Russian envoys was signed by Baron Rosen.

Probably Dead This Time

Peabody, Mass., Sept. 9.—Harry Bartlett, the supposed dead man, who came back to life on Wednesday and balked the undertaker by winking his eye at the syringe dripping with embalming fluid, died yesterday at the home of E. E. Pratt. Bartlett was unmarried and about 45 years old. Bartlett had been subject to fainting spells. Last Wednesday his landlady thought he had died. Undertaker James was summoned, saw signs of life in the supposed corpse and revived it.

Arrested on Charge of Arson

Wakefield, Mass., Sept. 9.—Charged with arson in the burning of his house on Main street, Leonard E. Coulter, one of the best known men of this town, was arrested in Chelsea by Officer De Roche. Coulter and his family at the time of the fire were supposed to be in Portland, Me., but the next day he showed up in town. A few days after an investigation Coulter was summoned to the fire marshal's office. The examination is said to have caused his arrest.

Alleged Absconder Caught

Boston, Sept. 9.—When the first steamer of the new passenger service between Antwerp and Boston, the Manitou, was wharfed into her dock, detectives placed under arrest Hugo Heilbronn, one of the Manitou's passengers, upon information from the German government to the effect that Heilbronn is alleged to have absconded from that country with a large amount of government funds. He was taken to jail.

Tainted Money a "Dead Issue"

Boston, Sept. 9.—Off for Seattle went some 200 delegates from New England yesterday to attend the 96th annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in that city. Most of the delegates preferred not to discuss the tainted money question, calling it a "dead issue." The opinion was strong in the party that the issue would not be forced in the convention.

Hermit Adopts a Daughter

Windham, N. H., Sept. 9.—Aged Recluse Hathaway, who startled his acquaintances recently by advertising for young girls, has adopted a daughter in the person of a young woman about 18 years of age, whose real identity is being carefully concealed. She is known as Alice. The residents of this section threaten interference, as they believe the girl has run away from home.

Protecting State Seal and Arms

Boston, Sept. 9.—The full bench of the supreme court holds that the law forbidding the use of the commonwealth's seal and arms for advertising or commercial purposes is constitutional. The court sustained the conviction of the R. I. Sherman Manufacturing company for a violation of it by using representations of the arms upon canned goods.

Snell Exceptions Overruled

Boston, Sept. 9.—Angles Snell must die. The full bench of the supreme court announced that it had overruled the exceptions in his case and the death sentence will be imposed. Snell was convicted upon an indictment of three counts alleging murder in the first degree by the killing of Tillinghast Kirby at Horse Neck beach in September, 1903.

Unusually Active Man Dead

Fort Fairfield, Me., Sept. 9.—Edward Giggey died yesterday in his 103rd year. Until a few months ago Giggey walked daily from his farm, where he personally cultivated potatoes for many years, to this village or Caribou, a distance of four and six miles. His death was the result of a fall last spring from a window 15 feet from the ground.

Schidlofski Pleads Not Guilty

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 9.—John Schidlofski, accused of the murder of his wife, Marciana, at Belmont, on July 12 last, was arraigned before Judge Stevens, and greatly to the surprise of all present, entered a plea of "not guilty." This being duly entered, Schidlofski was remanded to jail, to await further action by the court.

Second Degree Murder Charge

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 9.—George F. Morris, who is charged with shooting his wife at the Middlesex street depot, in this city, Aug. 8, was indicted by the grand jury for murder in the second degree. Morris was brought into court and arraigned, pleading not guilty to the charge.

Average Crop of Potatoes

Fort Fairfield, Me., Sept. 9.—It is expected that the Aroostook potato crop this year will show about an average yield, 60 barrels to an acre. The grain crop in this vicinity will be above the average, while the haying was fairly good.

FOOTPRINTS OF PEACE

From Rome to Portsmouth Runs Her Path Through the Ages

The Various Treaties That Have Marked Her Onward Way

No Civil War Treaty Except the Word of Grant and Lee

WHEN General Grant won his battles he captured the world's imagination, but when he said, "Let there be peace," he captured its heart. Men love the peacemaker. War may fire their blood, but the ending of strife appeals to their better natures. So the poets and prophets have dreamed of a warless age, and so the Great Teacher has been called the Prince of Peace.

With the ending of the war in the far east is the better day of perpetual peace about to dawn? Who can tell? Many have given voice to such a hope. But other fond hearts have cherished that faith when the world was younger.

Whatever the future may hold in store, we at least can be glad in the ending of strife now. Russia and Japan have struck hands, and the sword is in its sheath. That they met to renew their friendship on American soil is one more mark set in the book of good deeds to the credit of the great republic.

Peace! May it last long! Under it may the world go forward to renewed triumphs of progress, enlightenment and brotherhood. A new era has opened in the orient. May the rising sun of Nippon be prophetic, the veritable symbol of a sunrise over all the far east.

Nor should Russia be forgotten. A step toward constitutional government has been taken in the land of the czar. M. Witte hails it as the greatest event in Russian history. His eyes have a long vision. Perhaps he is right.

The actual signing of the treaty of Portsmouth—for so it will be known—recalls other like happy events in other days. The fact that the ending of bloodshed has always been hailed with acclaim shows that the world's heart is right. Perhaps some day its head may be as right as its heart.

Peace treaties of the present age are an outgrowth of the amenities of modern warfare. In the ancient days the negotiation of a treaty was a "stand and deliver" affair. Take, for example, the one made by Julius Caesar at the close of his eight years' campaign in Gaul, as told by himself in his famous "Commentaries." He admits frankly that he took everything that was movable and carried it into Italy, leaving peace behind him, but little else.

Treaty of Westphalia.

One of the most important of old time peace treaties was that of Westphalia, concluded Oct. 24, 1648. It ended the Thirty Years' war, in which Gustavus Adolphus fought so valiantly. This long and bloody conflict had its beginning in a religious controversy. The Protestants had begun to assert themselves and had seized church lands and converted them to their own purposes. Ferdinand of Austria was a faithful son of the church and also a shrewd political schemer. He coaxed Spain to become his partner in a campaign to subjugate the small German states and restore the old religion. The trouble spread like a conflagration, and all Europe was soon involved in it. Finally the emperor was beaten at his own game and was driven to sign the treaty of Westphalia This document is the basis of the map of modern Europe. It recognized the independence of Holland and Switzerland and established the religious equality of Catholics, Lutherans and Calvinists.

Another long European quarrel was ended by the peace of Ryswick. Whatever else may be said of Louis XIV. of France it is certain that he had no especial preference for a quiet life. In his day he managed to come to blows with almost every power in Europe, and frequently he had several of them on hand at the same time. First he invaded Flanders. England, Holland and Sweden combined and forced him to sign the peace of Aix la Chapelle. He then invaded Holland. That war lasted about five years and ended with the treaty of Nimeguen after the Dutch opened the water gates and let in the German ocean. Again tiring of inactivity, Louis began the war of the Palatinate, which lasted eleven years. Then it was that William of Orange formed the great alliance between England, Spain, Holland and Germany and forced the French king to sign the peace of Ryswick.

American Independence.

When England was forced to acknowledge to herself and to the world that she could never reconquer her rebellious American colonies negotiations were opened reluctantly and with exceedingly bad grace for concluding a treaty of peace. Paris was chosen as the place of conference. There were so many and such serious differences at the early meetings of the commissioners that progress was very slow, and adjournments were frequent. There were no cables or steamships in those days, and it took a good deal of time to send home for instructions. On Nov. 13, 1782, the protocol was signed. "We hope the terms we have obtained will be satisfactory, though to secure our main points we may have yielded too much in favor of the royaliss," wrote Franklin to Livingston.

Itsoon became evident, however, that the king and his ministers did not see the matter in that light. They were disposed to believe that the American commissioners had not yielded enough. It was not until Aug. 6 of the following year that King George could make up his mind to ratify the treaty. A definite treaty was signed at Paris, and on Jan. 4, 1784, it was confirmed by the American congress. So slow were the means of communication and so deliberate was his Britannic majesty in affixing his signature that it did not become effective until April 9.

The treaty of Ghent, although it took four months and a half for negotiation, was a strictly business affair. The document itself is brief and to the point. It defines the boundary line between Canada and the United States with great minuteness and also states the American position on the right of paper search, paper blockades and the lack of authority. The leaders met in the little parlor of a farmhouse and talked it all over. Grant demanded that Lee's men should lay down their arms, upon which they would be granted parole. The gallant Virginian accepted, and that in effect was all the peace treaty that has ever existed between the Federal government and the Confederacy.

In the peace treaty that concluded the Franco-Prussian war Germany drove a hard bargain. The kaiser's army was intrenched just outside of Paris when the preliminaries were signed. After the capture of the gay capital Emperor William added to the original demand an indemnity of $1,200,000,000. M. Thiers succeeded in having this stupendous sum reduced to $1,000,000,000. Most galling of all was the conversion of the long disputed Alsace and Lorraine into German provinces.

The latest war between Russia and Turkey, that of 1877, was ended by the preliminary peace of San Stefano, followed by the treaty of Berlin. It has never been difficult for a Christian nation to find a pretext for beginning a quarrel with the Turk, and the czar's excuse was the massacre of the Christians in Bulgaria by the bashi bazouks. As it was evident that Turkey was likely to get the most thorough drubbing she had ever received, the powers interfered and insisted upon a treaty. The sultan was a tremendous loser, but the Turk still remained in power sufficient to "preserve the peace of Europe."

When Japan Whipped China.

One of the most important peace treaties negotiated in modern times was that of Simonoseki, between China and Japan. It is especially noteworthy because it was the first peace treaty between oriental nations conducted after the Caucasian fashion. It is interesting to Americans because John W. Foster, once the head of the American department of state, was one of the representatives of China. By its terms Japan received an indemnity of $200,000,000 and acquired the rich island of Formosa.

The Spanish-American war treaty, signed and ratified in 1899, was the latest addition to the collection of such documents on file in the library of the state department. On July 26, 1898, Spain made overtures for peace through the French ambassador at Washington. When the proceedings opened it was evident that the Spanish commissioners had come to Paris determined to obtain whatever advantage the dilatory tactics of peninsular diplomacy could bring about. It was also patent to the American members of the commission that the other side had no intention of adhering to the terms of the protocol if by any means they could be avoided. The firm stand assumed by the Americans at the outset and maintained throughout the discussions gave the dons little opportunity to exercise their peculiar type of diplomacy.

The treaty of Portsmouth ends the long list—at least for the present, possibly forever. J. A. EDGERTON.

General Scott Was Angry.

After General Scott had won the war with Mexico, President Polk sent Nicholas Trist, chief clerk of the state department, to that country to negotiate a treaty of peace. General Scott resented the president's action, and he was so outspoken in his wrath that Trist was officially recalled, but remained to complete his work. A treaty of peace was made and signed at Guadalupe Hidalgo. By the terms of this convention Mexico lost California and New Mexico.

The Crimean war was brought to a close by the treaty of Paris of 1856. The powers had long been at the point of rupture, but it was Russian greed that precipitated the conflict. The czar seized some of the minor provinces, and it took about a year to convince him that he had exceeded his right. During that period occurred the desperate battles of Inkerman and Balaklava. The treaty that followed made the Black sea neutral to all commerce, but closed to ships of war. It also shut out all vessels of war from the Dardanelles.

The American civil war had a peculiar finish. There was never any peace treaty, but the war ended with the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox Courthouse. Lee offered to treat for peace after the usual method, but Grant declined on the ground of a brave scattering when the news was made public. Each man of words made haste to get under cover and diplomacy languished. After Waterloo, however, the way was clear. The peace that was made lasted for forty years.

Thayer Academy Notes.

The Head Master will be in his office Monday Sept. 11, from 9 to 5 for consultation.

During the summer in addition to the ordinary repairs, new slate blackboards have been set up in Mr. Oakman's and Mr. Townsend's rooms.

Miss Thompson, who has been spending the summer in Athens, and Miss Leons who has been travelling in Great Britain and on the continent, are on their way from Europe. During the coming year Miss Thompson will continue her work at the Art Museum in Boston, and in her absence her classes will be conducted by Mr. William W. Gallagher as heretofore. His place will be filled for the year by Mr. Everett Skillings, Bates College, 1897, who comes very highly recommended. He is a personal friend of Mr. Oscar Gallagher, whom he succeeded at Montpellier, Vt. He comes from the headmastership of the Middlebury (Vt.) High school. He will teach Latin and German.

Outing in Great Blue Hill.

The pretty scenery around Blue Hill is attracting many visitors to that locality this summer, and the indications are that in the near future it will rival any of the other inland points of interest in Greater Boston. There are more lines of electric cars running to this point than ever before, but this is not all, for on pleasant days automobiles are noticed frequently at the base of the hill, while the passengers, and sometimes the chauffeur as well, are making the climb to the summit of the big hill, where the signal station and its surroundings are always objects of interest. The view of the surrounding country is ever new, or rather, one always finds some interesting point not before noticed. It is estimated that on pleasant Sundays more than 20,000 persons visit this beautiful reservation, about one-quarter of whom make the trip to the summit. There is much to interest the visitor. The walk or ride from the Blue Hill avenue entrance, Milton, is a delightful one to the close observer of the beauties of nature, and affords a near view of many kinds of trees and evergreens, which are worthy of a study. Teachers of botany find it a valuable aid to the practical study lessons of their pupils.

The Blue Hill line of electrics connects with the elevated at Mattapan and has a connection also with the Old Colony at Readville. Going south from the hill the line runs through Canton, connecting at Stoughton with the Brockton line. At Canton a side line runs to Lake Massapoag, Sharon.—Hyde Park Gazette.

What Shall I Get for Dinner?

is what the wife, asks her husband just as they have finished breakfast. He, feeling that he never will want to eat again, cannot suggest anything, and she is disgusted. Frequently a row follows. All this can be avoided by taking the Boston Daily Globe, which has a nice bill of fare for three meals each day. This bill of fare is always timely and has with it lots of practical recipes.

As long as human nature remains what it is, there are certain to be wars great and small, just as there are certain to be fights and disputes among individuals, no matter how many courts of justice may be established or how strict the laws against fighting or the use of violence may be made. Nations will no more submit certain matters affecting their honor or vital interests to arbitration than will individuals.

Massachusetts is short sixty thousand men. The census just taken reveals this sad condition, and it is getting worse. What an effeminate State that is. Which is it, sixty thousand too many women, or sixty thousand too few men?—Concord Patriot.

Teachers are invited to inspect the newly renovated rooms at the Hancock House. Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams will make special effort to furnish to suit, and give a pleasant home at moderate cost to teachers or students. tf

NO CITY OR STATE.

But Letter from Germany Reaches a Quincy Man.

A letter mailed in Germany, July 10, has just reached George Huttig at Hotel Greenleaf in this city, but the surprising part is that it should have reached him at all. It was addressed "George Huttig, Hull Draftsman, Shipbuilding Company, Greenleaf street, America," without any city, town or state.

It was received in New York July 26; stamped "Address incorrect" and sent to the Dead Letter office at Washington, arriving July 27. Not until Sept. 5 was it reached, when the clerk thinking "Hull" might be the town address started it off with the words "Try Hull, Mass."

The postmaster at Hull knew what a hull draftsman was, and promptly wrote on the letter,—"Try Fore River Works, Quincy, Mass."

Mr. Huttig is employed there, and received the letter. Although two months after it was written, he was pleased that it finally reached him.

Bellevue Park and Montclair.

Miss Mary Collins of Squantum street has returned from Beachmont where she has been spending a lengthy vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beevice and family of Squantum street have moved to Elmswood, which is two miles this side of Bridgewater.

Mrs. Olin A. Holbrook and daughter, Miss Helen Grant Holbrook of Broadway, have gone to visit Mrs. Holbrook's sister, Mrs. P. R. Sutherland, Columbia road, Dorchester, for a short time.

Miss Mabel Collins of Squantum street has gone to visit Mrs. John Beevice for the rest of her vacation.

Corporation Tax.

Tax Commissioner Trefry has fixed upon $17.25 as the rate of taxation for $1000 of valuation of all domestic corporations. The rate a year ago was $16.60.

CITY BREVITIES.

A session of the probate court, the first since July, will be held in Quincy next Wednesday.

The Saturday afternoon holiday is a thing of the past in most lines of business.

The voting lists have been posted in some of the wards.

There will be no meeting of the City Council next Monday. The next regular meeting will be on Sept. 18.

CHRIST CHURCH, Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue—Rev. W. E. Gardner, rector. 8.30 A. M., holy communion. 10.30 morning prayer and sermon.

W. R. C. Sewing Circle will meet at G. A. R. hall on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 12th.

The weekly prayer-meetings were resumed at the Washington street Congregational church last evening.

A valuable horse belonging to the Fogg express company dropped dead in the ship-yard Friday morning.

The special committee appointed by President Nichols to consider the matter of Municipal gas will meet next Monday evening.

Rev. E. W. Virgin will give a lecture on the Twentieth Century Revival at M. E. Church, West Quincy, Wednesday evening, Sept. 13, at 7.30 o'clock.

Next Wednesday at 2.30 the Woman's Guild will meet in the parish rooms at St. Chrysostom's church.

The Wollaston Unitarian church will be opened to-morrow for morning service. Rev. Mr. Hunt, the pastor will preach.

There will be the usual Sunday morning service at St. Chrysostom's church. The Sunday school does not open until September 17.

To-morrow at the Park and Downs Union Congregational church, there will be a communion service, a Sunday school session, and a Sunday evening service.

Pears are abundant and kind neighbors remember their friends with supplies of ripened fruit. The canning of pears and preserving of peaches keeps the busy housekeeper employed through the early fall.

Select rooms for the winter at the newly furnished, thoroughly renovated Hancock House. First come, first served. Many rooms are being reserved from $2 per week up.

A very handsome wagon built at Campello has appeared on our streets this week. It was ordered many months ago by Walter P. Pinel, expressly for his store business, at the corner of Franklin and Water streets, and it looks pretty and serviceable.

An executive meeting of the East Norfolk C. E. Union will be held next Monday evening at 7.45 o'clock, at the First Presbyterian church, South Quincy. A full representation from each society is desired.

Open the blinds and windows wide, and throw up the shades these fine mornings and let the clear air and bright sunshine reach every nook and corner of your house. Perhaps something will fade but never mind, what are carpets and the like to good health and happiness.

I hear that Gordon H. Gannett of Wollaston, formerly boys' working director of the Boston Y. M. C. A., has been induced to accept the assistant secretaryship of the Chelsea Y. M. C. A. Mr. Gannett will begin work at once, and the Chelsea association is to be congratulated on securing his services. —Boston Post.

In spite of the many summer guests who have enjoyed the beauties of Atlantic for the last two months, it seems pleasant to see the faces of returning residents once more in their familiar haunts. The only drawback is that the sound of filling bins and the odor of paint on house and fence reminds everyone that a cold winter is at hand and how much coal that vacation money might have bought.

Mr. Anderson of the Boston Floating hospital, who was to have been present yesterday afternoon at the Cantata given by the children at the home of Walter M. Packard was delayed en route from Pemberton by several changes of cars and long waits. He much regretted arriving too late to witness the performance, and to meet the children. Twenty dollars was raised for the work of the Hospital; over 200 witnessing the cantata.

FACTS IN FEW LINES

One-third of the area of the United States is still public land.

The Cunard Steamship company is fitting its entire fleet with the submarine signal bells.

Official figures show that only twenty persons in Great Britain have incomes exceeding $250,000 a year.

"A full mail," as carried by a big Atlantic liner, averages 200,000 letters and 300 sacks of newspapers.

In some of the cantons of Switzerland all the dead, rich as well as poor, are buried at the public expense.

Only 66 per cent of the Russian peasants who till the soil in the department of Moscow are able to keep horses.

The Japanese nightingale, or Peking robin, is becoming naturalized in the parks of London, where some were released recently.

The authorities of Nordhadsen, Saxony, have forbidden the use of the streets to any person wearing an article of dress that sweeps the pavement.

One of the attractions at the Palace theater, London, is a "dance" in which eight girls take part, lying flat on their backs and going through the motions of a dance with their feet.

Five men have left England for South Africa to demonstrate whether white men can do the work of Chinese in the mines. Their journey is the outcome of a controversy between two members of parliament.

At a recent meeting of Orient lodge, Knights of Honor, at Holyoke the name of a woman was proposed for membership amid wild cheers from the members present. This is thought to be the first case of its kind in the history of the order.

It is said that the importation of diamonds into this country has increased 50 per cent during the last ten years. The customs official who inspects all the stones taken through the port of New York says that the increase is bound to continue.

A Savoyard shepherd named Vachat entered a barn near Vaucluse and found a cow in the act of chewing up his savings, which, consisting of $350 in bank notes, had been hidden in a corner of the barn. Only two notes for $15 remained uneaten.

Mr. Wilson, the junior surgeon on the Discovery during Captain Scott's antarctic expedition, states that the taste for alcoholic drinks dropped suddenly when he and his colleagues entered the ice region and that the disinclination increased as time went on.

Thirty years ago hawkweed first appeared in Strong, Me. It had a bright pretty flower and was much cherished for that reason. It has a downy seed, which is scattered by the wind, and now the flowering plant of thirty years ago is a noxious weed for forty miles around.

There are about 25,000 persons employed in the watch factories of Switzerland, not including several thousand engaged in the "house industry." There are 627 factories, 218 of which manufacture complete watches, 209 cases and the rest dials, crystals, hands, springs, jewels, etc.

While Maine is said to be the easiest state in New England in which to obtain a divorce, things are different across the line in New Brunswick. The ties which bound two couples were severed at the last term of court at Fredericton after the cases had been under judicial consideration for six years.

Three brothers were wedded to three sisters and a sister of the brothers to a brother of the three sisters at Durren, near Thoune, Ill., recently. Bride and bridegroom in each case were of the same age, varying from nineteen years to twenty-eight. They stood in a row at the altar and answered the questions together.

The sawmills at Machias, Me., and those up the river at Whitneyville have been in operation something like 140 years. In that time there have been sawed, according to conservative estimates, 3,032,000,000 feet of lumber, and now the same ground from which this timber has been cut is worth more per acre as timber land than it ever was.

CARD OF THANKS.

The undersigned take this method of extending their sincere thanks to all those neighbors and friends who so generously expressed their friendship and sympathy during this their sad hour of bereavement; also to all who sent beautiful tributes. These evidences of friendship are greatly appreciated.

HOOSAC MOUNTAINS.

Deerfield Valley, Hudson River Excursion to New York Oct. 5, $5.

The Hoosac Mountains and the Deerfield Valley form a combination of mountain grandeur and pastoral beauty of rural landscape, seldom seen.

It was Hawthrone who in a ride through this region perceived the variations of nature in her bestowal of beauty upon this favored country, and he expressed it forcibly when he observed that the peaceful scenery of the valley was diversified by the mountains in their offerings of sunshine and shadow, glory and gloom.

It is the Fitchburg Division of the Boston & Maine R. R. which has the honor of serving this scenic section; and it is safe saying that no railroad in the United States has such a magnificent border of landscape as the railroad from the "Charles to the Hudson."

This is the route of the $5.00 excursion from Boston on October 5th, and from other stations on October 4th, and one has but to receive an inkling of what wonders are in store, and a "sure venture" that he will see for himself. After departure from the North Station, it is but a few minutes ere we are in Waltham, the city of watches, and watch out, for you are on the banks of the Charles and about to commence a railroad journey through New England's "Garden of Eden."

Bustling cities dropped midst the green hills of central Massachusetts; shimmering lakes whose shores are sheltered with large shade trees; silvery streams whose green banks and verdant border lands invitingly welcome us to tarry awhile and rest; roaring water falls, snowy cascades; sportive brooks, and huge hills and mountain peaks all pass in the Boston & Maine biograph. At Troy, N. Y. we bid good-bye to the delightful scenery as viewed from a car window. We cross the Hudson and alight from the train at Albany, N. Y. You can enjoy the moonlight view of the Hudson River on the night steamers or remain at Albany over night and take in the sights of the capital city. The day line trip down the Hudson on the palatial steamers is undoubtdly the grandest sail in the country. We pass in plain view of the gorgeous Catskill Mountains, under the famous Poughkeepsie bridge, past West Point, Newburg and historical shrines of the Revolution, the palisades and all the scenic wonders of a wonderful region; through the maze of flying craft in New York harbor, and dock at the metropolis.

Two days in New York—you can do as you please. Returning we journey via the Fall River Line steamers to Boston and other stations, and via the Providence Line to Providence and Worcester. $5.00 is the round trip rate. Send to the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine R. R., Boston, for the beautiful illustrated booklet and souvenir of the trip. It describes the journey in detail, and is beautifully illustrated. It will be sent free to any one upon receipt of address.

WHEN WILL QUINCY

Become One-Fiftieth of State in Population.

Have Moved Up Rapidly in Last Thirty Years.

About 1-100 of the Population of Massachusetts Now in this City.

In 1875 if the population of Massachusetts had been equally divided it would have made 181 towns the size of Quincy.

Our town grew so rapidly in the next five years that if a division was made there would be but 168 towns.

By every census since, Quincy has become a larger and larger part of the State as will be seen by the summary below.

IN 1885 Quincy had 1-160th of Population of State.

IN 1905 Quincy has 1-107th of Population of State.

Although there are now over 350 cities and towns in the State there are only people enough to make 107 cities the size of Quincy.

We are not only growing, but increasing more rapidly than the State at large and may some day become one-fiftieth of Massachusetts in population.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Godfe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

QUIETER AT TOKIO

Mobs Hesitate to Come Into Collision With Soldiers

BLAME ON NEWSPAPERS

Five Suppressed For Stimulating Rioters by Sympathizing With Them--Attacks on Churches a Result of Local Conditions

Tokio, Sept. 9.—Military rule seems to have put a sudden check on the mobs of Tokio. The city is quiet. General Sakumo's proclamation is quiet, but forceful, and calculated to make the late rioters hesitate to come into collision with his men. Under a special measure General Sakumo has suppressed five newspapers that were making trouble. This process is likely to go further, for the press sympathizes with the rioters and of course stimulates them to violence. The substitution of soldiers for police has had a good personal effect, as the troops are popular, and the crowds respect their orders more than those of the police.

Complete reports from metropolitan and outlying districts indicate that there was no disorder throughout the night or early morning. The quietness of the night is ascribed to a heavy rain which scattered the crowds, although the presence of military guards is having a beneficial effect. The street car service has been suspended at night, and the suspension will continue while there is danger of the destruction of cars.

It is predicted that trouble will occur tonight, provided the weather is favorable, although many believe that the worst part of the disturbance is over unless an accidental clash with the military resulting in bloodshed occurs.

The government has not indicated its intention regarding the summoning of a special session of the diet, but it is believed that such a call will soon be issued.

Government officers and the better class of Japanese citizens are expressing keen regret over the attacks on Christian churches. They explain that the affair was the result of local conditions and does not indicate a serious anti-foreign or anti-Christian feeling.

They say that there has been local feeling over the refusal of native Christians to contribute to temple subscriptions and over their efforts to secure the closing of business houses on Sunday. Many declare that native Salvationists addressing a meeting in the Asakusa district started the trouble by rebuking the crowd for acts of violence.

It was reported last night that a mob intended to attack the Catholic cathedral at Tsukiji, but no demonstration was made.

Foreigners in Tokio generally are unconcerned over the situation. Some elements continue to express regret that Japan consented to the Portsmouth conference, but there is no indication that the sentiment is general.

Preparations are progressing to present claims to the government for the foreign church property which has been destroyed.

The members of the Harriman party have gone to Nikko, having cancelled the local program for their entertainment.

Following an anti-peace meeting at Kobe a crowd estimated at 100 went to the Minatogwa temple, where a statue of Marquis Ito has been recent erected, attached a rope to the statue, pulled it from its pedestal and dragged it through the streets. The crowd then charged three police boxes, where there was some fighting. This was followed by much excitement and disorder. Later dispatches indicate that the situation is not serious.

The police report one rioter killed, one severely wounded and 60 arrested in the Honjo and Fakgwa districts.

The incident of the attack on members of the Harriman party is not regarded as a demonstration against Americans or other foreigners, but is believed to have largely been the result of the time and circumstances.

There have been a few expressions of regret that Japan consented to President Roosevelt's proposal for a peace conference, but it is apparent that this sentiment is not generally held. Many expressions of regret have been made by all classes over the Harriman incident.

In response to the popular desire and urgent requests of political leaders, the government has decided to publish the terms of peace today.

Cannot Live In New York

New York, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Beatrice Young, who recently shot Mrs. Catherine Morgan at the Hotel Imperial, secured her freedom when the shooting case came up in court by promising to become a voluntary exile from New York and go west. The shooting came very near causing Mrs. Morgan's death, but the injured woman recovered and herself proposed that Mrs. Young be freed provided her assailant would leave the city.

Tanner Heads Grand Army

Denver, Sept. 9.—Corporal James Tanner was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic by the national encampment. The vote was: James Tanner, 447; Robert B. Brown, 187; Charles G. Burton, 42; George Stone, 15. Minneapolis was chosen as the meeting place for next year.

NEARLY 400 KILLED

Several Italian Towns Devastated by an Earthquake

Rome, Sept. 9.—All Italy is suffering from terrible depression because of the news from the south, where one of the worst earthquakes ever experienced occurred yesterday. Although the earthquake was felt all over Calabria and to a certain extent in Sicily, the worst news comes from Pizzo and Monteleone and from 18 villages which are said to have been completely destroyed.

According to the latest news received, 370 persons have been killed and a great number injured. It is as yet impossible to even estimate the property losses.

The shock was felt at 2:55 o'clock in the morning. It lasted for 18 seconds at several scattered points. Scenes of indescribable terror ensued. Women aroused from their sleep rushed half-clothed into the streets, screaming with fear, carrying their babies and dragging along their children and calling for help on the Madonna and the saints. The men escaped into the open with their families, all calling on their favorite saints for protection. The cafes were taken by assault by the strangely garbed crowd, but as daylight broke without a repetition of the earthquake the crowd gradually melted away until by 8 o'clock the streets had almost assumed their normal appearance except in the ruined villages, where the inhabitants had no homes to go to.

Troops, engineers and doctors have been hurried to the scenes of disaster to assist in the work of rescue and salvage. The ministry of the interior sent $4000 for the relief of the destitute and Minister of Public Works Ferraris left for Calabria last evening.

Hotels For the Isthmus

New York, Sept. 9.—Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission has awarded a concession for feeding and housing the greater part of the canal employes to J. E. Markel of Omaha, who will establish 10 hotels along the canal and railroad, each of them to accommodate from 150 to 250 lodgers and twice as many diners. The average rate for board and lodgings will be about $36 a month.

Satisfactory Commercial Outlook

New York, Sept. 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that commercial news continues most satisfactory, improvement being reported in almost every case except the further decline in prices of securities. Crops are being harvested under most favorable conditions and a few weeks more without severe frost will put the yield of corn and cotton beyond danger.

Wood Says Moros Are Pacified

Washington, Sept. 9.—General Wood, in command of the department of Mindanao, in his annual report, states that the general condition of affairs in his department is very satisfactory. A few small disturbances took place, but the Moros have been pacified to such a degree that American officials may safely travel in any part of the islands where formerly a strong guard was necessary.

Hollander Homeward Bound

San Juan, P. R., Sept. 9.—Professor Hollander, former treasurer of Porto Rico, who has been conducting an investigation of the claims against the government of Santo Domingo, returned here on the cruiser Galveston and has sailed for Newport News. Dr. Hollander declined to discuss the affairs of Santo Domingo prior to the making of his report to President Roosevelt.

Baku Situation Still Serious

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—The uprising in the Baku district has apparently passed the crisis, though the situation is still serious and order is far from having been restored. In the oil district and even in the city of Baku the belligerent factions are taking every opportunity to commit murder and to apply the torch. Troops are steadily arriving in the district.

Wolves In Sheep's Clothing

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Three women are in custody here, and the police declare they have captured part of a band of swindlers who, in the garb of nuns and priests, have victimized many residents by soliciting contributions for an orphan asylum which exists only in the minds of the quintet. Several costumes such as are worn by nuns and priests were found.

Spanish War Veterans Adjourn

Milwaukee, Sept. 9.—United Spanish War Veterans chose Washington for the next meeting place and ended the business of the second annual encampment by the disposing of various proposals and electing the officers. Major C. R. Miller of Cleveland was chosen commander-in-chief.

Daniels Lowers His Own Record

New York, Sept. 9.—Charles H. Daniels, the New York Athletic club swimmer, broke another American record in the 220-yard handicap swim at Midland Beach, S. I. He won the event in 2:42, 2 1-5 seconds below the former record made by himself in 1904.

Cuban Moderates Want Palma

Havana, Sept. 9.—The Moderate party will hold its convention today and, it is understood, will unanimously renominate Palma for president and Capote, the party leader, for vice president.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Sept. 10.
Sun rises—5:19; sets—6:04.
Moon sets—2:04 a. m.
High water—8:45 a. m.; 9 p. m.
Fair weather is indicated for New England.

Irrigation is Independence

In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.

"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion. The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."

ELEPHANTS.

In Olden Times These Big Animals Were Used In War.

The circus elephant is almost as old as the world, for the ancient Romans had an eye to business as well as our own circus men. Trained elephants performed during the Roman gladiatorial fights, just as the clowns do in our circuses during the intermission.

But the elephant is also spoken of in the history of the Bible. King Lysias of Syria in 163 B. C. led 120,000 men and thirty-two war trained elephants against Judas of Maccabee and was the battle. Eleahar, the brother of Judas, killed one of these elephants, by was himself buried and crushed to death underneath the colossal body of the animal as it fell.

Elephants were also found in the army of Hannibal when he made war upon the Romans in 219 B. C. The trunk, head and neck of this animal are most easily hurt, and therefore Hannibal had iron mail coats made for them which covered these parts. Alexander the Great was known to have used elephants as bridge supports during his wars and, as you can see from the picture, crossed his soldiers over them.

There is a case on record where an elephant was taught to walk over a tight rope in a Roman circus, which is something that our modern circus trainers have not yet been able to do with their animals.

YOUR PLAYMATES.

Some "Don'ts" That Every Boy Should Always Bear In Mind.

Don't snub a boy because he wears shabby clothes. When Edison, the inventor, first entered Boston, he wore a pair of yellow linen breeches in the depth of winter.

Don't snub a boy because of the ignorance of his parents. Shakespeare, the world's poet, was the son of a man who was unable to write his own name.

Don't snub a boy because his home is plain and unpretending. Abraham Lincoln's early home was a plain and unpretending log cabin.

Don't snub a boy because he chooses a humble trade. The author of "Pilgrim's Progress" was a tinker.

Don't snub a boy because of his physical disability. Milton was blind.

Don't snub a boy because of dullness in his lesson. Hogarth, the celebrated painter and engraver, was a stupid boy at his books.

Don't snub a boy because he stutters. Demosthenes, the great orator of Greece, overcame a harsh and stammering voice.

Don't snub him for any reason, not only because he may some day outstrip you in the race of life, but because it is neither kind nor right.

Rules For Children.

Be prompt at every meal.

Never shout, run or jump in the house.

Shut every door after you without slamming it.

Let your first, last and best friend be your mother.

Carefully clean the snow or mud off your boots before entering the house.

Never interrupt any conversation but wait patiently your turn to speak.

Never sit down at the table or in the parlor with dirty hands or tumbled hair.

Always speak kindly and politely to servants if you would have them do so to you.

When you are told to do or not to do a thing by either parent, never ask "why."

Tell of your own faults and misdoings, not of those of your brothers or sisters.

Conundrums.

What is the board of education? The schoolmaster's shingle.

What gives more milk than a cow? A milk cart.

What insect frequents district schools? The spelling bee.

Why should a doctor never be sent sick? Because he is accustomed to see (see) sickness.

What is the difference between an old dime and a new cent? Nine cents.

Why is a girl or boy adding six and seven like a lame dog? Because he puts down three and carries one.

His Color.

"Now, what is your fav'rite color?"
Asked Dorothy of Ned.
"Sometimes I think mine's purple;
Sometimes I think it's red.
The grass and trees and bushes—
Why, all those things are green!"
That Dorothy was puzzled
Was plainly to be seen.

But Ned had no such trouble.
After a thoughtful frown
That lasted half a minute,
He said: "My fav'rite's brown—
The brown like grandma's cookies
And tops of biscuit—oh,
There's not another color
As nice as brown, I know!"

By EVERETT HOLBROOK

Copyright, 1905, by Charles B. Etherington

It is generally conceded that Chester Allen is a soulless brute, and his conviction in regard to him grows deeper and deeper as one learns more about his view of life. He has an astonishing familiarity with the most wretched experiences of his fellow creatures, and he relates them with an awful indifference.

And yet I have known Allen to act with great kindness and delicacy. I have seen him express by deeds a sympathy which he seems entirely incapable of feeling. I have reason to be grateful to him, but when he has done me a favor I have been well assured that if the circumstances had been a little different he would have shot me with the same frozen placidity.

He has an unsymmetrical face, the left side being so much better than the right that even a photographer could hardly fail to prefer it. His forehead is rather low and narrow at the top; his eyes are a leaden gray; his cheek bones are too high and prominent and his lips are hard and thin.

It will puzzle a physiognomist to decide why a man who answers to such a description is often called handsome. Perhaps his graceful figure and the elegance of his attire may explain the riddle, or it may be that his perfectly unaffected manner attracts.

Allen has been a reporter for a dozen years, though he enjoys an income from property in trust that would enable him to live without work. He is valuable to a newspaper because he is never misled by enthusiasm or deceived by falsehood.

It was in the way of his profession that he met Kitty Maginley. Kitty was a very pretty young woman who worked in a candy store for $5 a week. She had only one dress for summer and one for winter, but she knew how to wear them and how to adorn herself with 10 cents' worth of ribbon. She lived with her father, who was a depraved and drunken rascal, and with two little sisters.

One day Maginley went into the store where Kitty worked and asked her for some money. Except in one particular stage of intoxication, he knew better than to do this, but the fates conspired, and he did it. Kitty had no money and so her father picked up a great bar of nut candy off the counter and threw it at her. It struck one of the glass doors protecting the shelves along the wall and there was a terrible shattering crash. Kitty fainted away, and while she lay upon the floor behind the counter the hand of the law was laid upon her parent.

HE THREW IT AT HER.

Allen had been passing the store at the time of this occurrence. He went in with the crowd and remained from professional considerations.

The first thing that Kitty said on being restored to consciousness was that she would pay for the broken glass. This variation of the conventional "Where am I?" so amused Allen that he gave the storekeeper $15 and received in return a receipt in full for all damages and a promise not to prosecute Maginley or discharge Kitty. The poor girl sobbed with gratitude, being unable to express it in any other way, but this was common, and Allen ceased to pay any attention to her.

He called the next day, however, to assure himself that the candy man had kept his word. He had. But he confided to Allen that he was afraid Maginley would come in again and make more trouble. As a result of this intimation Allen fell into a habit of visiting the store four or five times a week.

As to what occurred in the shop, I have obtained my facts from the proprietor, a little, womanish man with an ear for everything. It appears that Kitty's colleague, an experienced young woman who had been married and deserted, told Kitty one day that Allen was "mashed." Kitty rejected the suggestion as a wild absurdity.

"Of course he is," said the grass widow. "What does he come in here for every day buying candy? Do you suppose he eats it? Why, I've seen him throw it into the ash can outside the door. He comes here to see you."

Kitty did not believe it, but the next time Allen came in she was so nervous that she spilled candy all over the floor, and when he had gone she was obliged to sit down in a corner and fan herself, whereat the woman of experience laughed.

One day when Allen called Kitty had a large piece of court plaster on the side of her forehead. She was so painfully ashamed of it that there could be no doubt about the cause of the injury, though she tried to tell Allen that she had bumped her head against a door.

By a singular coincidence, when Kitty left the store that afternoon at 6 o'clock she met Allen on the nearest corner. He said that he happened to be passing, and if she didn't mind walking a little way— Why, of course. It all looked perfectly natural to the grass widow, who was a witness of the occurrence.

"I'm afraid your father hurt you pretty badly," said Allen. And Kitty stopped suddenly, with her face flaming. "Does he often do it?"

The tears began to force their way out of Kitty's eyes. She was ashamed of them, ashamed of the wound, ashamed of everything in the world.

"Sometimes those little injuries leave a scar," continued Allen, "and that's bad for a pretty girl who wants to find a rich husband some day and be an ornament of society. But a good doctor can prevent it, you know, and I happen to be going right now to see the best man in the business. If you'll come along he'll look at your head, and he won't charge you a cent because you're a friend of mine."

For some strange reason this proposition seemed to Kitty to have an adverse moral aspect, but Allen persuaded her.

Kitty went to see the doctor, and he told her that she would have to come every day for a week at least if she wished to avoid a bad scar. He was a clever man, and he saved her from disfigurement, but he did not treat her for an affection of the heart that was getting worse and worse all the time. She was seeing Allen every afternoon—seeing him in her dreams, both sleeping and waking, too, poor child—and she knew that she was in love with him, but she would never have believed that he could care for her if it had not been for the wise woman in the shop.

"He's dead stuck on you," said this sapient person. "Anybody could see that."

"But he hasn't said a word about it," protested Kitty. "He doesn't even look at me, or when he does he looks right through me. And he talks right through me too. I don't know half what he says. I might just as well be a telephone for all he cares about me."

The wise woman laughed.

"You'll find out," she said. "I'll bet you could make him marry you if you had any sense."

At this suggestion Kitty nearly fell in a faint, but she fancied that Mrs. O'Neil did not notice it.

When Kitty's wound was almost mended, Maginley, who had noticed that his daughter was not coming home quite so early in the afternoons, got into a quarrel with her about it and struck her again. Allen told me of this occurrence, and he seemed to be interested in the coincidence that the injury was precisely similar to the former one, except that it was upon the other side of the girl's head.

"Queer, isn't it?" he said.

"Allen," said I, "what are you going to do with this girl?"

"Nothing," he said indifferently. "I'm going to Europe in July."

Later he told me that he had advised Kitty to run away from home.

"I've seen her father," he said. "There's no doing anything with him. He's not responsible. He ought to be in an asylum."

"Then why don't you send him there?" I inquired.

"Too much trouble," replied Allen.

When the experienced Mrs. O'Neil heard that Allen was suggesting flight she asked Kitty what she was going to do.

"I haven't got any place to go," said Kitty.

"He'll find you a place," said Mrs. O'Neil.

"Goodness!" cried Kitty. "I couldn't let him do that. He's done enough for me as it is. He asked me once where I could go, and I was ashamed to tell him that I didn't have a friend in the world, so I said I had an aunt in Buffalo. I used to have, but she's dead."

"Don't you worry," was the response. "When he says go, go. I tell you he's in love with you. He really means it. He'll marry you."

One day Kitty came to the store as white as a ghost. She was almost half an hour late and was breathless with running.

"I've been over to the Children's society," she said. "They're going to take Lottie and Jane. Father's so rough with them now that I had to do something. Mr. Allen told me what to do. And I'm going away. It seems awful to leave father, but Mr. Allen says there isn't anything else to do. I've got to. That's all there is about it."

"I'm glad you're getting a little sense," responded Mrs. O'Neil.

There was a pause, and then poor, distracted Kitty seized the woman's hand.

"Are you sure he cares about me?" she demanded in a choking, agonized whisper. "It doesn't look like it to me. He never said a word of love to me or tried to kiss me. He never even took hold of my hand."

"That's all right," replied the wise woman. "He doesn't want to frighten you. He's a gentleman, but he's crazy about you, and you can twist him around your finger if you want to."

"If he doesn't ask me to marry him what'll I do?" pleaded the girl. "Suppose he tells me to go to my aunt"—

Mrs. O'Neil laughed.

"You don't suppose he really believes you've got an aunt?" said she. "He knows you're lying to him, but he doesn't care. All he wants is to get you away from home. He's afraid your father 'll kill you. You'll be his wife in a week if you don't make a fool of yourself."

That afternoon I saw Allen, and he told me that Kitty was going to her aunt. He had bought her a gray traveling dress during the luncheon hour and had a very amusing time persuading her to take it.

"She has a holy horror of my spending money for her," he said. "I'm going to have a tussle when it comes to buying her ticket and giving her something for her journey. But she's got to be sent out of this town for her life."

HE LOOKED AT THE GIRL.

"Won't you ever see her again?" I asked.

"You seem to think this is a sentimental affair," said he. "If you saw a woman drowning and pulled her out of the water would you expect to spend the remainder of your life in her society?"

"That depends upon the woman," said I. And he replied that they were all alike to him.

Then he told me that he had made arrangements for her to have a room at the Central Depot hotel for the night and that she would leave for Buffalo in the morning.

"I was going to take her to dinner," he said, "but things have suddenly come around in such a way that I can get out of town at once. I'm likely to sail for Europe tomorrow, and in that case I may not see her again."

In fact, he wrote a note to her later telling her to go to the Central Depot hotel and take the room engaged in a fictitious name. She would either see him or hear from him in the course of the evening.

So poor Kitty, in her new dress that she had expected to be married in, went to the hotel to wait for the man whom she worshiped with an all absorbing, dumb animal intensity. I can fancy her sitting in that room alone, trembling with fear and hope.

And Allen, that student of humanity, thought of her only as a poor girl who was running away from a brutal father to a kind old aunt in Buffalo.

About 9 o'clock in the evening he wrote her a note telling her of his sudden change of mind and pleading his hurry as an excuse for not seeing her. He told her all about trains and time tables with great particularity and inclosed a fifty dollar bill for her expenses. The note was colder than the inscription on a tombstone and Kitty's heart died in her bosom. She had given up everything, even her little sisters, for this man, and he was going away without saying goodby.

How complete was her desolation may be judged by the fact that she did not leave a single written word, even for him. They found her the next morning dead upon the bed. She had taken off the gray dress and it was clasped in her arms as if it had been a doll and she a child asleep.

Allen changed his mind about going to Europe during the night and he reported for duty as usual at 10 o'clock. The city editor sent him over to the Central Depot hotel in the matter of the suicide of an unknown girl by poison. I met him on the way.

We found the coroner in charge, while a couple of detectives were considering the question of the girl's identity. The clerk had said that a man of very respectable appearance had engaged the room for the girl, but he could not give a good description of him or furnish any other information. This showed the clerk's discretion, for he had known Allen about nine years.

We went up into the room of death. My heart burned within me and my knees trembled with nervous excitement. Allen was perfectly calm. He looked at the girl and then at the little pile of her belongings on the dresser, from which he secretly abstracted his own note, that was signed simply "A."

The coroner some days afterward accused him of the theft, though without any suspicion that the letter was his own. Allen squelched him with the question, "If I'd got the thing do you suppose I wouldn't have printed it?"

The case was hushed up, and I fancy it cost Allen a few hundred dollars to manage it.

"The queer thing about this affair," said Allen to me, "is that I shouldn't have known that she was deceiving me about her aunt. I blame myself for that. It was stupid of me."

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. ADDA F. HOWIE.

A Milwaukee Society Woman and a Famous Dairy Farmer.

Eleven years ago Mrs. Adda F. Howie was a Milwaukee society woman living in a house with a brown stone front in Grand avenue and following an ordinary round of clubs and card playing. Now she is renowned through the United States and Canada as the best authority on Jersey cattle breeding and dairying in the country.

It is no uncommon thing for the millionaire class of eastern "gentleman farmers" and for rich stock fanciers and ranchmen from the west to drive into Sunny Peak farm, which is about seven miles southwest of Milwaukee, to inspect famous prize winners and to inquire into the records which some of her cows have made in butter and cream.

This is not all. Mrs. Howie is on the staff of the Winconsin Agricultural college as a lecturer, and some of her male competitors, who found plenty of cause for mirth in the strange ideas she introduced at Sunny Peak when she began, are now glad to go and see how she gets her wonderful results in dairy work and stock breeding, which have left the best of them miles behind.

When Mrs. Howie began her operations with a 120 acre farm which had been left to her, she was absolutely ignorant of the business, but she studied the question thoroughly and used the most approved methods, sanitary and otherwise, together with many orginal schemes of her own, till today she stands unrivaled in her chosen profession.

One of the things which Mrs. Howie has demonstrated and which she thoroughly believes is that stock farming is a good and practical business for women. She says that no woman would better undertake it, however, unless she can do anything and everything that is necessary in a pinch.—Chicago Tribune.

Care of Butter.

A successful housewife, whose early years of somewhat narrow means taught her to study the food question carefully, says that if butter exudes milk on being cut it shows that the butter has been imperfectly washed and will "turn" twice as quickly as it should, consequently it must be eaten as soon as possible if one hopes to "save it." If butter that has just been bought exudes water when cut, the butter is adulterated, and the housewife may have the satisfaction of knowing that she has been swindled. Water has been paid for at butter prices.

"Persons who like unsalted butter," she goes on, "but find it hard to get, can obtain a fair substitute by taking the ordinary salted butter, soaking it in water that is constantly changed; then, by working the butter in fresh water, it will be almost as nice as the real thing.

"If butter has to be softened it is wasteful to set it on the stove or in the oven. Some of the butter is sure to run to oil, which few people like to eat. When the oil hardens again its nature has been changed and deteriorated. Besides, the plate is usually covered with a thin film, which it is impossible to get off and which is therefore washed away with the plate. Moist heat is better than dry heat, if the butter must be softened by artificial means, so set the plate with the butter on or in a basin of hot water."—New York Tribune.

Embroidered Stockings.

To embroider plain stockings in a strictly professional manner these directions are taken from an English periodical of repute: "In working it will be found easiest to stitch a piece of glazed calico between the design and the stocking to be embroidered, and the design, if outlined with a deep black line, will be plainly visible through the fine silk or thread of the hosiery. Some people prefer to trace the pattern on tissue paper and to sew this to the outside of the stocking, the embroidery being done on the top and the paper torn away when the work is finished. No knots should be made either on the right or wrong side, but the silk should be fastened off by running the needle down the back of the embroidery and cutting it off close, and a fresh needleful should be commenced in the same manner."

Knock Before Entering.

How many families are there where it is customary to knock before entering a bedroom or den or any other private apartment? Yet, why should not such a custom prevail? Are there not countless times when we do not care to be disturbed or when we would like to have due notice of intruders? Most women, at all events, have ugly moments when it is not wise to be on exhibition even to one's family. Every person's belongings should be safe from profane fingers. Few of us care to share our combs and brushes with the other members of the family or to have the contents of our bureaus and boxes stirred up by careless fingers. We may not realize why we feel so fretful over seemingly small matters, but the annoyance is unmistakable and is bound to make itself felt.—Boston Traveler.

Cost of the Loss of Sleep.

As a general rule, the lad at school between the ages of thirteen and sixteen requires nine to ten hours of sleep. Growing boys need a large amount of sleep, and when this is denied them neither their bodies nor their minds can develop properly. An English contemporary points out that this lack of hours of rest falls most heavily on the clever boys, who, by reason of their ability, are raised to higher forms in which the time given to school work is longer, and asks if this may not explain in some measure the disappointing mediocrity in later life of the boy who gave promise of brilliant mental capabilities.—Medical Record.

Light Cambrics and Prints.

To wash light cambrics and prints dissolve a tablespoonful of alum in enough lukewarm water to rinse a dress. Dip the dress into it, taking care to wet thoroughly every part of it, and then wring it out. Have warm, not hot, suds ready and wash the dress quickly, rinsing it in cold water. White castile soap is best for colored cottons. Have the starch ready, cooled a little. Rinse the dress in it, wring it out and hang it wrong side out to dry where the wind will strike it rather than the sun. When dry iron directly. Prints should never be sprinkled, but if too dry they should be ironed under a damp cloth. It is better to wash them when the ironing can be done at once.

The One Sided Girl.

"She has pretty hair," the athletic girl admitted, "but it is never dressed evenly. The right side always looks much better than the left."

"That is because she never moves her bureau," said the wise girl. "Month in and month out, her looking glass stands in the same corner by the window, and she dresses with her right side to the light and the left in shadow. Consequently one-half of her face and hair is well groomed, while the other half gets only a lick and a promise."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A Toilet Hint.

The woman who has wept until her eyelids and her nose are purple, her eyes bloodshot and her face swollen always feels a trifle embarrassed when she has to receive callers or go down to dinner immediately. She frequently makes a bad matter worse by washing her face in cold water. If she will, instead, bathe it gently with rose water for a few minutes and then lie down for a few more with a soft rag saturated in rose water over her eyes, she will be prepared to face any company.

The Lamp.

Almost every lamp wants boiling occasionally when the light burns dimly, and no attention to oil or wick will make any difference. Take the lamp apart, remove the wick and then boil both burner and wick in hot water in which has been thrown some washing soda. When every part has been thoroughly cleaned and as thoroughly dried put in the wick, trim it, fill the lamp with oil and the light will be brilliant.

Women Buyers.

The salary of the woman buyer is often exaggerated, but as a matter of fact it varies very much according to the department and the demands made upon it. Many of them get $40 a week, or $2,000 a year, and here and there is one who gets a salary between $4,000 and $5,000 a year, but while some have large pay there are more who have not.

Emotional Spendthrifts.

The muscles of the face are the most delicate and intricate in the body. They are capable of expressing an infinite variety of emotion. The prevailing mood fixes the habitual expression. We are the product of our yesterdays. Emotional spendthrifts become beauty paupers!

Neck Discolorations.

A simple way to remove discolorations from the neck is to rub in fresh lemon juice after washing the neck thoroughly at night, and over the juice rub cold cream. Wash off in the morning. Several weeks of this should make the neck quite white.

Marble fireplaces will be greatly improved in appearance if they are rubbed occasionally with furniture polish. They should be rubbed afterward with a clean duster until they are smooth and shiny.

Anything that adds to the neatness and beauty of the home and its belongings not only increases the owner's pleasure, but fosters refinement and real betterment of the household.

Wring a chamois skin out in warm, not hot, water and use as a duster for all highly polished furniture. It will remove all finger marks.

Burn pine tar occasionally in a sickroom. It is an excellent disinfectant, and it also induces sleep.

BRAINTREE.

Next Monday the public schools of Braintree will open. After a long vacation of ten weeks pupils and teachers will, with added zest, begin the year's work.

Accounts in three Braintree etates were allowed at probate court this week,—Charles G. Thompson, Edward Hobart and William Reed.

Michael O'Connor is at his post as gate tender at the Quincy avenue crossing having recovered from his serious illness at Carney hospital.

On Friday evening at Union church a goodly audience witnessed an amusing and successful entertainment, "The Milkmaids," given by the Flower circle of King's Daughters. The proceeds will be used for flowers for the church and flowers and fruit for the sick.

Miss Jennie Emerson of Bellevue road, Norfolk Hills, left on Labor day for Ashby, to resume her duties as teacher in the High school of that place.

The running time of the electric cars from Rockland in the early morning has been changed. Workmen living at Rockland cannot reach the Fore River Works in season to begin a days work.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Moody of Fountain street returned Thursday from a two weeks' outing in North Nobleboro, Maine.

Robert E. Whitman and family returned yesterday from Bridgton, Maine where they have been camping for the past three weeks.

Mrs. G. S. Parker is reported to be quite ill at her home on Hancock street. The sympathy of all is expressed for Mr and Mrs Parker because of the death of their little daughter Carrie.

Master Paul Jackson returned to his home in Roxbury Monday, having spent a very pleasant summer with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Osgood.

Miss Bessie Tirrell who has been spending the past ten days at Rockland, Maine, Owls Head and the surrounding towns and cities has resumed her occupation at R. E. Whitman's store.

The dedication of the Noah Torry school building has been postponed a few days to perfect the program. Next week's Observer will contain the date of dedication and also the program. We hope Gov. William L. Douglas will be present and take part in the exercises.

Miss Carlton of Goffstown, N. H., a popular teacher at Littleton, N. H., has resigned her position there to teach the fifth and sixth grades at the Penniman school. Miss L. May Whitney was the teacher in these grades.

Among the pleasant reunions that took place Labor day was that of friends of Miss Sarah A. May and Mrs. Mary I. Richards at their residence on Academy street. "Rain or shine," had been the decision, so nothing daunted by the weeping clouds they gathered within doors to spend the annual picnic day.

After the summer vacation degree work will be started with a will next Tuesday evening. The first degree will be exemplified on one candidate. It is expected that the coming fall and winter will be a busy one for Puritan lodge as a great deal of interest is being manifested owing partially to the grand time everybody enjoyed on the first annual excursion of Puritan lodge. It is expected that before long the socials which were so successful last winter will start once more.

Miss Lucy Keith of Washington street left yesterday for Oxford, Ohio, to resume her duties as teacher.

Paul Wild of Holbrook, a respected gentleman of 80 years and father of Charles Wild, a veteran motor-man on the Old Colony street railway, died suddenly yesterday afternoon about three o'clock. He was preparing to unload his team of hay in J. Marcus Arnold's barn when the horse started, throwing Mr. Wild to the floor and breaking his neck.

Mrs. G. E. Loring and son William returned Friday from Canada, where they have been enjoying the past month with relatives.

Mrs. Fred Spear of Randolph, well known in our midst, has recently successfully undergone an operation at the New England hospital and is resting comfortably.

Many residents have availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the new Noah Torrey school house which has been open for inspection this week. It is a finely built building and a credit to the town.

Rev. C. F. H. Crathern filled his pulpit at the South Congregationa church Sunday morning and preached an eloquent sermon. He left Monday to join his family who are visiting in Mason, N. H.

Miss Edith Jennison of Norwich, Conn., was the recent guest of Miss Olive I. Kibble, Tremont street.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen of Franklin street who have been very ill are reported to be improving in health.

The King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. O. A. Bridgham Thursday, Sept. 14. It being the first meeting of the fall season a full attendance is desired to make plans for future work.

Many of the friends of our genial town clerk, Mr. H. A. Monk, received from him Wednesday souvenir postals from Boone, Iowa.

Cornelius Connor of Quincy one of South Braintree's popular letter carriers returned Monday from a two weeks' vacation spent in western Massachusetts.

S. of V. Auxiliary No. 16 will observe their fourth anniversary Monday evening, Sept. 11, at 8 o'clock. An early meeting for members will be called at 7 o'clock. Members of Post 87, G. A. R., Corps 94, W. R. C. and Antietam Camp 32 S. of V. have been invited.

The sad news of the death of Garrett Haley of Hobart street was received early on Friday. It will be remembered that having broken his ankle Mr. Haley was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital the last of August.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Frazier of Hobart street, a daughter on Friday, September the first.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the Union Congregational church on Sunday, Sept. 10th, immediately after the morning service. The time for the mid-week prayer and praise service has been changed to 7.30 o'clock on Thursday evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Tirrell of Washington street returned Wednesday from a ten days' vacation spent in the Pine Tree state.

Monday evening Sept. 11, the members of the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary are to celebrate their anniversary at G. A. R. hall. The several patriotic associations are invited to attend.

Regular church services were resumed at Union church on Sunday. Notwithstanding the pouring rain about fifty were glad to join in public worship. Rev. Robert Cochrane looking rested from his vacation welcomed his people and delivered an earnest discourse on "Seeking the higher things of life. Not wasting all one's strength on worldly pomp and vanities." Mr. Eugene Murphy rendered two sacred solos in a clear tenor.

Thursday night the Braintree Canoe club held their regular monthly meeting at their club house on the shores of Sunset lake. They decided to hold their annual illumination on Wednesday evening Sept. 13th. Cuff's orchestra will discourse sweet music and the boys are making especial effort to make the occasion memorable.

Mrs. M. M. Wales is in poor health at her home on Washington street. Mrs. Wales has not enjoyed her usual good health, since receiving injuries from an automobile accident in Allston several months ago.

Mr. A. H. Keith of Washington court had on exhibition Saturday evening a Night Blooming Cereus which contained seventeen large blossoms at one time. The plant continued blossoming Sunday and Monday evening and many enjoyed the magnificent sight.

Bates E. Stover has been appointed to take the school census and he is working hard to complete his duties before Oct. 1, for at that time he reresumes his studies in a law school. He is to teach in the Cambridge night school this winter as usual. Last winter Mr. Stover fitted a class of thirty men for civil service examinations all of whom passed well.

Y. D. D. G. M. W. Charles F. Greene of Campello, accompanied by his suite, made an official visitation to Blue Hill lodge, No. 208, A. O. U. W. of this town, last Wednesday evening. The meeting was held in G. A. R. hall, Master Workman Warren B. Keith presiding. Mr. Greene is the new deputy for this lodge, and has made himself solid from the start. Dr. R. F. Burleigh made an interesting talk relative to the degree of honor, and one application for membership was received. Several of the members will visit Norfolk lodge of Norfolk Downs, Monday evening.

On Tuesday evening, the relatives and friends of Miss Margaret Mitchell Whelan, of New York, tendered her a farewell reception, prior to her return to her duties as teacher in the schools of New York. A large gathering manifested by their presence the high place she had won in their regard during her brief stay by her genial manner, her striking personality, her honest grasp of friendship, that drew to her all who came in contact with her. The evening was pleasantly passed in music and mirth and she bears with her on her return the warmest wishes for future happiness and honors from those assembled.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne, are announced as the leading entertainers of the Keith program for the week of Sept. 11. Mr. Cressy, "The Denman Thompson of the varieties," and Miss Dayne are unquestionably the greatest entertainers in their line appearing in vaudeville. "Town Hall Tonight," their new vehicle is likewise said to be the best and funniest they have ever appeared in. The surrounding list of entertainers is a most notable one including Marshall P. Wilder, the well-known humorist of two continents; the Zancigs, who will give a remarkable exhibition of mind reading; Herbert's dogs, Kelly and Violette, famed for their vocal accomplishments and stunning costumes; Smirl and Kessner, clever comedy acrobats; A. O. Duncan, vaudeville's best ventiloquil comedian; Charles Serra wonderful European equilibrist, etc., etc.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The season of the Empire Stock Company, which opened last week, gives promise of affording a source of much artistic entertainment for the local public in the future. For the second attraction of the Empire season Manager Morrison announces Clyde Fitch's romance of the civil war "Barbara Frietchie." The realistic scenes of Southern life in the sixties, which added so much of interest to the action of the play will be faithfully reproduced. A large number of extra people have been engaged to to realize the stage pictures of the play and the incidental music will show the beauties of the familiar songs of the day. Henry Arthur Jones' comedy "The Liars" follows at the Empire on Sept. 18th.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The coming week will see first stock company presentation of "Imprudence," in Boston. It will be given by the full strength of the stock company, with John Craige and Lillian Kemble in the leading roles. "Imprudence" is a comedy of English life and manners, by Henry V. Esmond, the author of "When We Were Twenty-One," "The Wilderness," and many other successful plays, and it was presented for a single season in this country with William Faversham as the star. It has the rare charm of purity and genuineness; its satire is keen and good humored, and it presents a pleasant and amusing picture of the English life and the English people of today. The afternoon performances begin promptly at two o'clock, and the evening performances at eight. Afternoon performances will be given daily hereafter, with the exception of Mondays.

—Yellowstone Park, reached by the Union Pacific and the Northern Pacific railroads, has had a record season. So far 20,000 people have visited this great natural museum, or 7000 more than visited it last season. Evidently Americans are beginning to appreciate the sights of their native land.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit. Mich.

DIED ON YACHT.

Sudden Death of William P. Smith.

Builder of Hundreds of Boats.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith a Golden Wedding Couple.

William P. Smith, for nearly half a century a builder of boats, died suddenly on Sunday of heart failure at Quincy Point.

Shortly before noon he left his home on Washington court and going to his shop stepped upon one of the yachts and dropped dead. Dr. Middleton was called, but life had gone before he arrived.

He was born in St. Johns, N. B., in 1832, and when out of school spent most of his time about boats. He married Mary Schencks of his native place, and about 5 or 6 years ago, they came to Quincy. Previous to that time he lived in East Boston, Charlestown, and then South Boston, where he turned out many prize winning boats.

Since being in Quincy he has built many yachts, notably among which were the Hostess and Flashlight, which sailed in the Quincy cup races.

Some time ago in conversation with a Daily Ledger representative, Mr. Smith said that before he died he hoped to build a speedy auto boat, but his wish was never fulfilled.

He leaves a widow, six sons and a daughter, who are: Samuel, Frank G., William B., Jr., Adrian B., Charles, E. Boyd and Kate.

Adrian B. is assistant clerk of the South Boston court and E. Boyd is an artist. Mr. and Mrs. Smith observed their golden wedding last year.

THE REED WILL.

Relatives Lose in Contest in Courts of Oregon.

The will of Mrs. Amanda W. Reed of Portland, Oregon, a sister-in-law of Mrs. John Wood of Quincy, will stand, as her relatives have failed in their contest to divert about $350,000 which was left by her to found an institution in memory of her husband, Mrs. Wood's brother.

The question raised was one of residence, whether at Portland, Oregon, or Passedena, California, The former city was for many years the home of the Reeds, but they spent much of their time in recent years at the latter resort, and Mrs. Reed died there.

The decision was made on the case in Portland courts a few days ago by County Judge L. R. Webster, who, in his ruling, said:

"I have concluded that the legal domicile of Mrs. Reed at the time of her death was in this state. I see no necessity for a lengthy opinion or a review of the testimony. The decision of the court will be as indicated, that Mrs. Reed was domiciled in this state."

The laws of California are peculiar, and only a certain per cent of an estate can be left to the public.

Mrs. Reed left $100,000 to charity including $2000 to the First Congregational (Unitarian) church of Quincy. At the same time relatives were generously remembered as the estate was valued at over two millions.

Death of G. A. R. Veteran.

Andrew D. King, who has been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Isaac P. Bent at Quincy, died Saturday at the Emerson hospital, Jamaica Plain, age 75 years. He was a veteran of the Civil war and a member of Gen. Sylvanous Thayer Post, G. A. R., of Braintree.

Former Resident.

Mrs. Mary Helen (Pope) Brackett, who died in San Francisco Sept. 1, was born in Quincy in 1831. Her husband died in Quincy a few years ago while on a visit to his old home. She leaves two sons, Nelson and W. K., and two daughters, Miss Mae H. Brackett and Mrs. Robert A. Beeching. The funeral services were held Sunday, Sept. 3.

About 200 yachts participated in the annual rendezvous at Hull on Sunday and sailed to Boston. It was a beautiful sight from Houghs Neck, Squantum head, and other vantage points.

☞A few desirable vacancies at Hotel Greenleaf.

GRAND JURY CASES.

Two Indicted for Breaking and Entering at Quincy.

The Norfolk grand jury, which was in session all last week, reported findings on Saturday.

An indictment of murder in the first degree was returned in the case of Giuseppe Sallatino for killing Alfonso Tura at Hyde Park on March 4.

Manslaughter in the case of Bernard McDonald, for killing Michael J. Connors at Franklin on Aug 27.

Other indictments and pleadings were:

James Kerr, breaking and entering at Quincy; plea of guilty.

Edward Murray, alias Edward Ford. breaking and entering at Quincy; plea of guilty.

The above parties were also indicted for breaking and entering at Milton.

Osmond Karystyne, alias James Dailey Henry Hill, alias Osmond Jacob, on four counts, and George W. Scott four counts, breaking an entering at Weymouth; pleas of guilty.

Karpstyne and James M. Murray, for breaking and entering at Randolph; pleas of guilty.

John J. Hill, attempting to break and enter at Quincy; plea of not guilty.

Besides the above there are a number of appealed Quincy cases that will come before the Superior court this term, notably those of A. A. Linscott, formerly in the jewelry business at Quincy.

Concessions Made.

The strike of the drillers and tappers at the Fore River shipyard, which has been in progress for three weeks, was settled Saturday and the men returned to work this morning. The strike was due to the dissatisfaction over the readjustment of the wage schedule. The strike was settled by concessions by both sides.

ABOUT 650

Begin Their School Life in City Today.

Quincy Has About 6000 Pupils.

All the School Buildings of the City Crowded.

All the school buildings of the city, with the exception of the Adams school opened their doors this morning for the fall term. While the exact number attending this morning is not known, it will not be far from 5500.

Add to this 400 or more who will attend the Adams school when it opens next week and there will be a school army of nearly 6,000. How to accommodate these pupils is a problem. There is not a school building but what is crowded.

Outside of the High the most congested buildings are the Coddington, Wollaston, Massachusetts Fields and Quincy.

At the Quincy school outside accommodation will have to be provided for 60 pupils, as in no way can they be taken care of in the present building.

The crowded condition at the Coddington will be relieved some by transferring to the Cranch building on Whitwell street.

In the Lincoln district, there was another jam, and sixty of more pupils will have to be taken care of in other buildings. The larger part of these will be quartered at the John Hancock building. Others will be sent to the Willard, where room will be provided by transferring pupils who rightly belong to that building to the Gridley Bryant.

Every speck of room in the Willard is occupied, and the building will have to accommodate many more than it was originally intended to accommodate.

The new Washington is also crowded every room in the building having its full compliment of pupils.

The number of pupils to enter schools for the first time is estimated to be 650, if not more.

Fifty-nine boys and girls began their school life at the Washington school this morning, and more are expected. This is an unusually large number.

At the Quincy school at Atlantic 68 entered the lowest primary grade, with many more expected this week.

AT THE HIGH.

The enrollment at the High school this year will be a record breaker. Just the number could not be told this noon. Head Master Harper was found hard at work trying to straighten things out, and was unable to give the exact number. It will not be far from 750, over twice as many as the building was intended to accommodate.

This means two sessions at the main building in addition to those who will be taken care of at the old building.

The freshman class reported at 11 o'clock and they were still coming at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Harper was unable to give out any figures at 1 o'clock, and said it would be two hours at least before he would be able to give any. It is believed, however, that the freshmen class will number over 300.

Big School at Woodward.

The Woodward Institute opened this morning with an enrollment of about 170 pupils, the largest number in the history of the school.

The exact number of the freshmen class is not certain, but it will be between 45 and 50.

The present seating capacity of the school is 168, so that it will be necessary to put in additional seats to accommodate all.

LONG IN SERVICE.

Four Quincy Ladies Who Have Taught in all 168 Years.

Among the 144 teachers in the Quincy schools there are several who have taught 10, 20 and 25 years, but there are notably four who have taught over 30 years. Their aggregate number of years is in excess of 168. Can any city of the State excell this record?

Miss Julia E. Underwood of the Coddington school began her 51st year last April.

Miss Emeline A. Newcomb of the Willard school began her 49th year last April.

Miss Eliza C. Sheahan of the Adams school begins this week her 41st year.

THE MARVEL WINS.

Championship of Class D of Massachusetts Y. R. A.

The yachting season is over and the Quincy flyers have made an excellent showing especially in Class D., composed of Cape cat boats. The Marvel, Hustler and Stranger all scored over 1000 points, a record made by only five yachts this season. The championships were won as follows:

Class E.,—Tyro, William H. Joyce; with the Rube second.

Class D.,—Marvel, Ira M. Whittemore; with the Hustler, Josephine, Stranger and Argestes in the order named.

Class I.,—Hayseed, Herbert L. Bowden; with Bonitwo, Bat and Hayseed next.

Class T.,—Vera II, H. Lundberg; with Cigarette second.

Class X.,—Barbara, Blaney and Wardwell; with Elizabeth second.

LODGE'S KEYNOTE

Roosevelt and His Acts the Issue of the Day

CARIBBEAN SEA POLICY

Preservation of Order and Payment of Debts to Be Insisted on In District Which Will Be "American Mediterranean"

Boston, Sept. 11.—Senator Lodge made what will probably be deemed an important speech at the Middlesex club's outing at Pemberton. He disclosed the purpose of the administration in negotiating the San Domingan treaty to lay the foundations of a comprehensive policy in dealing with the countries bordering on the Caribbean sea, which the senator said was to become, by the construction of the Panama canal, the American Mediterranean.

This policy is to be a frank recognition of the corollary to the Monroe doctrine, namely, that the acceptance and maintenance of that doctrine must be hereafter linked with the adoption of a policy that will compel, by the stretching out of the strong arm of the United States, the preservation of order and the payment of debts by the countries affected. Mr. Lodge said:

"We covet no one's land. But we do have imposed upon us, in my judgment, a responsibility for the maintenance of decency and order on the borders of that Caribbean sea, which the building of the Panama canal makes the American Mediterranean. We cannot shirk it, and Theodore Roosevelt will not shirk it.

"It is no answer to say that it is not our business to collect the debts of foreign powers. It is no answer to say that the man who is at the head of the government is an adventurer or a bandit. A permanent bandit, under control, is better than a new bandit every three months, under nobody's control.

"It is a duty we owe to ourselves, a duty we owe to the world, a duty we owe to humanity, to stretch out our strong arm and say: There is not one foot of your land that we want, there is not one dollar of your money that we want, but we must see to it that you maintain order, that you pay your debts, and that you do not incur debts for the simple purpose of robbing the country."

Senator Lodge appealed to the Republicans of Massachusetts to unitedly support their ticket this fall, not alone for state reasons, but because of its effect on the national administration. "If in this election of Republican candidates the ticket should be defeated after a campaign waged on a national issue, it would be regarded as a condemnation of the national administration. The time has long since passed when elections in the United States are not watched with interest by the whole world without, to see what the vote means in regard to the administration of Theodore Roosevelt."

Mr. Lodge told of appeals made to the president to use his good offices in connection with the Morocco incident, and of the statement made to him by M. Rouvier, prime minister of France, that President Roosevelt was the only man in the world who could have brought the Japanese and Russian envoys together.

Senator Lodge was in the house of his friends, and he was given an enthusiastic greeting. It was his first speech since his return from Europe, and he was expected to sound the keynote of the fall campaign. If he did so it may be assumed that the keynote is not to be tariff reform, but President Roosevelt and his administration.

Yellow Fever Kills Clergyman

New Orleans, Sept. 11.—The yellow fever report to 6 o'clock last night follows: New cases, 27; total, 2289; deaths, 7; total deaths to date, 316;. The unfavorable feature of the Sunday report is the unusually large number of deaths. Another distinguished member of the Roman Catholic clergy is in the list, Father Greene of the Jesuit college. He died after being ill a week.

To Get Acquainted With Yankees

Charlotte, Sept. 11.—Governor Glenn of North Carolina left Raleigh last night in a private car for a two weeks' tour of the New England states. He will be joined by Governor White of West Virginia. Irrigation is Independence

In working unirrigated land, the farmer is dependent for success on moisture and sunshine. Irrigation makes him independent of rain but he needs light and heat. In the Yellowstone Valley the sun shines 300 days out of the 365. See the point? The land is rich, markets and transportation facilities of the best.

"The Yellowstone Valley is noted for its large strawberries, lucious raspberries, and richly flavored blackberries. Apples of the finest quality are grown. Pears, grapes, plums and cherries are harvested in great profusion. The people make big displays of tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, and flowers at the annual county fairs."

COCHECO RIVER'S DEAD

Two Seamen and a Child and His Father Drowned

Dover, N. H., Sept. 11.—Two double fatalities happened on different parts of the Cocheco river and at different times yesterday afternoon. At about 3:30, as the schooner Sadie A. Kimball was passing up the river, the order to tack ship was given. The main boom swung over with a rush, striking Thomas Keenan, a seaman, and knocking him overboard. A boat was hastily lowered and George Jones was preparing to go to the rescue of Keenan, when he lost his balance and fell from the rail, striking his head on the rowboat that had been lowered. Jones fell into the river and sank instantly. Before other members of the schooner's crew could get to the spot where Keenan fell overboard he had disappeared. Jones never rose to the surface after striking his head on the rowboat.

The second accident happened about 5 o'clock. Edward Durkin, a cotton mill operative, was out in a rowboat with three of his children, all boys, their ages ranging from 6 to 9 years. When the party neared Eliot bridge the youngest of the children leaned over the side of the boat, lost his balance and fell into the river. The father immediately dived for the child, but was unable to reach him and, becoming exhausted by his efforts, sank beneath the surface.

Just about dark a man who was coming up the river in a steam launch saw the boat drifting down stream. The children were unable to handle the heavy oars and were crying bitterly. Inquiry soon disclosed the story of the accident. Durkin is survived by a wife and three small children.

New Lightweight Champion

Colma, Cal., Sept. 10.—Matthew O. Nelson of Hegewich, Ills., won the lightweight championship of the world from James E. Britt in the 18th round of a desperately contested battle. It was a clean knockout, administered in a fierce mixup in Britt's corner. It was a swift left drive to the pit of the stomach, followed in a flash by a left hook to the jaw, that sent Britt to the floor. At the count of nine he struggled weakly to rise, but was unable to. Referee Graney then awarded the decision to Nelson.

Moroccan Bandits Beyond Control

Tangier, Sept. 11.—Samuel R. Gummere, the American minister, and a number of European inhabitants have abandoned their residences in the suburbs and removed to the centre of the town, at the request of the Moroccan authorities, who said they were unable to guarantee the security of the foreigners owing to the disturbed condition of the surrounding districts.

Severe fighting continues between Raisuli's and other tribes.

Production of Precious Metals

Washington, Sept. 11.—Mint Director Roberts' estimate of the production of gold and silver in the United States for the calendar year 1904 shows an increased production over the calendar year 1903 of $7,131,500 gold and 3,486,000 fine ounces of silver. The total amount of gold mined was 3,904,986 ounces, and the commercial value of the silver produced was $33,515,938, making the total value of the two metals $114,239,138.

Disorder Continues at Baku

Tiflis, Sept. 11.—The governor of Baku reports that firing continued Saturday night and yesterday, though in a lesser degree, and that few were killed or wounded. The troops and police, he says, are still engaged in preventing incendiarism and pillaging. The worst news comes from the Zangezurski district, where it is reported that many Armenian villages were wiped out and hundreds of persons killed.

Trying to Locate Typhoid's Source

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 11.—The state and city boards of health, the local water department and the city milk inspector are investigating the water and milk supplies of Springfield to determine the cause of the spread of typhoid fever. There are nearly 70 cases of the disease here. The authorities have not succeeded in finding the general cause of the infection.

Broken Water Main Caused Flood

Boston, Sept. 11.—Considerable property damage was done on Columbus avenue by the bursting of a 20-inch water main. Cellars of dwelling houses and of the Back Bay hotel were flooded and the avenue undermined for a distance of 75 feet. Railroad tracks were covered with three or four inches of water for quite a distance.

Eighteen Killed in Explosion

Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 11.—The scene of devestation in the vicinity of the site of the Rand Powder works, which were destroyed by an explosion, beggars description. Men are ploughing over and digging in the debris in the hope of finding more bodies. The dead bodies now recognized number 12, while there are six unidentified.

Hundred-Year-Old Company

Salem, Mass., Sept. 11.—The celebration of the centennial of the Salem light infantry, officially known as company H, Eighth regiment, is in progress. The city is decked with bunting and the citizens generally are interesting themselves in the celebration.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Sept. 12.
Sun rises—5:12; sets—6.
Moon sets—4:04 a. m.
High water—10:15 a. m.; 10:30 p. m.
Rain is probable in New England. It will be somewhat cooler.

CITY BREVITIES.

No meeting of the City Council this week.

Yesterday was one of the pleasantest Sundays of the season.

Larger congregations were noticed at the church services on Sunday.

The September meeting of Bethany Brotherhood is postponed until the regular October meeting.

Through cars were run between Neponset and Nantasket on Sunday, and were well patronized.

The school army, several thousand strong returned to school this morning, after the long summer vacation.

Saturday was a busy day at the Dorothy Q. house, there being fifty two visitors. Among the number were: Prof. Max F. Blau of Princeton college, who was accompanied by Mrs. A. A Shumacher of Quincy.

There are now 21 teachers at the High school and 21 at the Willard school. None of the other buildings have over 11, but five have this number,—the Adams, Coddington, John Hancock, Lincoln and Massachusetts Fields.

No League Games.

Owning to a misunderstanding there were no games in the Granite City league last Saturday. The Makarias were scheduled to play the Athletics, and the Victors the Orients, but said teams will play for the last time this year on Saturday. It looks as if the Athletics have the pennant clinched, but the Makarias still have a chance should they win two games Saturday they will be tied for first honor. Should such be the case, the tie will be played off on the following Saturday.

Brotherhood Meeting Postponed.

As a number of the members of Bethany Church Brotherhood are still away from the city, or otherwise engaged, it was deemed wise and expedient that the September meeting be postponed. It was also impossible to procure so early in the season just the speakers desired. The October meeting will open the season very satisfactorily.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Louis R. Browning, 45 years old, better known to the baseball world as "Pete" Browning, died at Louisville of an abscess in the head. For several years Browning led all professional ball players as a batter.

British Memorial day was observed at Boston by the British Navy and Army Veterans' association. Graves of British soldiers buried in cemeteries in and near Boston were decorated.

The new cable between Canso, N. S., and Port au Basques, N. F., has been inaugurated successfully.

Ralph Codman, 22 years old, committed suicide at Nashua, N. H., by shooting. It is said that he was despondent.

Fire, believed to have been caused by sparks lodging in the chimney, caused a loss of $6500 to plant of the Hayes Foundry company at Lynn, Mass.

Death Relieved Awful Agony

Brunswick, Me., Sept. 11.—Alice Alexander, 16 years old, was kindling a fire and poured some kerosene into the stove. An explosion followed and Miss Alexander was covered from head to foot with blazing oil. Before help could reach her the clothing was burned from her body. She was conscious up to the time of her death last night and for hours suffered dreadful agony.

Woman Crushed to Death

Boston, Sept. 11.—Helen Lane, 40 years of age, a domestic in the employ of Frederick L. Ames, was crushed to death, having been caught between the elevator and the well wall at the Ames house. It is presumed her dress caught about the door of the second floor.

Relatives Suspect Murder

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 11.—The police have been notified that William H. Martland, employed at a shore resort, has been missing since Sept. 3, and the man's relatives believe that he has been murdered. At the time of his disappearance he had about $40 with him.

Woman Fatally Burned

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Catherine Gately, aged 36, died at her home here from the effects of burns. As she was polishing a stove the heat of the stove ignited a can of liquid stove polish, causing an explosion. Mrs. Gately was terribly burned.

NO CORRUPTION

But Public Printer Showed Partiality and Bias

THE LANSTON CONTRACT

Keep Commission Advised Its Being Set Aside, but President Directs It Shall Stand--Competitors Unfairly Treated

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 11.—President Roosevelt has made public the report of the Keep commission on its recent investigation of affairs in the government printing office at Washington. The inquiry was made by special direction of the president on account of a protest which he had received from officials of the Mergenthaler Typesetting Machine company against the award of a contract by Public Printer Palmer to the Lanston Monotype company for 72 machines of its make.

By order of the president the contract with the Lanston company was held up until an investigation could be made with a view of ascertaining whether the charges of favoritism and corruption in the letting of the contract were substantially founded. The president decided, after an examination of the Keep report, that the contract for the Lanston machines should stand. The Keep commission reported that if the contract could be set aside "such a course would be desirable," although the commission states expressly that "no corrupt consideration, payment or promise passed from the Lanston Monotype company to the public printer or to any other person in the government service."

It was developed by the investigation, however, that two important assistants of the public printer were indirectly interested in the Lanston company, "their wives being stockholders therein." The commission shows that a fair and impartial test of the Lanston and Mergenthaler machines was not made and reports that the purhase of so large a number of Lanston machines was "improvident" and indicated "great partiality and bias on the part of the public printer." The commission regards the purchase as "maladministration."

The report of the commission is voluminous, containing about 16,000 words. Accompanying it is a memorandum by President Roosevelt in which he approves the report, except as to the disposition of the contract for the Lanston machines, which he has directed shall stand. "Public Printer Palmer has been removed from office," says the memorandum. "The cases of the subordinates alluded in the report must be taken up in connection with the discipline and reorganization of the bureau when Palmer's successor assumes office."

The Keep cammission was appointed some time ago to make a general investigation of the business methods in all the government departments with a view to simplifying and improving them. Its report into the affairs of the government printing office is signed by C. H. Keep, assistant secretary of the treasury, chairman; F. H. Hitchcock, first assistant postmaster general; L. O. Murray, assistant secretary of commerce and labor, and J. R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations in the department of commerce and labor.

Called on Fire Department

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 11.—When a train from Boston reached Devereaux station last night Engineer Thompson found that the water injectors were disabled. A coke fire was burning under the boiler, and to avoid damaging the ties by drawing the fire Thompson decided to call out the fire department. A box near the station was rung in, and within a few minutes the department had deluged the firebox and averted all danger. Another locomotive hauled the train to its destination here.

Hundreds Killed by Earthquake

Rome, Sept. 11.—Further slight earthquake shocks have caused additional terror among the afflicted inhabitants of Calabria. The damage, however, was insignificant. The activity of Mount Vesuvius increased, while the violent eruption of the ancient crater on the island of Stromboli is still in progress. The number of dead will reach several hundreds.

Suit Against Bank Directors

Yarmouth, N. S., Sept. 11.—W. E. Stavert, receiver of the defunct Bank of Yarmouth, has brought suit against the directors of the institution to recover $500,000, which the shareholders claim is due them on account of losses sustained through the failure of the bank last March. The plaintiff seeks to hold the directors liable for the collapse.

Tokio Rioters Subside

Tokio, Sept. 11.—The number of riot suspects in custody exceeds 1650. It is stated that formal charges have been made against 160. The remainder will probably be released. The restaurants were reopened last night and conditions are resuming a normal aspect.

Twelve Drowned in Wreck

Esbjerb, Denmark, Sept. 11.—The Norwegian steamer Venezia was wrecked near Skallingen, on the southwest coast of Jutland. The captain and his wife and 10 of the crew were drowned.

TO FIX ARMISTICE

Oyama Sends a Commissioner to Linevitch

CZAR'S ARMY REJOICES

Feasting and Other Forms of Celebration by Soldiers Who Have Learned of Conclusion of Peace--Few Recent Casualties

Godzyadani, Manchuria, Sept. 11.—A Japanese commissioner bearing a white flag and escorted by 50 soldiers arrived at a post near the railway Saturday afternoon and handed to the Russian officers who went to meet him a letter from Field Marshal Oyama to General Linevitch, congratulating him on the conclusion of peace and begging him to appoint Russian plenipotentiaries to arraange an armistice. Oyama appointed General Tukushima as plenipotentiary for his side, the letter announced, and he suggested Chakhedza as the meeting place.

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria, Sept. 11.—Since news was received that the peace negotiations at Portsmouth were approaching a conclusion a press correspondent has made a survey of all the Russian positions from Mongolia to headquarters. His object in part was to ascertain the extent to which the efforts making for peace were viewed by the army.

The negotiation received no official recognition in the field prior to their successful conclusion, the army keeping in a state of preparedness for a battle until the receipt by General Linevitch of the telegram from the czar declaring that the treaty had been signed and that he accepted the conditions arrived at. This telegram was officially published in the army newspaper on Sept. 6, and the outline of the peace conditions were printed in the same publication yesterday.

The result of these notifications, according to the observations of the correspondent, was to bring to the officers a heavy sense of military decorum, while the soldiers in many places, with the consent and through the generosity of the officers, engaged in feasting and other forms of celebration. It will be a week more before the entire army is fully informed of the conclusion of peace, but the news was discounted long since by the prevailing conviction that since the appointment of the plenipotentiaries peace was a foregone conclusion. It may be said that to the great majority of the officers and men so far informed the news that the war is at an end is most welcome.

Thousands are daily drinking to the health of President Roosevelt. The correspondent, who is the only remaining foreign newspaper man with the Russian army, was everywhere asked by the men if he was an American, and on being answered in the affirmative they captured and tossed him many times in the air after the manner of the Cossacks, while their officers gently protested against the seemingly questionable form of their admiration. Everywhere along the railway where newspapers could be obtained the soldiers eagerly scanned the news and then expressed their joy by singing, which they continued late into the night, at intervals cheering for President Roosevelt.

With the exception of the loss of a captain and two orderlies on the east front within the past two weeks and of nine men in the center a week ago, there have been no casualties. The cessation of hostilities was preceded only by unimportant reconnaissances involving small parties of scouts.

Among the soldiers generally there is a feeling of apprehension regarding the internal affairs of Russia, and many of them have expressed a desire to remain in Manchuria indefinitely.

Kaneko Again at Oyster Bay

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Baron Kaneko, the special commercial envoy of Japan to the United States, spent three hours yesterday with President Roosevelt. "My visit to the president," said the baron, "was purely social. After luncheon we rambled through the woods for nearly three hours. There was nothing significant or even important about my call. I expect very soon to leave for Japan, and I desired to say farewell to the president."

Russians Look Around Washington

Washington, Sept. 11.—Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen, the Russian peace plenipotentiaries, accompanied by five members of the former's suite, spent Sunday in Washington. They arrived here at an early hour in the morning and spent the entire day visiting the historic points in and about the city and left again late in the afternoon for New York, from which place Witte will sail for Hamburg tomorrow.

Japanese Envoy Laid Up

New York, Sept. 11.—Baron Komura is ill in his apartments at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Baron Komura became suddenly ill Saturday night. He is suffering from intestinal troubles. While the illness is not regarded as serious, Komura has been told that he must rest for a few days.

Prepared to Garner Shekels

Lidziapudze, Manchuria, Sept. 11.—Chinese and Japanese merchants are assembling large stocks of native merchandise, souvenirs, etc., near Tie Pass, for sale to the homegoing Russian soldiers.

Narrow Escapes From Death

New London, Conn., Sept. 11.—Eighteen men were in a launch on the Thames river about four miles from New London. An attempt was made to start the gasoline engine and as the captain turned the crank to start the spark the gasoline vapor ignited. Several men who were near the engine received burns of a serious nature. Two were taken to a hospital and the others were attended by physicians. Fifty gallons of gasoline in a tank in the after part of the boat did not ignite.

For President of Cuba

Havana, Sept. 11.—President Palma was unanimously renominated by the Moderate party convention as a candidate for the presidency of Cuba. Mendez Capoto received the nomination for the vice presidency. The platform declares strongly for a five years' extension of the reciprocity treaty with the United States and for amendments thereof according to the interests of both countries.

Russia to Reopen Universites

St. Petersburg, Sept. 11.—An imperial ukase is published this morning, granting a liberal measure of autonomy to universities. This is considered here as insuring the opening of the universities Sept. 14 and the resumption of the educational life of Russia, which has been at a standstill, with all students and professors in the higher schools on strike since February.

Youthful Lover a Murderer

Frederick, Md., Sept. 11.—Because she refused to marry him, Lee Weddle, aged 17, son of a prominent building contractor, shot his 16-year-old sweetheart, Nellie Eichelberger, and then killed himself. The girl's condition is critical.

Game Eludes Prince Louis

St. Johns, Sept. 11.—Prince Louis of Battenberg, who is on a hunting tour in the interior, so far has been unsuccessful in killing a caribou, although Governor MacGregor and other members of the party have each killed fine stags.

PICKED UP AT SEA

Eight Men Adrift Two Days and a Night Without Food

Boothbay Harbor, Me., Sept. 11.—The fishing schooner Ella J. King arrived here Sunday afternoon from Georges banks bearing eight men, members of the crew of the Boston fishing schooner Joseph H. Cromwell. The Cromwell arrived at Boston Saturday and reported that her commander, Captain Isaac Frazer, had committed suicide at sea and that all of the crew had been lost in the fog while fishing from dories.

The eight members of the crew of the Cromwell were picked up last Wednesday about 30 miles southwest of Seal island. A thick fog prevailed at the time and the Ella G. King was almost upon them before they were discovered. The men had been in their dories two days and a night without food. They will be cared for and sent to Boston by the collector of the port.

Captain Frazer, who committed suicide after he learned that eight of the men were missing, was a native of Cape Breton.

Slipped Away From Officials

Boston, Sept. 11.—Georgia Farres, a young Syrian girl who was being detained by the immigration authorities pending her return to her former home by the White Star line, has escaped from the immigration quarters. Numerous attempts had been made within the past two weeks to secure the girl's release, and one young man, who claimed he was the girl's husband and that, therefore, she was entitled to admission, was arrested on a charge of perjury. The young man obtained bail, but defaulted. The young woman was being detained because she could not pass the physician's examination.

Charged With Murdering Wife

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 11.—The murder of Mrs. Charles Tiedman at Chester on Aug. 2 is being considered by the Hampden county grand jury today. It is alleged that the woman's husband, when his wife was alone in her house, approached the place and shot at her through the window. Neighbors claim to have seen him fire the shot and then run away. Tiedman was captured by some members of a sheriff's posse. The couple had been estranged for some time.

Keyes Not Guilty of Murder

Bangor, Me., Sept. 11.—"Not guilty by reason of insanity" was the verdict rendered by the jury in the case of Elmer L. Keyes, who was on trial for the murder of his wife, Isabel N. Keyes. Shouts of applause greeted the announcement of the verdict by the foreman. Keyes, who was station agent at Great Works, killed his wife and then attempted to end his own life. He was a former representative in the state legislature.

A Sabbath Labor Parade

Providence, Sept. 11.—The local Labor day parade, postponed from last Monday, was held yesterday afternoon in spite of the protests of many of the clergy and some of the citizens. There were less than half as many men in line as would have marched in the original parade, and only about 25 unions out of 70 were represented. The couple of thousand men simply marched through the streets and then disbanded.

Young People Saved Four Lives

Boston, Sept. 11.—While a party of five young people were boating in Boston harbor the boat was suddenly upset and all the occupants thrown into the water. Martin McDonough, aged 22, was drowned, the others being rescued by John J. Gleason and Miss Bessie Belks, aged 17, who chanced to be near in a rowboat. The police give unstinted praise to the rescuers for presence of mind and courage.

That Wollaston is a newly settled community is shown by the fact that only 35 years ago the first religious service of the Union society was held. Now there are six churches including the one at Wollaston Park.

OVER NEW COURSE.

Mistakes Made in Final Race of the Quincy Club.

The Quincy Yacht club wound up its racing season on Saturday in a light and streaky wind.

Seven boats entered, all in the Cape cat class, the start being from off Fort Point.

All the old rivals were present, and with a good breeze there would have been a cracking good race. A seven-mile course was sailed, being twice around a triangle.

Owing to the streaky winds and mistakes made in the course, which was a new one, the results did not afford a good test of the speed of the yachts.

SIX TO FIVE.

Merrymounts Win the Championship.

In Hot Game With South Quincys.

Eleven Innings Required to Reach Decision.

The Merrymounts defeated the South Quincys at Merrymount Park on Saturday in the most exciting game ever witnessed in this city.

In the first two innings it looked like an easy victory for Merrymounts, as they scored three runs in the first and two in the second but were blanked the rest of the game until the eleventh inning, when Stevens came home on Kappler's grounder to Duffy, scoring the wining run.

South Quincy scored one in the fourth and two in the sixth, when the Merrymounts went up in the air for a few minutes. In the eighth, Galvin and Oswald made runs tieing the score. South Quincy went to the bat first, Birnie walked, Duffy went out at first, Mullane fanned, Birnie stole third and Dunn went out at first.

For the Merrymounts, Taylor went out at first, Donaher hit to short right, Baker got a free pass, Atkins bit to left field scoring Donaher and Baker. Granahan fanned, Stevens reached first on Galvin's error and Atkins scored. Kappler walked but Drake was an easy out at first.

In the second Duggan was out at first, Galvin knocked a bot one to Kappler, who was unable to field it; Oswald fanned and Forbes flied to Atkins.

For Merrymount, Kolson and Taylor fanned. Donaher hit to left field. Baker walked, Atkins swarthed a two-bagger to deep center scoring Donaher and Baker, Granahan went out at first.

It was one two three order for South Quincy in the third.

Stevens opened up with a free pass and was thrown out trying for second. Kappler was out at first. Drake drove out a two-bagger but Kolson fanned.

In the fourth, South Quincys started their run-getting. Mullane singled, Dunn sacrificed, Donaher fumbled Duggan's liner, Galvin sacrificed, scoring Mullane, and Oswald fanned.

Taylor went out at first, Donaher and Baker hit safely, but Atkins and Granahan fanned.

Forbes and Patterson went out in order in the fifth. Birnie reached first on Stevens' error, but Duffy went out at first.

Stevens singled, Kappler fanned, Drake singled, Kolson fanned, Taylor walked, filling the bases, but Donaher struck out.

In the sixth Mullane went out at first, Dunn hit safe and advanced on Duggan's sacrifice. Kappler fumbled Galvins grounder and Taylor threw the ball into the crowd trying to catch Dunn at third, allowing him to score and advancing Galvin to third, Kappler fumbled Oswald's grounder and Galvin scored. Forbes went out at first. Baker out at first. Atkins reached first on Duffy's fumble. Kolson fanned. Stevens reached first on Patterson's error, Atkins was caught napping at third and put out by Mullane.

In the seventh both sides went out in order.

In the eighth Mullane flied to Kolson, Dunn hit safely, Duggan was out at first, Galvin and Oswald hit safely, and Dunn and Galvin scored on Forbes hit through Kappler. Oswald was thrown out at third.

Taylor walked, Donaher and Baker went out at first and Atkins fanned, Patterson fanned, Birnie went out at first, Duffy and Mullane hit safely and Dunn flied to Kappler, Granahan and Stevens went out on flies, Kappler and Drake singled, but Kappler was caught at third.

In the tenth South Quincy went out in order.

For Merrymount, Kolson fanned, Taylor fanned, Donaher and Baker hit safely, but Atkins was out for interference.

South Quincy went out in order in the eleventh.

Granahan went out at first. Stevens hit safely and advanced to third on a passed ball by Forbes, Kappler knocked a grounder to Duffy scoring Stevens with the winning run.

As this game decided the championship of Quincy, there was a large crowd present who made things lively throughout the game. In the eighth inning the crowd rushed onto the field and the game had to be stopped for about twenty minutes.

The features were the batting of Donaher and Drake for Merrymount, and fielding of Mullane and Duggan for South Quincy, Patterson pitched a good game for South Quincy getting fourteen strike-outs, but was a little wild in the first two innings. Kolson pitched a good steady game and fielded his position in shape.

Crescents Win.

The strong Huron team from Back Bay were taken into camp by the Crescents of Wollaston Park on Saturday to the tune of 13 to 9. The features of the game were the all around playing of Estabrooks at first base and the pitching of Elmer for the Crescent club. Besides playing a fine game in the box, Elmer got in a home run which was very timely. The Crescents will play a return game with the Hurons at their grounds on Back Bay.

South American Butterflies.
Enormous swarms of butterflies move along the Amazon and other South American rivers. M. Goeldi of Para, Brazil, finds that detached masses make detours to visit trees in bloom, but does not explain the general migration. One suggestion is that the great flights are made up of females, seeking mimosas as a place of egg laying.

Japanese Farewell.
The Japanese farewell, "Sayonara," means something like "If it must be so" or "If we must part thus, so be it."

Spitting on the Hook.
When Egyptians went fishing they used to spit in the Nile in honor of the river god. Hence, it is said, comes the modern fisherman's practice of spitting on the hook to insure good luck.

Coral.
The use of corals by infants while teething is at least 200 years old.

Movable Christian Holidays.
The movable Christian holidays are Easter, Ascension day (ten days before Whitsunday), Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, Palm Sunday, Pentecost, Sexagesima Sunday and Trinity Sunday. All depend for their date on Easter.

Baxter's Works.
Baxter, he of "The Saint's Everlasting Rest," wrote nearly seventy volumes, most of them folios of the most ponderous proportions.

Canned Paint.
When a can of paint has been partly used and must be left open stir it thoroughly to mix in the oil well, then fill up the can with water. When the paint is wanted for use drain off the water, and the paint will be found as fresh as though just opened.

Carrara Marble.
The Carrara marble quarries are practically inexhaustible. The entire mass of Mount Sagro, which dominates Carrara, is solid marble. About 160,000 tons of marble are annually exported.

An Ancient Statue.
The earliest known statue is one from an Egyptian tomb. It is that of a sheik, or head man of a village, is made of wood, with eyes of glass, and is evidently a portrait. Egyptologists say that it is at least 6,000 years old.

Old Time Jewelry.
On the skeleton of a lady who died at Pompeii were found two golden bracelets, six of silver, four golden anklets, four earrings, thirty finger rings, a golden collar, a golden belt and a golden band on her head, while by her hand lay a purse containing 107 silver coins.

A Baker's Dozen.
The phrase baker's dozen arose from the custom of the trade to allow thirteen penny rolls to each dozen sold. The same custom still holds good in the wholesale book trade.

Battle of the Rocks.
The "battle of the rocks" is another name for the battle of Falkenstein in 1814. The French mountaineers posted themselves on the heights and let loose great masses of rock and earth on the German attacking force. Whole ranks were overthrown by a single avalanche, and the attack was abandoned.

BOTH TEAMS WIN.

Quincys by Score of 7 to 0; Fore Rivers 2 to 1.

A contested foot ball game, association rules, was played on the Ward Two playgrounds on Saturday between the Fore Rivers of Quincy and the Methuen team. It was in doubt almost until the last minute the former winning by the score of 2 to 1.

The line up:

| FORE RIVER | | METHUEN |
|---|---|---|
| Fraser | g | Teale |
| Artis | rb | Lamb |
| McGregor | lb | Briggs |
| Connor | rhb | G. Mack |
| Lyons | chb | Hamer |
| McDevitt | lhb | W. Mack |
| Forsyth | ol | Terney |
| McDonald | il | Briggs |
| McIlrane | cf | Davey |
| Nuttall | ir | Worthington |
| McAllister | or | Eggleston |

Score, Fore River 2, Methuen 1. Goals made, by Forsyth 2, Worthington. Linesman, Campbell and Percival. Time, 45-min. halves.

Quincy 7; Lawrence 0.

The Quincy football club opened their series in the Merrimac Valley League, at Ward Three playground on Saturday by defeating the Lawrence team 7 goals to 0.

The visitors put up a hard game, but they were no match for the home players. Donald Cameron was the star on the Quincy team as he secured four of the seven goals, the other three being put through by Arthur, King and Craig.

The defence put up by the Quincy goal tender was magnificent. In this he was ably assisted by his two backs. In fact the defence was a problem which the Lawrence men could not solve.

A large delegation of Harvard Association football men were present at the game, some of whom are players on the team which will meet the Pilgrims, the crack English team soon to visit this country. The college men were greatly pleased at the clean exhibition put up by the Quincy and Lawrence teams.

The line-up was:

| QUINCY | | LAWRENCE |
|---|---|---|
| Collins | g | Williams |
| Killorne | rb | Stephenson |
| McLeod | rhb | Wright |
| Kean | chb | Dawson |
| McDonald | lhb | Collins |
| Robertson | ol | O'Day |
| Craig | il | Fletcher |
| Arthur | cf | Casey |
| Cameron | ir | Clayton |
| King | or | Twist |

Score: Quincy 7. Goals made by Cameron 4, King, Craig, Arthur, Linesmen, Mathewson and McAndrew. Referee, John Hartley. Time 45m halves.

The Quincys have a hard proposition to meet on Saturday, Sept. 16, on which date they are drawn to meet the famous Boston Rovers, the oldest Association football aggregation in this section of the country, at Ward Three playground.

The Lawrence game was refereed by John Hartley. The linesmen were McAndrew and Mathieson. Time, 45-minute halves.

Egyptian Brooms.
The Cairo museum has seven brooms used by ancient Egyptian women. They are made of straw and closely resemble the same articles in use today, save that the handles are not long enough for purposes of domestic discipline.

Narragansett.
Narragansett is a corruption of the Indian name Naiaganset—"at the point."

Bank Holidays In England.
Bank holidays in England are Easter Monday, Monday in Whitsun week, the first Monday in August and the 25th of December, if a weekday. The birthday of the reigning sovereign is also a holiday.

Italian Millet.
The Italian millet now used almost entirely as a food for birds was formerly sustenance for men.

The Art of Doing Nothing.
There is a side of life for which no preparation at all is made. No life is or can be one of unremitting work. Sooner or later every one has a day off and in nine cases out of ten has never been taught how to use it. In the schools of our Utopia there will be professors of the great art of doing nothing, of "sitting on a gate."—London Saturday Review.

A Pleasant Freak.
"I just peeped into the parlor as I passed," said Mr. Phamley, "and I saw quite a freak of nature."
"Why, Bertha is there with her young man."
"Yes. I saw two heads on one pair of shoulders."

Clever Repartee.
An officer of the United States army tells of a young woman in a crowded street car who when a young man stood up to give her a seat exclaimed, "You're a jewel." "On the contrary," the young man replied: "I am a jeweler. I set the jewel."

The Marriage Fee.
"A marriage fee," says the cynical bachelor, "demonstrates that even the clergyman may profit by the mistakes of others."—Philadelphia Record.

Sometimes we may learn more from a man's errors than from his virtues.—Longfellow.

HOOSAC MOUNTAINS.

Deerfield Valley, Hudson River Excursion to New York Oct. 5, $5.

The Hoosac Mountains and the Deerfield Valley form a combination of mountain grandeur and pastoral beauty of rural landscape, seldom seen.

It was Hawthrone who in a ride through this region perceived the variations of nature in her bestowal of beauty upon this favored country, and he expressed it forcibly when he observed that the peaceful scenery of the valley was diversified by the mountains in their offerings of sunshine and shadow, glory and gloom.

It is the Fitchburg Division of the Boston & Maine R. R. which has the honor of serving this scenic section; and it is safe saying that no railroad in the United States has such a magnificent border of landscape as the railroad from the "Charles to the Hudson."

This is the route of the $5.00 excursion from Boston on October 5th, and from other stations on October 4th, and one has but to receive an inkling of what wonders are in store, and a "sure venture" that he will see for himself. After departure from the North Station, it is but a few minutes ere we are in Waltham, the city of watches, and watch out, for you are on the banks of the Charles and about to commence a railroad journey through New England's "Garden of Eden."

Bustling cities dropped midst the green hills of central Massachusetts; shimmering lakes whose shores are sheltered with large shade trees; silvery streams whose green banks and verdant border lands invitingly welcome us to tarry awhile and rest; roaring water falls, snowy cascades; sportive brooks, and huge hills and mountain peaks all pass in the Boston & Maine biograph. At Troy, N. Y. we bid good-bye to the delightful scenery as viewed from a car window. We cross the Hudson and alight from the train at Albany, N. Y. You can enjoy the moonlight view of the Hudson River on the night steamers or remain at Albany over night and take in the sights of the capital city. The day line trip down the Hudson on the palatial steamers is undoubtdly the grandest sail in the country. We pass in plain view of the gorgeous Catskill Mountains, under the famous Poughkeepsie bridge, past West Point, Newburg and historical shrines of the Revolution, the palisades and all the scenic wonders of a wonderful region; through the maze of flying craft in New York harbor, and dock at the metropolis.

Two days in New York—you can do as you please. Returning we journey via the Fall River Line steamers to Boston and other stations, and via the Providence Line to Providence and Worcester. $5.00 is the round trip rate. Send to the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine R. R., Boston, for the beautiful illustrated booklet and souvenir of the trip. It describes the journey in detail, and is beautifully illustrated. It will be sent free to any one upon receipt of address.

TODAY'S COURT.

The New Principals.

Walter H. Bently the new master at the Coddington school was born in Brookline in 1878, and educated in the public schools of Hyde Park. He then entered the Bridgewater Normal school, graduating in the class of 1900.

He taught school one year at Milton, N. H., was principal of the Sawyer school at Dover, N. H., for two years, and for the past two years has taught at the Walnut Square school, Haverhill.

C. Ralph Taylor, the new master of the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields schools, was born in Arlington in 1877. He received his early education in the public schools of his native place, and in 1896 entered Harvard college, graduating in the class of 1900.

He taught school one year in the public high school at Berkshire. The following year he took a special course at the Bridgewater Normal School. He then became principal of the Harrisville, R. I. grammar school, remaining there one year. Last year he was master of the Damon school at Hyde Park.

Relative to the want of accommodations at the Quincy High school, a Boston paper comments as follows: "It is felt that there has been no justification for the delay, and the parents of many of the pupils are loud in denunciation of the School board."

—Brockton has about 8000 children in its public schools and a teaching corps of 201. The high has from 650 to 700.

—Everett has between 5,000 and 6,000 children in its public schools.

—The Boston schools will open on Wednesday.

TWO SESSIONS.

Large Afternoon Classes at the High School.

The total enrollment at the High school on Monday was 602. This number will probably be increased before the end of the week.

The freshmen class was the largest in the history of the school, numbering 281.

It is a problem how to accommodate this number, for it is quite an army for so small a building. The old High building will be used and 135 will attend there.

Two sessions will be necessary at the Hancock street building and 118 have been assigned to the afternoon session.

Head Master Harper and his corps of teachers put in a hard day on Monday getting the classes into shape, and it was late that evening before everything was straightened out.

Mr. Harper laid out his program at the close of school last June, so that considerable confusion was avoided.

ENDORSE BUT ONE.

Scandinavin Club Out for E. J. Sandberg.

The Scandinavian club held its annual meeting at Faxon hall Monday evening. After a discussion of local political affairs, it was voted to endorse Edward J. Sandberg as candidate for the General Court. The club did not decide at this meeting who it would endorse for the second candidate.

Another meeting will be held before the caucuses, when the club may endorse one of the other candidates.

These officers were elected:

President, Theodore Hermanson.

Vice president, John L. Johnson.

Secretary, Oscar S. Sandberg.

Treasurer, Alec Larson.

Executive Committee,—Theodore Hermanson, John Olson, Julius Johnson, Albert Nelson, John L. Johnson, Otto Gelotte and Carl Tingloff.

Swedish Meetings.

The eighteenth annual meetings of the Swedish Ministers association will this year be held in the Swedish Congregational church on Garfield street, Quincy. Next Thursday Sept. 14, is the date with service at 7.30 P. M., and will continue with services every evening at 7.30 until the 19th, except Sunday when the meetings will be held at 10.30 A. M., 3, and 7 P. M. All the Skandinavien people are cordially invited to these meetings.

WITH THE G. A. R.

Albert Keating Tells of National Encampment and Sights.

Denver, Sept. 7, 1905.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Left Boston Friday Sept. 1st at 12.50 P. M. with a party composed of one hundred ladies and comrades of the Massachusetts Grand Army in special cars. There were two Pullman palace cars and dining car. Went by Boston & Maine route through Deerfield valley and Hoosac tunnel in the afternoon; via Buffalo to Cleveland, Ohio, to Chicago, arriving at eight o'clock. Had supper at depot restaurant. Then began to see that G. A. R. were going to do something, somewhere, as the large depot was thronged with G. A. R. men. Trains were arriving and departing every few minutes. Our train did not get away until 10.30. Our trip was to Fort Wayne, Council Bluffs, and Omaka, Neb., to Cheyenne, Wyo.

The citizens of Cheyenne arranged a typical frontier exhibition for the entertainment of veterans en route to the Denver encampment. The "show" consisted of wild horse racing, steer trapping, maverick branding, women's pony racing, broncho busting, Indian races, military maneouvers, etc.

The train was sidetracked near the exhibition grounds, and admission and seats on the grand stand was provided for the party. Cheyenne in "Frontier" days, not so very long, was a very "fast" town and bore the suggestive title of "Hell on Wheels." Now it is a prosperous western city. The show was all that the above promised and more. It was the most daring riding I ever saw, and the maverick branding of wild steers was something never done or seen in eastern states.

Reached Denver about 2 A. M., Sept. 5. We remained in the cars the balance of the night. In the morning we were transferred to the Plaza hotel, a new house finished June 1. We had rooms on the first and second floors.

Wednesday, the 6th, was parade day. The weather was pleasant and a grand parade it was, over 20,000 in line.

Today, Thursday the 7th, I have been to Silver Flume, which was one of the most beautiful trips I ever took. We ascended over 4,000 feet from the starting point, which is 5,000 feet above the sea level making it over 9,000 feet in all that we were up in the air above Quincy.

Tomorrow we leave Denver at eight o'clock for Colorado Springs, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, Cripple Creek, Victor and Pikes Peak.

I will try and send an account of those different places.

Albert Keating.

Protection Wanted.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Residents of certain sections of the Point still complain of the Sunday morning disturbances. Sunday morning, about six o'clock, men collected on various corners and fences and began their usual jollification. Several bottles were passed around in the crowd and by the time these were emptied, some of the men were obliged to take a nap, while the others began to sing and take off the Nelson-Britt fight.

This brawling continued until about nine o'clock, when it was time for the day officer to appear.

On Saturday afternoon two men had a terrible fight at the corner of Winter street. This took place when Officer Larkin was at the farther end of his beat. As soon as word reached him, he hastened to the spot, but the men had disappeared. Once more the citizens of Quincy Point ask for more protection. If it is impossible to have more than the one officer all the time, can it not be arranged to have the extra help on Sunday mornings? It isn't a very pleasant sensation to be walking along to church and come suddenly upon a drunken man lying by the roadside. If anyone looks upon this article as an exaggeration, they are privileged to walk through South and East Howard streets on any Sabbath morning.

John

Loth to Leave Great Hill.

W. H. Dean of Leonard Shaw & Dean, shoe manufacturers at Middleboro, left this week for the south on his semi annual trip, to be gone three months. Mr. Dean spends his summers at the Dixie cottage on Great Hill. He is the only native of Quincy who lives on Great Hill and he says Quincy people do not appreciate this beautiful spot. It is the highest point of land in Boston harbor. There are about fifty pretty summer homes there, owned by residents of Boston and surrounding cities and towns.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ This paper believes in honesty and economy. It thinks that a public official should bring as much honesty and energy to his aid in the conduct of the public business as are demanded in carrying on a private enterprise. It believes that no official should receive more pay for his services than he can command in doing the same amount of work for a private firm. This paper holds that there are too many office-holders in Maine, and that these same office-holders are receiving more compensation than economy requires. The taxes which are collected from the people are not to be squandered for making useless displays. Maine has too many officials. A good number of them should be returned to private life and the places they hold should be abolished. Those who remain should have their compensation cut down. Maine should return to the simple life. —Bangor News.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff! She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

L RAILWAY WRECK

Train Was at Top Speed on a Dangerous Curve

STRAIN WAS TOO GREAT

Car Plunged Into Street and Trucks From Another Crashed Upon Helpless Passengers--Death List of Twelve

New York, Sept. 12.—The death list of yesterday's frightful accident on the Ninth avenue elevated railroad, when a car crowded with workers on their way down town pitched headlong into the street, stands at 12. Three men are in hospitals with fractured skulls. One of these is unconscious and not expected to live long. More than two score of persons were injured, many of them seriously.

The cause of the accident and the immediate responsibility remain to be determined. The motorman of the wrecked train is a fugitive, while a switchman, conductor and four guards are under arrest. The switchman is charged with manslaughter and the trainmen are held as witnesses. The switchman's bond has been placed at $5000 and those of the witnesses at $100 each.

Whatever the mistake, the accident came when a south-bound train of the Ninth avenue line was switched to the Sixth avenue line at the 53rd street junction. From Harlem south to 53rd street the Ninth avenue trains and the Sixth avenue trains, alternating, travel over the same track. At the junction of Ninth avenue and 53rd street the Sixth avenue trains turn abruptly to the east, pass through 53rd street and south on Sixth avenue. The Ninth avenue trains, on the other hand, continue on nearly a direct line. A switchman stationed near the junction throws the train to the Ninth avenue or the Sixth avenue line as the route of the train is indicated by his forward light signals.

The speed of the wrecked train was such that it could not make the turn onto the Sixth avenue tracks and remain on the rails. The switchman says that the train displayed Sixth avenue signals and he switched it for the turn. On the other hand, some of the trainmen claim that the switchman made a mistake and threw to the east a train which should have been allowed to continue on the straight track.

The motorman, expecting a clear track on the direct line of Ninth avenue, or possibly disregarding the warning signal that the switch was open, rushed his train along at a high rate of speed. The first car swung around the right angle curve, holding to the rails because of the weight of the train behind. Then the strain became too great. The couplings broke, the second car was whirled about almost end for end and to the horror of those who looked on from below, pitched into the street. For an instant the vehicle stood fairly on end. Then the sides gave way as if they were made of pasteboard, belching out a mass of humanity.

Those passengers who had not jumped from platforms and windows before the plunge came were thrown into a mass at the forward end of the car. As the injured men and women were struggling to free themselves, the heavy front trucks of the third car of the train crashed down upon them, mortally injuring several. The body of this car was suspended, one end remaining on the ties and the other resting against the fire escape of a corner building.

The scenes following the accident were typical of all great catastrophes. Every ambulance in Manhattan was called and the injured and dead were hurried away as soon as they could be freed from the wreckage or picked up from where they had fallen.

Three alarms of fire brought many engines to the scene. A slight fire caused by burning insulation was quickly extinguished and the firemen set to work chopping out the dead and injured. The task was not an easy one, for the heavy car in falling had almost completely buried pedestrians in its wreckage. Eight persons were dead when taken out of the wreck and four died later at hospitals.

Before the great crowds collected by the news of the wreck could be cleared away, the police were compelled to use their heavy night sticks on a number of men who were attempting to rob the dead. The officers had no time to make arrests, contenting themselves with drubbing the miscreants as heavily as they could.

Coroner Scholer, soon on the scene of the wreck, ordered the arrest of all those immediately concerned. Search was at once made for the motorman, Paul Kelly. Kelly could not be found, although it was stated that he had spent the afternoon at the house of a friend.

The switchman in the tower at Ninth avenue and 53rd street, Cornelius A. Jackson, was first arrested. Then Conductor Johnson and Guards Higginson, McDavitt, Berry and Clark were taken into custody. At a preliminary hearing all the men waived examination.

The curve at 53rd street is a sharp one and is practically unbanked, according to statements made. It is intended to be taken slowly and is not constructed for a higher rate of speed than six miles an hour.

Bail was accepted for all the railroad men under arrest.

AGED MEN DISAGREED

One Is Now Dead and the Other Is Placed Under Arrest

Holliston, Mass., Sept. 12.—As the result of an autopsy held on the body of William H. Jones, a farm hand at the Shaw Warren estate in this town, the local authorities last evening arrested Oliver H. Warren, a brother of Shaw Warren, the charge being the same as that preferred against Warren two weeks ago, when it is alleged he attacked Jones with a pitchfork.

After this altercation between Warren and Jones the former was arrested, but allowed to go on his own recognizance, his case being continued until Sept. 8. Three days before that time Jones was found unconscious on the barn floor at the Warren farm and died last Sunday without regaining his senses. Oliver Warren said that he had an apoplectic fit.

Warren is an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Togus, Me., and has been on the farm on a furlough. He is 70 years old, which was about the age of Jones.

The Royal Arcanum Muddle

Boston, Sept. 12.—At a meeting held here by the special committee of 15, representing the Royal Arcanum lodges of Boston and vicinity, the sentiment of the committee was unanimously in favor of making an organized resistance against the action of the Put-In-Bay convention in regard to the new rate of assessments. No final line of action was reached by the committee, but it was decided to seek the co-operation of similar committees from the several jurisdictions in some method of court procedure.

Held on Perjury Charge

Boston, Sept. 12.—George W. Young of Lowell, whose face is familiar to habitues of the state house during legislative sessions, waived examination in the municipal court on the charge of perjury. Young was bound over to the October term of the grand jury, bail being fixed at $3000. The charge against Young is that he claimed, as bondsman in an attachment suit, to own certain unencumbered property in Lowell. The authorities claim the statement is untrue.

Suppressing Naughty Postals

Wakefield, Mass., Sept. 12.—Certain picture postals will be a thing of the past in this town, as Superintendent Dearborn of the postoffice has issued orders that if he finds a person violating the statute in regard to sending such matter through the mail he will be prosecuted. The maximum fine for the conviction of a person is $5000. Hundreds of such postals have been received through the postoffice of late, and numerous complaints have been made.

Release of Mrs Heilbronn

Boston, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Heilbronn, wife of Hermig Heilbronn, the Prussian who was arrested here last week upon the arrival of the steamer Manitou on a charge of forgery in Germany, has been released by the immigration officials. Her release was effected by her uncle, a wealthy resident of New York. Heilbronn, who is still in custody, will be given a hearing Oct. 4.

Bad Morals In Short Skirts

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 12.—Timothy Bresnahan, pastor of St. Mary's church, has gone on record as opposed to girls playing basket ball or other athletic sports. He declares the costumes worn are not conducive to good morals in young girls and urged his parishioners to see to it that their children did not participate in such games in the future.

Unmuzzled Dogs to Be Shot

Westboro, Mass., Sept. 12.—The selectmen have ordered all dogs muzzled for a period of 30 days, and any dog seen on the street will be shot at sight if it is not muzzled. The action of the Westboro officials follows the incident of the biting of 5-year-old Mary Dillon by a rabid dog. The dog was killed by its owner.

Killed by Wood Alcohol

Boston, Sept. 12.—After swallowing a quantity of wood alcohol Mrs. Katherine Sweeney, aged 36, sent a boy to tell her husband of her deed, but the latter arrived too late to render any assistance and she died on the way to a hospital. Whether the poison was taken with suicidal intent is unsettled.

Keyes Committed to Asylum

Bangor, Me., Sept. 12.—Elmer L. Keyes, who on Saturday last was acquitted of the charge of murdering his wife in this city by reason of insanity, has been ordered committed to the Eastern Maine insane hospital in this city until further orders of the court, as required by statute.

Trial of Blind Man For Murder

Brattleboro, Vt., Sept. 12.—The trial of James Mitchell for the murder at Grafton on Aug. 8 last of Linnie Rankin is being held this week at Newfane. Mitchell is totally blind from a self-inflicted wound and it is doubtful if he ever regains his sight. He still suffers great pain.

Little Fellows Killed by Train

Holyoke, Mass., Sept. 12.—Two 5-year-old boys, James Kennedy and Joseph Daly, were killed last evening while walking on the railroad tracks here. In trying to avoid a northbound freight train, they stepped in front of a passenger train going to Springfield.

Drowned by Upsetting of Canoe

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 12.—A canoe containing Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Tobey of this city capsized in Kickemuit river, Swansea, and Mrs. Tobey was drowned. Mr. Tobey was rescued, but he is in a critical condition.

MURDER WILL OUT

Confession of Slayer of Beautiful Ohio Girl

KEPT SECRET 30 YEARS

Tramp Who Was Convicted on Circumstantial Evidence and Hanged Now Known to Have Been Innocent

Minot, N. D., Sept. 12.—"When my lifeless body is found notify my mother, Mrs. Catherine Herzig of Girard, O. The enclosed letter will reveal my identity and the awful secret of my wretched life. I can endure it no longer."

The foregoing note was found by Frank Byer, who lives on a claim near Hidden Wood, this county. It was written by one of his harvest hands called Frank, who has disappeared. In the letter the writer, who signs himself Charles Herzig, says:

"Dear Mr. Byer: In the early seventies Charles Sterling, a supposed tramp, was tried for the murder of Lizzie Grombacker, a beautiful young woman residing near Youngstown, in Mahoning county, O. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence and was hanged for the crime in the county jail at Youngstown. Charles Sterling was an innocent man. I am guilty of the murder of that young girl.

"Charles Herzig."

Byer and his neighbors have made a search without success for the body of Herzig.

Sterling Maintained Innocence

Youngstown, O., Sept. 12.—Nothing could be learned of the Herzig family supposed to live near Girard. No one knows of a Mrs. Catherine Herzig at Girard, although inquiry was made of the postmaster. It was said that a family of that name had formerly lived in that vicinity.

The murder of Lizzie Grombacher occurred in 1874 and Charles Sterling, a tramp, was hanged for the crime in 1877 after two trials. Sterling maintained his innocence to the end.

Pittsburg, Sept. 12.—David Jones, a well known newspaper man of this city, who reported the Grombacher murder case over 30 years ago, remembers the case well. He said:

"The crime caused intense excitement through Ohio and this part of the country. Miss Grombacher was about 17 years old and very beautiful. She was found in the bushes between Youngstown and Poland with a veil tied tightly around her throat. Charles Sterling, the tramp who was hanged for the crime, was seen in the vicinity during the day and was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence. He was tried twice, the jury disagreeing at the first trial. A woman from Canada, who said she was Sterling's mother, came to see him before he was hanged, but the relationship was denied by Sterling."

An Uncomfortable Situation

Washington, Sept. 12.—The following cablegram has been received at the state department from American Minister Gummere, dated at Tangier: The tribes are fighting in the immediate neighborhood of Tangier, the Anghera versus Raisuli's tribe. The government is undecided in its position, and the situation is entirely uncomfortable. A joint protest is being made by the diplomatic corps to the minister for foreign affairs. Have been informed that the mountains are unsafe and am returning to Tangier immediately.

Swedish Terms Unacceptable

Christiana, Sept. 12.—The tone of the Norwegian newspapers indicates that the negotiations between the commission of Norway and Sweden regarding the dissolution of the union have reached an impasse, Norway being unable to accept the conditions laid down by Sweden. The Dagbladet declares that even war would be preferable to a peace bought at the expense of national humiliation.

Contract Labor For Canal

Colon, Sept. 12.—The royal mail steamer La Plata has arrived here, bringing 550 laborers from West Indian points under contract for work on the canal. The majority of these are from Barbadoes. Several left the ship at Port Limon, apparently preferring Costa Rica to the Isthmus of Panama.

Text of Alliance Not Ready

London, Sept. 12.—Further delay has occurred in the publication of the text of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, which was to have been issued Sept. 12 at the latest. The impression prevails that the delay is due to a request of the Japanese but for what reason is not stated.

Nelson Got Nearly $19,000

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—Correct figures made public on the Britt-Nelson contest show that the total receipts were $48,311. That amount was divided as follows: Nelson, $18,841.29; Britt, $12,560.86; management, $16,908.82.

An Encouraging Report

New Orleans, Sept. 12.—Monday's was the first daily report showing no deaths since the announcement of the presence of yellow fever here on July 21. Algiers reports seven of the new cases.

OF GREAT IMPORT

Much Depends on Transfer of Chinese Eastern Road

EFFECT IN MANCHURIA

Transfer at One Point Would Place Kirin Province Entirely Under Japanese Influence—Other Questions to Settle Before Armies Withdraw

Godzyadani, Manchuria, Sept. 12.—The peace terms became known here yesterday. The majority consider them inoffensive to Russian honor and dignity. It is not clear at what station the railroad is to be turned over to the Japanese, at Kwang Cheng Tse, or Changtufu.

This question is very important. If the turnover occurs at Kwang Cheng Tse then Russia cedes to Japan 100 miles of yet unoccupied line and likewise the only coal mines south of Harbin. From Chantufu start all the trade routes to the very rich Kirin province and should the road become the property of the Japanese to Kwang Cheng the complete possession of Chantufu would place Kirin province entirely under Japanese influence. This would be very undesirable for Russia.

Should the transfer occur at Chantufu or further south, Kirin province, which has supported the Russian army for six months, would remain Russian, which would be particularly advantageous because the southern portion of the railroad has no natural outlet.

This and many other questions, such as the Russians right to maintain consular officials and commercial agents at Liaoyang, Mukden, Port Arthur and Port Dalny should, it is claimed here, be settled before the armies withdraw from their strategic positions. A high officer declares that it would be impolitic to permit the Japanese to settle in Kwang Cheng Tse, for in case of another war they could reach Harbin in 50 hours, occupy Kirin and cut Russia off from the Amur regions.

It was announced from Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 30, that the formal recognition of Japan's possession of the Chinese Eastern railroad below Kwang Cheng Tse involves the payment by Russia to China of a sum estimated at $75,000,000. This is the Chinese interest in the road and for it China must be remunerated.

The question of the ultimate possession of the road is a matter to be settled between Japan and China. Japan can keep the road or surrender it to China, demanding in return the money paid by Russia to China. If she elects the latter course Japan will, therefore, obtain as an indirect "spoil of war" from Russia the $75,000,000 in addition to reimbursement for the cost of maintaining the Russian prisoners of war.

Linevitch Accepts Proposals

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria, Sept. 12.—General Linevitch's answer to Field Marshal Oyama's letter requesting the arrangement of an armistice has been dispatched by special messenger. In his answer the Russian commander-in-chief accepts the proposals of the Japanese commander-in-chief, which not only refer at considerable length to the question of an armistice, but also to neutral zones both on land and sea.

Want Peace Agreement Broken

Tokio, Sept. 12.—A mass meeting at Osaka passed the following resolution: "The peace that has just been concluded between Russia and Japan forfeits the fruits of victory and sows seeds of future complications and danger. The government's high-handed and unconstitutional measure has resulted in unexpected disturbance to the peace of the city in which the mikado resides. The empire's honor has been soiled and the spirit of the constitution lost. Never has our country been brought to face greater dangers. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, that we hope that the humiliating peace agreement will be broken and the government will resign."

Resignations Not Wanted

Tokio, Sept. 12.—In accordance with established usages the cabinet ministers have presented an official statement to the mikado explaining the necessity of instituting martial law at the capital and at the same time asking the imperial judgment as to whether they should remain in office or retire. The emperor's reply advises them to retain their respective posts.

Downfall of Indian Fighter

Boston, Sept. 12.—James Murphy, an old soldier, who says he was under General Custer in his notable Indian raid in 1879 with the Seventh cavalry, was committed to the state prison for a term of not less than four and not more than six years for larceny. It was shown to the court that he had before served a term in the state prison.

Bark Struck Reef and Sunk

St. John, Sept. 12.—The bark Still Water of the St. John fleet met her fate on a submerged reef off Turk's island, one of the Bahama group. A dispatch from Turk's island states that a great hole was knocked in her bottom and she soon filled. The bark is a total wreck, Her crew was saved.

Parole For Old-Time Burglar

Boston, Sept. 12.—John Bradley, a notorious burglar, was released yesterday from the state prison on parole. Bradley is 70 years old, and has been in the prison since 1893, being sentenced from Salem on the charge of being an habitual criminal. Bradley left the institution unaccompanied by any relatives or friends. It is his intention to leave the country. On the night of Nov. 10, 1893, Bradley was caught in the house of George Peabody of Salem. He was sentenced to 25 years. He has completed about one-half.

Price of Milk Raised

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 12.—Half a cent a can more for milk delivered at Boston than the producers got last winter is the demand of the Boston Co-operative Milk Producers' company for the goods sold to the Boston contractors. Last winter's price was 37½ cents a can, and this year the price asked the contractors is 38 cents a can of eight and one-half quarts. Clerk Hunter of the company says the reason for the advance in price is mainly the condition which the delivery of milk is in at the present time.

Sad Sight For King

Montelone, Calabria, Sept. 12.—The king journeyed in an automobile through several earthquake-stricken villages yesterday. Crowds of weeping women and children knelt along the roadways imploring succor, while injured men stood stupefied in mute lines. The king instructed the military engineers to proceed with the utmost possible celerity in the construction of temporary huts to shelter the people while more suitable places for the erection of new villages were being sought.

"Made Another Angel"

Montreal, Sept. 12.—J. A. Martin, son of the junior partner of Mayor LaPorte of this city, after playing with his three little children at his home, took the youngest daughter, 5 years old, into an adjoining room and strangled her. When the crime was discovered Martin appeared to be perfectly cool and composed. "I have made another angel for heaven," he said. He will be examined by alienists.

Baku Situation Growing Worse

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—The latest private telegram to be received from Baku reports that the situation is growing worse. Other unconfirmed dispatches assert that the rioters are stubbornly continuing their attacks and that the Tartars and Kurds are plundering in the "Black Town" district. The dispatches say that on Sunday the soldiers fired into a crowd of Russian workmen, killing 17.

Desperate Spirit Displayed

Baku, Sept. 12.—A band of Tartars barricaded themselves in the house of a rich Mussulman and fired from the windows on a patrol of officers who summoned them to surrender. The Tartars replied to the summons with another volley and continued firing while artillery was brought up. The artillery laid the house in ruins, the Tartars perishing to a man.

UPRISING AGAINST CZAR

Regular Military Organization In Process of Formation

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—The news from Finland of the accidental discovery of the importation of rifles and munitions in large quantities is the most serious disclosure regarding the revolutionary movement in Russia that has yet been made, as it indicates an intention to form a regular military organization. The importation of revolvers to Finland, Poland, the Baltic provinces and other districts of Russia has been an open secret for a long time. The importation of small calibre repeating rifles and carbines of a modern type, however, presupposes a design to organize formal resistance to the troops, and the presence of bayonets in the consignment strengthens this supposition.

No information can be obtained here concerning the possible identity of the filibustering steamer. It is considered here that the active faction of the Young Fenoman party of Finland is probably involved in the conspiracy and it is recalled that the investigation into the assassination of General Bobrikoff, governor general of Finland, in June of last year, disclosed the existence of a society formed for the purpose of importing arms.

Coastwise Voyage For Vacation

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—Rowing from Portland to Boston, a distance of about 150 miles, in a 14-foot skiff of his own making, is the novel way in which N. J. Maches of Orlando, Fla., aged 56, has just spent a six weeks' vacation. Mathes returned here by train. He carried a small stove in his boat and cooked fish and lobsters which he caught en route. He visited nearly every seaport along the way, and weathered several storms.

Burglar Caught Red-Handed

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 12.—W. H. Peterhaus, 27, who has been working in a shop on Union street, was arrested last night in the house of F. G. Guy, detected in the act of burglary. In his room was found more than $1000 worth of loot, identified as taken from a number of Worcester residences robbed recently. The Guy family has been away for the summer and the house was locked and unoccupied.

Flanagan Breaks Records

Newport, R. I., Sept. 12.—At the old home week athletics here two world's records in weight throwing were broken by John J. Flanagan, the world's champion weight thrower. In putting the 36-pound weight he raised the best previous record of 38 feet 7 inches to an even 42 feet. The record of 164 feet 6 inches for throwing the 12-pound hammer was bettered by over 10 feet, the new record now being 175 feet.

Eight Hours or Strike

Indianapolis, Sept. 12.—Union printers and employers of Indianapolis having failed to agree on an eight-hour day, to commence on Jan. 1, the local typographical union has ordered 150 members here to strike at once. President Lynch of the International Typographical union says that wherever the demand for the eight-hour day is refused the union printers have been instructed to strike at once.

Collapse of Tenement House

New York, Sept. 12.—Part of the rear wall of a tenement house at Thirty-First street and Second avenue fell out shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, causing the occupants to flee for safety. Calls were sent out for ambulances, a fire alarm was turned in and the reserves of several precincts were hurried to the scene. No one was seriously hurt.

WHO DOESN'T LIKE FLOWERS?

Is There Anything That Makes Home More Attractive Than Plants and Flowers?

To care for them, however, is a great bother to many housekeepers.

To other housekeepers it is a very simple matter. They know how. If you wish to know how they will tell you in the Household Department of the Boston Daily Globe. They will answer any question you ask.

Order the Boston Globe delivered regularly at your home.

BOUND TO PROGRESS

TRADES UNIONS ARE PRESSING FORWARD, NOT BACKWARD.

Workers Have Learned the Value of Organization as a Means of Industrial Betterment—Attempt to Destroy Unionism Is Wasted Effort.

Combinations of capital are not the result of chance or luck, but have steadily gone forward along clearly defined economic lines. From the comparatively small individual investment in independent business enterprise to the immense financial combinations of mutual interests, from the individual to partnership, copartnership, corporations and the trust and monopoly, has been the order of procedure. Likewise the trades union is not the result of chance, luck, fad nor experiment, but had both a necessitous and economic birth. It is at the present time the highest perfection of organization of those who work for wages. We have every day, every hour, proof of the value and usefulness of consolidating mutual interests. This is demonstrated to the wageworkers not only through their own organizations, but by the very combinations that are effected to oppose and disrupt trades unions.

There are innumerable instances of fair minded individual employers acting in harmony with trades unions to their business success and the economic welfare of the public at large, but the instances are rare where combinations of employers adopt other than the union destroying attitude of the narrow antagonistic employer.

The economic sphere of combinations, either of capital or labor, is not the destruction of each other. Trades unions are apt both as economic leaders and pupils. Nevertheless they never will learn and never can be taught the gospel of contentment by destructive employers' organizations while wages and conditions prohibit good living. While it is impossible for the workers to overlook the benefits they enjoy through organization and the necessity of continued and greater organization, it is nothing short of absurdity to attempt the destruction of their unions.

Trades unions are not only the necessitous and economic but the logical and common sense organizations of those who work for wages. They are bound to progress rather than go backward. The industrial betterment, the material advancement of the workers has been gained through the trades union. These facts stimulate organization and are certain to be absorbed by a steadily increasing number of workers, despite the forces arrayed against unionism. Union conditions were precedent and are necessary to the progress of the workers.

The time, thought, energy and money devoted by opposing interests to perfecting elaborate systems for the destruction of unions or making them negative factors in the interests of the workers if devoted to cultivating the friendship and inducing the co-operation of unions would operate more profitably to the individual members of employers' organizations than anything those organizations have ever done or indicated they can do in the interests of those same members. As a matter of fact, the operations of employers' associations have created new conditions which make unionism more necessary than ever before, and, as a consequence, unionism has spread in the last decade as never before.

There are few who have any regard for their reputation as intelligent observers who will deny that without unions, even with all their accredited evils, the conditions of the workers would be infinitely worse. The value and usefulness of employers' associations to their members would be greatly enhanced by patterning their policies after the policies of those employers who have cultivated, to their business success, the friendship and co-operation of unions. Time, energy and money devoted to the destruction of trades unions are sheer waste. Such a policy can only prove to be detrimental and useless in the legitimate business interests of employers of labor.—Shoe Workers' Journal.

Growth of Unionism.

Only those who have been in close touch with the trades union movement during the past twenty-five years and those who make a study of industrial statistics can realize how trades unions have increased and multiplied during that period. On Jan. 1, 1880, there were just thirteen national and international unions in America. On March 1, 1905, there were 117 of such organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. There are also a number of national and international unions which are not members of the American Federation of Labor, such as the bricklayers, the railway brotherhood and others.

Ratio of Unionists to Population.

In the entire United States the ratio of unionists to population is 1 to 29, while in the state of New York it is 1 to 18 and in Illinois 1 to 16.7. In Colorado, with 411 trades unions, a total membership of 48,837 is reported, which is 1 in 11 of population. In agricultural states, like Missouri, the ratio of trades union members to total population is, of course, less.

Remedy For Grafting.

The great weapon for the extermination of grafters from the ranks of organized labor will be found in annual trade agreements. Sympathetic strikes can find no suitable apology for their existence during the life of any trade agreement or contract.—D. J. Keefe, International President of the Longshoremen.

MAYOR ACTS

Makes Complaint to Gas Commissioners.

Asks Hearing Before the Board.

Absence of Commissioners Will Cause Delay.

Upon request of the City Council, Mayor Thompson has made a complaint to the Gas and Electric Light Commissioners relative to the gas service in Quincy, as follows:

"In behalf of the city of Quincy and in pursuance of the order of the city council of the city of Quincy passed to be ordained March 20, 1905, a copy of which order is hereto annexed, I hereby make complaint to your honorable board under the provisions of section 34 of Chapter 121 of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts against the Citizens' Gas Light Company operating within the limits of the city of Quincy that the quality of the gas served by said company is poor, that the service is unsatisfactory and that the price of the said gas furnished by the said company is exorbitant. I respectfully petition that a hearing may be had upon this complaint as soon as your honorable board may consider advisable."

Chairman Barker of the commission and Commissioner George have been in Europe most of the summer investigating the question of the sliding scale of gas prices in London and other cities, leaving Commissioner Schaff as the sole representative of the board, and therefore no official acts could be taken by the commission. The absentees are expected home the latter part of this month. Then a date will be fixed for hearing the complaint from Quincy.

A Judge Pleads Guilty.

The continued case of Associate Justice Prescott Keyes of the Concord district court, who was arraigned in court July 17, for exceeding the speed limit with an automobile at the Blue Hills Reservation, came up this morning. Judge Keyes moved to quash on the ground that the complaint was not specific.

Judge Avery overruled the motion. A consultation was then held, after which Judge Keyes withdrew his plea of guilty and the case was placed on file.

Chapter Visitation.

The annual visitation to St. Stephen's chapter, R. A. Masons, will be made this evening by D. D. G. H. P. Edward E. Jameson of Wollaston and suite, including Edward E. Hoxie as Grand Captain of Hosts. It is expected that other grand officers will be present, also many members of the order.

ROCKEFELLER A JOKER.

Humorists Visit Oil King and Make Him a Member of Their Craft.

In a happy mood John D. Rockefeller recently received the members of the American Press Humorists' association at Forest Hill, his summer home near Cleveland, and conducted them about the place, says a Cleveland dispatch. The oil king broke all precedents, for never before has any one dared to enter his preserves, and he has never received delegations nor has he ever acted as a guide.

The Cleveland jokesmiths asked permission the other day to go through his grounds in automobiles, and much to their surprise the request was granted. Piling into large touring cars and headed by Mayor Tom L. Johnson, the humorists were driven to the Rockefeller home. They found their host playing golf with Dr. Biggar, his physician.

"I'm pleased to meet you," he said, extending his hand, and his manner indicated that he really was. "I want to meet all of you." For the next few minutes Mr. Rockefeller was shaking hands cordially with the men who harpoon and gridiron him six days a week.

"Now," said Mr. Rockefeller when handshaking was over, "I want you to take some flowers. Over here is a bank of snowballs. Come, gentlemen; help yourselves. Out with your knives, please. Cut the best, the largest, bunches." Mrs. W. R. Rose pinned to his coat a buckeye on which were the letters "A. P. H."

"You are most kind," said Mr. Rockefeller. "I am one of you now, am I not? Thank you. I want to show you some of my trees. We have an oak that we believe is 420 years old."

"Mr. Rockefeller," said Mayor Johnson, "if you become so attached to the east that you do not care to use this beautiful park I hope you will turn it over to the city of Cleveland and let the people enjoy it." Mr. Rockefeller joined in the laugh that followed and said, "The mayor is wide awake." Mayor Johnson spoke of the gift of Rockefeller park, telling what a fine place it was. "Thank you," said Mr. Rockefeller. "I am glad you like it. I am glad the people enjoy it. The parks should be for the people, and I am happy to think they use the park and find enjoyment there."

Only once did he refer to the criticism of his great wealth, and Dr. Biggar told him to be careful of what he said about the trees.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Rockefeller, taking off his cap—"and I say this especially for your benefit, Dr. Biggar—when I was a small boy I was taught not to believe all I heard or even what I read in books."

SUBJECT OF COAL

Probably Weakened Mind of Young New York Man

A VISIT TO OYSTER BAY

Arrested While Endeavoring to Seek Interview With President--Wanted Him to Interfere on Behalf of Plain People

Oyster Bay, Sept. 13.—Isaac Schamus, a Russian Jew, 20 years old, was arrested here late yesterday afternoon and after an examination before Justice of the Peace Franklin was sent to Mineola, L. I., to be examined as to his sanity.

The arrest was made by a secret service agent, one of the personal guards of President Roosevelt. Schamus, who resides at New York, arrived here at 12:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon and soon afterward secured an interview with Mr. Barnes, assistant secretary to the president. Schamus desired to see the president and talk to him about the price of coal. He said he was the general coal agent of Greater New York. There was imminent danger, in his opinion, of a general strike among the miners in the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania, and that strike, he was assured, would result in great hardships for the people of the country. He wanted 10 minutes with the president to tell him to appoint a commission of three men who should regulate the output of the coal supply so as to provide the poor with fuel at reasonable prices, even in the event of a strike.

Secretary Barnes recognized at once that Schamus was the man who had recently written one letter and sent two telegrams to the president on the subject of the price of coal, and he informed him that it would not be possible to arrange an interview for him at that moment. Later in the afternoon the secret service agent found Schamus in his room at a hotel and placed him under arrest. The young man talked perfectly rationally on all subjects except that of the price of coal. He was well dressed and said he had been educated in the grammar schools and in the night school of New York. He said he was an agent for Joseph Gordon & Co., coal dealers, at New York, and that he wanted President Roosevelt to take up the question of the price of coal in the interest of the plain people.

Schamus made no objection to accompanying the secret service man to the office of Justice Franklin. The Justice questioned him at length in the presence of a throng of people who had assembled out of curiosity. Schamus answered all questions intelligently and rationally until the subject of coal was suggested. Then he began to deliver an address on the question of the alleged oppression of the people by the coal magnates. He reviewed his plan to have the president interfere in behalf of the people and declared that had President Roosevelt not settled the coal strike three years ago more blood would have been shed than the world ever saw. He explained that he was a member of a debating society which had discussed this question and he knew what he was talking about.

In the course of his remarks he turned to a bystander who had asked him a question about anarchy and declared the time would come when the people would have liberty without the restraint of law, as laws would be unnecessary. He pointed to President Roosevelt as an example of what a man could accomplish by individual effort and said every man could do as the president had done.

The young man, it was determined by Justice Franklin, should be sent to the county authorities with a view to having his mental condition passed upon and accordingly he was taken to Mineola by a constable. He was not armed and manifested no symptoms of dangerous insanity.

When Schamus was searched at Mineola a permit to carry a revolver, signed by Captain Lantry of the New York police force and Commissioner of Police McAdoo, was found on him. The permit was issued on Monday. Schamus, however, said that he had not carried a revolver.

What Schamus' Father Says

New York, Sept. 13.—Isaac Schamus, who was arrested at Oyster Bay after attempting to see the president, is the son of Samuel Schamus, a well-to-do butcher living in this city, who said last night: "Isaac was graduated from the grammar school and went to work for Joseph Gordon & Co., coal merchants. He was bookkeeper and then collector and agent. It was as collector for the firm that he applied for a revolver permit, for he carried a large amount of money at times."

Five Thousand Rifles Seized

Helsingfors, Sept. 13.—The customs authorities yesterday seized 5000 rifles in the possession of people in the neighborhood of Jakobstad, on the Gulf of Bothnia, which were believed to be from the unnamed steamer sunk by her crew Sunday. What has become of the crew is not definitely known.

IN LAWSON'S FAVOR

Court Denies Injunction In Big Suit Against Financier

Boston, Sept. 13.—In the supreme court here, Judge Morton denied the injunction sought by Louis N. Rahn of Urique, Mex., against Thomas W. Lawson, in a suit involving $3,750,000.

The hearing occupied the entire attention of the court for the day and part of Lawson's testimony was both interesting and sensational. In response to a question as an expert mining man, Lawson said he was not a mining man; indeed, he had never seen a mine. He created a sensation by stating that Rahn was responsible for the murder of Superintendent Johnson, who was stabbed to death at the mines in Mexico last July. Lawson said he did not charge Rahn with the actual murder, but claimed that he stood by and did not lift a hand in Johnson's defense.

When called to the stand Rahn not only denied all responsibility for the affair, but said that he was the first one to be attacked and rendered unconscious by the assailants. Rahn, who was seeking to have Lawson held to a specific performance of their contracts for the formation, financing and issuance of stock of the Lawson company of Mexico, sought a temporary injunction to restrain Lawson from disposing of the machinery and property of the company at its mines at Urique and also from disposing of its stock.

Pope's Envoy to Mikado

Rome, Sept. 13.—In connection with the forthcoming visit to Tokio of Bishop O'Connell of the diocese of Maine as special envoy of the pope to the mikado it was thought that the Japanese could never be converted individually, but would have to be Christianized, if at all, by diplomatic methods. The selection of an American for such a mission is considered as evidence of the friendship entertained by the pope for the people of the United States, such missions being usually entrusted to Italians.

Greece and Roumania at Odds

Bucharest, Sept. 13.—The Greek minister here has left the country on an unlimited leave of absence after receiving a note from the Roumanian government, which immediately sent orders to the Roumanian minister to Greece to leave Athens. Roumania refused the demand of Greece for compensation to those who have suffered by the pillaging of Greek shops and the maltreatment of Greek subjects during the recent demonstration and for satisfaction for the burning of the Greek flag.

Hated Even In Death

Tiflis, Sept. 13.—Serous developments have arisen in connection with the death of General Prince Amilakhovri, formerly governor general of Baku, whose body is now lying in a house near Tiflis. The prince was bitterly hated and the revolutionaries threaten the local priests with death if they attempt to offer prayers over the body. No one dares approach the house. It is feared that there will be disorders at the funeral.

Black Eye For Prohibition

Des Moines, Sept. 13.—The Des Moines city council has declared that a petition presented by liquor interests for the right to manufacture beer and other alcoholics contained the necessary majority of voters' signatures and raised the bar to the establishment of breweries and distilleries, which has existed since the enactment of the state prohibition law years ago. At least one brewery will be built at once.

The World's Highest Bridge

Victoria Falls, East Africa, Sept. 13.—The bridge over the Zambesi river, the highest bridge in the world, being 420 feet above low water, and the newest link in the Cape-to-Cairo railway, was formally opened in the presence of the visiting members of the British association. Professor Darwin made the opening speech.

Great Distress at Baku

Baku, Sept. 13.—There was some firing last night, including that of artillery, but the situation shows a distinct improvement. A portion of the street railway service has been resumed, but the shops are still closed and trade is at a standstill. Great distress prevails, owing to the lack of food and other necessaries.

Collision of Steamers

North Sydney, C. B., Sept. 13.—Steamers Chr. Knudsen and Thrift, both hailing from Norwegian ports, arrived in North Sydney harbor last night in a damaged condition, the vessels having collided during thick weather at the entrance of the Gulf of St Lawrence. No person was lost.

Negro Lynched For "Peaching"

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 13.—A negro named Will James, living in Tallahatchie county, was taken to the woods by three white men and shot to death, after which the body was burned. The negro, it is said, had bought some whiskey from one of the white men and afterwards informed on him.

Voting List Greatly Reduced

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—The total number of voters in Philadelphia, according to a complete canvass, is 839,960, a decrease of 35,810 compared with the canvass made prior to the gas lease fight. It was charged that between 50,000 and 60,000 fraudulent names were on the lists.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Sept. 14.
Sun rises—5:23; sets—5:57.
Moon rises—6:38 p. m.
High water—12 m.; 12:15 p. m.
Fair and cooler weather is indicated for New England.

CITY BREVITIES.

The September weather is not up to the usual standard.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. Wilde have returned from a ten days' sojourn at Westport Harbor.

The Quincy Grand Army men who attended the encampment at Denver, Col., and are expected home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Delano of Portland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hill of Walker street over Sunday.

Democratic nomination papers of candidates for Representatives and of delegates to the several conventions will be opened tonight.

W. W. Parry of Barre is in town on a visit. He has several good photos of the Quincy and Barre granite manufacturers on their annual outing.

J. Harling and W. R. Littlewood of the Snow Kings have signed with a strong Portland team as pitcher and catcher for the balance of the season.

Miss Helen Barnes has given up her position as governess with Mr. James B. Kirk of Wollaston and will make her home with Mrs. Thomas Wales, Hotel Somerset, Boston.

The Quincy Quarries Co. are getting out tons of crushed granite chips, which are being used in concrete at the government station at Hull. Two large crushers are kept continually in use.

The public schools all over the city are running as smoothly as though there had been no interruption. This is the result of having a system. The only confusion is caused by the over crowded condition of some of the rooms.

Atlantic has rightfully earned the reputation of a musical town. One can pass hardly a house but what strains of instrumental or vocal music are issuing from open door and window. The families who have no musical offspring are the proud and happy owners of graphophones that are tireless in their efforts to keep things lively.

Mummy Wrappings.

Over 1,000 yards of linen cloth have been unrolled from one mummy. The cloth in texture resembles the cheesecloth of the present somewhat. It is finer in quality.

A Beard Twelve Feet Long.

In 1882 Adam Kirpin, a German, sixty-six years old, at that time residing in Chicago, claimed to be the owner of the longest growth of whiskers. He was a large man, nearly six feet in height, and had a beard more than twice the length of his body. Kirpin's beard had been growing steadily for twenty-two years.

Speusippus' Library.

After the philosopher Speusippus died his widow sold his library at auction, and it was bidden in by Aristotle for $8,000. The number of the books is not stated.

A Dairymaid's Dress.

The dairymaid's dress at Ebling, in Germany, where girls are employed in dairy farming, consists of a short blouse girded at the waist, knee breeches and nether hose, with neat shoes. The costume is described as quite picturesque.

The Dressmaker Suffered.

The Empress Josephine once paid $2,000 for a dress and so angered the emperor that he ordered the dressmaker to be sent to prison.

If Not, Why Not?

"Did you ever notice how beautifully Parson Gummidge arranges his neck scarf?"

"Yes. But of course a man who can tie a knot should be able to knot a tie."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Total Loss.

"I think that I'll be married on my birthday," said Miss Tommey.

"What," exclaimed Miss Frocks, holding up her hands in consternation, "and lose one entire set of presents!"—Detroit Free Press.

Are His Tongs Silver Plated Now?

"What a dainty, artistic little housekeeper Mrs. McWhiffler is!"

Dainty! I think so! The ice man says she wanted him to deliver their ice wrapped up in wax paper."—Indianapolis News.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, innocculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

GLOOM IN JAPAN

Togo's Flagship Caught Fire From Unknown Cause

EXPLOSION OF MAGAZINE

Vessel Which Had Participated In Many Battles Lies at Bottom of Sasebo Harbor--Loss of 599 Officers and Men

Tokio, Sept. 13.—The disaster to the battleship Mikasa has cast a gloom everywhere. The Mikasa was Togo's flagship and was endeared to the hearts of the people. The ship was at anchor in Sasebo harbor when the fire started at the base of the mainmast at midnight. It spread with great rapidity, exploding the after magazine an hour after the fire had been discovered.

The Mikasa sank in shallow water and it is believed the ship can be repaired. Rescuing parties were sent from the various warships in the harbor and there was heavy casualties among them.

Various conjectures are current as to the cause of the fire. Some attribute it to an over-charge of electricity.

Great relief was felt throughout Japan when it was learned that Admiral Togo was not on board the ship at the time of the fire.

The loss of life totals 599 officers and men, including detachments from other warships which went to the rescue of the vessel.

The battleship Mikasa was flagship of Vice Admiral Togo in all his principal battles, including those of the second attack on the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, Feb. 9, 1904, following the torpedo attack the previous evening; the battle of Aug. 10, 1904, and that of May, 1905, in the Sea of Japan.

In the first battle the Mikasa was struck in the hull, and her fighting top was much damaged, but she inflicted several telling blows on the Russian ships, one having been sighted by the imperial prince, Lieutenant Kwacho, who commanded a 12-inch gun. This prince was slightly wounded in the Aug. 10 battle. In the battle of Feb. 9, several officers were wounded.

On July 10 the Mikasa was visited at the Elliott islands by the foreign correspondents in Japan. She then showed no signs of damage. In the battle of Aug. 10 she was the leading ship and was made the chief Russian target. She was considerably damaged, so much so that the Japanese were unable to pursue the fleeing Russians to good advantage. A shell from one of her 12-inch guns had previously decided the battle. It smashed the conning tower of the Russian flagship Czarevitch, killed Admiral Withoft and jammed the steering gear of the ship, throwing the Russian fleet into inextricable confusion.

In the battle of the Sea of Japan she suffered the heaviest loss of any Japanese ship, having 63 killed and wounded in all.

Railroads Reject Union's Demands

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Demands of the members of the Freight Handlers' union of Chicago for an increase of 10 percent in wages or an arbitration of their demands and the demand for a conference have been refused. The general managers of the 22 railroads centering in Chicago notified the union that negotiations were ended. The news of the refusal of the general managers was received angrily by the men. They will call a series of mass meetings to consider the action of the roads.

Triple Tragedy at Washington

Washington, Sept. 13.—Two men are dead and a woman seriously wounded as the result of a shooting affair here last night. The dead are George T. Morgan and Charles Souder, and Lillian J. Souder, wife of the latter, wounded. Souder and his wife were not living together and the woman was living at the place where Morgan boarded and where the shooting occurred. The police theory is that Souder shot and killed Morgan, shot his wife and then committed suicide.

Fraud Practiced Upon Peasants

Washington, Sept. 13.—Dr. Morris Fishberg, an agent of the bureau of immigration, who was sent abroad to investigate aliens afflicted with loathsome and contagious diseases, reports that steamship companies can prevent these undesirable classes from coming to the United States. One of the greatest evils is the employment of "runners" who picture to peasants that all America is "a land of milk and honey." The report does not made specific recommendations.

Witte's Bundle of Cartoons

New York, Sept. 13.—Six albums, containing all the newspaper cartoons that have been published in American newspapers about the meetings of the peace commission at Portsmouth, and also a collection of all the cartoons on the war published in America, were presented to Mr. Witte before he sailed for Europe yesterday.

Resting Spell For President

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 13.—President Roosevelt authorizes the statement that from now until he returns to Washington on Sept. 30 he will receive no callers except those who may come on urgent official business. He hopes during the remainder of his stay in his own home to have comparative quiet.

BURGLAR BY CHOICE

A Well Educated Man Pleads Guilty on Four Charges

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 13.—A burglar, calling himself Henry G. King, who was arrested while in the house of Elbridge G. Guy, here, declares that his real name is William H. Peterham. Peterham was pardoned from the state prison last year after serving eight years of a 10 years' sentence for burglary. In the prison he was the leader of the choir, and the prison authorities were led to believe the man was sincere in his expressed desire to reform.

Peterham is said to belong to a prominent family in Germany, and to be a graduate of a university in that country. He was a music teacher in Boston 10 years ago. In 1896 he was arrested in that city on a charge of robbing houses and was sentenced to the state prison.

In court here Peterham was held in $4000 on four charges of burglary, to each of which he pleaded guilty. In default of bail he was sent to jail.

Check Fills Note's Function

Boston, Sept. 13.—Ruling that a check given as security was equivalent to a note and that it was not necessarily to be construed as spurious or worthless because the maker did not happen to have an account at the bank upon which it was drawn, Judge Bennett discharged Edward D. Brown of Medford, after a hearing in the police court. The judge said the complainant may have redress in civil action, but he saw no evidence of crime.

Murder and Three Suicides

Boston, Sept. 13.—There were three suicides and a murder in greater Boston yesterday. Irene Leslie, 28, beautiful and accomplished, killed herself at the South End because a Beacon street clubman and broker discarded her. Mrs. Jane E. Maynes, Roslindale, despondent because of illness, drank carbolic acid. John E. H. Reeves of Cambridge ended a long domestic trouble by cutting his wife's throat and killing himself.

Great Welcome to Redmond

Boston, Sept. 13.—Several hundred Irish-Americans last night greeted W. H. K. Redmond, Irish member of parliament, upon his arrival in this city. A number of men from County Clare, formerly constituents of Redmond, lifted him to their shoulders and with shouts carried him to his carriage. On Thursday Redmond will deliver an address at a public gathering at the Huntington avenue baseball grounds.

Alleged Robbers of Mills

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 13.—Louis De Bonis, a barber, and his wife, Adelaide, who is employed as a weaver in Granite mill No. 3, were arrested here on a charge of stealing cloth from the mill. The De Bonis couple are thought to be members of a band who have been systematically stealing from the mills. Cloth to the value of several hundreds of dollars was found in the house where the couple lived.

Train Went Through Bridge

Alna, Me., Sept. 13.—A trainload of excursionists had a miraculous escape from death when a mixed train dashed through a trestle bridge near Head-of-Tide station. The engine, mail car and a freight car were piled in a brook, and these made a barrier which prevented the passenger car from leaving the track. The injured sustained mainly bruises, due to the sudden stopping of the train.

Gifts to Gordon Institutions

Exeter, N. H., Sept. 13.—The will of Nathaniel Gordon of this place directs that $10,000 be given by the executors to Gordon Theological seminary at Tunchow, China, and $11,000 to Gordon academy at Salt Lake City. Small bequests are left to various religious institutions.

Professional Robber Sentenced

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 13.—John G. Harker, who was convicted of more than a score of burglaries in Cambridge and Somerville and notably at Tufts college, was sentenced here to not less than 9 nor more than 11 years in state prison.

Youth In Strange Business

New York, Sept. 13.—Thomas French, 17 years old, a student at the high school at East Orange, N. J., is under arrest, charged with sending threatening letters to Valentine Riker, also of East Orange, an officer of an insurance company, and with mailing to Riker three infernal machines. In the garret of his mother's house he had a workshop and there, according to admissions he is said to have made, he constructed the three machines which he sent to Riker.

Escaped Convict Captured

Newark, N. J., Sept. 13.—Charles Harris is locked up here, awaiting the arrival of officers from Providence. Harris, who was serving a term in the Rhode Island state prison, escaped from that institution in November, 1903. Pictures of him were sent out at the time and detectives identified him on Market street and took him into custody.

Miss Roosevelt In Pekin

Pekin, Sept. 13.—Major General Corbin, Rear Admiral Train, Miss Alice Roosevelt and other members of their party arrived here last evening. They were met by American Minister Rockhill and many notables. Miss Roosevelt is the guest of Minister Rockhill and family.

Strikers Subdued by Cavalry

Longwy, France, Sept. 13.—Cavalry armed with lances charged a procession of strikers here and one of the strikers was killed and several wounded. The strikers were singing revolutionary songs.

A HEAVY SALE OF BONDS

Disposed of $800,000 Worth on Last Day of Year and Bought Them Back on Second Day of New Year--Plan to Hoodwink Superintendent of Insurance

New York, Sept. 13.—Selling $800,000 in bonds one day and buying them back the next but one, a holiday intervening, in order to keep within statements made in the New York Life Insurance company's report to the superintendent of insurance, was the sensational disclosure made at yesterday's session of the legislative insurance investigating committee.

The fact was drawn from Edmund D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance company, late in the day after Attorney Hughes, of counsel to the committee, had labored for over an hour to get a direct answer from Randolph to a direct question.

The inquiry had dragged through a mass of figures during almost the entire day, but it was not until near the hour for ending the session that the sensational feature was brought out.

Earlier in the day Randolph had handed Hughes a schedule of syndicate underwritings and transactions of the New York Life for the last 10 years. This was to show, and a footnote to the schedule stated, that the company had participated in no syndicate transactions that had been closed out with a loss. Among these syndicate transactions was the underwriting of the Navigation syndicate, or International Mercantile Marine.

Mr. Hughes drew from the witness that there was an aggregate of $4,000,000 the New York Life paid J. P. Morgan & Co. on this "joint account."

Mr. Hughes then took up a sales item dated Dec. 31, 1903, of $800,000 of International Mercantile Marine stock. Randolph, replying to Hughes, said this sale was made to J. P. Morgan & Co. Hughes continued his inquiry into the matter, and asked: "On Jan. 2, 1904, there is an entry of a purchase of $800,000. From what did you buy?"

"J. P. Morgan & Co."

"Why did you sell to J. P. Morgan & Co., then buy from J. P. Morgan & Co. on the next business day?"

"Because they desired to reduce it."

"Yes, but why, then, did you buy it back the next business day?"

Here Randolph began to explain, and wandered several times from the subject. He was led back by the lawyer, who seemingly was unable to get a reply. Finally he asked: "Who sold the shares for the New York Life?"

"Mr. Perkins."

"Who bought them again?"

"An officer of the company."

"Who was it?"

"Mr. Perkins."

"As a matter of fact there was a report to the superintendent of insurance on Dec. 31, 1903?"

"Yes."

"Then the sole purpose of the transaction was that you might be able to tell the superintendent of insurance you held only $3,200,000 on International Mercantile Marine shares?"

The witness hesitated, and tried to evade a direct answer, but Hughes repeated the question, until finally Randolph said: "Yes."

There was a momentary hush, followed by a murmur of suppressed excitement.

Following up the Navigation syndicate transactions, Hughes referred to an item on the schedule of syndicate transactions under date of Dec. 30, 1904, by which $800,000 of bonds were sold to J. P. Morgan & Co. of London, for $720,000. Randolph admitted that this was an outright sale, and the loss of $80,000 was charged off the profit and loss account.

Mr. Hughes left the point and took up an association known as "Nylic" with the New York Life Insurance company. He got from the witness the admission that on April 11, 1904, a sale of $50,000 stock to "Nylic" was made. Of this association Perkins was a trustee and "Nylic" bought and sold stock for the benefit of the company.

The usefulness of the New York Security and Trust company to the New York Life came out when it was testified that, while the insurance company was not taking collateral loans, it made a practice of lending its money to the trust company, who made the collateral loans.

Witness was then led through the change of the name of the trust company and admitted that three accounts with the old company were closed and four opened with a new one. When the money was withdrawn from the New York Security and Trust company it was deposited with the First National bank. This admission was elicited from the witness after much pressure.

In reply as to interest paid by the various banks where the insurance company had deposits, Randolph said all of the banks paid 2 percent except the Bank of Montreal, which paid 2½ percent.

Colombian Labor For Canal

Colon, Sept. 13.—Steamer Musician has arrived here with 200 contract laborers from Colombia, who will disembark today. Colombian ports have been closed to isthmian ports, owing to the alleged existence of bubonic plague.

Caught With Stolen Property

New York, Sept. 13.—In the arrest of three young men who were laden with stolen property the police believe they may have captured important members of a band of burglars that has been looting houses of wealthy residents. The bundles when examined yielded two gold crucifixes, two diamond rings, fine ladies' purses, silk handkerchiefs, fine kid gloves, three diamond studded watches, one silver toilet set, a number of silver utensils and miscellaneous silver knives and forks. These articles had been stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Boutille. One of the men confessed to his share in the robbery of the Boutille apartment.

Bryan Checks Presidential Boom

Chicago, Sept. 13.—"I want to make my position perfectly clear; I want to say to you that not only am I not announcing a candidacy, but I am not permitting a candidacy." In these words W. J. Bryan administered a check to the enthusiasm which at the Jefferson club banquet, given last night in Bryan's honor, greeted the speeches advocating his nomination for the third time for president. Mr. Bryan was greeted with an enthusiastic demonstration. He spoke on "Democracy vs. Centralization."

Burdensome Duties Removed

Washington, Sept. 13.—A copy of the Russian ukase presented by Mr. Witte to President Roosevelt removing discriminating duties on American imports, which grew out of the imposition of a countervailing duty on Russian sugar by the American government, has been received at the state department. It removes the discriminating duties on nearly everything on which the maximum tariff had been levied by Russia.

Specialist Summoned For Komura

New York, Sept. 13.—Dr. Delafield has been called from his summer home at Hot Springs, Va., to treat Baron Komura, the Japanese peace plenipotentiary, who has been ill in his hotel for several days. This gives color to a report that the envoy's condition is not as favorable as had been announced last evening. Dr. Delafield is en route to this city and is expected to visit Baron Komura today.

Cadets Profit by Envoys' Visit

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 13.—In honor of the visit to West Point Monday of the Russian peace envoys and following the personal request of Messrs. Witte and Rosen, a special order has been issued remitting the punishments of several cadets. This action was taken by General Mills as a compliment to the envoys themselves and as a mark of regard for the nation they represent.

Government Employe Stricken

New Orleans, Sept. 13.—The report on Tuesday's yellow fever situation follows: New cases, 43; total cases to date, 2370; deaths, 3; total deaths to date, 319. The only name on the list of new cases that is of special note is that of H. S. Douglass, United States civil engineer, who is supervising work in progress here at the mouth of the river.

Prince "Approached" One Stag

St. Johns, Sept. 13.—Prince Louis of Battenberg and his party have returned from a hunting trip in the interior. The party secured seven caribou, but Prince Louis was only fotunate enough to appoach one stag which was so young that he would not shoot it.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Miss Nina Bates is visiting friends in Canton.

The Fore River house on South street is undergoing repairs.

The city bathhouse on Town river at Quincy Point will close on Saturday.

Mrs. Archie Thayer of Bath, Maine, is the guest of her husband, the Saville street merchant.

Auctioneer Wilson will have a sale of furniture at 22 Mechanic street tomorrow afternoon.

South street is one of the oldest streets of the city, having been accepted 86 years ago today, Sept. 13, 1819.

Dr. C. H. Hallowell of Mt. Vernon, N. H., is the guest of his brother, City Physician Hallowell.

Miss Harriet M. Phillips has returned to her home on Washington street, after several weeks pleasantly spent in Maine.

Miss Esther McDonald of Elm street, a graduate of Woodward, '04, has accepted a position to teach in West Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rhines, (Mrs. Emma Perry) and family have moved from South street, Quincy Point to East Milton.

Miss Mary Michael and sister Isabelle have returned to their home in Hardwick, Vt., after spending two weeks with relatives in this city.

There was no 80 degree temperature in Quincy, last year after Sept. 18, but the Daily Ledger has record of 85 and 83 in October a few years ago.

Mrs. John Joss and Miss Louise Joss of this city were guests on Tuesday at the wedding at Bellows Falls, Vt., of Miss Ruth Jenny Thayer and Mr. James Joss Hay.

The funeral of Mrs. Albert F. Schenkelberger of Goffe street will be held tomorrow afternoon at the First church, at 2 o'clock. The burial will be private.

Judge Avery held an inquest this morning on the death of Joseph Vaughn, who died at the City Hospital as a result of a railway accident at Hingham.

John A. Pelto, of Copeland street, has been awarded a $75 gold watch by an insurance company for having led the other agents in the number of policies written during the past year.

The funeral of William Fitzgerald, of Brackett street, was held this morning from St. John's church. Mass was celebrated by Rev. Julian E. Johnston. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

Registration Dates.

Two opportunities will be offered for registration before the caucuses of Sept. 26. The Registrars of voters will meet Sept. 15 and 22. Revised voting lists have been posted in all wards, and it is the duty of every voter to see that his name appears on the precinct list where he resided May 1. Several names have been dropped by the Registrars.

Art for Washington School.

T. B. Pollard has just received from Arthur B. Smith of St. Paul, Minnesota, for the decoration of the Washington school, one large bird's eye view in colors of the Yellowstone Park, and also a frame of the same size containing several views in color of scenes in this wonderful National park. They are issued by the Northern Pacific Railway, and will add to the rapidly increasing art collection at this school. Mr. Smith was graduated at the school and is a brother of Frederick H. Smith of the School Committee.

Will Contest.

When the will of the late Mrs. James Bisson was offered for probate this morning before Judge Flint it appeared that it was going to be contested. The court will assign a date for a hearing later.

Through the Hoosac Tunnel.

The annual New York Excursion via the Boston & Maine R. R., mountain, valley, river and seashore route takes place on October 5th. $5.00 is the round trip rate. You may stop over in Albany one night. You may go down the Hudson by either day or night line steamers. You may stop in New York two days. Return trip from New York to Boston is via the famous Fall River Line. A beautiful illustrated booklet describing the trip in detail and giving all necessary information has recently been issued by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston. Send your name and address and we'll mail you one free.

Autorosis a New Nervous Disease.

Chauffeurs in Chicago and Illinois have incorporated as the Automobile Chauffeurs' Benevolent and Protective Association of Illinois. A new disease, "autorosis," which has appeared in Chicago, will be investigated by the association. It is an ailment confined to the chauffeurs, and it is said physicians cannot explain it. It is a combination of nervous breakdown and electrolysis, same as affects motormen on electric cars. It begins with a burning sensation in the head and a dimness of vision. This is accompanied by a dull ache all over the body and constant fear of danger, even a shadow on the roadside being sufficient to cause the chauffeur to swing on his brake. After steadily growing worse for several days the chauffeur becomes as timid as a child. He handles his car even in daytime like a novice and then, becoming thoroughly disheartened, takes a rest of several days, only to have the symptoms recur when he takes out his car again.

Frail Singers of Today.

Frail singers of today, your song is sweet;
The words that ye repeat
Are comely, making music as they pass
Faint as the singing glass
Rubbed by a moistened finger; round and round
Circles the rim of sound.
A thin yet poignant cry. But yesterday
Men sang a manlier way,
Plucking rough chords of strength from lyres too rude
Ever to be subdued
By this slight tinkling harmony of the hour.
Awake, awake to power,
Singers of songs—else die! Far better mute
Were the emasculate lute,
Far better silent than thus chirping on,
An echo of things gone—
Gone down forever with all those mighty hearts
Who brook no counterparts!
—Lee Wilson Dodd in September Century.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. Emma Marnock and family beg to express their sincere thanks to all neighbors and kind friends who so generously expressed their friendship and sympathy during this their sad hour of bereavement; also to all who sent beautiful tributes. These evidences of friendship are greatly appreciated.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

TIMOTHY E. DRISCOLL,
(sometimes called Timothy Driscoll,)
late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by John Kilmartin of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1905, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

UNCLE SAM'S RAILROAD

Government Ownership Already Inaugurated In Panama.

ALSO OWNS STEAMSHIP LINE.

Experiment Very Successful Thus Far—Hinted That Steamship Line Up the Pacific Coast May Also Be Secured—Railway So Prosperous It Is to Be Double Tracked.

All unnoticed and entirely unpremeditated, probably, a direct test of the expediency of government ownership of public utilities was inaugurated by the purchase of the Panama railway and its subsidiary steamship line as collateral adjuncts of the government's canal enterprise, says Leslie J. Perry, writing from Panama to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Undeniably the railway is economically inseparable from the canal in the constructive stage. This can hardly be held to be the case with the New York-Colon steamship line. Yet the government pertinaciously clings to the latter, and by purchase has recently added to the line two large and speedy ships at a cost of $1,350,000.

It is only the spectator right here on the ground who can fully comprehend the tremendous power the government has taken into its hands by this incidental entry into the field of commerce.

This national ownership of a ridiculous little railroad only forty-seven miles long, remote as it is from the United States, makes the country in fact a powerful competitor of seven transcontinental railways, including the Canadian Pacific, having not less than 18,000 miles of main track. Their stocks and bonds are scattered in the hands of thousands of private American citizens. For, ridiculously short as it is, the Panama railway, too, is a transcontinental line to a degree. It is true, as Mr. Bristow states in his recent report, that the "relation it sustains to commerce is different from that of any other transportation company"—that is, with reference merely to the construction of the canal by government. Nevertheless it is direct and effective. As a common carrier, fixing rates the same as any other company, its relations are not different in any other particular.

The chief object in the purchase of both the railway and the steamship lines was the transportation of the canal freights, but anybody who frequents the Colon and Panama wharfs quickly observes that a very large proportion of the ship cargoes and railway freights are for private account. It is clear that financially the government has made a good thing by taking over these lines. They both pay a large return above the cost of maintenance, which will be much greater when the facilities for handling the mass of freights offering are increased in accordance with the liberal plans already being carried out. The purchase of the two steamers above mentioned is significant of the government's intentions in this regard as well as probable determination to permanently maintain its present single relation toward our transcontinental commerce as well as foreign commerce with the Pacific coast of South America.

As for the Panama railway, it is actually swamped with both passenger and freight traffic. It runs five passenger trains each way daily. Each looks like an excursion train, such a rush of passengers is there, both first and second class. The natives and canal employees are great travelers. It is not unusual to see a dozen persons standing in the coach aisle.

Under the original Panama railroad company the fare from Aspinwall (Colon) to Panama was $25, gold. Just think of paying $25 railroad fare from Washington to Baltimore or New York to West Point! De Lesseps reduced the fare to $8, gold—still enough, in all conscience, for a forty-seven mile ride. Our commission promptly reduced this rate to $4, gold, and in May last to $2.40, or 5 cents per mile. The old rate of $25, and even $8, was pure robbery. The passenger had no recourse—there was no competing line. He could not get across the isthmus on an ox cart nor afoot. In addition, the passenger had to pay 2 cents per pound on his baggage, an onerous imposition still maintained.

To date, then, government ownership works well. The administration evidently feels very complacent over the results thus far, although the nation's going into trade was incidental to its paternal project of canal building for the benefit of mankind in general, "unbeknownst" to itself, as it were. But whether accidental or intentional, its transportation venture pays well, and perhaps under the glowing impulse of success the administration may conclude to go farther afield.

In the Panama railroad a big club has been placed in the government's hands. It may choose to use it. Its commanding position as a transcontinental line is undeniable. The Bristow report shows that the administration fully appreciates its new power. Suppose the president should conclude to bring it into play in the threatened struggle with the railroads over rates?

Perhaps the energetic enlargement of the Panama road's capacity means just that thing. It is to be double tracked, to have large additions to its rolling stock, and its terminal facilities are to be doubled. These improvements are already in progress.

The purchase of the two New York-Colon ships jibes with the stories in the zone that the canal commission contemplates putting on a Pacific line of steamers between Panama and Seattle, via San Francisco.

Positions of Trust

Every man is likely, at some time, to be called to fill a position of trust requiring a bond.

You may be appointed guardian of a minor, or executor of an estate; you may be elected to public office, or chosen treasurer of some organization; you may be offered a fiduciary position with a bank, or may wish to guarantee a contract—in all these circumstances, and many others, we will act as your surety.

Being the largest Company in the world whose business is restricted to furnishing Suretyship Bonds, we can give you an absolute guarantee, and save you from annoying obligations. Apply to

FOR THE COOK.

An Inexpensive Homemade Kitchen Equipment.

An interesting exhibition was recently given by the domestic science department of the Teachers' College of New York. One portion of it which attracted more attention than all the rest combined and consisted of an inexpensive and partially homemade kitchen equipment is commented upon by Louise E. Dew in Good Housekeeping as follows:

The object of this exhibit is to show what may be done for a poor school, where limited funds are available for the purpose of teaching domestic science and where the pupils who attend the school are living in a primitive way.

The cupboard and table shown in this outfit are simple affairs and made of ordinary packing boxes. The shelves are made of the covers of the boxes and a mahogany stain is applied to the whole. The kitchen table is covered with zinc, which is securely tacked all about the top with zinc colored tacks. Brass rods are fastened across the top and bottom of both the table and the cupboard for brown linen curtains.

The zinc covering makes the table fireproof, as the small three burner alcohol or kerosene oil stove is obliged to sit on it, owing to limited space. Then, too, it is easily kept clean and is a convenient place to sit when paring the vegetables or preparing the meat.

An ordinary vegetable basket such as city hucksters use makes a good substantial and unique stool. Such a one, stained to match the table, is turned upside down beside it, ready for an occupant. This basket has the advantage of height and strength and serves its purpose admirably.

A hook on one side of the table is convenient for the dishpan, while a towel rack on the other side holds the fresh wiping towels. The back space is utilized for dishcloths. All the necessary cooking implements are within reach on the shelves, while beside the table stands the cupboard, with its supply of kitchen utensils which are not used so frequently.

While this homely equipment was shown for the benefit of the teacher, it need not be despised by the woman whose kitchen is small and whose means are limited. Packing boxes cost but a trifle, and it is an easy matter to transform them into cupboards. As to the housekeeper's tools, they will depend upon her means; but, fortunately, the day of heavy ironware is over, and if she can afford it she can sit by her table and cook in light aluminium dishes, which are a joy to possess.

Shoes of the Season.

A greater number of fancy shoes are being worn than ever before. A woman is not considered smartly got up if her shoes do not match in color the costume she wears. Since the coloring of leather has become a fine art it is possible to have shoes match almost any gown today, provided one cares to pay the price. Gray, tan, dark blue, red and green shoes laced with wide ribbons of the same color are particularly stylish and set off a white costume wonderfully.—Designer.

Freezing Ice Cream.

It is not a long or hard process to freeze ice cream, as many young housekeepers imagine. Yet it should be remembered that a cream that is frozen quickly will not be of as fine and smooth a grain as one that is longer in the process.

Beefsteak Toast.

Chop cold beef or tongue very fine, cook in a little water, put in a little cream, season with butter, salt and pepper and pour it over slices of toast.

Fashion's Echoes.

Both narrow flouncing and wide flounces suit long skirts and are much seen upon gowns of ceremony when of sheer fabrics.

There is an art in dressing up to the weather's vagaries, thereby looking cool and ethereal on warm days, but never looking shivery on the cool ones.

Short sack coats have not yet driven the long shaped ones out of fashion, as they were heralded to do.

A semblance of the rapidly advancing princess style is given to an alpaca gown by long lines of braid converging at the waist and parting above and below.

Nothing heretofore woven can compare with the exquisite perfection of the silk and wool voiles of the present time.

Conspicuous among elegant lace for wraps is point venise. This is not likely to become common until some manufacturer produces a good imitation.

Marvels of beauty are the little gauze fans decorated by hand and mounted upon ivory sticks.

FIRE CASES.

Rosa Paragnas One of the Defendants.

Was Represented by Counsel.

Fire Inspector Relates Stories Told by Boys.

The cases of Dominica Frogoni, Thomas Mullany, Harry Gould, William O'Neil and Francis B. D. Young, for wilfully and maliciously burning the sheds of some person unknown on Canal street came up in the juvenile court this morning.

Rosa Paraguas, the girl who it is alleged put the boys up to setting the fires, and who disappeared when they were arrested, was also in court as a defendent.

J. J. McAnarney appeared for the Frogoni boy, and Associate Judge Daley of Canton for the Paraguas girl.

As the boys had all pleaded guilty their cases were heard first.

Officer Murray testified to the arrest of the boys, and told of conversations with them.

State Fire Inspector Charles F. Rice was then called.

He described the location of the buildings. All of the boys had been before him separately, and told their stories under oath.

The Young boy said Rosa gave him matches, and told him to set the front part of the shed. He went in the first time, but his courage failed him. He went in again, but did not touch off the fire. When he came out of the building Rosa asked him if he did it. He went in the third time, and lighted a fire. He ran away when he saw it burning, and pulled the alarm. This was on Saturday; he did it, because Rosa told him to.

On Sunday he helped set a fire in the blacksmith shop. The Frogoni, Mullaney, Gould and O'Neil boys were present. Mullaney got the kerosene oil, O'Neil sprinkled it about, and Frogoni lighted the match.

The O'Neil boy's story was that he went to the shed Sunday with Young, Frogani and Mullaney. Frogoni wanted to start the fire. I said I would go up with him. Mullaney got the oil and I sprinkled it.

Gould said he went to the building with Young and Mullany on Saturday. We got a lot of paper and placed it under a window. Young lighted it and then ran away.

The Frogoni boy said at the fire on Saturday that Rosa gave him the oil and he spread it about up stairs. He did it because Rosa asked us to set it again. I bought three cents worth of oil. Rosa gave me two cents towards the oil. Sunday, Rosa said, burn it up good this time.

Mullaney gave the oil to O'Neil and we gathered old paper and put it under the shingles. O'Neil and I sprinkled the oil on the floor and I and Mullaney lighted a match and put it to the paper.

Mullaney said that Sunday, Rosa called Young and gave him matches to set the nearest shed. She asked me to get the oil. O'Neil sprinkled some of it. The Italian boy lit it with a match.

The Paraguas girl's case was then called. Counsel waived the reading and pleaded not guilty. Counsel then moved to quash as the complaint was not specific.

A consultation followed, after which Rosa was held in $500 until Nov. 23. The boys' cases were also continued until that date.

Afternoon Fire.

The alarm from Box 49 at 1.24 this noon was for a fire in a hen house on Larry place owned by Daniel Butler. The damage was slight.

New York Excursion.

October 5th the Boston & Maine Railroad will run the annual New York excursion. A two hundred mile train ride through the Deerfield Valley and the Hoosac Mountains to Troy and Albany, N. ## HOSPITAL WEEK.

October 8th to the 15th a Full Month Earlier Than Last Year.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Trustees of the Quincy City Hospital held last evening at the office of Mr. R. D. Chase in the Savings Bank Building, it was decided that the Hospital Week this year should be Sunday, October 8th, to Sunday, October 15th.

Last year it was November 9th to November 16th, but it was felt that there were marked advantages in an earlier date.

It was decided to publish a little paper to be distributed to everyone with the usual Hospital Week Envelopes, and it was hoped that thus, and by putting special energy into the whole canvass, an unusually generous response might be made for this splendid institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need.

BOSTON'S MAYOR

Dead at Hot Springs.

Dies Suddenly This Morning.

Twice Elected for Term of Two Years.

Hot Springs, Sept. 14, 1905.—Gen. Patrick A. Collins, Mayor of Boston, dropped dead at Hot Springs, at 11 o'clock this morning.

Gen. Collins' career briefly stated is as follows:

Born in Fermoy, Ireland, March 12, 1844.

Came to Boston when 4 years old.

Left school at the age of 12.

Became errand boy in a lawyer's office.

Afterward employed in a Boston store.

IN MANY ORDERS

Who Lose Valuable Member in Death of Mrs. Crane.

Several organizations have lost a valued officer and prominent member in the death of Mrs. Mary A. H. Crane the wife of Mr. George Crane of Washington street, which took place about 9 A. M., today.

She was a Past Protector, and for fourteen years the secretary of Maple lodge, K. & L. of H.; a past president and treasurer of Paul Revere Woman's Relief Corps; a member of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge, also of the N. E. O. P., and a benefit member of Bay State lodge I. O. O. L. In each of these orders she was a hard working and valuable member who will be greatly missed, especially by the Grand Army.

Mrs. Crane has been sick for several months, and a great sufferer, but bore all with a Christian fortitude.

She leaves a husband, one son Thompson B., and a sister, Mrs. Hobart of Braintree. She was the daughter of the late Thompson Baxter.

SUBSIDY BILL.

Favored by Senator Lodge at Dinner of Essex Club.

A part of the speech of Senator Lodge before the Essex club at Peabody on Wednesday is of special local interest. He said:

"I have thought for many years one of the great duties of the Republican party was to build up the American merchant marine.

"There are $80,000,000 or $160,000,000 that we pay to foreign freight carriers that might just as well be paid to American frieght carriers, and New England would get a large proportion of it.

"I am anxious to do everything I can for the upbuilding of the prosperity and the wealth of Massachusetts, and here is a measure (the ship subsidy bill which is going, in my judgment, if carried out properly to be the first step in giving to Massachusetts again the opportunity which she has not had for more than 50 years to use her capital and her enterprise on the ocean."

"And I say that those gentlemen who are so anxious to advance the prosperity of Massachusetts would do well to reflect that there is more than one measure which will make directly for the prosperity of the port of Boston."

FIRE AT GREENLEAF.

Gas Jet Ignites Curtain in One of the Rooms.

An alarm from Box 23 at 6.30 P. M. on Wednesday followed by the report that a serious fire was in progress at the Greenleaf Hotel, served to draw a large crowd quickly.

The fire proved to be in one of the rooms occupied by Albert S. Bruff, and was caused by some lace drapery coming in contact with a lighted gas jet.

The most of the guests were at dinner at the time, and but for the timely discovery of the fire by a person passing along the street, who promptly gave the alarm, the fire might have been a serious one.

Box 23 is known as the danger box, and a remarkably quick run to the scene was made by the department.

The fire was quickly extinguished with a loss of $50, which was largely to clothing of Mr. Bruff.

Lawn Concert.

The Lawn Concert at the residence of of Rev. W. B. Barr Wednesday night by the choir of the United Presbyterian church was a fine success. The grounds were beautifully illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

The reader, Miss Levitt of Boston, furnished no little amusement by her fine rendering of several very comic selections. The Choir came in for its share of applause. Mr. Carlander's violin solos were ve ry much enjoyed.

The program though not long was spicy throughout. The refreshments were about all sold out.

Mr. Henry H. Faxon has the thanks of the choir and the church for coming out and treating all the little people to ice cream. They were clapping their hands with glee when Mr. Faxon made his appearance. They all knew what was coming. There was a large attendance and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

The piper, Mr. Hector Gillis, added much to the enjoyment of the occasion with his bagpipes.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Mr. James Campbell, Mrs. Samuel McLean, Miss Cassie McLeod, Mr. Samuel Murchison and Hugh McLeod.

Under the will of Mrs. Mary O. Atwood of Everett, Mass., St. Paul's Episcopal church of Malden, Mass., will receive $50,000. The money is to go towards erecting a new church edifice.

Steamer Pensacola, at Portland, Me., from New Orleans with a cargo of sulphur, has been detained at quarantine and will not be released until the health officials are satisfied that there is no danger of yellow fever.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. ## NOT SUSPENDED

Maritime Captures May Be Made During Armistice

PROTOCOL MADE PUBLIC

No New Reinforcements to Be Despatched to Theatre of War --No Bombarding by Naval Forces of Belligerents

London, Sept. 14.—The Japanese legation has given out the text of the Russo-Japanese armistice protocol, as follows:

"First—A certain distance as a zone of demarcation shall be fixed between the fronts of the armies of the two powers in Manchuria as well as in the region of Tuman river, Korea.

"Second—The naval forces of one of the belligerents shall not bombard territory belonging to or occupied by the other.

"Third—Maritime captures will not be suspended by the armistice.

"Fourth—During the term of the armistice new reinforcements shall not be dispatched to the theatre of war. Those which are already on their way there shall not be dispatched north of Mukden on the part of Japan, or south of Harbin on the part of Russia.

"Fifth—The commands of the armies and fleets of the two powers shall determine in common accord the conditions of the armistice, in conformity with the provisions above enumerated.

"Sixth—The two governments shall order their commanders immediately after the signature of the treaty of peace to put the protocol into execution."

The protocol was signed by Messrs. Witte, Rosen, Komura and Takahira.

Underwriters May Protest

London, Sept. 14.—The announcement that by the terms of the Russo-Japanese armistice protocol maritime captures will not be suspended, has created consternation at Lloyds, owing to the fact that some insurances had recently been effected at "peace" rates. The underwriters may hold a meeting and send a protest to the Japanese government.

No Anti-Foreign Sentiment

Tokio, Sept. 14.—In its leader The Mainichi says: No trace of an anti-foreign sentiment exists even in the remotest corner of the empire. Had the recent rising been even tinged with such a feeling why were the foreigners not attacked at the Imperial hotel, next door to the minister's residence, which was the object of repeated attack during the rioting? There was no attempt at any violence toward the guests of the hotel, who were permitted quietly to observe the disturbance in the street. A slight injury suffered by an American citizen occurred in a street crowded with excited people and it was quite accidental."

Yokohama Has a Riot

Yokohama, Sept. 14.—A meeting held at a theatre here to protest against the terms of the peace treaty was followed by an anti-police demonstration. Fourteen police boxes were burned, 37 policemen injured and two civilians severely hurt. Many arrests were made. Quiet has been restored.

Results of Tokio Riots

Tokio, Sept. 14.—According to the Metropolitan police estimate of casualties during the recent rioting, 388 constables, 16 firemen and two soldiers were wounded. Among the mob and bystanders nine were killed and 487 wounded.

Suspended For Criticising Treaty

Tokio, Sept. 14.—The government has ordered the suspension of three newspapers published respectively at Kofu, Miigata and Otaru for criticising the peace treaty.

What Anthracite Miners Want

Mahanoy City, Pa., Sept. 14.—Five thousand mine workers paraded here in honor of President Mitchell, who was given a rousing reception. Every colliery in the Mahanoy valley was closed, the 10,000 employes making a holiday of it. President Mitchell's speech declared that there would be no permanent or lasting peace in the hard coal industry until the union was recognized and the eight-hour day established.

Deer Hobnob With Cattle

Pomfret, Conn., Sept. 14.—This town is completely overrun by grey deer, which are doing great damage to late vegetables. As many as three or four are seen together frequently, feeding with cattle and sheep. Measures will be taken to have the state law against shooting deer repealed, as the farmers can do nothing under the present conditions.

Will Be Tennessee's Largest

Knoxville, Sept. 14.—Chartered under the laws of Maine, the Weaver Coal and Coke company, with a capital of $1,000,000 all paid in, intends to start the largest coal and coke industry of Tennessee. Within two miles of Crossville the company will erect a coke plant at a cost of $100,000.

Zeigler Mine Guards Relieved

Duquoin, Ills., Sept. 14.—Joseph Leiter has relieved from duty the entire force of guards at the Zeigler mines. The property is now without an armed guard for the first time since the exciting days which followed the miners' strike inaugurated about a year ago.

FOUGHT TO DIE

Maniac Giant Taken to Hospital After Desperate Struggle

Boston, Sept. 14.—Alone in a small room, John Nash of 5 Corning street last night engaged in a hand-to-hand battle with Henry Stramburg, 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 225 pounds, a maniac, on the top floor of his home. It was only the timely arrival of John Hurley, an amateur boxer, that prevented him from severe injury at the hands of the enraged giant.

After hurling a lighted oil stove across the room and starting a fire, Stramburg cut his throat with a shoe knife, and it was while Nash and Hurley were trying to prevent the man from inflicting further injury that the struggle ensued.

Creating Hatred For Americans

Washington, Sept. 14.—The department of commerce and labor has received from a United States consul in China a copy of placards that have been distributed in various provinces to stimulate the boycott against American goods. The placards are about 4 by 1½ feet and are covered with crude drawings showing American policemen clubbing Chinese and hanging them by the queues. Underneath the picture is the statement: "This is the way the Chinese are treated in the United States."

Politician an Alleged Forger

Boston, Sept. 14.—Chester W. Dennis of Lynn was arrested last night, charged with uttering forged indorsement to an order for the payment of $150. The complainant in the case is George J. Robinson of this city. According to the police, Dennis is alleged to have forged his father's name as an indorser of the note. Dennis is the son of a former postmaster of Lynn. He served at one time in the board of aldermen of that city and had been a candidate for mayor.

A Child's Miraculous Escape

Monteleone, Sept. 14.—King Victor Emmanuel, upon his arrival here, was greeted with cries from the populace of "help us." The king went into a subterranean fissure from whence a child was taken out alive after being 98 hours under the debris. Her aunt, who was crying beside the ruins, thought she heard the voice of her niece and summoned some soldiers who after vigorous efforts brought up the child almost dead. Her condition is critical.

Oil Producers In Bandits' Hands

London, Sept. 14.—The Petroleum Review of the current week publishes a memorandum presented by the Baku oil producers to the Russian minister of finance, declaring that owing to the utter helplessness of the police the producers are compelled to purchase safety from bandits living in four villages by periodical payments of large sums of money or that otherwise the whole of the oil field region would suffer from their depredations.

Komura's Stay Prolonged

New York, Sept. 14.—Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, who is reported to be suffering from typhoid fever, although the consulting physicians are not a unit on this point, is said to be in a satisfactory condition. His return to Japan has been indefinitely postponed, although most of the members of his suite will set out for home today, the date originally planned for the departure of the mission.

May Be Amicably Settled

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The relations between the railroad companies and the union freight handlers who are demanding an increase of 10 percent in wages have assumed a more conciliatory aspect and the indications are that the threatened strike of the 6000 freight handlers will be averted. The railroads have agreed to meet the employes as individuals.

Rapid Growth Unbalanced Mind

Leicester, Mass., Sept. 14.—The body of Walter Walton, aged 19, was found in a reservoir here last night. He had been missed since Saturday, when he touched off a burglar alarm in the house and ran away. Walton is believed to have been insane from rapid growth. He was an inventive genius. He was 6 feet 2 inches tall.

Winners of Astor Cups

Newport, R. I., Sept. 14.—The sloop Yankee, owned by J. R. Maxwell of New York, and the schooner Elmina II, owned by F. F. Brewster of New Haven, won the Astor cups in the postponed race off this port. The yachts sailed the Buzzards bay course in a uncertain northwester. Six sloops and three schooners started.

Wager Cost Two Years In Jail

Baltimore, Sept. 14.—John Federman, a negro waiter at a suburban hotel, was sentenced to two years in jail by a police magistrate for forcibly kissing Mary White, a comely Irish nursemaid. Another negro waiter wagered $1 Federman would not kiss the young woman, and he took the wager.

Pirates Attacked Spanish Ship

Madrid, Sept. 14.—The government has addressed an energetic protest to Morocco as the result of an attack made on a Spanish ship recently by Moroccan pirates.

Old Shiphouses.

Bids were received at the Charlestown Navy Yard on Monday for the removal of buildings No. 71 and 72, the immense wooden shiphouses at the end of the yard, and the contract awarded to Lawler Brothers of Charlestown for $1800. There were eight bidders and prices offered ranged from $600 up to the successful bid. These shiphouses are among the very oldest buildings on the reservation, having been erected more than four-score years ago. In one of them the famous old frigate Merrimac was built during the Civil War. The work of removal will begin at once.

Mutal Life Treasurer Tells Interesting Story

SYNDICATE OPERATIONS

Considered Necessary by Insurance Company Making Transactions of $100,000,000 a Year --Admits Personal Profits

New York, Sept. 14.—A vigorous defense of syndicates and their operations in connection with the insurance business and a frank statement of personal profits gained through their operations made by Frederick Cromwell, treasurer of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was the feature of Wednesday's session of the special legislative committee appointed to probe the methods of life insurance companies in this state.

A defense of the syndicate was made by Cromwell soon after he was called to the stand and before he was asked a question he asked leave to say a few words and, upon being directed to proceed, he said:

The law of combination which affects finance as everything else has made syndicates necessary. When I became treasurer of the Mutual Life Insurance company the total assets of our company were $100,000,000. The transactions in my department now are over $100,000,000 a year. When our receipts were less—20 years ago—it was quite possible for us to buy from bond dealers and pay the successive profits that might come with brokers, but now it is absolutely impossible to buy advantageously large blocks of securities, except as they are floated by these combinations of capital, popularly called syndicates, and we have to go into them to get our investments and get them in sufficient size and at 'ground floor prices.'

"We could not make our investments without syndicates, and we are partners in every syndicate which we go into. I want to say further that unless we went into these syndicates we would not be able to invest our funds, except by buying in small quantities and paying the successive profits of middlemen. I ask you to consider that we have now over $450,000,000 of assets and while we have over $100,000,000 invested in bond and mortgage, we are constantly under the necessity of finding additional investments for our large accumulations of funds.

"That is the condition. It is no theory. It is a condition which we meet and the exhibits are here which show how we have to employ it. Our investments are such that when President Tappan died he left it, as a condition, that his trustees should have one privilege, and that was to invest the same in securities as those of the Mutual Life Insurance company. That is the way we invested our money, but we could not make the transactions of $100,000,000 a year in the securities bought by this company without using syndicates."

The acknowledgment of personal profits was made in a tabulated statement which was presented to the committee after recess. It stated that Cromwell had made a personal profit of $20,371 from syndicate operations during the past five years, in which he individually and the Mutual Life Insurance company had participated.

Mr. Hughes, chief counsel to the committee, immediately took up each item of these syndicate transactions in an effort to ascertain the manner in which these profits were obtained. The entire afternoon was taken up in probing these items. Cromwell was frank and candid in his replies. An interesting point was brought out when probing a transaction in Pennsylvania 3½ convertibles, in which Cromwell made no personal profit, the witness stated, "Of course we are greatly interested in the Pennsylvania railroad. I might say we are the heaviest stockholders."

Answering Hughes, Cromwell said the holdings of the Mutual Life in the Pennsylvania railroad was $5,000,000 par. Among these transactions the connection of trust companies with the Mutual Life was brought out when it was stated that the £1,000,000 subscription to a Japanese loan was shared by the United States Mortgage and Trust company, and the Guarantee Trust company. In explaining this relation, Cromwell said:

"We gave these opportunities to the trust companies in which we hold large interests for very good reasons. As I explained, we as an insurance company need very large banking facilities for very large interests.

"It goes without saying that it is better for us to use our own companies rather than give to institutions with which we have no connection the handling of our large investments. For this reason we put men into the directorate of these subsidiary companies to look after the interests of the Mutual. It is natural we should wish to put in as directors of these companies the same men as are on the board of the Mutual. I have 100 shares in these companies as a director, but I have never made any secret of it.

"The result of our connection with these companies is that in 14 years we have made through them a profit of $16,000,000 for the policyholders. If we did not have these institutions we should have to turn the Mutual Life into a banking institution as well as a life insurance company."

CHARGES OF THEFT

Youthful Convict May Have His Prison Term Lengthened

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 14.—An unusual proceeding was begun by State Attorney Fessenden, when Paul H. Schmidt, aged 19, who was sentenced some time ago to 10 years in state prison for killing William Taylor at Sherman in August, 1904, was brought into the superior court on a bench warrant to answer to two charges of theft alleged to have been committed at the time of the killing of Taylor.

Fessenden believes that there was a miscarriage of justice in Schmidt's case and says that the sentence he received was entirely inadequate to fit the crime of which he was guilty. He was tried for murder in the first degree and the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter, for which he was given the maximum penalty.

The state attorney will now endeavor to have his term in prison lengthened by conviction on the theft charges. Counsel who defended Schmidt in the murder trial are wrought up over the matter and declare it an unheard of proceeding.

Charges of Adulteration

Boston, Sept. 14.—That Dr. Harrington of the state board of health has not ended his pure food crusade was made evident to five brewers who were arraigned in the superior criminal court on charges of adulterating their liquors. In all of the cases except those against one of the dealers the adulterating substance used was a compound of hydrofluoric acid, which was used as an antiseptic. In the case of the other dealer the adulterant was salicylic acid. One brewery pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100. The four other cases were continued.

Seeking Evidence of Crime

Holliston, Mass., Sept. 14.—The district police have made their appearance in the case of the death of William H. Jones of this town, in connection with which Alvah Warren, a recent inmate of the Soldiers' home at Togus, Me., is at present held under $1000 bonds. Officers visited the Jones premises and took away several articles, including a milking stool that was spattered with blood. The exhibits were left in charge of the local officers.

Wanted For Labor Union Larceny

Boston, Sept. 14.—Thomas F. Rae, formerly treasurer of union 11, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, has been arrested in Chicago for the Boston police. Rae is wanted here on the charge of larceny of $650 from the union. The man left town in October, 1902. He has since been located more than once, but always disappeared before the police could place him under arrest.

One of New England's Needs

Peabody, Mass., Sept. 14.—The speech of Senator Lodge, strongly advocating subsidies as the best method of reviving New England shipping and opening new markets of trade, was the feature of the dinner of the Essex club here. The rebuilding of the merchant marine, he said, will do more than anything else to restore the fortunes of New England made in shipping 100 years ago.

Detective Young Arrested

Boston, Sept. 14.—Elmer E. Young, a private detective who figured prominently as a witness in the trial at Digby, N. S., of Hope Young for the murder of 6-year-old May W. Young, the ward of Elmer E. Young, has been arrested on a charge of larceny. It is claimed that Young secured by false pretences $45 in cash belonging to Ellen W. Rogers of this city.

Child Run Over and Killed

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 14.—Henry Cohen, 4 years old, was killed last night while sitting on the curbstone near his home by being knocked under the wheels of a team driven by Thomas J. Burke. It is claimed that Burke drove near the curbstone and that the horse kicked the boy under the team. Burke was locked up on a charge of manslaughter.

Case For Medical Examiner

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 14.—Michael Murphy, 22 years old, of Marblehead, died at the Beverly hospital last night after having been unconscious all day. While engaged in a friendly boxing match with a companion Tuesday, Murphy received a blow on the head. The medical examiner will conduct an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

Third Attempt Successful

Jay, Me., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Frank Merritt, wife of a physician of this town, who had made two attempts recently to commit suicide, has succeeded in ending her life by hanging in the cellar of her home. Mrs. Merritt had been melancholy for unknown reasons for a long time. She was 45 years old.

Guilty of Postoffice Robbery

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—George Huston, aged 23, of Lynn, Mass., who was arrested in connection with a postoffice robbery at Yarmouth, was arraigned before Commissioner Bradley and pleaded guilty. In default of $1000 bonds Huston was sent to jail.

Lowell Printers to Strike

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 14.—The demand of the Typographical union for an eight-hour day has been granted by only one printing house. A strike has been ordered. About 60 men will be affected.

Murder Charge Against Cole

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—The grand jury has reported a murder indictment in the case of Edward F. Cole of this city, who is charged with the death of John F. Steeves.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE."

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

THE ALBERS CASE

American Citizen In Difficulty In Nicaragua

MISSION FOR WARSHIP

Will Convey Minister Merry to Nearest Point to Where Tobacco Man Is Imprisoned--Miscarriage of Justice Feared

Washington, Sept. 14.—After consultation between the state and navy departments it has been decided that a warship shall be sent to one of the Costa Rican ports to convey American Minister Merry, at last accounts in San Jose, northward to the nearest point on the coast of Nicaragua or Honduras to the place where William S. Albers, an American citizen, and his brother are confined pending a trial on the charge of resisting legal process and of insulting the president of Nicaragua.

The officials of the state and navy departments decline to make any statement whatever on this subject just now, but it is known that it has received serious attention and that the lack of information as to the exact nature of the offense charged against Albers and the possibility of his not having a fair trial have caused an effort to be made to get in closer touch with the prisoner.

The gunboat Princeton, now at Panama, is the nearest warship to Ocotal, where Albers is imprisoned. But the last named town is 70 miles inland over a rough mountain range from the coast and the trail is not passable by any vehicle. Amapala, on the southern boundary of Honduras, appears to be the nearest point to Ocotol.

An American of high character who has been traveling in Central America for the past few months engaged in scientific work has written a detailed account of the Albers case to friends in Baltimore, which has reached here. He states that he is entirely familiar with the case and reports as follows:

"The Limon company, of which Albers is the manager, is located at Jalapa, near the border of Honduras. This corporation is engaged in gold and silver mining and in raising wheat and tobacco, and has made quite large investments in good faith.

"It appears that in March, 1903, a company of armed men, led by one claiming to be a lieutenant in the Nicaraguan army, and alleging that they were sent by the government tobacco syndicate, demanded of Albers that he permit them to enter and carry away his stock of tobacco under seizure.

"Albers replied that he had no contraband tobacco; that he obeyed the law; that he paid the government in full; that he held regular official receipts for all tobacco in his stores. He furthermore said that the first man who tried to enter his door would be shot, but that he would permit the lieutenant to go through with one man and inspect the tobacco in order that his assertions might be proved. This was done and no contraband tobacco was found.

"Following the search of the Limon company's premises the executive at Managua, the capital of Nicaragua, issued a decree ordering that anyone holding tobacco in stock should obtain a permit and that should he fail to do this his tobacco would be confiscated, whereupon several Americans holding tobacco applied for the permits and were refused them.

"These American holders thereupon arranged to sell their tobacco to the syndicate, with the exception of Albers. But the treatment received from Albers, who had in his place American employes who could have enforced his threats if necessary, caused the syndicate managers to misrepresent and exaggerate the actions of Albers when they reported it to the president.

"As a result charges of resistance to authority and violent abuse of the executive (which is a serious offense in many Latin-American countries) were made at the court of the district, situated at Ocotol. Judicial warrants for arrests were issued and both the Albers were taken into custody at Jalapa, while peaceably walking the streets near their place of business. They were taken to Ocotol, where, as far as is now known to me, they are held in custody pending the verdict of the court, which, it may be safely assumed, will convict them."

To Return to Law Practice

New York, Sept. 14.—Comptroller Grout of New York city, in a statement addressed to Mayor McClellan, announces that he will not be a candidate for renomination to the office of comptroller. He states that his private means no longer permit of his serving in public office and that he intends returning to the practice of his profession of a lawyer.

Finns Dispersed by Troops

Helsingfors, Sept. 14.—Troops with fixed bayonets dispersed a meeting of 800 delegates from all towns in Finland called for the purpose of discussing the political situation. The police had previously ordered the delegates to disperse, but the order was ignored.

Had All He Wants of Haiti

Camden, N. J., Sept. 14.—William F. Powell, United States minister to Haiti, who is on leave of absence at his home here, announces his intention of tendering his resignation to President Roosevelt at once. He gives as his reason for resigning the prevalence of revolutions, riots and fevers in Haiti.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Acting Secretary Loomis says that the resignation of Minister Powell has not yet been received at the state department. The announcement of Powell's resignation is something of a surprise to the state department officials.

Sensational Trial Ended

Wooster, O., Sept. 14.—The trial of the divorce suit brought by Captain Elmore F. Taggart against his wife, which has been on here since Aug. 2, was brought to a close last evening. A number of well known army officers have been called as witnesses during the trial. The scenes of the alleged misconduct on the part of both Taggart and his wife have covered a wide area. Judge Eason announced that he would render his decision in a week or 10 days.

Sought a Watery Grave

New York, Sept. 14.—Throwing himself from the Washington bridge to the Harlem river, 130 feet below, Frederick W. Hansing of this city, a retired merchant of considerable wealth, committed suicide while in a fit of despondency following a protracted illness. A workman caught hold of Hansing's leg as the body shot over the edge. For an instant his grip held, but in another moment the body was falling through space.

Three Civil Engineers Killed

Cortland, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Three young civil engineers in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, were killed by a work train last evening while returning to Cortland on a handcar. Apparently the young engineers did not see the approaching train in time to jump. They were killed instantly, the bodies being terribly mangled.

Norwegian-Swedish Situation

London, Sept. 14.—Dispatches from Christiana represent the situation between Norway and Sweden as serious, owing to the determined attitude of the Swedish commissioners. Dispatches from Stockholm, however, are less pessimistic and express the hope that a modus vivendi will be arranged.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Mrs. M. W. Carter has returned from a few weeks' visit in Westminster, Vt.

The first real estate and personal tax bills were sent out Wednesday. Andrew S. Odom was the first person to pay his bill.

The police have a lot of brass couplings and values evidently stolen from some engine for which they would like to find an owner.

Every voter should carefully scan the voting list and see that his name appears thereon in the precinct where he claims the right to vote.

Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Drew of Walker street gave a neighborhood party Wednesday evening, for Miss Bessie Drew, who leaves shortly for Hampton, Virginia. After a varied musical program, refreshments were served.

Mr. Murdock McKay and Miss Janet Isabel Woodin both of Quincy, were united in marriage by the Rev. W. B. Barr last Saturday evening. These are two of our best known young people and they have the good wishes of a large circle of friends in this city and elsewhere.

—The poor tramp must pass Medford now, for the city cannot put him up under the new law, as the clean "nightie," the bath, and the iron cot are not in being. So Mr. Tramp will either pass on to the next town, be locked up for safe keeping, or beg ten cents to enable him to be put up at one of the cheap lodging houses in whose interests the law was evidently passed.—Medford Leader.

MANSLAUGHTER

Charged Against Motorman Brockway

At the Time of Hingham Disaster.

Held in $1,000 Bond for a Hearing.

Fred S. Brockway, the motorman of the construction car that dashed down Old Colony hill on the afternoon of July 22, and collided with a construction wagon standing upon the track, was arrested Wednesday upon a warrant charging him with manslaughter, and was held until Sept. 16 in $1000 bonds.

The arrest was the sensational ending of an inquest held by Judge Avery on the death of Joseph A. Vaughn.

At the time of the accident, Patrick Larkin and Joseph A Vaughn were on the construction wagon, when the car came down the hill and smashed into it. Larkin was killed outright, and Vaughn so badly injured that he died two days later at the Quincy City Hospital.

The inquest on the death of Larkin was held at Hingham, but the death of Vaughn in this city made it necessary to hold the inquest on his death in Quincy. The inquest was commenced last week but was not completed until Wednesday afternoon.

The inquest was private and the witnesses were examined separately.

At the conclusion of the testimony, Judge Avery ordered a warrant issued against Brockway for manslaughter. His arrest immediately followed, and he was held in $1,000 until Saturday for hearing,

TODAY'S COURT.

James Morrison was sent to the house of correction for one month for drunkenness at Quincy.

Thomas F. Smith was fined $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

William G. Dorr was fined $5 for drunkenness at Randolph.

Frederick P. Cronin was fined $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Thomas F. Smith was sentenced to thirty days in the house of correction for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Daniel Conarty was fined $50 for violation of the liquor law at Braintree.

CAUCUS VOTE LAST YEAR.

Only Three Republican Candidates Then—This Year There Are Six in the Field.

By request the Daily Ledger prints the vote of the city for Republican candidates for Representatives at the State caucuses last year. The total Republican vote was 1,091 divided among the wards as follows: Ward One, 253; Ward Two, 86; Ward Three, 270; Ward Four, 146; Ward Five, 280, and Ward Six, 56. There were only three names printed on the ballots, Messrs. Freeman, Nicol and Sandberg. The votes for Messrs. Taylor and Broughton were by stickers or writing.

The vote by wards is given in full:

| | Ward One. | Ward Two. | Ward Three. | Ward Four. | Ward Five. | Ward Six. | Total Vote. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Freeman, | 100 | 47 | 134 | 40 | 241 | 52 | 614 |
| Nicol, | 92 | 29 | 205 | 67 | 143 | 36 | 575 |
| Sandberg, | 183 | 41 | 117 | 120 | 91 | 20 | 572 |
| Taylor, | 18 | 24 | 0 | 0 | 18 | 0 | 60 |
| Broughton, | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 |

Mr. Freeman was the leading candidate in Wards Two, Five and Six; Mr. Nicol in Ward Three only, and Mr. Sandberg in Wards One and Four.

Mr. Freeman was second choice in Wards One and Three; Mr. Nicol in Wards Four, Five and Six, and Mr. Sandberg in Ward Two.

Mr. Freeman was low man in Ward Four; Mr. Nicol low man in Wards One and Two, and Mr. Sandberg low man in Wards Two, Five and Six.

Funeral of Mr. O'Brien.

The funeral of Thomas H. O'Brien was held from his mother's residence, 69 Copeland street Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. O'Brien has not lived in the city for the past few years, but when his health failed him he returned to Quincy. He was 49 years 10 months old.

He was a member of St. Francis Court 25, M. C. O. F., and the court attended the funeral in a body. The mass was celebrated by Rev. A. F. Roche, pastor of St. Mary's church.

As the funeral entered the church Mrs. Mary White Murphy feelingly sang "Nearer God to Thee," assisted by Thomas Donovan. At the close of the mass the Hymn "Simply to thy cross I cling" was sung. The pall bearers were John Vogel, W. T. Shea, Peter T. Fallon, P. W. Driscoll, Ernest Bizzozero Adam Vogel, Thomas Sheahan and P. T. Mannix.

The floral tributes were beautiful consisting of a standing cross from the office help of the Old Colony street Railway; pillow from St. Francis court; pillow from his brother; wreath from John Vogel; wreath from Mrs. W. T. Shea; casket bouquet from James Maureen, Helen Bums of Rockland, Maine; casket bouquet from Cathrine McGaughey of Randolph; casket bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. John Shea, of Randolph; bouquet from Mrs. William Lyons.

The deceased leaves a widow, mother, two sisters and seven brothers.

The amendments to the plumbing ordinance are published today and are now in effect,

JOB'S COMMON.

The Old Name Better for Faxon Park.

Is There a More Beautiful Woodland?

Fine View of Hull Bay, Fore River and Three Towns.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Within fifteen minutes' walk of City hall, and almost touched by two lines of electric cars, lies a beautiful bit of woodland in charge of our Park Commissioners for the pleasure and benefit of all. So secretive, however, have those officials been that the writer has failed so far to find any one who knows of this pleasure-ground, and two Sunday afternoons spent there have shown only a scant half dozen visitors, if we omit the boys who pass through on their way to the enticing swimming-pool at the old Sargent quarry ("Sargent's ledge" we boys used to call it.)

It is a great pity that this tract should have been dubbed a "park." As "Faxon's Common" or the more irreverent "Job's Common" it was known by two generations, and a common it is still, with all the attractions the word suggests.

The best entrance if you are not afraid of a large, but apparently harmless dog, is by the lane (don't say "avenue" starting near the corner of Water street, and Quincy avenue. Why this lane was made winding instead of straight probably no one knows, but you are glad that it is so.

At the head of the lane stands the farm-house with it chimney as big as a room, the diminutive corn-barn, the generous barn and the one-time slaughter-house, all a century old, and to the left the little house where Henry H. Faxon and his older brother once made shoes by hand. An appearance of neglect and a glimpse of what lies beyond forbids much lingering here, and if you are not too stout you squeeze between the tall ash trees which guard the entrance and are within the confines of "The Common."

At the top of the first slope is revealed the more or less level ground dotted with cedars, where the boys drilled in war-time, and where, later, the South Quincys downed the "Brackett Streeters" in baseball. Here, from certain points of vantage a large part of the old town lies spread out before you.

Now take anyone of the numerous paths leading southward; climb the wire fence, and you are on the Park Road, which looks so modern and citified that you wish it were not there. You will leave it soon, however, after a short walk to the right, and will take a pleasantly primitive path which trends slightly backward to your left. After that, go almost anywhere.

Is there in Eastern Massachusetts a more beautiful woodland? Oak trees are in the majority and they may look all alike to you; but the children, thanks to nature study will show you not only a half dozen varieties of oak, but maple, hickory, birch and others, as well. Not that your ignorance troubles you over-much for the fascinating beauty of it all is yours.

Paths and wood-roads wind and cross but it is perhaps best to follow the path first taken until you find yourself between walls of rock more imposing than you had guessed existed here.

It is a fairly hard climb to the second of the ledges on your left, but you are amply repaid. A dense forest fills the ravine at your feet, and covers the hill beyond, losing nothing of its beauty because it helps to frame a picture of Hull bay, Fore river, and the hills and farms of Braintree and Weymouth.

If you get away from here in time you will follow the path down to the big quarry, but keep the children behind you—you will see the reason quickly enough and will be somewhat relieved on your own account when you leave the edge with the apparently fathomless pool a good fifty feet below. The boys were swimming there, their white bodies without too much adornment of bathing-suit looking almost uncanny in the black, shadowed waters.

Return as you please. Down the hill to take the car at "the Neck," up the hill and through devious ways to Franklin street or back by some path other than that by which you came, to the entrance on Quincy avenue.

When you are home again you will be very selfish if you do not long to let others into the secret of Faxon Park, but you will forgive the Park Commission as you consider its wisdom in stopping with the one up-to-date road and leaving all the rest to nature. If lack of money has done this may there never be any available.

An old Liberty Streeter.

PLUMBING ORDINANCE.

No. 168. City of Quincy,

IN COUNCIL, May 29, 1905.

ORDERED: That Ordinance No. 36, an ordinance regulating plumbing, be amended as follows:

Add at the end of clause 3 of section 7 the following: "In work of this description no running trap with clean out will be required in the drain pipe at a point near or where it leaves the building," (as provided for in section 6.)

Strike out the whole of clause 4 of section 6, beginning with the words "all branches of soil pipe" and insert in place thereof the following: "All branch soil or drain pipes four inches or larger in diameter, fifteen feet or more in length and used for the drainage of a water closet or closets shall be continued through or above the roof of a building undiminished in size. A ventilating pipe four inches in diameter from a five-inch drain or soil pipe will be of sufficient size. Two or more soil pipes may be connected together, provided said connections are made above highest fixture on that line of pipe."

Strike out the second sentence of clause 5 of section 6, and insert in place thereof the following:

"Drain pipes when laid below the cellar bottom shall be of a grade known as extra heavy cast iron pipe and fittings throughout their entire length. All changes in directions of drains when so laid, shall be made with a Y or long branch T Y with clean-out in end of Y. Drain pipes may be covered with the exception of a sufficient space left around the clean-outs at angles of drain, and at the main trap and Y at the wall of building which must be left accessible with a space of at least eighteen inches wide and four feet in length measured from face of clean-outs in Y to inside face of wall or box. The spaces around clean-outs may be built of wood, brick, stone or cement with removable covers of suitable material."

And after the second clause of section 7 the following clause: "In houses where the plumbing is already installed and there is a two inch ventilating pipe extending through the roof of house, a two inch trap vent pipe may in the discretion of the Board of Health be connected into it from an additional fixture, without being restricted to the limit provided for on new work."

Add at the end of section 7 the following clauses: "No ventilation is required from the trap of the highest fixture when the connection from a fixture to a round trap (4 inches or more in diameter) does not exceed three feet; and the connection from the trap to the vertical line of pipe (which extends through the roof) does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to the highest connection of two fixtures when the connection with the vertical line of pipe extending through the roof is made with a double Y branch. This does not include a water closet and any other fixture."

"No ventilation is required from the trap of a water closet when the connection of the same is the highest connection of any vertical line of pipe, 4 inches or more in diameter which extends through the roof, and the branch connection from the soil pipe to the closet connection does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to two closets when the connection with the soil pipe is made with a double Y branch."

Passed to be ordained Sept. 5, 1905.

VACANCIES.

No Nominations Filed for Representatives.

For the Democratic Caucuses.

List for Delegates Are Also Incomplete.

Democratic nomination papers of candidates for the several conventions, to be voted for at the caucus Sept. 26, were opened Thursday evening by Acting Chairman B. A. McLane and Secretary A. J. LaCroix of the City Committee.

There were no nominations for Representatives to the General Court. The City Committee however will fill this vacancy sometime this week.

Of the delegates to the several conventions but few wards filed complete lists, and Ward Five did not file any. What vacancies there are however will be filled by the City Committee.

The list on nominations filed was as follows:

WARD ONE.

State,—George H. Wilson and Edward J. Parker.

Councillor,—Edward Powers, Alfred J. LaCroix and William J. Walsh.

WARD TWO.

State,—Timothy J. Carey and Joseph J. Kelley.

County and Councillor,—Andrew Fahey and John F. Moran.

Senatorial, — Thomas P. Fihely, Timothy J. Carey, William F. Cain and Edward P. Connors.

WARD THREE.

State,—John P. Duffy and Patrick W. Driscoll.

County,—Joseph J. Huston and Cornelius D. Austin.

Senatorial,—Cornelius D. Austin, William A. Kelly, James Doherty, Michael P. Barry and James Dean.

WARD FOUR.

State,—James F. Burke, James H. Elcock and William P. Hughes.

County,— John H. Ash, Philip Garrity and James M. Flaherty.

Councillor,— James L. Fennessey, James E. McDonnell and Philip T. Eagan.

Senatorial,— William T. Shea, Peter T. Fallon, Jeremiah H. Curtin, Jr., Henry M. Hughes and Charles C. McCue.

WARD SIX.

State,—William T. Moran.

County,—Michael A. Hayes, Laurence Curtin and John J. Collins.

Councillor,—Robert J. Clifford, John Canty and Edward Shea.

Ship 141 Years Old.

Speaking of the line of ships the other day, George F. Sproule, secretary of the board of port wardens, said about the oldest vessel he knows of is the True Love, which, if she is afloat today, is 141 years old.

The True Love was built in Philadelphia in 1764, and though she was only 96 feet and 8 inches long, and of 26 feet beam, she was the largest ship that had been in these waters up to that time.

She sailed from this port in 1765 and did not return until 1873, when she was 109 years old. She came in with a load of cryolite from Ivigtut, Greenland.

Then she sailed again and was no longer heard of until discovered in 1899 in the Thames river, England, where, shorn of her glory, she was and possibly is still doing service as a coal barge.

There was a proposal among shipping men here to purchase her and bring her over as a relic of bygone days and honest workmanship, but it never came to anything.—Philadelphia Record.

Stable Rules.

Important stable rules have been adopted this week by the Board of Health which should abolish several nuisances to the health and comfort. There are many stables in residential parts of the city which are really nuisances, and public notice should be given of all applications for licenses before the same are granted that injured parties may be heard.

☞Eyeglasses fitted scientifically. No guess work.—Williams.

☞A few desirable vacancies at Hotel Greenleaf.

COLORADO LETTER.

Albert Keating Visits Manitou, Cripple Creek and Other Places.

Manitou, Colorado,
Sept. 11, 1905.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

If you will accept a few lines written with a pencil I will send them along.

Friday morning, Sept. 8, we bid good bye to Denver, where we had a fine parade and splendid time, for Colorado Springs and Manitou. The scenery along up was not much different than to Silver Flume. Mountains with rocky formations from the train looked like castles, blocks of stores or residences five or six stories high; clouds passing over so low as to nearly touch the tops of the cars.

We arrived here about noon. This is the most beautiful spot I have seen as yet. We are quartered in the Cliff House, Manitou, the largest house in the place having over three hundred guests. It is situated at the bottom of Pikes Peak, a beautiful grove in front, sulphur springs at the left, soda springs directly in front, and an iron spring at the right. Mountains in the rear and mountains in front apparently only a short distance away but many miles away.

We had lunch then took carriages provided especially for our party and drove through the "Garden of the Gods." One could not believe nature could do so much without seeing it. I will name some of the natural formations of solid red rock;—frog; baggage room, looked exactly like trunks piled up; mushroon park, hundreds of exact shape of mushroons; porcupine; old man's wine cellar; barrels perfect; balance rock; old wash woman; turtle; Punch and Judy; kissing camels, buffalo head; sleepy Dutchman; sea lion; queen of the garden, color of her hair and dress show clearly; eagle; idol; elephant; bear; seal and many more. One does not have to stretch his imagination to see them perfectly. Saturday at 8 o'clock we took cog cars for Pikes Peak. It is eight thousand feet above here. It is a most astonishing work of engineering skill. Engines with tenders raised 16 per cent to bring the boiler level when going up, and the grade is 25 per cent in some places.

When within two miles of the peak we ran into a snow storm. The conductor announced two miles more to the top and two thousand feet to rise. When we got to the top we found the snow quiet deep and snow-ball matches were in order for awhile, until the hands got cold. The views from the top were beyond my pen (pencil) to describe. We were very fortunate in having a clear sun, which, shinning upon the clouds below made a beautiful sight.

At the very peak there was one grave, on the headboard is: Erected to Edith O'Keefe, daughter of John and Nora O'Keefe, who was eaten by mountain rats in 1876.

Sunday, at 8 A. M., took cars for Cripple Creek. I thought I had seen the best to be seen going to the Georgetown loop and Silver Flume, but it was not to be compared with the trip to Cripple Creek. The distance in a straight line is eighteen miles, but by rail as we went, it is forty-five miles, around and around mountains and over valleys, a rise of over five thousand feet taking over four hours to climb; then we descended to Cripple Creek. When we came in view of the city we were over one thousand feet above. The city looked like a pasture of cattle. After getting to the city we took trolleys and went twenty-two miles among the gold and silver mines. Saw the first gold mine discovered, when they could shovel up the earth from the top of the land and it would pay forty dollars per ton. Small mills are now working the refuse from that and are making good pay.

Arrived back at our hotel at 8, having been away twelve hours on pleasure.

Albert Keating.

AN INDIAN HAUNT.

"Old Liberty Streeter" Wanted in Historical Society.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

I have read the article of "An Old Liberty Streeter" in Thursday's Ledger with much interest. I have been there many times. It must have been a favorite haunt of the Indians. One arrow-head I got there is in Peabody museum, Cambridge, the other belongs to Robert Williams' son on Quincy avenue. I was much interested as to how the soldiers drilled there. I believe they also drilled at Merry Mount farm.

Mr. James Rideout has charge of the collections of the Quincy Historical society in the John Adams cottage. If the writer has never been in there, don't fail to inspect them. Tell the care-taker Mr. Rideout I told you to, and then there will be nothing said. I should like to have you join the society as your article shows an interest in such things. James L. Edwards.

Association Football.

The Quincy football club will play its second game in the Merrimac Valley League series at Ward Three playground, on Saturday, the opposing team is the Boston Rovers.

The Quincys intend to put a strong team on the field, as the Boston men are very aggressive players. If the home players put up as good a game as they did last Saturday, they should win.

The committee appointed to choose the best players from the teams composing the league, for the purpose of making up a team to meet the Pilgrims, the crack English team now touring this country, will be at the game on Saturday to size up the material on both teams.

The Merrimac Valley League standing is as follows:

| | Won. | Lost. | Per Cent. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Quincys, | 1 | 0 | 100 |
| Fore Rivers, | 1 | 0 | 100 |
| Lynns, | 1 | 0 | 100 |
| Andovers, | 1 | 0 | 100 |
| Merrimacs, | 0 | 1 | 00 |
| Boston Rovers, | 0 | 1 | 00 |
| Methuens, | 0 | 1 | 00 |
| Lawrence | 0 | 1 | 00 |

The game on Saturday will commence at 3.30 o'clock.

The first meeting of the Registrars of Voters to revise the voting lists will be held tonight in the Council chamber at City Hall. New names may be added in all wards.

Stable Rules
CITY OF QUINCY.
BOARD OF HEALTH.

The attention of all owners of Stables in this city is called to Revised Laws, Chap. 102, Sections 69—72 inclusive. All licenses issued under above Laws shall be subject to the following rules.

(a) The erection of all stables shall begin within ninety days from date of application, otherwise said license is null and void.

(b) All manure shall be kept in a separate pit or receptacle made for that purpose, properly covered, and in no case is to exceed two (2) cords in amount.

(c) When such pit or receptacle is situated under the building, it shall be ventilated by a suitable shaft.

(d) The accumulation and storage of manure outside of such pit or receptacle is prohibited.

(e) In every case the ventilation and drainage shall be to the satisfaction of the Board of Health.

(f) No building now or hereafter used as a stable shall be enlarged or alterations made without a special permit from the Board of Health.

(g) The license may be revoked by the Board of Health whenever in its judgment, the health and comfort of the people residing in the vicinity of said stable may require it.

Adopted at a meeting of the Board of Health, held on Monday, Sept. 11, 1905.

Tutty-Brayshaw.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Brayshaw, Sea street, North Weymouth, Tuesday evening, their daughter Miss Lotta, became the bride of Henry O. Tutty, son of William Tutty of that town. Rev. Thomas H. Vincent, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church performed the ceremony. Miss Bertha Brayshaw, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Harry B. Glidden of Quincy Point was best man. The bride's gown was of white muslin, trimmed with valenciennes lace. The maid of honor wore pink silk muslin, and carried pink sweet peas. Mr. and Mrs. Tutty left on a late train for New York.

Simple Service.

The funeral of Mrs. Lillian T., wife of A. F. Schenkelberger, was held Thursday afternoon from First church. There was a very large attendance of friends, but by special request no flowers, other than a spray of lilies of the valley.

The services were conducted by Rev. Ellery C. Butler, the pastor, and were of a simple nature. During the services three selections were sung by the church quartette.

The body was taken to Forest Hills for cremation.

Church Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. George Crane will be held Saturday afternoon at 2.30 from the Universalist church. All the organizations of which Mrs Crane was a member have been invited to attend.

HOSPITAL WEEK.

October 8th to the 15th a Full Month Earlier Than Last Year.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Trustees of the Quincy City Hospital on Wednesday evening at office of Mr. R. D. Chase in the Savings Bank Building, it was decided that the Hospital Week this year should be Sunday, October 8th, to Sunday, October 15th.

Last year it was November 9th to November 16th, but it was felt that there were marked advantages in an earlier date.

It was decided to publish a little paper to be distributed to everyone with the usual Hospital Week Envelopes, and it was hoped that thus, and by putting special energy into the whole canvass, an unusually generous response might be made for this splendid institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need.

UNHAPPINESS DISPELLED.

Men and Women Unanimous About It.

Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin thatch on their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes, to learn that Newbro's Herpicide has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Herpicide is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. ## GENERAL SORROW

Bostonians Feel Loss of Popular Mayor Collins

DEATH WAS UNEXPECTED

Occurred While He Was on His Vacation at Hot Springs--Boston's Foremost Irishman and Recipient of Many Favors

Boston, Sept. 15.—The arrangements for the funeral of Mayor Patrick A. Collins, who died suddenly at Hot Springs, Va., yesterday, have not been completed. It is expected that the funeral will be held on Monday or Tuesday of next week at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, the largest Roman Catholic edifice in the city.

The death of Collins caused general sorrow among all classes of citizens, especially among Boston business men, many of whom, regardless of party affiliations, supported him in his campaigns for chief magistrate.

Among the numerous tributes to his worth as a citizen and public man were expressions from former President Grover Cleveland, under whom Collins was consul general at London, Richard Olney, secretary of state under Cleveland, former Secretary of the Navy Long, Governor Douglas, William Redmond, M. P., and other prominent men.

Flags are half masted throughout the city and yesterday afternoon, over the fire alarm system, 61 blows were struck, one for each year of Collins' life. The body will arrive in Boston at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Daniel A. Whelton, chairman of the board of aldermen, will act as Collins' successor, and will probably hold the office until the close of the year.

Mayor Collins left Boston for Hot Springs, Va., on Sept. 5, for the purpose of taking a three or four weeks' respite from his work. He was not ill at the time; in fact, he was feeling better than he had for a long while, but still he felt as if he needed a rest. It had been his custom for some time to visit the Hot Springs, Va., and he selected that place for what proved to be his last vacation.

Mayor Collins was without doubt the foremost Irishman in Boston, and for years he had been the recipient of many honors at their hands. Four years ago he was elected mayor by defeating Thomas N. Hart for re-election, and two years ago he was re-elected by the biggest plurality ever given a Democratic mayor. His opponent was George N. Swallow, and the latter was defeated by something over 36,000 votes. By many it was the opinion that Mayor Collins would have been a candidate for a third term this fall, and it was generally understood that the final announcement of the mayor's position was to be made public after his return from the south.

Mayor Collins died suddenly from hemorrhage of the stomach. Only his son Paul and physicians were with him in his apartments at the Homestead hotel when death came. Mr. Collins was stricken shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning, while writing in his room. Life ebbed swiftly, and at 10:15 the end came. He was conscious to the end, but unable to speak, although he tried several times to do so.

Patrick A. Collins was a native of Fermoy, County Cork, Ireland. He was born there on March 12, 1844, and he came to the United States with his parents when 4 years old. They settled in Chelsea, Mass., where Collins attended the public schools. After leaving school he worked for eight years in the upholstery business. During his leisure hours he was an ardent student, and read many books on the lives of great men.

He also found time to read law books, and when 24 years of age entered the Harvard law school. He was admitted to the Suffolk bar in the city of Boston in 1871, and practised continually, when not in office, until the time of his death.

He was a member of the house of representatives in 1868 and 1869 and served as a state senator in the following two years. In 1875 he was judge advocate general of the commonwealth. In 1876 he was elected delegate-at-large from Massachusetts to the Democratic national convention. In the two conventions of 1880 and 1888 he was again elected, and on the latter occasion was elected president of the convention.

He was elected to congress three times, the first term beginning in 1882.

As far back as 1865 he was one of the secretaries of the Fenian congress held in Philadelphia. He has been an active member of the Land and National leagues since their establishment. In 1884 he was chosen president of the Irish National Land league. He declined re-election to this office.

He was consul general at London during President Cleveland's second term.

For many years he was chairman of the Massachusetts Democratic state committee and always took an active part in local, state and national politics.

Mr. Collins married July 1, 1873, in this city, Mary E. Carey. They had three children, Agnes, Marie and Paul. For some time he has lived in a large residence in Brookline.

The mayor was a natural leader of men. He was noted as an orator, a brilliant debater and a rapid thinker.

WYLIE FOR GOVERNOR

Bay State Prohibitionists Put Full Ticket In the Field

Boston, Sept. 15.—At the state convention of the Prohibition party held here the following state ticket was nominated:

For governor, W. O. Wylie of Beverly; lieutenant governor, J. H. Smith of Dalton; secretary of state, J. S. Lewis of Stoughton; treasurer and receiver general, C. B. Albro of Milford; auditor general, H. B. Griffin of Boston; attorney general, Allen Coffin of Nantucket.

The platform adopted reiterates the party's position on the liquor question and declares that high license in Massachusetts has failed to restrict drunkenness; deplores the unwillingness of women to assume the duties of citizenship; favors some form of initiative and referendum; advocates the popular election of United States senators; would have life insurance companies placed under government control; favors the maintenance of an American merchant marine; demands a law which shall exclude with equal impartiality undesirable immigrants, and favors the policy of reciprocity and tariff revision.

Was Unconscious Two Months

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 15.—Miss Ethel B. Cram of New York, aged 35, died just before midnight last night at her mother's summer home at Highwood, after lying for two months in an unconscious condition with a fractured skull received on July 13 last from a kick by a pony. Although some of the most eminent physicians in the country attempted to relieve her, Miss Cram never spoke after receiving the blow. Within the past few days cerebro meningitis set in.

Vessels Roughly Handled

Boston, Sept. 15.—With the suddenness of a monsoon in the Indian ocean, a heavy northeast windstorm struck the coast, and particularly Massachusetts bay, Wednesday night, and continuing through yesterday placed a sudden damper upon the movements of vessels coming around Cape Cod from either direction. Skippers were compelled to seek shelter where they had an opportunity of so doing. Some vessels were badly battered by the storm.

Skull Cracked by Overhead Bridge

Providence, Sept. 15.—George W. Burns of New York died at the Rhode Island hospital early this morning as a result of injuries sustained at Midway Junction, Conn., while stealing a ride on top of a freight car. A fractured skull was the cause of death. Burns is the second victim of the accident, John Kincaid, one of his companions on the roof of the car, having previously died. The men were struck by an overhead bridge.

Weavers Rejoin Textile Council

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 15.—The Weavers' union, after holding aloof from the central body of the mill operatives, the Textile Council, since their withdrawal four years ago, voted last night to rejoin the council. This action will give them a vote in the request for a consideration of the wage question. The weavers broke away from the council owing to a disagreement over the demand for an increase in wages and a threatened strike.

Counterfeiting Outfit Seized

Boston, Sept. 15.—Police officers arrested Solomon Fine, a Russian, 38 years of age, who is said to have been passing spurious coins. The police then searched his room on Bowdoin street and there placed under arrest Mabel Fine, wife of Solomon, and Daniel Morrison, aged 18. The police also seized a counterfeiting outfit and a number of 25 and 50-cent coins. The prisoners will be delivered to the federal authorities.

Smashup on Race Track

Clinton, Mass., Sept. 15.—At the Clinton fair, in the 2:26 pace, Dan J, driven by Dana Pratt, was well to the front when the sulky wheel collapsed and both horse and driver were thrown. Pratt was dragged 50 feet before the horse finally went down, and, although the man was pinned under the animal, he escaped without a scratch. The horse sustained a broken leg and had to be shot.

Young Denies Guilt

Boston, Sept. 15.—"This is an outrage from beginning to end," shouted Elmer E. Young when arraigned before Judge Sullivan, charged with the larceny of $45 from Mrs. Ellen W. Rogers by means of false pretences. Young entered a plea of not guilty and his case was continued. Judge Sullivan demanded $200 sureties and the prisoner was remanded to the tombs.

Must Stand Trial For Murder

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 15.—Benjamin Williams, a former soldier at Fort Ethan Allen, charged with the murder of Policeman James McGrath in this city on May 12, 1904, and who was sent to the Waterbury insane hospital for observation, has been decided to be in his right mind, and will soon be placed on trial.

Wanted For Alleged Forgery

Providence, Sept. 15.—Charles S. Froyer of New York was arrested at East Providence on a fugitive from justice warrant, charged with obtaining money from the Milo Bar Bell company of Philadelphia by forging the name of the secretary and treasurer of an advertising firm.

Balm to Amount of $25,000

Salem, Mass., Sept. 15.—The jury in the case of Alvah N. Dow against Charles F. Bulfinch of Lynn for $25,000 for alienation of the affections of his wife, Margaret, reported a verdict of $6000 for the plaintiff.

PLUMBING ORDINANCE.

No. 168. City of Quincy,

IN COUNCIL, May 29, 1905.

ORDERED: That Ordinance No. 36, an ordinance regulating plumbing, be amended as follows:

Add at the end of clause 3 of section 7 the following: "In work of this description no running trap with clean out will be required in the drain pipe at a point near or where it leaves the building," (as provided for in section 6.)

Strike out the whole of clause 4 of section 6, beginning with the words "all branches of soil pipe" and insert in place thereof the following: "All branch soil or drain pipes four inches or larger in diameter, fifteen feet or more in length and used for the drainage of a water closet or closets shall be continued through or above the roof of a building undiminished in size. A ventilating pipe four inches in diameter from a five-inch drain or soil pipe will be of sufficient size. Two or more soil pipes may be connected together, provided said connections are made above highest fixture on that line of pipe."

Strike out the second sentence of clause 5 of section 6, and insert in place thereof the following:

"Drain pipes when laid below the cellar bottom shall be of a grade known as extra heavy cast iron pipe and fittings throughout their entire length. All changes in directions of drains when so laid, shall be made with a Y or long branch T Y with clean-out in end of Y. Drain pipes may be covered with the exception of a sufficient space left around the clean-outs at angles of drain, and at the main trap and Y at the wall of building which must be left accessible with a space of at least eighteen inches wide and four feet in length measured from face of clean-outs in Y to inside face of wall or box. The spaces around clean-outs may be built of wood, brick, stone or cement with removable covers of suitable material."

And after the second clause of section 7 the following clause: "In houses where the plumbing is already installed and there is a two inch ventilating pipe extending through the roof of house, a two inch trap vent pipe may in the discretion of the Board of Health be connected into it from an additional fixture, without being restricted to the limit provided for on new work."

Add at the end of section 7 the following clauses: "No ventilation is required from the trap of the highest fixture when the connection from a fixture to a round trap (4 inches or more in diameter) does not exceed three feet; and the connection from the trap to the vertical line of pipe (which extends through the roof) does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to the highest connection of two fixtures when the connection with the vertical line of pipe extending through the roof is made with a double Y branch. This does not include a water closet and any other fixture."

"No ventilation is required from the trap of a water closet when the connection of the same is the highest connection of any vertical line of pipe, 4 inches or more in diameter which extends through the roof, and the branch connection from the soil pipe to the closet connection does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to two closets when the connection with the soil pipe is made with a double Y branch."

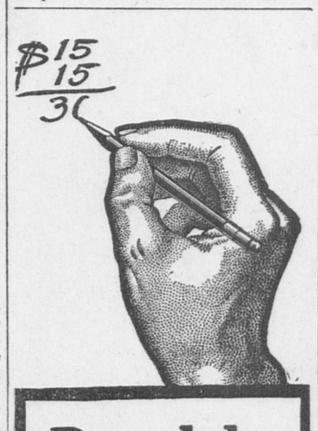

Passed to be ordained Sept. 5, 1905.

SYNDICATE DEALS

Further Light Shed on Insurance Company's Methods

A $1,120,000 PURCHASE

Not Only Yielded More Than That Amount In Dividends, but Realized a Profit--Mutual Life Treasurer Gives Testimony

New York, Spt. 15.—When the special legislative committee probing life insurance companies' methods adjourned yesterday Chief Counsel Hughes had finished for the present the examination into the Mutual Life Insurance company, and the Metropolitan Life Insurance company was started on when Silas D. Dutcher, a director and a member of the finance committee, was called to the stand.

Mr. Dutcher was questioned regarding the securities held by the Metropolitan and as to the syndicate operations of his company. He was asked the salaries of the company's officers, but could not remember them. He will present the list of officers' salaries to the committee later. Dutcher was still on the stand when the committee adjourned.

Earlier in the day Treasurer Cromwell had taken the stand to continue his explanations of the Mutual Life's syndicate operations. In explaining the relations of the Mutual with trust companies, Cromwell stated the fact that on the purchase of $1,120,000 worth of the shares of the Title Guarantee and Trust company the Mutual had received in dividends $1,220,000, making these shares cost nothing and realizing a profit. Cromwell stated these shares were now selling at over 600.

On the advantage of dealing through syndicates in preference to buying railroad bonds direct, Cromwell said he had actually tried to buy bonds directly from a railroad company. He went to his friend, Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central railroad.

"Mr. Fish told me he could not afford to sell bonds to the Mutual," he said.

"Then the truth is that the railroads must stand in with the bankers in order to sell their securities and the insurance companies must stand in with the bankers in order to buy at low prices?" Hughes asked.

"Exactly."

"The bankers control the situation?"

"No doubt about that."

Mr. Hughes asked how the increases or decreases of bank balances were controlled? "I control them," said Cromwell.

He recalled that in one instance he added $1,000,000 to the deposits in the Guaranty Trust company, because the trust company needed the money for a special purpose. He could not remember what was the special contingency, but he promised to look up the records and disclose it. This case, he said, was in no wise unusual. Hughes asked if nobody else had a word to say about increasing a deposit.

"No, I do it," was the answer. "I take the responsibility."

Mr. Cromwell said that the company's business could not be conducted effectively unless some one had the power to regulate the deposits. But finally, he added, the finance committee must approve all his actions, for all the bank balances were scrutinized by the committee every week. His own power of regulation, therefore, was temporary, and anything he might do could be revoked within a week.

"The advertising, printing, stationery and postage accounts of the Mutual is $1,134,833.76; of the New York Life it is $851,284.68; for the Equitable $772,645.50. Can you explain these very large amounts?"

"I know nothing about it. Current expenses of the Mutual are under a special committee."

"Is the same true of the legal expenses to the sum of $364,254?"

"I have nothing to do with it. It would be under the law department."

"You have an account with the American Exchange bank?"

"We have had it for nearly a generation."

"You do not receive any interest?"

"None whatever; its president is one of our trustees and he tells us frankly if we want interest we must go elsewhere, but we have not thought it gracious to close our account."

It was at this point that Dutcher was called. While his testimony developed nothing of a startling or sensational nature, several statements made by the witness were of passing interest. One of these was that the company had no treasurer, the cashier acting in that capacity.

Situation Decidedly Strained

London, Sept. 15.—Reports received from Copenhagen say that some of the powers are intervening to secure a peaceful settlement of the difficulties betwen Swden and Norway. Both the Swedish and Norwegian papers regard the crisis as acute, but it is not believed that the situation will end in war.

HELD IN $20,000

A Prominent Boston Man Is Charged With Forgery

ABOUT $75,000 INVOLVED

Broker and Club Man Said to Have Raised Railroad Certificates--Trouble Came When He Began to Speculate

Boston, Sept. 15.—Harry C. Brown, a stock broker of this city and a well known resident of Brookline, was arrested by inspectors from the Boston bureau of criminal investigation on a charge of forgery. According to Chief Inspector Watts, numerous trust companies, other corporations and individuals claim to have lost $75,000 through transactions with Brown.

The charges upon which the broker was taken into custody were those of raising two certificates, each representing one share of the Boston and Albany Railroad company, to 20 shares, and using the certificates as security on notes, upon which Brown is alleged to have obtained $8000 from the Washington Trust company.

The complainant states that on June 19 a certificate, raised from one share to 20 shares, was deposited at the Washington Trust company as security and that Brown obtained $4000. It is also alleged that $4000 was paid by the Trust company to the broker on a similar certificate on April 28 last.

Bail was first fixed at $8000, but in view of other charges pending the officials raised the amount to $20,000. Brown has a mother and brother in Webster, and they came to the city last night and prepared to furnish bonds for $8000. When they learned that the bail had been increased they reluctantly left police headquarters and the accused man remained locked up over night.

Brown has a wife and two sons. The police say that he has been doing a profitable business as a stock broker. His trouble came when he began to speculate. Then he was forced to raise money.

Chief Watts is still investigating the charges which have been made against Brown, and it is said further developments are expected. Brown is 45 years of age, and resides at 30 Naples road, in the fashionable section. He is a member of several clubs.

Brown was arrested in his office at the Ames building, where he has been doing business for many years.

When told of his arrest he turned pale and buried his head in his hands. He quickly recovered and told the inspectors he was ready. With bowed head he walked to police headquarters.

Chief Watts said he was the most surprised man in Boston when he learned of the complaint. He said he knew Brown for many years and considered him a man of excellent character and business ability.

Season For Moth Eggs

Boston, Sept. 15.—A. H. Kirkland, state superintendent for suppressing the gypsy and browntail moths, has issued a circular to property owners and fruit growers suggesting that property owners keep themselves informed of the appearance of gypsy moth egg-clusters in their districts. A few ounces of creosote, he says, will destroy millions of eggs and thus save hundreds of dollars and much inconvenience later on.

Bottle Message Reaches Destination

Montreal, Sept. 15.—When the Dominion liner Labrador was wrecked off the coast of Scotland on March 1, 1899, George B. Blandford, a cattleman, wrote a letter telling of the disaster and threw it overboard in a bottle. The letter was addressed to a Montreal newspaper. The bottle was picked up on Aug. 17 at New Harbor, N. F., by a fisherman and has just been brought to Montreal.

Brother Frank's Surprise Party

New York, Sept. 15.—The surprise of the season occurred at Gravesend in the victory of Mrs. C. E. Durnell's Brother Frank, a 200 to 1 shot, in the fifth race. A number of the books in the betting ring were hit, one book alone paying out several thousand dollars on $1 and $2 bets. Brother Frank has been racing nearly all the year and in most of his races finished last.

Held Up By Red Tape

St. Johns, Sept. 15.—Steamer Neptune, with the winter supplies of the Hudson Bay company on board, sailed last evening for the north under rush orders from Ottawa. The Neptune has had the supplies on board for more than a month, but there was a controversy in Ottawa as to whether the mounted or the marine police should control her.

Komura Fairly Comfortable

New York, Sept. 15.—A bulletin signed by two doctors who are attending Baron Komura says that there are no new developments of importance in the condition of Baron Komura, who is fairly comfortable. With regard to the illness of Baron Kaneko it is stated that he is slightly indisposed as the result of a cold.

Gotham's School Registration

New York, Sept. 15.—The total school registration of the city of New York this fall is 587,558, according to the official figures. This is an increase of over 24,000 as compared with the corresponding day of last year.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE"

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

American Tug Showed Her Heels

Erie, Pa., Sept. 15.—While fishing near the boundary line in Lake Erie, the fishing tug William J. McCarter was struck twice by shots from the Canadian cruiser Vigilant, which attempted to compel the tug to surrender. Captain Handy, the engineer and four men were on the tug, but they made the run home in their damaged boat. The tug was struck once near the water line, but the hull was only dented. The second shot knocked over a piece of machinery used in hauling in nets. The men were not hurt. The captain says that he was in American waters when the shots were fired.

Schamus Must Go to Asylum

Mineola, L. I., Sept. 15.—Isaac Schamus, who was arrested at Oyster Bay after having made efforts to see the president in order to present to him a plan for handling the anthracite coal output, was declared insane after an examination by physicians and will be taken to an asylum. Since his arrival here Schamus' condition has grown constantly worse. He is suffering from acute dementia, due to overstudy.

A Mother's Sad Predicament

New York, Sept. 15.—Clara Richter caused the arrest of her 19-year-old son, Edward, charging him with selling valuables from the home of a wealthy man at whose residence the mother was caretaker. Embracing the boy in court and weeping, the woman said to the judge: "I had to make the charge, for I am trusted in the house and I must be faithful to my trust, even though my son suffer."

Dennis Held In $1000 Bail

Boston, Sept. 15.—Chester W. Dennis, former alderman and at one time Democratic candidate for mayor of Lynn, was arraigned before Judge Sullivan, charged with forging and uttering a note for $155, to which the signature of his father, John D. Dennis, is attached. The defendant pleaded not guilty and was held in $1000 for a hearing on Sept. 28. Loretta Dennis furnished the sureties for Dennis.

Didn't Land All Her Cargo

Helsingfors, Sept. 15.—The steamer which was sunk by her crew Sept. 10, after landing a portion of her cargo of arms and ammunition on a barren island in the Gulf of Bothnia, has been positively identified as the John Grafton of London, Eng. Divers who have examined the vessel say that there are 1000 additional rifles on board.

Woman Fatally Beaten

New York, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Mary Horne, who lived with her husband at St. George, S. I., was beaten to death by one of two men who called at her house and with whom she was heard quarreling. The husband of the murdered woman and W. J. Kelly are under arrest pending an investigation of Mrs. Horne's death.

Cold on Mt Washington

Mt. Washington, N. H., Sept. 15.—Blizzard conditions have prevailed at the summit of Mt. Washington. A 50-mile-an-hour gale swept the mountain, accompanied by a rain that froze as it fell, and incased the little buildings in great masses of ice. The thermometer yesterday morning was 18 above zero.

No Sign of Fever's Departure

New Orleans, Sept. 15.—There was an increase in the number of new cases and of deaths of yellow fever Thursday. There were really seven yellow fever deaths, but one of them is the case of an Italian who, in the delirium of the fever, blew out his brains with a revolver. There were 49 new cases.

Crash Killed Motorman

New York, Sept. 15.—Lee Martin, a motorman, was killed last night when a trolley car on Staten Island took an open switch and crashed into a power house. The passengers on the car received a severe shaking up, but none was injured seriously.

NEWS IN BRIEF

FREE FROM ALUM, LIME OR PHOSPHATIC ACID

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Alum baking powders are unhealthful. Do not use them for raising food under any circumstances. So detrimental are alum baking powders considered, that in most foreign countries their sale is prohibited. In many States in this country the law compels alum powders to be branded to show that they contain this dangerous acid, while in the District of Columbia, Congress has prohibited the sale of all food that contains alum.

Alum baking powders are sold to consumers at from 10 cents a pound to 25 ounces for 25 cents, or 25 cents a pound, and when not branded may generally be distinguished by their price.

BLAME ON ALBERS

Another Version of Trouble of American In Nicaragua

Washington, Sept. 15.—"William S. Albers refused to pay a proper tax upon tobacco raised by him. He began to arm his laborers and raised the American flag on his house, at the same time threatening trouble if any attempt were made to forcibly collect the tax. All these acts formed the cause for his arrest." Such is the statement made by L. F. Corea, minister of Nicaragua, in explanation of the arrest of Albers, which has caused the United States to send a warship to demand Albers' release.

He further said that an exequator was issued to American Consul Donaldson by the Nicaraguan government, because Donaldson, in handling the Albers matter, wrote a threatening letter to President Zelaya. Donaldson, says Corea, wrote practically an ultimatum, stating that if Albers were not released he (Donaldson) "could not be held responsible for the results."

Minister Corea asserts that the proper way would have been for Donaldson to take up the Albers matter through Minister Merry, and Corea affirms that, had this been done, no cause for the difficulty with Donaldson would have arisen.

Fast Motor Car For Railroad

Omaha, Sept. 15.—The Union Pacific railway has given a practical test of a motor car built by that company for actual service. The car ran from Omaha to Valley, Neb., and return, carrying 57 persons, mostly railway officers, reaching a maximum speed of 52 miles an hour. The return trip was made in six minutes less time than is taken by the Union Pacific's best train. The test was successful. The car is built entirely of steel, and is equipped with every modern convenience.

Swelling Irish League Fund

Boston, Sept. 15.—William Redmond, M. P., was the guest of honor at an outdoor celebration under the auspices of the United Irish League of America held all day at the Huntington avenue baseball grounds. The proceeds will be made part of the $50,000 pledged to the Irish cause by the league. Athletic contests and Irish games occupied the day and the gathering was addressed in the evening by Redmond and others.

Hits American Manufacturers

Washington, Sept. 15.—The state department has received communications from a dozen points in this country where agricultural machinery is manufactured, protesting against what the senders declare to be a blow at their interests by the Argentine government in imposing prohibitive duties on parts of agricultural machinery.

President Approves Markel Contract

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 15.—A contract for the hotel and subsistence concession on the Panama canal zone, awarded to Jacob E. Markel of Omaha by President Shonts of the Panama Railroad company, will stand. This, in effect, is the decision of President Roosevelt, who approved a report on the subject made to him by Shonts.

Greek Sailors Charged With Mutiny

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 15.—Seven Greek sailors of the British steamship Glenroy, Captain Spink, are in jail here, charged with mutiny. They attacked the captain with knives. The other officers of the vessel came to his assistance and the men were subdued and put in irons. Captain Spink was not hurt.

Lost Money In Sugar Failures

Paris, Sept. 15.—Baron Salomon de Gunzbourg, a prominent financier, was found dead at his residence here. He was shot through the heart and it is alleged that he committed suicide, owing to losses resulting from recent failures in the sugar trade.

British Prince In Nova Scotia

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 15.—Cruiser Drake, bearing the flag of Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg, accompanied by her consort, the Bedford, has arrived here from St. Johns. Prince Louis made his official landing last evening.

Cholera Invasion Feared

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—It is officially announced that the governments of Courland and Volhynia are menaced by cholera and the authorities have taken precautions to prevent an invasion of the disease.

Nebraska Republicans' Ticket

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 15.—Nebraska Republicans in state convention nominated the following ticket: Justice of supreme court, C. B. Letton; regents of the university, M. C. Lyford and Frederick Abbott. The platform endorses the administration of President Roosevelt, approves his recent utterances regarding railroads, and urges representatives in congress to support the president and prevent rebates to favored shippers.

Will Fight Printers' Union

Chicago, Sept. 15.—A meeting of independent employing printers was held here in response to a call from the Typothetae and independent printers who wished to organize to fight the demands of the Typographical union. The result was that 119 of the 125 printers present declared themselves as representing establishments which would refuse to accede to the demands of the Typographical union.

SCHOOL FIGURES.

Over 5,000 Now in the Grammar Buildings.

Secondary Schools Have Over 900.

Willard Enrollment Not as Large as Some Years.

For the first time in the history of Quincy there are over 5000 pupils in the grammar schools, and the 694 enrolled in the High school makes the grand total 5697. It is fortunate for the city that it is not called upon to provide accommodations at the High school for the 170 at the Woodward Institute and 45 at Adams Academy.

The new classes are larger than ever at the Coddington, Cranch, Gridley Bryant, Lincoln, Massachusetts Fields, Quincy and Washington. The Willard class is smaller than each of the preceding four years.

The total number is larger than ever at all buildings except the Willard, Gridley, Bryant, John Hancock and Lincoln. Some of these, however, have more pupils than last year.

The largest 8th grade class in one room will be at the Adams where there are 53 enrolled, but there are 72 in two rooms at the Willard.

The Adams also has the largest 7th grade class in one room, a total of 57. Also the largest 6th grade, 66.

The Quincy has 66 in one room in the 5th grade, the largest class in that grade.

The Washington has a class of 60 in the 4th grade, and the Coddington a class of 63 in the 3d grade.

The Adams also has the largest classes in the 1st and 2d grades, estimated at 85 and 71.

The following table shows the total number enrolled in each building on Monday, as compared with the enrollment on opening days in past years:

| | 1901. | 1904. | 1905. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Adams, | 393 | 465 | *492 |
| Coddington, | 400 | 412 | 489 |
| Cranch, | 232 | 283 | 322 |
| Gridley Bryant, | 307 | 302 | 324 |
| John Hancock, | 359 | 386 | 359 |
| Lincoln, | 426 | 397 | 444 |
| Mass. Fields, | 345 | 357 | 392 |
| Quincy, | 415 | 454 | 503 |
| Washington, | 339 | 409 | 485 |
| Willard, | 837 | *900 | 825 |
| Wollaston, | 313 | 346 | 368 |

| High, | 541 | 631 | 694 |
| | 4,907 | 5,342 | 5,697 |

* Estimated.

The entering classes number over 650 pupils, the number at each building being compared with the number on the first day in past years.

| | 1901 | 1904 | 1905 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Adams, | 52 | 56 | *50 |
| Coddington, | 30 | 52 | 69 |
| Cranch, | 43 | 35 | 48 |
| Gridley Bryant, | 29 | 33 | 43 |
| John Hancock, | 42 | 38 | 46 |
| Lincoln, | 50 | 50 | 63 |
| Mass. Fields, | 49 | 36 | 51 |
| Quincy, | 53 | 54 | 74 |

| Wollaston, | 38 | 37 | 39 |
| | 528 | 553 | 655 |
| High, (new class) | 228 | 270 | 285 |

The increase in enrollment in five years has been 875 at the grammar schools and 195 at the High school. To supply accommodations the city must erect an additional grammar school building every other year, to accommodate at least 400 pupils.

AN ASSISTANT.

Raymond W. Noon Begins Work at the Y. M. C. A.

At the June meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors a committee was appointed to secure a man to act as assistant secretary and boys' work director. The committee took immediate action and called Mr. Raymond W. Noon of Everett, son of Rev. Alfred Noon, secretary of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence society.

Mr. Noon, while quite a youth himself, has had considerable experience with boys, having had charge of the boys' work in the Malden association, last year, from which he comes well recommended.

The directors recognize the great field here for work among the boys, and feel that it is the most important of any of special branches of work which the association is so splendidly equipped to do.

The work of Mr. Noon among the boys should not only add a large membership, but should prove of immense power in their development—physical, mental and spiritual.

Mr. Noon began his duties in Quincy today.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

When Kodak Box Slipped.

All the shopgirls in the car envied her when she swept up the aisle in her immaculate white suit and kodak held daintily by a strap.

"She is going off to the sea or woodlands," they thought, "while we have to work in the stuffy stores."

The woman in white seemed too dignified even to glance at the passengers, who were admiring her enviously. She toyed with the kodak and gazed suddenly out of the window. There was much speculation as to her destination.

"I bet she is going to catch the boat up the Hudson," said one of the girls.

"Nothing of the kind," said another. "She is going around to one of the Jersey coast resorts."

"I believe you are all wrong," spoke a third. "She is going down to Rockaway or Brighton Beach."

While they were all conjecturing something happened. The strap slipped and the kodak flew open. Out rolled an apple, a ham sandwich and a half of a pie. The woman in white turned redder than a tomato, and the shopgirls giggled. Their fair excursionist was on her way to work just the same as they were, but was too proud to carry her lunch in a box, so she conceived the idea of placing it in the bogus kodak. Without stopping to pick up the remnants of ham and pie she hastily closed the kodak and left the car.—New York Globe.

Alas!

"Of course," said the young man who had been singing loud and shrill, "I am only an amateur in music."

"An amateur," responded Miss Cayenne pensively, "is one who pursues an art purely for love of it."

"I believe so."

"It's the way of the world," she added, with a little sigh. "We are so often unintentionally cruel to those we love."—Washington Star.

Economical Thought.

"Oh, George," said Mrs. Youngman, "my canary bird's dead!"

"Yes?" replied her husband. "You're not grieving much."

"No. You see, I can have it stuffed for my hat next fall, and then the rest of the hat won't cost so much."—Philadelphia Press.

Assault Case.

A case involving an interesting point of law came up by continuance in the district court this morning before Judge Avery. It was that of Angus McArthur, who was before the court upon complaints for assault and creating a disturbance on a railroad train.

The facts of the case, as they came out at the hearing last Friday were these. McArthur left Boston on the late evening train for Quincy. While the train was between the South Boston and Crescent avenue stations there was a row. It was alleged that McArthur assaulted another passenger and created a disturbance.

The parties were quieted by the train crew, and after McArthur left the train at Quincy he was pointed out to an officer, who placed him under arrest.

Lawyer McKay, counsel for McArthur, claimed that the alleged assault and disturbance took place in another county.

The conductor did not arrest the defendant but when the train reached another county he was pointed out to a policeman, who placed him under arrest without knowing any of the facts. That the alleged offence being committed in Suffolk county a court in Norfolk county had no jurisdiction.

The court sustained the contention of the defendant and dismissed the cases.

Burglars Sentenced.

Three cases which first came before the Quincy court, came to a sentence at Dedham on Thursday.

Osmond Karpstyne was sentenced to four years in the house of correction for breaking and entering at Randolph and Weymouth. Joseph M. Murphy was given two years in the same institution for breaking and entering at Randolph, and George W. Scott was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory for breaking and entering at Weymouth.

The Social Realm.

He liveth long who liveth well;
All else is life but flung away.
He liveth longest who can tell
Of true things truly done each day.
Then fill each hour with what will last;
Buy up the moments as they go.
The life above, when this is past,
Is the ripe fruit of life below.

CONFERENCE

of Swedish Congregational Ministers.

Different Parts of Country Represented

Candidates Will Be Ordained Tomorrow.

The annual conference of Swedish Congregational ministers began in Quincy on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock with an introductory sermon by Rev. C. G. Ellstrom, from Brooklyn, N. Y.

The first session of the conference was held at 10 o'clock Friday morning. The chairman, Rev. J. A. Johnson, of Lynn, led in prayer, read a portion of the Scripture, and gave a short speech of welcome to the conference.

The pastor of the church, Rev. J. Anderson, also welcomed the conference to the house of worship and to the houses of the families.

The roll of members was called by the scribe, who also read his annual report which was accepted.

Letters and telegrams from absent members were read. Reports of committees were given.

The election of officers then took place resulting as follows:

Rev. J. A. Johnson, Lynn, chairman.
Rev. C. Y. Ellstrom, Brooklyn, N. Y., assistant chairman.
Rev. O. G. Norseen, Worcester, scribe.
Rev. G. E. Phil, New Britain, Conn, assistant scribe.
Rev, L. Akeson, Worcester, treasurer.

These constitute the board of the conference.

Rev. C. J. Wahlstrom, East Norwalk, Conn., and Rev. Otto Nelson, New York city, were elected auditors.

Clergymen were received as members at the conference, and a number were received as honorary members of the meeting.

Other business of the conference was then transacted.

The second session began at 2 P. M. The devotional service being led by Rev. N. J. Wessell, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The question of ordination was taken up. Candidates will be examined today and ordained tomorrow.

A committee of resolution was appointed and other business transacted.

The last number of the program of the afternoon session was a very interesting lecture by Prof. Carl Hanson of North Park College, Chicago, Ill.

In the evening all listened to a very able sermon by Prof. C. G. Princell of Chicago, Ill. About 55 clergymen are in attendance.

PRESIDENT GUILTY

Fined for Maintaining a Club Nuisance.

A case of unusual interest to the residents of Houghs Neck was heard before Judge Avery in the district court this morning. The case was that of William J. Kelly, who it is alleged is president of the Neponset Outing club. The complaint against Kelley was for maintaining a club nuisance at 205 Winthrop street, Houghs Neck.

Evidence was introduced to show that the sign Neponset Outing Club was on the building, also to the drinking and character of the people at the house.

The court found Kelley guilty, and imposed a fine of $25, from which an appeal was taken. George E. Adams represented the government and John W. McAnarney the defendant.

Acknowledged with Thanks.

Miss Minnie Packard has received an acknowledgment for the $20 sent to the Floating Hospital as proceeds of the cantata "A day in the woods." Chairman Tobey writes: "It was very kind of you and the young people associated with you to remember us at a time when we so much need all the money available, and we congratulate you and them on the success of the cantata, which certainly must have been a pleasure to your friends to have had so substantial a financial result."

—The County Commissioners have rejected both bids received for a loan of $20,000 and will ask for a larger sum.

—That this country is getting older all the time is called to mind by the fact that the two-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin will be observed January 1 next year.

SILVER WEDDING.

Clubhouse Required to Accommodate Friends of ### Councilman and Mrs. W. M. Chase.

A Happy Occasion for a Large Gathering.

Councilman and Mrs. W. M. Chase celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last evening. The event was in a way informal and proved to be a very enjoyable occasion to the large number of relatives and friends who had gathered in response to invitations to be present and help celebrate the event.

From 8 until 9 o'clock there was a reception at their residence, 192 Davis street, known as the Vue de l'Eau cottage, during which the happy couple were showered with congratulations and well wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Chase received in the parlor, the guests being presented by George M. Marks, George F. Sawyer, Jr., and Hamilton C. Chase who officiated as ushers.

Miss Marion Baker and Miss Edna Marr assisted the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Chase's mother Mrs. Andrews. Mrs. Chase was beautifully gowned in black jetted lace.

Among the guests were representatives of the Railroad Association and Santa Fe club of which Mr. Chase is a member. Also President Nichols of the City Council, and Commodore Wiley of the Wollaston Yacht club of which Mr. Chase is vice commodore.

The house and Yacht club hall were beautifully decorated and the verandas hung with Japanese lanterns.

At 9 o'clock an adjournment was made to the Wollaston yacht club house where the host and hostess gave a social hop which closed the festivities. During the evening ices were served at the house and frappe at the clubhouse. At 11 o'clock a special car conveyed the out of town guests to Neponset.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase received many handsome and substantial tokens from their friends, including a silver service from associates in the Railroad Association.

Councilman Chase first saw the light of day in that part of Brockton, which was North Bridgewater, in 1856. At the age of fourteen years he entered the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Co. as an operator, being stationed at Florence and at Lowell. It was while at Lowell that he met the young lady who later became his bride.

From Lowell he went to New Haven. Distance served only to make the heart grow fonder, and journeys to Lowell were made at frequent intervals until 1880, when on Sept. 15, he made Ida M. Andrews, a daughter of Leonard and Rebecca Andrews, his bride, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Smith Baker.

He took his bride to Mew Haven where they passed their early married life, removing from there to Medford, and later to Quincy in 1898, which has since been their home. Two sons have been born to them, Lines A. and Hamilton C.

Linscott Found Guilty.

Alfred A. Linscott of Quincy, was found guilty in the Superior court at Dedham, this week, of the larceny of $985 at Quincy, Dec. 7, 1903, the property of Patrick F. Fleming. He will be sentenced later.

Frank Admission of Vice President Perkins, Who Also Acted as Officer For Morgan & Co.--"Follows His Conscience"

New York, Sept. 16.—George W. Perkins, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and first vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, was the star witness at Friday's session of the special legislative committee which is probing the methods of life insurance companies in this state, and his testimony was replete with revelations in the development of finance as applied by insurance companies.

The climax of the day came when Perkins was asked concerning an entry of $48,702 in a ledger, marked "ordered paid by the president." Mr. Randolph, the treasurer of the New York Life company, who had been on the stand earlier in the day, had been sharply questioned as to the purport of this entry, but he was unable to explain it. He thought no one but the president could. Perkins had been called to testify as to some other transactions and after the recess he was asked to produce the check. It was made out payable to J. P. Morgan & Co. and Perkins frankly stated that it was a contribution to the national Republican campaign committee and had been paid to Cornelius N. Bliss. Perkins said:

"This payment was made after very careful deliberation. It was paid because we felt that the assets of the New York Life Insurance company would be jeopardized by Democratic success."

Mr. Perkins said contributions were also made in 1900 and 1896. As an illustration witness said the first contribution made was in 1896 by President McCall, who is a Democrat. "He contributed to the McKinley campaign fund," he said, " and voted for McKinley because he felt it was in the best interests of the policyholders of his company."

This bomb, in exploding, created a stir in the densely packed room. Pursuing the check inquiry further, Mr. Hughes brought out that this expenditure was never brought to the attention of the finance committee, the witness terming it a "purely executive action." It was charged against cash on the books of the Hanover bank office, or financial department. Witness did not know against what account the other contributions were made, but he would furnish data.

"Is there no self-restraint allowed the officers in these campaign contributions?" asked Senator Armstrong.

"None that I know of. I think we have a right to leave the matter to the judgment of the officers."

Assemblyman Rogers then asked about the sale of bonds on Dec. 31 to J. P. Morgan & Co., and the repurchase on Jan. 2. "Now, Mr. Perkins," he said, "you acted in the transaction for the life insurance company and also for J. P. Morgan & Co?"

"I completed the transaction for J. P. Morgan & Co. because that house was the only place where I could realize a fair sum for the bonds at that time."

Mr. Hughes asked Perkins to explain how on the books in the syndicate action by which $800,000 in bonds was sold on Dec. 31, 1901, and bought back Jan. 2, 1902, there was shown on the debit side of the account $160,000 and on the credit side $800,000, and Perkins replied:

"In that transaction we asked for $5,000,000 of bonds and only got $4,000,000. We made up our minds to sell the $800,000 of this sum and our books therefore only showed $3,200,000. When it came to the end of the year we sold the $800,000 and instead of taking a loss of $160,000, we only took a loss of $80,000. I arranged with J. P. Morgan & Co. to sell it at a price and then I bought it back at the same price. After rebuying I held on to it and finally sold it at 90. Our first idea was to sell it at 80, but we finally got 90."

Senator Armstrong—"Now in the transaction, when did Mr. Perkins, an officer of the New York Life, give way to Mr. Perkins, an officer of J. P. Morgan & Co?"

"I don't understand your point."

"Well you, as an officer of the New York Life, issue one order, and Perkins, as an officer of J. P. Morgan & Co., receives it. When were you acting for the New York Life; when for J. P. Morgan & Co? When were you acting for the New York Life?"

Mr. Perkins then burst into a protestation: "Mr. Chairman, I act as I think right. I do not think whether I am acting for the New York Life or J. P. Morgan & Co. I follow my conscience and do what I think is right."

The senator was unmoved and asked: "But where did your loyalty to one or the other end?"

"My loyalty lies where my duty is," replied Perkins. "I want to say," he continued, "that since I have been with J. P. Morgan & Co. during these last four years that the company has marketed more securities than the New York Life, the Equitable, and the Mutual have accumulated in the last 60 years. Competition is no longer the life of trade; it is co-operation."

LARGE MILL BURNED

Early Morning Fire Destroys Wool Company's Property

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 16.—Fire which started at the plant of the American Woolen company in the village of Collinsville, five miles from Lowell, at 12:30 o'clock this morning, destroyed a large five-story brick mill and threatened the other property of the company.

The fire was first noticed on the second floor of the mill by one of the watchmen employed by the corporation, who says the flames first appeared above a quantity of shoddy, indicating that they had origin probably from spontaneous combustion. There is no fire department in the village, but the corporation owned several lines of hose and these were brought into use by villagers who were hurriedly aroused by the watchman. Attempts were made to subdue the fire, but they were ineffectual and the flames soon spread to all parts of the high building.

A call was sent to Lowell asking that the fire department of this city send aid. Four pieces of apparatus were dispatched to the scene, but by the time they reached the fire the roof and one wall of the mill in which the flames originated had collapsed. The firemen then gave their attention to the other mills., which were in great danger.

The burned mill was a comparatively new structure and was used for scouring and drying wool, one of the first processes in the manufacture of cloth. The Collinsville plant, which is one of the 28 throughout New England and New York state owned by the American Woolen company, is the only industry in the place, and it is expected that several hundred hands will be idle some time. The loss will be heavy.

Mourning For Collins

Boston, Sept. 16.—From all parts of this country and from foreign lands telegrams of condolence with expressions of admiration of the life and character of the late Patrick A. Collins have been received by the family of the departed chief executive of this city. All the public offices and buildings will be closed on Monday and flags on all public buildings and in the parks will remain at half mast for 30 days. All the public buildings are being draped with black, while many of the business blocks and stores are likewise putting on the signs of mourning.

Alleged "Ringer" From Vermont

Milwaukee, Sept. 16.—At the state fair grounds it was announced that the Citizens' Business league purse of $5000 given for the 2:21 trot will not be distributed until the identity of the winner, Advancer, is established beyond a doubt. The horse was entered by I. N. Chase, representing the Forest Park farm of Brandon, Vt. Those who say the horse was a "ringer" declare that he campaigned as Major Chew and has a record of 2:14 1-4.

Hostilities End In Manchuria

London, Sept. 16.—By the terme of the armistice signed in the field by the representatives of Linevitch and Oyama, hostilities in Manchuria will cease today. Separate negotiations will be necessary formally to end the fighting in Korea and to establish a neutral zone at sea. The treaty covering the Manchurian district provides for a neutral zone between the two armies, within which only civilians will be allowed.

Magazines Third Class Mail

Washington, Sept. 16.—Acting Postmaster General Shallenberger has issued an order excluding from the mails for Canada 38 monthly and weekly publications unless postage is prepaid by means of stamps at the rates for third-class matter in the domestic mails. This action is in compliance with the stipulations of the postal convention between the two countries. Magazines in 11 states are affected.

Alleged Default of Contracts

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 16.—On account of an alleged default of their contracts, Attorney General Wilson will bring suits for damages against the several publishing companies who have agreed to furnish the books for the public schools of Alabama. The publishers who will be defendants in the state's suits include Silver, Burdett & Co. and Ginn & Co., both of Boston.

"Tainted Money" Sidetracked

Seattle, Sept. 16.—By a vote of 46 to 10, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of the Congregational church went on record as opposed to a further discussion of "tainted money" in any of its phases. This vote was taken after the leading Congregationalists of America had voiced their sentiments on the subject.

Power Boat Made Good Time

New York, Sept. 16.—The 33-foot power boat Simplex III won the 142-mile race from this city to Poughkeepsie and return. Her time was 7:27:35, or at the rate of a little more than 17 knots an hour. The Simplex finished an hour ahead of the Wizard. The other boats were disqualified.

Temperature Down to Freezing

Portland, Me., Sept. 16.—While the predicted frost did not occur in this city, the inland points report a severe frost and a minimum temperature of 30 degrees. The only farm product seriously damaged was the sweet corn.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Sept. 17.
Sun rises—5:26; sets—5:52.
Moon sets—8:03 p. m.
High water—1:15 a. m.; 1:30 p. m.

HISTORY OF THE WAR

Chief Events of Russo-Japanese Conflict Briefly Outlined.

Hostilities between Japan and Russia, which were terminated by the signing of the peace treaty at Portsmouth the other day, broke out Feb. 8, 1904, says the Chicago News.

For several months prior to that date a sharp diplomatic correspondence had been carried on by the two powers. Japan demanded the evacuation of Manchuria in accordance with treaty stipulations, but Russia deferred action on one pretext or another until the patience of the Japanese government was exhausted.

Negotiations were abruptly broken off, and Baron Rosen, muscovite ambassador to Tokyo, was given his passport. Japan had been quietly preparing for war ever since 1895, when Russia, with the aid of France and Germany, stepped in and prevented the acquisition from the Chinese of the Liautong peninsula and Port Arthur. In the early part of February, 1904, troops began to assemble at the southwestern seaports of Japan, and the fleet under Admiral Togo left Sasebo for a base near the Korean and Manchurian coasts.

On the night of Feb. 8, before war had been actually declared, Japanese torpedo boats attacked the Russian fleet at anchor in the harbor at Port Arthur and badly damaged some of their best ships. It was said that many of the Russian officers were absent from their posts attending festivities in the city. On the following night a second attack was made, and more damage inflicted, the battleship Poltava suffering the most. At Chemulpo, Korea, the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz were attacked and sunk on Feb. 9. The next day Russia formally declared war, and on Feb. 11 Japan did the same. Troops were immediately landed by the Japanese at Chemulpo. They marched overland to Wiju, on the Yalu river, where they arrived at the end of April, without meeting any resistance.

In the meantime events of importance took place on the sea. Mines had been planted by both sides in the vicinity of Port Arthur, and the transport Yenesei, the cruiser Boyarin, the torpedo boat Skorri and the battleship Petropavlovsk, all Russian vessels, were almost immediately blown up. The most serious loss was that of the Petropavlovsk, which went down April 13, with Admiral Makaroff and 525 officers and men, including the famous painter Vereschagin. The Japanese made attempts Feb. 24, March 26 and May 3 to block the entrance to Port Arthur and in so doing sacrificed many merchant ships, several torpedo boats and a number of lives. They succeeded in obstructing the chanel, but not in closing it.

The first important battle of the war was fought on the Manchurian side of the Yalu river near Antung May 1. General Kuroki attacked and routed a Russian force of about 21,000 men under Generals Zassoulitch and Kashtalinsky and then marched on to Fenghuancheng, which he captured without a battle. While he was doing this other Japanese armies were landed on the Liautong peninsula at Pitsewo, Takushan and Kinchow, with Generals Nogi, Oku, Nodzu and Kawamura in command. May 21-26 the troops under General Oku captured the village of Kinchow and the strongly fortified Nanshan hil after a severe struggle.

Then a strong force was sent south to invest Port Arthur, while the other armies turned toward the northeast. Dalny was occupied May 30 by the Japanese, and from that time on it was made the chief base of supplies for all the columns in the field. Newchwang was evacuated by the Russians July 25. June 14 the battle of Vafangow or Telissu was fought, the Russians being defeated.

It was in June that a Russian fleet made a raid out of Vladivostok, sunk a number of Japanese transports and captured several merchantmen of various nationalities. Toward the end of the month Generals Kuroki and Oku defeated the Russians at Motien and other passes southeast of Liaoyang and drove them toward that city. General Kuropatkin had by this time assumed command of the Russian forces in the field.

The bombardment of Port Arthur from the land side began June 21 and with brief intermissions was continued until the fall of the fortress, Jan. 1, 1905. General Nogi conducted the operations against the stronghold, while General Stoessel had command of the defenders. Fighting of the fiercest description occurred from time to time when the Japanese attacked some outwork which they deemed it necessary to capture, and thousands of lives were sacrificed on both sides. Cannon of the heaviest caliber were used, and the Russian defensive works, supposed to be impregnable, were in many cases pounded into shapeless heaps of ruins. The shells, particularly after the capture of 203 Meter hill, Nov. 30, were thrown with deadly accuracy, and one after another the ships in the harbor were sunk or completely disabled. The town became untenable, and on Jan. 1 General Stoessel capitulated with 878 officers and 32,000 men.

Before the fall of Port Arthur the Russians met with further disasters at sea. Aug. 10 their ships in Port Arthur made an attempt to escape, but were met by Togo's fleet near the Gugan rocks and dispersed after a battle lasting six hours. Most of the Russian warships got back to Port Arthur only to be destroyed later on by shells from the Japanese batteries, but the battleship Cesarevitch and the cruiser Askold were compelled to take refuge in ports on the coast of China, where they were interned. The cruiser Novik escaped temporarily, but on attempting to reach Vladivostok was met by the Japanese cruisers Chitose and Tsushima off the island of Sakhalin and driven ashore. Admiral Witthoft, in command of the Russian fleet, was killed.

On Aug. 14 a Japanese squadron under Admiral Kamimura met the Vladivostok fleet near the Tsu islands, in the strait of Korea, sunk the cruiser Rurik and compelled the cruisers Gromoboi and Rossia to return to their home port in a badly damaged state.

In October the Baltic sea fleet on its way to the far east mistook a fleet of English fishing boats in the North sea for Japanese torpedo boats and fired on them, sinking one vessel and killing two men. The affair caused a great commotion, but the matter was referred to The Hague arbitration tribunal which returned a verdict against the Russians, who made the restitution awarded by the members of the court.

The armed Russian vessel Lena arrived in San Francisco Sept. 11 and was interned until the close of the war. In the course of the year the Japanese lost the battleships Hatsuse and Yashima, both being sunk by mines, and the cruiser Yoshino sunk in collision. They also lost the gunboat Kaimon, the dispatch boat Miyako, five transports and a number of torpedo boats.

From Aug. 26 to Sept. 4 occurred the battle of Liaoyang, which up to that time was by far the most important engagement of the war. Some 200,000 men were engaged on each side, and the combined loss in killed and wounded was about 40,000. General Kuropatkin was forced to evacuate the town and the series of forts he had constructed around it and retreat to the Sha river, a short distance south of the large walled city of Mukden.

Here from Oct. 11 to 19 took place the second great land battle of the war. Both armies had been re-enforced by about 50,000 men. The Russians in this case assumed the offensive, but their advance was checked by the Japanese after a desperate struggle. Some 80,000 men were killed or wounded, the Russian losses being much the greater. At the conclusion of this battle the contending armies went into winter quarters, and operations were confined to the vicinity of Port Arthur, where, as has been told, fighting continued almost without cessation until the opening of the new year.

On Feb. 24, 1905, the Japanese began the second battle of the Sha river, also known as the battle of Mukden. This proved to be one of the greatest contests, if not the greatest, in the annals of history in respect to the number of men engaged, time consumed, territory covered and losses suffered. Field Marshal Oyama was in command of the combined Japanese armies under Nogi, Kuroki, Oku, Nodzu and Kawamura, numbering all told about 450,000 men. The Russian forces under General Kropatkin were estimated at 40,000 less, or 410,000, so that a total of 860,000 men were engaged. The line of battle was 110 miles long, but the fiercest fighting occurred in the immediate vicinity of Mukden. General Nogi with his Port Arthur veterans rapidly encircled the Russians' right and attacked from the vicinity of Sinmintin, while Kawamura and Kuroki assailed the left and threatened the communications with the north.

Kuropatkin, after losing 100,000 or more men, gave the order for retreat. The Japanese pursued him to Tieling and beyond, and then, both sides being exhausted, the series of titanic combats came to an end. Kuropatkin was recalled to St. Petersburg in disgrace, but was finally permitted to remain with the army, the leadership of which was intrusted to General Linevitch. The Russian headquarters were removed to Gunshu pass, on the railroad line to Harbin. Skirmishing on a small scale took place during the ensuing months, but the necessity of getting new supplies of food and ammunition and of recruits to fill up the depleted ranks prevented battles of importance.

While matters on land were quiescent those on sea were shaping themselves for a tremendous climax. Russia, having lost control of the eastern waters, determined to regain them by sending a powerful fleet from the Baltic to Vladivostok. The first ships sailed from Libau Oct. 16, 1904, and others followed not long after. Admiral Rojestvensky was in charge of the first division and of the whole fleet when the units had finally assembled. Voelkersam, Enquist and Nebogatoff were the assisting admirals. Rojestvensky arrived at Madagascar Jan. 2 and was joined there by Voelkersam. They sailed together March 16 and passed Singapore April 7.

Finally when all the component parts of his fleet had assembled Rojestvensky sailed toward the north, passing between Luzon and Formosa and into the sea of Japan. When on May 27 he was passing through the strait of Korea, between the Tsu islands and the coast of Japan, he was attacked by the entire Japanese fleet under Command of Admiral Togo, his battleships were sunk or captured, his cruisers destroyed or driven away and some 14,000 of his men killed by shell fire or sent to the bottom of the sea with the warships. Admirals Nebogatoff and Rojestvensky were captured and Admiral Volkersam was killed. The Japanese losses were small.

The annihilation of the Russian Baltic sea fleet practically put a stop to the war. Peace negotiations were begun on the initiative of President Roosevelt with the concurrence of several of the European powers.

The war is said to have cost about $1,500,000,000. Between 500,000 and 600,000 men were killed, wounded and captured. As compiled by the London Times the Japanese lost 167,402 men and the Russians 388,480.

Broker Brown Arraigned on Forgery Charges

HE PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Police Said to Have Knowledge of Fifteen Forgeries, Amounting to $135,000--He Is Held In $20,000 Bail

Boston, Sept. 16.—Harry C. Brown, the young broker accused of raising over $200,000 by means of forged stock certificates, was arraigned in the municipal court, charged with forgery in two counts.

Through his counsel, George R. Swasey, he pleaded not guilty and had his case continued until Sept. 28 for a hearing.

The police are still looking up the extent of Brown's alleged misdeeds, some of the single share lots of Albany stock that he is known to have owned not having yet been accounted for.

The defendant's brother and wife were in court when the prisoner was arraigned, and after the hearing, which lasted but a few minutes, went in search of the $20,000 bail which the court requires for his liberty.

It is reported that in 15 different instances the amounts obtained by Brown on alleged forged certificates of stock of the Boston and Albany Railroad company were, respectively, $1000, $7000, $4000, $8000, $6000, $38,000, $5000, $3000, $5000, $1000, $17,000, $16,000, $11,000, $5000 and $8000, making a total of $135,000.

It is reported that the police have absolute knowledge concerning the 15 instances cited above, and that there are five or more other instances which they are investigating, in the expectation of discovering where he has obtained $15,000 or $20,000 additional which has not yet been heard of.

In default of bail Brown was committed to jail. Hiscmfwyp vbgkqj vb mitted o jail, his wife and brother having been unable to raise that amount.

Soldiers Fled In a Hurry

New York, Sept. 16.—Fire shortly after 1 o'clock this morning destroyed four barracks buildings at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, sending a company of coast artillery from their quarters in such haste that they were able to save but few effects. From the company buildings the fire spread to the structure used as a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association and to the fourth building, used as a gymnasium. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is $45,000.

New Hampshire Woman Missing

Centre Ossipee, N. H., Sept. 16.—High Sheriff Johnson of Carroll county has been requested by Oscar J. Avery of Ossipee to investigate the disappearance of his wife, aged 32, who left home on Aug. 30 for the purpose of carrying a farm hand to Waterboro, Me., about 40 miles from here, where he was to secure another place. Avery states that there had been no quarrel between his wife and himself, and fears that harm has befallen her.

Sentiment For Sea Level Canal

Washington, Sept. 16.—A majority of the foreign members of the consulting board of engineers of the isthmian canal appear to favor a sea level canal. This fact may become of the greatest importance if their votes shall become necessary to decide that which is the principal question requiring a decision at the hands of this board.

Satisfactory Business Outlook

New York, Sept. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that industrial, commercial and agricultural progress continues satisfactory. Nothing has occurred to weaken confidence, the disposition being to extend plans further into the future and many plants have their facilities engaged well into next year.

England Not Asked to Arbitrate

London, Sept. 16.—It is officially announced that there is no truth in a report that Foreign Secretary Lansdowne has been asked to arbitrate the questions in dispute between Sweden and Norway. No proposal for British arbitration has been made by either side. It is believed that a satisfactory settlement will be reached.

New York, Sept. 16.—W. K. Vanderbilt's steam yacht Tarantula won from Howard Gould's steam yacht Niagara IV, in a race over a 40-mile course for a $5000 purse on Long Island sound. The time was 1:50. The Tarantula finished the race far ahead of the Niagara IV.

Status of Printers' Strike

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Developments in the controversy between the Chicago Typographical union and the master printers indicate that the independent employers will agree to the demands of the union and the fight will finally simmer down to a struggle with the Chicago Typothetae.

River Disappeared and Returned

Rome, Sept. 16.—The activity of Mount Vesuvius and of the crater on the Island of Stromboli is increasing. At Sevigliano a river entirely disappeared in a fissure caused by the earthquake and soon afterwards again appeared, overflowing its banks.

Close Call For Fire Chief

Boston, Sept. 16.—Hurled fully 50 feet, as the result of a swiftly moving electric car striking his wagon as he was rushing at breakneck speed in answer to an alarm of fire, District Chief Sennott barely escaped death last evening. He was picked up unconscious and hurried to a hospital, where he was found to have sustained a great scalp wound and numerous contusions about the head and body. While the effects of the shock will keep him in bed for several days, he is expected to recover.

Wind, Lightning and Fire

Omaha, Sept. 16.—During an electrical storm that swept eastern Nebraska and western Iowa last night a panic was caused in the Dodge hotel here when lightning and wind tore off the roof of the hostelry. The building caught fire and the guests fled precipitately to the street. Many small buildings were wrecked. The storm reached the proportions of a tornado at Burwell, where one person was killed, many were injured and $50,000 damage was done.

Troubetskoy Is Honored

Moscow, Sept. 16.—Prince Troubetskoy, the foremost liberal in Russia, who headed the delegation which presented the petition of the all-Russian zemstvo congress to the czar, was elected rector of the Moscow university by a large majority. Troubetskoy is the first person to be elected head of a Russian university since 1880, when the government assumed the right of nomination.

Albers Sensation Peters Out

Washington, Sept. 16.—Developments have occurred in the Albers case which may make it unnecessary for any United States official to proceed to Ocatel, Nicaragua, to ascertain the facts connected with Albers' arrest and imprisonment. Information is on its way to Minister Merry which will throw new and full light on the case.

Ambassador Meyer to See Kaiser

Berlin, Sept. 16.—Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, left Berlin last night for Homburg, where it is presumed he will see Emperor William. The ambassador while here had an interview with the minister for foreign affairs.

Chicago May Get Yellow Fever

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Several Italians, supposed to be infected with yellow fever, arrived at the Union station last night and evaded a health officer who was at a train to meet them and are still at large. The Italians came from Tallalulah, La.

A Call For Peace

Tiflis, Sept. 16.—The strike is at an end and normal life has been resumed. The viceroy has issued a long proclamation to the inhabitants of the Caucasus, calling upon the populace to assist in the pacification of the country.

Forty-Two New Cases of Fever

New Orleans, Sept. 16.—The number of new cases of yellow fever continues larger than was hoped for. They numbered 43 yesterday. There was two deaths.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Timothy L. Woodruff, former lieutenant governor and Republican leader of Kings county, N. Y., will abandon Brooklyn and take up his residence in Syracuse.

A resolution calling upon the members of the National Association of Manufacturers to support the employing printers in resisting the movement of the Typographical union for an eight-hour day was adopted by the board of directors of the association.

It is understood that the government is not yet ready to accept the new drydock at the Boston navy yard, which has been undergoing a rigid inspection on account of a leakage at the steel caisson.

Fire in the J. D. Putnam box shop at Webster, Mass., did damage amounting to $10,000. The cause is unknown.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE."

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

On the Black Mountain.

Nothing strikes a visitor to the Black mountain more forcibly than the perfect security of a country where every man is a warrior and goes about his daily business with his revolver in his belt. The traveler is sacred to the Montenegrins, whose manners prove the truth of the saying that they are the aristocracy of the Servian race. Dressed in their picturesque national garb of blue knickerbockers, white gaiters and crimson jackets, with pork pie caps of scarlet and black on their heads, the mountaineers look the beau ideal of a nation of fighters, such as the old Greeks must have been in the days when they all carried arms. Their whole history during the five centuries of Montenegrin independence has been one long series of frontier feuds, and even now guerrilla warfare on the Albanian border is not extinct. But to the stranger within their gates, whatever be his nationality, the mountaineers are friendly and hospitable.—Westminster Review.

The Stars and Stripes.

A German periodical has the following story as to the origin of the stars and stripes: The idea originated with a Dane named Marker. He was born on the island of St. Croix of the Danish West Indies, where his father and grandfather had lived. In 1795 he left his native island and proceeded to Philadelphia. He was among the first to join a company of volunteers for American liberty and independence. For valor shown at Oriskany he was elected captain, and to show his gratitude he designed a flag in whose upper corner he applied the thirteen stars emblematic of the thirteen original states of the Union. This was the first occasion upon which the "star spangled banner" was unfurled. The original flag of Captain Marker is supposed to be in existence in some national collection of relics of the war of the Revolution.

Hats In Parliament.

During the reign of King John (1199) the king agreed to settle the difficulty with Philip II. of France respecting the Dutchy of Normandy by single combat. John, earl of Ulster, was the English champion, and as soon as he appeared on the field of combat his adversary put spurs to his horse and fled, leaving the earl master of the field. King John asked the earl what his reward should be. "Titles and land I want not," he replied, "but in remembrance of this day I beg the boon, for myself and my successors, to remain covered in the presence of your majesty and all other sovereigns of this realm." This request was granted and never revoked, and it is said to account for the custom in parliament of members wearing their hats.—London Standard.

Webster as a Farmer.

Webster was a scientific farmer. He believed thoroughly in the value of blooded stock. At Marshfield he had a herd of sixty or eighty head of cattle composed entirely of thoroughbred animals—of Alderneys, Ayrshires and Devons. He had several yoke of Devon oxen, which were his particular pride. Besides, there were blooded sheep and swine. All in all, Webster was considered by his neighbors the best farmer of the country. He was, moreover, a friend generous and considerate. There used to be a saying down Plymouth way that a stranger could always tell when Webster was at home by the cheerful looks of the people for ten miles around.—Oliver Bronson Capen in Country Life In America.

Roman Lamps.

Roman lamps were of many sizes, but most of them very closely resembled what is at present denominated a sauce or gravy boat. At one end there was a ring, through which the finger was passed when the light was carried. The body of the vessel was filled with oil, and at the other end there was a small tube, through which a rag wick was passed. When this was lighted the smoke and odor of the rancid fat employed were extremely offensive. Many Roman poets mention the abominable effluvium sent out by the lamps at the feasts.

A South African Name.

The hardy Boer voortrekkers had a fine sense of poetry in naming places in South Africa. In the Transvaal there is a place which rejoices in the name of Waachteenbeitjebeldebaschfontein. "It is a name," says a Cape Town exchange, "which speaks of leisure, whose gentle invitation to the thirsty traveler to rest a little by the brook beneath the cool shade of the tree calls up at once the thought of a green oasis in a dry and barren land."

Mme. de Maintenon.

Once when Mme. de Maintenon, who had risen from the gutter to grandeur, was looking pensively in the golden pool at Versailles her companion, noting the fish in the crystal water, observed, "How languid the carp are." "Yes," replied the famous beauty, with a sigh, "they are like me; they miss their mud."

Man's Helpmeet.

She was not made out of his head to top him, not out of his feet to be trampled upon by him, but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected and near his heart to be loved.—Matthew Henry.

Not Traveling Incognito.

"Miss Smiley is going to travel under an assumed name."

"You surprise me!"

"Yes; she is going to be married next week and start on her honeymoon."

To be sure that you are right is proper, certainly, but also be sure when you are right to go ahead.—Kansas City Star.

One Chance In a Hundred For Life

[Original.]

It was the old story of a murder, circumstantial evidence, a legal duel between the state attorney and counsel for the defense, with a defeat for the latter and an innocent man sentenced to death.

How a few days before the sentence was to have been carried out he got out of jail was never certainly known, though it was admitted at the prison that his wife was admitted to see him, and when she went away a keeper remarked that she looked taller than when she went in, and another, seeing her get on to a trolley car, noticed that she wore heavy boots. The rest of the story goes that the wife was found locked in the prisoner's cell alone.

He had been hiding during the day and had heard them beating the bush all about him. Several times he believed that in a few minutes he would be dragged from his hiding place. But while men are much more intelligent than dogs there are cases where dogs may throw men into a contrast of stupidity. His pursuers could not smell him.

Night came, and under its friendly cover he left a region where he was known to be and must certainly be discovered on the morrow, if not during the night. Crawling under bushes between two men set to watch for him, he stole through their line and ran with all the strength he had left after two days' fast till he came to a farmhouse. There, knowing that he must have food for strength to struggle further, he went boldly in, asked for a supper and ate his fill. Then he started on with one, and only one, advantage—strength. But his chances were growing less.

Suddenly he stumbled into a depression and fell. His hands struck smooth iron and he knew he was on a railroad. He got up and walked on the track, soon coming to a point where he could see a station a few hundred yards from him. It was lighted, and a single man walked back and forth on the platform. The fugitive watched him, suspecting that he was there to prevent his escape by train. If he could only get aboard without the man seeing him he would have a further and a better chance than before to escape. A way train came along and stopped at the station, but it was closely watched, and he did not dare try to get on. The watcher went through it, and when it had gone left the station. Doubtless there could be no other train for some time.

Two hours passed. A man drove up to the station in a buggy and dragged a big bag to a post beside the track a short distance from the station and attached it to a beam projecting from the post. It was the mail bag placed in position to be caught by an express train.

There is no such nourisher of ideas as self preservation. All that man is today may be traced to his one instinct. The hunted man knew that by and by an express train would pass, an iron hook on the mail car would be adjusted and catch the bag around the center and it would be caught and swung into the car.

The idea flashed into the fugitive's brain, "Can I be swung on to the train with this bag?" He calculated the chances, and concluded that they were about as follows: Death, ninety; thrown beside the track maimed, nine; taken in alive and recovering from wounds, one.

While he was deliberating there came from a distance the bark of a dog, followed by another and another till their number was lost in a confusion of baying.

His pursuers had secured bloodhounds and his capture was now certain.

Hark—the distant rattle of a train!

It must be the express. The man's mind is made up. He will take the one chance in a hundred.

When his wife had taken his place in prison she had brought him a rope and a knife. These were all the articles he had asked for and he had had as yet no use for them. Taking the rope from his pocket, he went to the post, stood on a platform beneath it and began to lash himself to the bag. He first tied a part of the rope around the bottom of the bag, then lashed his body under his arms to the upper part of the bag and, lastly, wormed his feet into the rope about the bottom. This left his middle free.

The barking of the dogs and the rattle of the train came nearer, though from different directions. It was the train alone in which he was interested. Having finished his lashing, he turned with the bag, which, finally settling, brought his face to the track. Without this his one chance would have been lost. As the train thundered near he bent his body like a bow.

When the hook struck the bag it struck out his consciousness. When he regained his senses he was lying on the floor of the mail car with several trainmen standing over him. His pursuers would not have known him, for his face was drenched in blood. All he knew was that he was alive, aboard the car and there was hope.

When he reached the city the trainmen offered to call an ambulance for him, but he said he felt strong enough to get home alone. He got upon his feet and, resisting with all his will a disposition to faint, staggered out of the car. When he had passed the gate without being stopped he seemed to gather new vigor, walked briskly out of the station and boarded a trolley.

He has never been heard from by the police, but his friends aver that he and his wife are living under an assumed name in a foreign land.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The tax bills being sent out this year by the City Collector are the best we have ever received. On the back is the valuation on each parcel of real estate, and on each building; giving information so much desired by taxpayers.

The large lawn around the Thomas Crane Public Library never looked better than it does today. The numerous showers and warm sun have made the grass green and beautiful, and the nice manner in which the ground are taken care of, makes them an honor and credit to the city.

The attention of Superintendent Kirkland of the state Moth-suppression work has been called to the breaking-up of gypsy moth egg-clusters on tree trunks and branches while farmers and others are picking the fall crop of apples. Mr. Kirkland suggests that it would be wise for all property owners in the infested district to send to him for a bulletin on the gypsy moth, by which they may learn the appearance of the gypsy moth egg-clusters. These clusters are easily destroyed by soaking them with creosote and Mr. Kirkland says that, if the pest is to be suppressed it is highly important that every owner of fruit trees should take the necessary precautions to prevent scattering of the moth eggs. A few ounces of creosote will destroy millions of eggs, and the important thing now is to have the right work done in the right way. Mr. Kirkland's address is 6 Beacon street, Boston.

The notice of the Board of Health regarding stables will be read with interest by sufferers from unsanitary stables, and there are a good many of them in the heart of the city to say nothing of the outlying districts. A public or private stable should not be allowed to exist in the residential part of the city which is a menace to public health and a perpetual nuisance to surrounding property holders. Several families or people should not be made to suffer for the accommodations of one.

The present Board of Health seems to be up-to-date and desirous of keeping abreast of other cities and towns and should be encouraged in their efforts. If you suffer from your neighbor's thoughtlessness or carelessness, take your grievance personally to the Board of Health and you will receive courteous treatment and a correction of the evil so far as it lies in their power.

A Quincy Man Honored.

Mr. Ernest W. Branch, of this city, who superintended the installation of the Quincy sewer system, has just been elected to full membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers. This high honor is conferred only on those who have had ten years of actual practice as Civil Engineers, have superintended important engineering structures, and are capable of designing intricate and important works. Membership in the American Society is so safe-guarded, and so restricted that it is the best guarantee of high class efficiency and at the same time an honor for meritorious, and distinguished service in engineering. We congratulate Mr. Branch on being the first in the city elected to full membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The interment of Miss Sarah Vincent Dexter, a member of the old Boston family, took place on Monday at the old Milton cemetery. She died in Switzerland about a month ago. Services were held at Trinity church, Boston.

AMONG THE WOMEN'S CLUBS.

The Quincy Women's club at date has a membership of 297 and a waiting list of seventy-five. Three on the waiting list have failed to qualify since notified of their election so their places may be filled from the waiting list as it is hoped to start the fall season with the full membership of 300.

Edward Everett Hale said very truly in a recent address that "the moment a club exists for itself alone, only that the members may 'have a good time,' that Thursday afternoon or Wednesday evening may be 'occupied' they are going to the devil as fast as they can. But the clubs which exist for the good of mankind for helping forward the kingdom of God, they succeed. They ought to succeed and they do succeed."

Club women will wend their way next Saturday afternoon to the Memorial church, Atlantic, where Professor Edward Howard Griggs is to lecture on Julius Cæsar, under the auspices of the Shakespeare club of Atlantic. This opens the fall season of the club. Owing to the specially fine program, the lecture is open to the public as well as the club, subscriptions being received by the club president, Mrs. Ward Whitcher of Atlantic and Miss Annie L. Prescott of Quincy.

The program for the meetings of the Monday club of Weymouth has been completed so far as possible and seems to offer to the members of the club many profitable as well as entertaining sessions. The committee has been especially fortunate in securing for the first afternoon, Oct. 2, Mrs. May Alden Ward of Boston, who will speak on "The Club Idea; its aims and object."

The Social and Literary club of Atlantic will open the season next Tuesday, when "Tainted Money" will be the subject for discussion, and Julius Cæsar the subject of the Shakesperian reading. Meetings will be held on the first and third Tuesdays.

The year book of the Abington woman's Afternoon club has been issued this week to the members. By it is seen that there are to be fourteen meetings, at which nine lectures will be given by prominent speakers. The first meeting will be on Oct. 12, and the annual guest night is to be March 2. Parties not members of the club can enjoy the lectures by the payment of a small fee.

Work at the Brackett homestead is being rushed so that everything will be in shape for the fall meetings of the Quincy Women's club, the first one being the second Tuesday in October. Members wishing to contribute towards the chairs, silver, etc., are invited to subscribe to Mrs. George G. Saville, chairman of the house committee. This is in accordance with a vote of the club that each member contribute one dollar to purchase chair, cup and saucer, silver, etc. An early response will insure members a seat at the openirg meeting.

Following is the calendar of the Monday club of Weymouth for the ensuing year:

October 2. Mrs. May Alden Ward. "The Club Idea." Club Social.

October 16. Dr. Charles A. Eastman. "The True Story of Hiawatha."

November 6. Home Talent. Discussion in the interests of "Pure Food." Club Social.

HOSPITAL WEEK.

October 8th to the 15th a Full Month Earlier Than Last Year.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Trustees of the Quincy City Hospital on Wednesday evening at office of Mr. R. D. Chase in the Savings Bank Building, it was decided that the Hospital Week this year should be Sunday, October 8th, to Sunday, October 15th.

Last year it was November 9th to November 16th, but it was felt that there were marked advantages in an earlier date.

It was decided to publish a little paper to be distributed to everyone with the usual Hospital Week Envelopes, and it was hoped that thus, and by putting special energy into the whole canvass, an unusually generous response might be made for this splendid institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need.

Watches as Prizes.

The G. A. R. boys are making great preperations towards their grand fair. Tickets are selling rapidly. There will be three valuable gold watches to be contested for by any person. To those bringing in the highest amount of cash will be awarded the watches. A great hustle is expected. The books on watches can be obtained of Mrs. Mahala McKie, 92 Brooks street, Wollaston; Mrs. Arthur C. Merritt, 13 Elm place, or Mrs. Laura E. Holt, 32 Cottage street, Quincy.

Bellevue Park and Montclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Edric F. Young of Bellevue Park are entertaining Mr. Young's mother, Mrs. D. F. Young, of Brighton for a few days.

What might have been a very severe accident, happened last Tuesday evening at about half past seven. A large two-horse express team, belonging to Boynton's Express Company, was coming from Hancock street to Farrington street, heavily loaded with goods, and a very bad rut tipped the side wheels, and as the driver had been drinking heavily, he was so intoxicated that he did not know enough to right the wheels, before the horse nearer the edge of the road, felt something wrong, and jumped down the banking, which righted the left side and turned the wagon on its left side against the fence. The fence gave away, but a part of it held enough so that the team was not entirely upset. Word was soon sent to Boynton's and another team was sent, and it was not long before the trouble was all out of the way.

The already crowded Quincy school was helped along, or at least still more crowded by the sixty pupils that went back to school. Although not all of them entered this fall, some of them did but in two or three years more there will be about that number entering.

Mrs. Patrick Hannon of Squantum street is entertaining company for a time.

Miss Lillie H Spencer, who graduated from the Quincy High School last June, entered Bridgewater Normal school last Wednesday for two years, where she will prepare for teacher's work.

Mrs. D. M. Reed of Hampden corner, Maine, is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. H. N. Holbrook of Broadway.

Daley--Berry.

Miss Gertrude A. Berry, 1290 Washington street, South Braintree and William H. Daley, 166 Walnut street, Neponset, were united in marriage Tuesday morning at nine o'clock in St. Francis church, Rev. Matthew F. McDonnell officiating, assisted by Rev. Augustine Malley of Charlestown.

Patrick Malley of Dorchester presided at the organ and the soloists were Misses Lucy Phillips, Ethel Smith, Elizabeth Flanagan and Mr. Horan, all of Dorchester. The ushers were Sidney Dunn and George A. Berry.

The bride was charmingly gowned in a white lace dress over white silk and she carried brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Rena Mannex of West Quincy, a cousin to the bride was bridesmaid. She wore white point d'esprit over white silk and carried pink roses. Daniel J. Daley, brother of the groom was best man.

The church was completely filled with Braintree and Dorchester people, the happy pair being exceedingly popular.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley, the home of the bride. Refreshments were served by T. D. Cook of Boston. Nearly one hundred people were present when the bride and groom departed for the noon express train for Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Daley were the recipients of many choice pieces of cut glass and silver ware.

Brockton's Air-Ship.

The Brockton Fair management always on the lookout for something new to please their countless patrons have made a ten-strike this year that will make their many friends open their eyes in wonder. At an expense prohibitive to most fairs they have secured for the last three days of the fair, October 4, 5, and 6, Roy Knabenshue and his Air-Ship, "Toledo II." The Toledo II, is an air-ship sixty-two feet long and sixteen feet in diameter and weighs 200 pounds complete. It is drawn along by a two-bladed propeller in the bow, driven by a ten-horse power gasoline engine.

Knabenshue is the man who startled New York City this summer, crowding its streets with spectators, by his aerial trips among the clouds, sailing from Central Park over the city at will, returning to the park and alighting gracefully at the point of starting.

At a cost of $5,000 he has been secured and will repeat these marvelous feats of aerial navigation from the Brockton Fair grounds on the dates mentioned. Although the expense of this great attraction is large, none of the features of other years will be withdrawn, but on the contrary will be bettered and enlarged wherever opportunity allows. The Horse Show, The Stage Show, The Firemen's Muster, the cattle and poultry exhibits, in fact, all the attractions that have delighted thousands in the past will be retained giving truth to the saying: "The Brockton Fair gives its patrons the best and a little more."

Friday evening's Transcript in its music and drama column had a lengthy article on the rise of Clara Blandick which will interest Quincy people as she passed her girlhood in this city being then known as Clara Dickey, and resided with her mother, brother and sisters on Hancock street. Since going on the stage she has been known by her stage name of Clara Blandick. She has risen quickly in her profession.

—From time immemorial in Cambridge, England, the dairymen roll the butter so as to form a long stick weighing a pound, which they sell in slices, as if it were sausage. In the market the butter merchants do not need to use either weights or scales. A simple glance is sufficient for these people accustomed to the time honored practice. A very neat cut with the knife divides the yard into halves, quarters or eights exactly, and it appears that the customer is never given short measure.

HISTORIC HOUSE.

Over 1400 Visitors in Year at Dorothy Q. Museum.

Since October last year over 1,400 persons have been conducted through the rooms at the Dorothy Q house in this city. These visitors represented 27 different states and five foreign countries.

When the Colonial Dames came into possession of the house, they restored it as near as possible to its original state. Many articles of historic value have been collected, and are displayed in the rooms, and a visitor can readily spend an hour or more in the inspection of these articles which take one back to the good old days.

One of the particularly interesting thing about the house is the secret chamber, which has doubtless shielded many persons of Revolutionary fame from the red coats of King George. Every visitor wants to see this room and they quickly mount the few steps necessary to look into it.

A small fee is changed for inspection of the house, with the exception of Saturdays when admission is free.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The disposition of Manager [illegible] e Empire Theatre to afford the patrons of this play house opportunities to enjoy the best of all classes of dramatic attractions is again shown in the announcement of Henry Arthur Jones' clever comedy "The Liars" as next week's attraction at the Empire. It is decidedly an interesting comedy, well worth the applause of discriminating play goers and sure to afford a delightful entertainment in the hands of such a competent lot of players as those in the Empire stock company.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Owing to the big hit scored by will M. Crossy and Blanche Dayne during the past week, At Keith's the management have been prevailed upon to hold them over for the week of Sept. 18. Mr. Crossy and Miss Dayne are most popular hereabout and there is no question of doubt but what many patrons will be glad of the opportuuity to see those clever people again. The surrounding show contains a host of new material including George Monroe "My nt Bridget," a clever impersonator of Irish women and one of the most unctious entertainers in the varieties; The Ellis Nowlin trio of comedy acrobats; Laura Burt, late leading lady with with Sir Henry Irving, in monologue and songs; Mon. Chassino, The wonderful European hand and foot shadow grapher; The Italian trio, pleasing vocalists in high class songs; Max Walton, the foremost European female impersonator; Martin Brothers, clever xylophone players; The National trio, ring performers and gymasts, John Zimmer, a skilful juggler of small articles; Phil Rado and Jessie Bertman, in the funny comedy sketch "The New Girl," and other notable entertainers. The kinetograph will exhibit the usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures. Underlined for the week of Sept. 25, is Lasky's musicans one of the most novel acts of the kind ever seen in the varieties.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Under the direction of the Boston Stage Society, the Castle Square Theatre is already numbered among the high-class playhouses of Boston. The productions of the two opening weeks —"Old Heidelburg" and "Imprudence" have at the outset given evidence of high artistic achievement, and it is apparent that every promise made by the Management will be fulfilled to the letter. The best of plays will be offered, the best of acting is assured, and the most expert stage direction will assure as perfect a production and as complete a scenic environment as money and and care can procure.

For the third week of the season, beginning next Monday, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is announced. This play which is a dramatic version of Thomas Hardy's famous novel made by Lorimer Stoddard, a son of the poet Richard Henry Stoddard, was made famous by Mrs. Fiske's interpretat on of the unfortunate heroine some years ago.

CHURCH BUILT IN ONE DAY.

Members of Kansas Congregation Did All the Work Themselves.

"Brother Smith, would you please pass me some nails? Thank you; thank you."

"Do you think this scantling is straight, Brother Jones?"

"Now, all together, everybody nail!"

And in a few moments one side of a church in Kansas City, Kan., was nailed together, says a special dispatch from Kansas City to the Chicago Record-Herald.

A church built in a day? Impossible.

But nevertheless more than thirty male members of the Armourdale Baptist church built a church the other day and held prayer services in it on the same evening at 7 o'clock. The new church was constructed entirely by the members of the church.

The building is 24 by 40 feet and will seat 200. The distance from the floor to the eaves is twelve feet, and from the floor to the highest point of the sloping ceiling is fifteen feet. The building was shingled and ready for use at 6 o'clock in the evening.

PRIZE AWARDED

For the Home Science Gardens by the Children.

There have been many children interested in gardens this summer and some have done good, faithful work.

Flowers and vegetables have been made to grow among rocks and in ash-heaps, where water had to be carried, as well as under more favorable conditions.

In some cases the parents are much interested in the children's success while in others the child has worked hard with little encouragement. Gardens with a plan and arrangement made by the child are those deserving especial mention. All those who entered are recommended to try again next year and win a larger prize. To do this one must have a garden all his or her own. No prizes will be given next year if flowers and vegetables are scattered about in a large garden belonging to some one else.

THE DAY NURSERY

Report of the August Visitor at the House.

It was my fortune to be appointed Day Nursery visitor for August, and for the benefit of those equally interested, but unable to call often at the Nursery I offer the following notes.

Made seven visits in all, and each time found the children happily employed at the sand-box in the yard, with their amusements in the play-room, or eating their simple dinner. The sand-box was ordered by Mr. Julius Johnson and delivered by him with the bill receipted. It would certainly be gratifying to him if he could see how continually his gift is enjoyed. The broken rocking-horse, chair and rocker were mended free of charge by Mr. Henry E. Emerson and the children are once more happily playing with them. Twice I went through the house from attic to cellar, and while the quarters are not altogether satisfactory, yet everything is made the best of, and will probably be occupied during the following winter being in some ways better adapted to winter than to summer quarters.

Provision is made for getting children in the vicinity of the square to and from the nursery daily, and anyone having or knowing of children needing the nursery care have only to notify the matron or any of the association members. There are several things needed at the nursery, and knowing by experience how readily the needs are met as soon as made known, I made a list of them for my report. Two crib mattresses are needed very much for winter use.

Those which have served though the summer being too thin for cold weather. A good looking-glass or dresser with mirror is much needed in the matron's room. The matron for the past year having put up with much inconvenience for lack of these necessaries. For the children's play room a couple of boxes with hinged covers would be of great use to hold playthings when not in use, and for seats during the day. Children's clothing would be especially useful; shoes and stockings, but more particularly drawers and aprons. Flannelette drawers of all sizes from one year to six are much needed, and ought to be on hand in good number for the coming winter. Four little pinafores were made and given by Mrs. Raymond during August, and gave great pleasure to the wearers with the little pocket at one side. Children's coats are needed, one immediately to fit a child three years old.

The day nursery work is exceedingly interesting and profitable; means to continue and extend it will no doubt be generously given during this autumn and winter. It is undoubtedly a work the women's club could carry on successfully and perhaps when the club's plans are more definitely formed centralization of effort will be realized for more than one good work in Quincy.

—The official organ of the American medical association, published at Chicago, prints annually a compilation of the casualties throughout the United States resulting from Fourth of July celebrations. According to this compilation, this year's record is 182 killed and 5994 injured, compared with 183 killed and 4169 injured in the celebration of 1904, and 466 killed and 3983 injured in 1903. There has been marked improvement in the case of fatalities since 1903, and this is unquestionably due to the public agitation on the subject.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

BURNED TO ASHES

Seven Lives Lost In Fire In a Connecticut Factory

CAUSED BY AN EXPLOSION

Eleven Are Seriously Injured, Two Probably Fatally--Town Had No Fire Department to Cope With Flames

Avon, Conn., Sept. 16.—The explosion of a fuse, followed by a fire in a building of the Climax Fuse company here, caused a panic and resulted in the death of seven persons and injuries that doubtless will prove fatal to several others.

There was no way of coping with the flames, and in less than an hour after the explosion occurred those who were unable to escape were in the clutches of a fire that eventually burned their bodies to ashes. The great crowd that collected in the hamlet saw the bodies of men and women roasting in the fire and were powerless to even check the flames.

The list of dead follows: William Burke, James Joyce, Robert McCarthy, James Wallace, Molly McCarthy, Miss J. Sullivan and Mrs. M. B. Tucker.

Of the 11 seriously injured Charles Dimmock and Mrs. William Burke will probably die. Mrs. Burke is the wife of William Burke, who is numbered among the dead, and had been employed in the factory but a few days.

The exact cause of the explosion may never be known, but it is the accepted theory here that in an effort to burn out a stoppage in one of the machines James Joyce caused an explosion of a fuse with the hot iron he held in his hand. Those who were in the room where the explosion occurred and who came out of the place in a condition to tell about it say that the explosion was not a severe one and ordinarily would not have caused a panic.

Inflammable material nearby, however, was set on fire and in a few moments the room was a mass of flames. In an instant there was a mad rush for the doors and windows and during the scramble many were pushed back into the building, while others were severely burned.

The explosion took place on the ground floor of the older buildings in the factory group, in the finishing room, and about 20 persons were employed there. There were but 60 hands at work in the entire plant. Some of the dead may have been overcome by smoke before they had a chance to flee and it is improbable that any one of the seven victims lost his life by the force of the explosion.

The scene at the fire was heartrending. Friends and relatives of the missing were almost frantic when it became known that bodies of those close to them were being burned to a crisp in the ruins of the factory. As there is no fire department in the town, it was utterly useless to cope with the flames with buckets.

Soon after the building in which the lives were lost was consumed the fire spread to the new structure, which was just completed at a cost of $35,000, and in a few hours this building was gutted, only the four walls remaining. Two smaller buildings were reduced to ashes, making a total of four burned, the loss on which is estimated to be $100,000.

A few rods from the group of burned buildings are two small sheds in which fuses and powder are stored, but they escaped the flames.

It was supposed that the burned buildings were either fire-proof or equipped with automatic fire sprinklers, but on account of the burning of the belting which works the pumps the sprinklers were rendered useless. A great quantity of valuable machinery was destroyed.

The result of the burning of the fuse works will have a severe effect on the industrial situation in this town. The factory was the principal industry here and many of the 1300 inhabitants depended on its running for a living. In all probability it will not be rebuilt.

Elmer Young Aquitted

Boston, Sept. 16.—Judge Sullivan acquitted Elmer E. Young, who was charged with stealing $45 from Emma Rogers by false pretences. The defendant was declared not guilty because of lack of evidence. Young was the father of Minnie Young, for whose murder Hope Young is now awaiting executon in Nova Scotia.

Audobon Boy's Performance

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16.—At the grand circuit races held here 20,000 persons witnessed Audobon Boy, in the rain, pace a mile without wind shield in 2:00 1-4 in an effort to break the track record of 1:59½. When the time was hung out a mighty cheer swept through the crowd of spectators.

Will Die Out of Prison

Boston, Sept. 16.—Governor Douglas has pardoned William Powell of Gloucester, who was servnig a sentence for breaking and entering. Powell was pardoned because of ill-health, the prison physician stating he had but a short time to live.

Komura Shows Improvement

New York, Sept. 16.—Baron Komura's physicians report the patient's condition as being decidedly satisfactory, the temperature range being appreciably lower.

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

LANDED IN DITCH

Southern Editor and Friends In an Automobile Accident

Winchendon, Mass., Sept. 16.—An automobile containing members of the party accompanying Governor Glenn of North Carolina and residents of this town plunged over a bridge on the road to Royalston here and landed at the bottom of a ditch, pinioning the occupants underneath.

The injured include Guy Townsend, a resident, seriously hurt; Selectman Raymond, head cut and bruised; J. C. McNeill, editor of the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer, badly cut about the head; Owen Hoban, lawyer and local resident, knee injured and back sprained. McNeill is one of the best known writers and poets in the south.

The motor car containing Governor Glenn was directly behind the automobile which met with the accident, and only the prompt action of the chauffeur avoided a collision between the two cars as the first automobile swerved from its course and crashed into the ditch, capsizing in its passage. It is believed that all the injured will recover.

Will Relieve Burden Bearers

Boston, Sept. 16.—A circular urging moderation and loyalty to the Royal Arcanum at this time has been sent by Ferdinand S. Read, Massachusetts grand regent of the Royal Arcanum, to every subordinate council in the state. He says it is generally agreed that the law which goes into effect Oct. 1 will provide sufficient income to assure the perpetuity of the order for all time. Measures have been adopted by the supreme council to remove a part of the burden from the older brothers who are unable to meet their assessments.

Pupils Marched to Safety

Laconia, N. H., Sept. 16.—The Mechanic street wooden schoolhouse was damaged by fire to the extent of $7000 and with one exception the teachers succeeded in marching the 200 pupils into the street without the slightest evidence of a panic. A boy jumped from a second story window and escaped uninjured. The fire started near the furnace in the basement and was probably caused by a spark falling into a pile of waste paper.

Murderous Assault Suspected

Portland, Me., Sept 16.—The city and county authorities are working together in an effort to solve the mystery surrounding the case of Charles Clency, who was found with a fractured skull lying in a stable at Stroudwater, where he was employed as a hostler. The officers say that they are certain Clancy was murderously assaulted for the purpose of robbery. Clancy may recover.

Didn't See Queen Dowager

Milford, Mass., Sept. 16.—A large number of Italians assembled at the railroad station here in the expectation of seeing Queen Dowager Margherita of Italy, who, it was reported, had accompanied William F. Draper, former ambassador to Italy, across the Atlantic. The Italians were disappointed, as the story that the queen had come to this country was unfounded.

A Leather Merchant's Bequests

Boston, Sept. 16.—According to the terms of the will of the late L. F. Rhodes, a leather dealer, $100,000 is to be devoted to charitable and educational purposes. Mrs. Mariana Robbins, sister of the deceased, is left $200,000; Mrs. McMullen of Salem, his wife's niece, $100,000; three nephews, $75,000 each, and two former employes, $25,000 each.

False Entries Alleged

Swanton, Vt., Sept. 16.—A. J. Ferris, former president of the People's National bank of Swanton, now in the hands of a receiver, was arrested on the charge of misappropriating two notes from the bank by means of false entries. Ferris was taken to Burlington, where he was held in $2000 bonds, which he furnished, for a later hearing.

Jackie Found With Throat Cut

Boston, Sept. 16.—A body found in the Charles river has been identified as Charles Grossman, a seaman on the armored cruiser Colorado. The police are conducting an investigation, as the man's throat had been cut in several places. Grossman enlisted in the navy Aug. 6, 1903, for a term of four years.

Arrest In Morrill Assault Case

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 16.—A bench warrant was issued by Judge Thayer of the supreme court for John Brown, charging him with assault with intent to kill Mrs. Antionette C. Morrill of Greenwich and also with burglary. Brown was arrested and remanded to jail in default of $5000 bonds.

Farm Buildings Burned

Sutton, Mass., Sept. 16.—Three barns and a shed on the farm of W. H. Warner were burned last night, causing a loss estimated at $10,000. A horse knocked over a lighted lantern, causing the fire. The farmer's wife rescued 23 cows and her son rescued four horses. Eleven cattle perished.

New Hampshire Bank to Liquidate

New Ipswich, N. H., Sept. 16.—The trustees of the New Ipswich savings bank have decided to close the bank. All depositors and creditors will be paid in full. The deposits amount to about $40,000. The proposed liquidation is due to light business.

Bluecoats Stopped Boxing Bout

Rockland, Mass., Sept. 16.—The police of Rockland last night stopped a boxing match between Tom King of Fall River and Tom Quill of Brockton in the middle of the fourth round. Both men were fighting hard.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Man From the Bank

By HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1905, by Charles W. Hooke

WHEN I was on duty in the banking district, before I got my present desk job at headquarters, I used to see some queer things. It was my business, along with other detectives scattered through that region, to keep it clear of known crooks and in general to watch out for the fellow who wants to practice sinful deceptions on the unwary banker or his customers. Naturally I fell in with some interesting adventures.

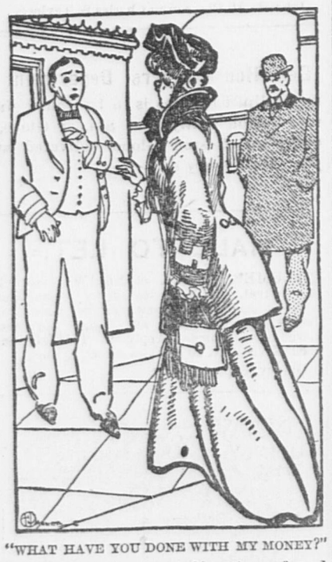

One day about noon I was coming round the corner of the Temple building from Wayne street into Liberty when I saw an elegant looking woman about thirty years old jump out of her carriage and run into the Temple bank. I noticed that she got out unassisted before the footman could open the carriage door, and it was evident that both the coachman and the footman thought that something was going to happen.

I recognized the woman and the turnout, having seen them there about two months before, the same day that I caught "Doc" Turner, the cleverest bank sneak in this country, hanging around that corner and ran him in as a suspicious person, for which I got well roasted next morning by the judge, who discharged Turner and told me that it was an outrage to arrest him just because he was an ex-convict when I couldn't prove that he was doing any harm. As if such a crook as "Doc" Turner could exist without doing harm! Some of these judges would make you laugh.

However, to resume my story, I knew who this woman was, because one of the newspapers printed her picture and description in connection with an article defending me for arresting Turner. It seems that she was Mrs. Gertrude Holden, widow of a rich real estate man well known in that line of business up to the day of his death. He left her substantially all his money, and she continued some of his operations, being more of a speculator than he was, according to all accounts. She had a large account with the Temple bank, and on the day when I took "Doc" Turner in she drew several thousand dollars in cash, and the thief was within two yards of her when she carried the money across the sidewalk in her hand bag. The newspaper which defended me for arresting Turner used this fact to show the danger of letting such men run loose in the banking district.

All this naturally came back to my mind when I saw Mrs. Holden go into the bank in such a hurry, and so I stepped up to the door not more than three paces behind her. There is a partition along the right side of the bank reaching about halfway to the ceiling, and the space behind it is divided into offices.

The cashier's room is the third from the door, and as I looked in I saw a young man named Perry come out of that room just in time to meet Mrs.

"WHAT HAVE YOU DONE WITH MY MONEY?"

Holden face to face. She stopped and stood straight, giving him a quick, keen look. Then she pointed her finger at his breast as if it had been a pistol.

"What have you done with my money?" she demanded.

At that I went inside in double quick time, and I was on the spot before Perry answered. He seemed to be taken all aback.

"Wh-what?" he stammered. "I beg your pardon."

Mrs. Holden's voice was steady, but very high pitched when she repeated her question:

"I said, What have you done with my money?"

The cashier, Mr. Stover, came out of his room, and Mrs. Holden turned to him without waiting for Perry's reply.

"Mr. Stover," said she with a strained calmness, "my money is gone. This man has taken it."

Stover looked blanker than Perry. He did not know what the woman was talking about.

"Come into my room," said he. And at that moment he caught sight of me and made an inconspicuous sign that he would like my help.

I accepted Mr. Stover's invitation, and so did Mrs. Holden, but she took good care that Perry should enter the cashier's room ahead of her.

"Now, Mrs. Holden, what's the trouble?" said the cashier when we were all inside and the door was shut.

The lady cast a quick glance at me.

"Mr. Kelly, police detective," said Stover.

"I drew $18,000 from the bank five minutes ago," said she. "I put it into this bag and went out to my carriage. I had just got in when this man"—pointing to Perry—"came out and said that there had been a mistake in counting my money. He had some bills in his hand, and I naturally supposed that I had received too little. I gave him the bag, and he opened it right on my lap and counted the money slowly. 'That's queer,' said he and counted it again. I watched him and saw that the amount was right. There were ten $1,000 and sixteen $500 bills. He put them back into the bag and snapped the catch. 'I beg your pardon,' said he. 'The teller must have been mistaken.' He went into the bank, and I told the coachman to drive away. Just after the carriage started I thought I'd have a look at the money and count it myself. I opened the bag, and this was what I found."

As she said these words she laid the bag on the table and pulled out of it a roll of green paper in pieces cut to the size of bank notes. There were two one dollar greenbacks in the bunch. Presumably they had been on the outside of the green paper to give the roll a more genuine look. That is the way that the bunko game is usually worked, but I could hardly believe that this young man Perry had worked it.

Perry was a nephew of the cashier and had been rather wild, as I happened to know.

Stover did not seem to be the least bit anxious about this accusation against his nephew, but he was puzzled by the case as a whole, as I could see plainly enough.

"You're sure that the man who came to your carriage was Mr. Perry?" he asked. "Did you recognize him at the time?"

"I never saw him before," replied Mrs. Holden, "but I know him now."

She turned and pointed toward Perry, while she said slowly and with decision:

"I know that coat. I noticed the buttons particularly. I can't be mistaken."

Perry was wearing a white linen office coat of fine and peculiar texture, and when Mrs. Holden said she recognized him by that I was more impressed than if she had pretended to know his face. I had noticed all along that she was looking at the coat.

"I never saw another like it," said she. "Those are real pearl buttons," meaning mother-of-pearl, of course.

Now, some men might have thought that this was ridiculous, but to me it was convincing. By this sort of thing you know that a woman is telling the truth and giving the evidence just as it really exists in her own mind.

"Five minutes ago, ten minutes ago, twenty minutes ago," said Stover impressively, "Mr. Perry was sitting in this room talking with me. He has been away on his vacation. He came back, a little ahead of time, this morning. He came into this room wearing street dress and carrying his hand baggage"—he pointed to it on the floor—"about half an hour before you made your charge against him. Not more than two minutes before that he left this room and went to his own, which is the one nearest the door. He changed his coat and came back, not having been out of my sight more than a minute. He looked in, and I said I'd be busy for a little while, so he went out and met you. I give you my word of honor that it is utterly impossible by your own story that Mr. Perry could have had anything to do with your loss."

That was clear enough, of course, and Mrs. Holden turned a bit pale, but she stuck to the one certain fact that she knew.

"Is there another coat like that in this bank?" she demanded. And Perry smiled and shook his head.

"We will now see whether any one was sent to your carriage," said Stover, touching a bell.

Of course it was easy enough to discover that no one had been sent.

"Mrs. Holden," said I, "who knew that you were going to draw this money?"

"Nobody," she replied, but there was a slight uncertainty in her tone.

"You came to the bank alone?"

"My stepson came with me."

This was Frank Holden, a young man who was disinherited by his father for excellent reasons, but had been treated very generously by his stepmother, as I had read in the newspapers. He was with her in the carriage on the previous occasion when I committed the awful outrage upon the liberties of the plain citizen by arresting "Doc" Turner.

"What has become of him?" I asked.

She was quite shrewd enough to see that I knew the reputation of her stepson.

"Mr. Holden left the carriage as soon as it stopped at the door of the bank," she answered. "He went across the street to buy a cigar."

"And you haven't seen him since?"

"Well, I've seen him," said she, "but he did not get back into the carriage."

"After you got in with your money," said I, "why didn't you drive right away?"

She looked at me keenly.

"It wasn't more than a minute," she said, "before the man came out of the bank."

"But if you hadn't waited just that minute," said I, "there'd have been no trouble."

She turned to Stover.

"If this man is trying to prove that my stepson stole my money," said she, "he is a stupid, as most detectives are. My stepson did not get into the carriage, as I have already told you."

"He crossed from the cigar store," said I, "and you were talking with him when the man came out of the bank."

"Yes," she replied, with a smile, "and my satchel was on my knees, and I had hold of it with both my hands. When the man began to count the money Mr. Holden went away."

"You mustn't think that I suspect him of taking the money," said I apologetically. "I've got a different theory altogether. Moreover, I believe that I can get it back. Will you wait here for me a few minutes?"

She said she would, and I went out and communicated with headquarters, using one of the bank's telephones. Then I started across to the cigar store which Mrs. Holden had mentioned, and, greatly to my surprise, I found Frank Holden over there. He was watching the bank from the window.

"Mr. Holden," said I, stepping in front of him, "did you know that your stepmother had been robbed?"

"Robbed!" he cried. "No." And he started away, but I caught him by his coat, which was not buttoned.

"Yes," said I. "She's over there in the bank, in the cashier's room. You'd better go over. She wants to see you."

I released him, and he ran across the street.

"Did that man buy a cigar of you?" I asked of the dealer. And he answered that Holden had bought one for a quarter of a dollar.

"Only one, eh?" said I to myself. "And he had three in his vest pocket. Yes, yes, he must have needed the cigar badly when he left the carriage."

I returned to the bank, and there was a lot of talk and bother which amounted to nothing. When it was all over Mrs. Holden went away in her carriage and young Mr. Holden went on foot. He told her that he was going to headquarters to see the chief of the detective bureau.

HE RAN STRAIGHT INTO THE ARMS OF MY PARTNER.

He really went there. I know, because I followed him. In fact, I wasn't very far away from him all that day, though he didn't know it. I wasn't quite the same sort of man to look at that I was when he saw me downtown.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon he led me to a house on the west side of town, a lodging house for men. He went up two flights of stairs and was going to knock at a door when it opened and the janitor came out.

"Where's the man who lives here?" asked Holden anxiously.

"Went away this afternoon," answered the janitor. And Holden said "What!" in a tone of voice that made the word sound like an oath.

Then I stepped up from the dark stairs and took the janitor by the sleeve and led him under a gas lamp.

"Did your lodger look anything like that?" said I and showed him a picture of my old friend, "Doc" Turner.

"That's the man," replied the janitor.

"Don't you worry," said I, turning to Holden. "He's given you the slip, all right, but he won't go far. Every bridge and road and ferryboat and car has been watched since 1 o'clock. He won't leave town. He'll be at headquarters in a little while if he's not there now."

"Who are you?" demanded Holden. "What do you mean?"

"I mean that you are a smart young man," said I. "When the newspapers wrote up 'Doc' Turner about two months ago in connection with my arresting him and told what a clever thief he was and a sleight of hand man and all that you were smart enough to see that such a slick rascal was worth knowing. So you hunted him up and told him that you could find out when your stepmother was going to draw some more money from the bank. Was there any way to get it?

"Well, 'Doc' Turner undoubtedly told you that there was always a way to get money. That's what he always says. So he loafed around the bank in that innocent way of his which I once so brutally interrupted, and finally he hatched up the scheme of sneaking into Perry's room, putting on Perry's coat, sticking a pen behind his ear and assuming to be an official of the bank sent out to count Mrs. Holden's money again. Of course it was no trouble at all for such a fellow to work the sleight of hand trick. Then he went back, took off Perry's coat, put on his own and his hat and vanished through the side door that leads into the hall of the Temple building. Am I right?"

I had purposely moved away from the head of the stairs, because I knew what Holden would do. He made a break for liberty, and of course he ran straight into the arms of my partner who was waiting at the outer door. When we got to headquarters with him we found "Doc" Turner there. He had been caught with Mrs. Holden's money in his pocket.

CORN SAVED BY PRAYER

Why Missourian Believes Providence Was Good to Missouri.

EFFECT OF A PUBLIC PETITION.

The Appeal by Persons In Wellsville, Mo., For Good Growing Weather Was Answered by Copious Showers, Says H. E. Turner—Hats Taken Off to the "Praying Brigade."

"As a direct result of a formal public appeal to Providence for good corn growing weather, as I firmly believe, the state of Missouri will this year produce the most abundant corn crop in all its history. It is no argument for skeptics to assert we would have had a good corn season anyhow. June started in distressingly unfavorable. It looked like crops would be a total failure. A special prayer meeting was organized at Wellsville, earnest invocations for relief were sent up and the rain came. We have a right to judge by results, the supreme test of all endeavor."

The observation was made by Harry E. Turner, a Wellsville (Mo.) editor, says a Macon (Mo.) dispatch to the Kansas City Star. He is a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in his town. For many years Mr. Turner has been a devoted promulgator of the doctrine of prompt divine response to faithful prayer. He said:

"The farmers of Montgomery county had put out unusually large crops the early part of this year and were hoping for a bountiful harvest. But as the weeks passed by and there were no indications of rain it became evident the corn was destined to be a total failure and that other crops would be cut mournfully short. The blazing sun was shriveling everything green and baking the earth. Our pastor, the Rev. J. B. White, and I talked the matter over with the other ministers of the place, and it was decided the surest way to avert the impending calamity was to hold a union prayer meeting. We had an excellent precedent in the proclamation of Governor C. H. Hardin in 1874, which called for fasting and prayer throughout the state that the grasshopper plague might be removed.

"There were some very good church members who advised against making a public appeal, their argument being that should we fail sinners would jeer and unbelievers become set in their ways worse than ever.

"'But we will not fail!' exclaimed Pastor White. 'We will not even think of failing!'

"Well, prayer meeting night came, and, though but comparatively few were out, it was a most enthusiastic gathering. Everybody spoke, and everybody said we'd have rain. He was absolutely certain about it. There was not a weak kneeded brother present.

"For several days after the meeting the sun journeyed along its fiery way with ever increasing fury. Some of the townspeople carried umbrellas to joke the 'praying brigade.' But to the farmers it was not a laughing matter. They could only see ruin ahead and became gloomier day by day. I confess that I began to get a little shaky myself and thought maybe Providence wouldn't pay any attention to a little burg back in the hills. But before faith went out rain came, and, let me tell you, it was a regular gulley cleaner! And it kept coming. The farmers brightened. The umbrella fiends had actual use for their canopies, and when the 'praying brigade' went down the street people took off their hats to it.

"Now, if you have observed the situation you will notice that the rain has come all through the summer just as needed. And the gratifying thing about it is that other counties have been blessed as well as ours."

A King and His American Tutor.

King Alfonso of Spain is studying American. His tutor is Ralph Ray of Lancaster, Wis., a boy of his own age, who is having the time of his life at the Spanish court, says Harper's Weekly. When young Ray was in the high school he acquired a smattering of Spanish, so that subsequently he was enabled to talk with a Spanish nobleman who was visiting the Chicago stock yards, where Ray had begun to work as a bookkeeper. In the course of the conversation he manifested so much interest in the young king that the nobleman made inquiries regarding himself and reported the incident to his royal master. The result was the employment of young Ray to coach the boy king in American language, especially slang and customs. Judging from his letters home, which are sent around to the neighbors after having been read af the house, the monarch and the democrat hit it off very well indeed.

First Statue to Queen Alexandra.

The first public statue of Queen Alexandra of Great Britain was recently commissioned, says the London Express. George E. Wade, the well known sculptor, has been chosen to do the work. The destination of the statue is Hongkong, which has already given commissions for statues of King Edward and the Prince of Wales. The new statue is being erected out of a fund raised in connection with the Hongkong coronation celebration. The queen will be represented in her coronation robes. The statue will be of bronze and life size, and the pedestal will be either of granite or marble. The king, to whom the proposal was submitted through the governor of Hongkong, readily gave his permission. His majesty also approved the suggestion that the statue should be made by Mr. Wade.

IN COUNCIL, May 29, 1905.

ORDERED: That Ordinance No. 36, an ordinance regulating plumbing, be amended as follows:

Add at the end of clause 3 of section 7 the following: "In work of this description no running trap with clean out will be required in the drain pipe at a point near or where it leaves the building," (as provided for in section 6.)

Strike out the whole of clause 4 of section 6, beginning with the words "all branches of soil pipe" and insert in place thereof the following: "All branch soil or drain pipes four inches or larger in diameter, fifteen feet or more in length and used for the drainage of a water closet or closets shall be continued through or above the roof of a building undiminished in size. A ventilating pipe four inches in diameter from a five-inch drain or soil pipe will be of sufficient size. Two or more soil pipes may be connected together, provided said connections are made above highest fixture on that line of pipe."

Strike out the second sentence of clause 5 of section 6, and insert in place thereof the following:

"Drain pipes when laid below the cellar bottom shall be of a grade known as extra heavy cast iron pipe and fittings throughout their entire length. All changes in directions of drains when so laid, shall be made with a Y or long branch T Y with clean-out in end of Y. Drain pipes may be covered with the exception of a sufficient space left around the clean-outs at angles of drain, and at the main trap and Y at the wall of building which must be left accessible with a space of at least eighteen inches wide and four feet in length measured from face of clean-outs in Y to inside face of wall or box. The spaces around clean-outs may be built of wood, brick, stone or cement with removable covers of suitable material."

Add after the second clause of section 7 the following clause: "In houses where the plumbing is already installed and there is a two inch ventilating pipe extending through the roof of house, a two inch trap vent pipe may in the discretion of the Board of Health be connected into it from an additional fixture, without being restricted to the limit provided for on new work."

Add at the end of section 7 the following clauses: "No ventilation is required from the trap of the highest fixture when the connection from a fixture to a round trap (4 inches or more in diameter) does not exceed three feet; and the connection from the trap to the vertical line of pipe (which extends through the roof) does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to the highest connection of two fixtures when the connection with the vertical line of pipe extending through the roof is made with a double Y branch. This does not include a water closet and any other fixture."

"No ventilation is required from the trap of a water closet when the connection of the same is the highest connection of any vertical line of pipe, 4 inches or more in diameter which extends through the roof, and the branch connection from the soil pipe to the closet connection does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to two closets when the connection with the soil pipe is made with a double Y branch."

Passed to be ordained Sept. 5, 1905.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Milton academy opens on Wednesday Sept. 20th.

A new house is being erected on Watson Terrace.

Michail Reilly and family of Weymouth. have moved to West Quincy.

Arthur Young of the N. E. T. & T. Co. has returned from a visit in York, Maine.

Arthur C. Merritt of Elm place has been confined to the house for the past few days by illness.

Charles Wrisley and family are soon to move from Thompson street to the Shaw homestead on Hill street.

The Universalist state convention is to be held in Roxbury on Sept. 27, 28, 29. Delegates will go from local church.

It is rumored that two more small stores are going to be built on the corner of East Howard and Winter streets.

Mr. Nolan of the Fore River Shipbuilding plant who has been residing on Gay street, is about to move to the Davy house on Johnson avenue. Mrs. M. C. Davy, who has lived for the past nine years on Johnson avenue is to move to Weymouth Landing.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Alliance barrels will be sent to three southern schools. Persons having articles for Tuskegee will please send to Mrs. J. H. Emery, Adams street; for Snow Hill to Miss Dora French, No. 1 Adams street; for Calhoun to Mrs. George Saville, Saville avenue.

Roller Skating Tonight.

The Coliseum will open tonight for the winter as a roller skating rink. This rink is one of the best and largest in New England. It has been completely renovated and decorated and will doubtless be crowded every day as it was last season. Skating has become a very popular sport in all the surrounding cities and bids fare to rival the furore all over the country as it did some 15 years ago.

The Universalist State Convention will meet at Roxbury Sept. 27, 28 and 29. All Souls' church is entitled to three delegates although as many may attend as desire.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Fred S. Brockaway for manslaughter was called and again continued until Oct. 14.

The continued case of Sarah A. Madden, for the illegal sale of liquor to Officer Michael Donovan at Quincy, was called. She was fined $50 and sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the house of correction. Appealed.

William D. Hatchfield was arraigned for keeping intoxicating liquor with intent to sell at Randolph. Case continued until next Friday.

Edward Martell was arraigned for assault on Charles J. Hollis at Quincy. Case continued until Monday.

William J. Kelley was fined $75 for maintaining a club nuisance at Houghs Neck. Appealed.

MARRIED.

DALEY—BERRY—In South Braintree, Sept 12, by Rev. Matthew McDonald of St. Francis church, Mr. William H. Daley of Neponset to Miss Gertrude A. Berry of South Braintree.

DIED.

HANSON—In Boston, Sept. 14, George Wales, infant son of George W. and Fanny M. (Williams) Hanson of Soper House lane Braintree, aged 1 year, 11 months and 10 days.

HEINTZEMAN—In Providence, R. I., Sept. 13, Mrs. Kate Fletcher. wife of Mr. Carl H. Heintzeman of Boston, in her 48th year.

DYEING.

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.
1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

BRAINTREE.

Rev. George A. Thayer of Cincinnati, Ohio, will preach Sunday morning at All Souls church.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hanson have the sympathy of their friends in the death of their infant son at a Boston hospital.

Miss Florance Fish of Washington street, returned Monday to resume work as teacher in the public schools in Brockton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Arnold and daughter Charlotte moved Monday into their new home, 18 Centre street, Dorchester.

Schools began throughout the town, Monday and the majority of the pupils seemed pleased to resume work for another season.

We are glad to welcome Arthur Cass back to Braintree after an absence of twelve years. He was fomerly in the bakery business here and has now given up a good position with Cobb, Aldrich & Co. at Malden, to do business in Braintree. The well established periodical store of the late Nehemiah R. Procter has been sold to Mr. Cass and his many Braiutree friends wish him success.

Miss Marcia Keith of Washington street, leaves Monday for Ohio to teach for the ensuing year.

Miss Nina B. Gage, began teaching at the Washington school Quincy for another term, Monday.

The milkmaid's convention given by the Flower Circle of King's Daughters at Union church resulted in $30.00 financial gain for the circle. The collar and cuff sets and the hand made 'kerchiefs were in demand, and the stock was soon sold out.

The fine choir of the First church will furnish the music for the morning served tomorrow under the leadership of Dr. E. Bent who has conducted the choir for so many years.

Hundreds of people were interested spectators at the carnival of the Braintree Canoe club Wednesday evening. The club house was artistically trimmed with varied hued lanterns and looked like a transported bit of Japan. Sunset lake never appeared more festive with the elaborate array of lanterns, red fire, fire works, and the gaily decorated canoes and boats. Cuff's orchestra rendered charming selections which added to the festivity.

A series of visitations have been arranged between Delphia lodge, No. 15, of Weymouth, Norfolk lodge, No. 119, of Holbrook, and Monatiquot lodge, No. 53, of Braintree. The first to be held with Mnatiquot lodge, will be of a social nature, and members are requested to be present, and all Knights not belonging to the lodge but residing in the town are most cordially invited to attend.

Miss Helen Warren has accepted a position as stenographer in the law office of J. Otis Wardwell, 84 State street, Boston.

William P. Kelley has been clerking for the past two weeks in the claim department of the Old Colony street railway at the Quincy office.

The annual collection for the American Board of Commissioners for foreign Missions will be taken at the Union church next Sunday, Sept. 17th.

The Ladies' Benevolent Circle began their year's work on Wednesday meeting at Union church parlors at 2.30 P. M. The usual methods of aiding the sick and destitute were discussed and progress on the day's handiwork was good.

At the Union church Sunday Rev. Robert H. Cochrane delivered an earnest discourse on the christian life comparing the opportunities of christians of this day with those of christians in the time of Washington and Jackson. The anthem rendered by the choir and the tenor solo by Charles Foster were aids to devotion. The communion service was held immediately after the morning worship.

Mrs. Ann C. McCann, mother of Mrs. Richard Hammond died at her home on Commercial street Saturday, aged 68 years. The funeral took place Monday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. F. B. Cressey and the interment was at Village cemetery, Weymouth.

On Monday evening, Sept. 11 Antietam camp Sons of Veterans Ladies' auxiliary, No. 16, observed the fourth anniversary of its organization, at Grand Army hall. After a brief meeting, being a regular night, the doors were thrown open to welcome members of Gen. Sylvanus Thayer Post No 87, Antietam camp S. of V., the Woman's Relief corps and other invited guests.

Several members of Antietam Camp 32 S. of V. were entertained Friday evening by the James L. Bates camp S. of V. of East Weymouth, who on that night had invited the Trolley club of Boston to visit them at G. A. R. hall, Broad street. There was a parade formed at the station headed by the East Weymouth Silver Cornet band which escorted the friends to the hall. With plenty of good music, interesting speeches, and an abundance to eat and drink a royal good time was assured. Guests were present from many neighboring camps of Suffolk, Norfolk and Plymouth counties.

Mr. C. T. Nickson has greatly improved the grounds around his new and pretty house on Liberty street by grading and the building of walks and paths.

E. Winslow Thayer died at his home on Franklin street, Wednesday, aged forty-six years. He was well known here being for many years a clerk at the store of John G. Worster.

The Mellen boy is the proud possessor of a watch and chain bestowed on him by Judge and Mrs. Avery for his timely aid in rescuing their son Stetson Avery from drowning when in swimming on Wednesday, September the sixth.

Bradford Y. Knights of Shaw street has taken his friends many a pleasant trip on the water in his motor-boat this season.

Mr. F. H. Morgan and son William of Allen street, have returned their speedy motor boat again to the water after having cleansed, painted and put the craft in fine condition.

Workmen have been busy repairing concrete platforms at the South Braintree station.

Thursday afternoon the King's daughters held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. O. A. Brigham of Wasnington street.

Miss Jean Carbery of Hyde Park and Miss Scott of Somerville teachers at the Noah Torrey school have secured boarding accommodations with Mrs. Ansel Clark of Pond street.

Many commendable remarks are heard concerning the fine appearance of the Pond school house and grounds. The painting of the building and the grading of the lawns add greatly to the general good effect.

James Condon of Ellsworth, Minnesota, is visiting his aunt Mrs. Dennis Griffin of Elliot street. This is his first visit east in a quarter of a century.

William Dyer of Pond street, night wathman at the Williams & Kneeland shoe factory, has been confined to his home with inflammatory rheumatism this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of Hancock street have the sympathy of the neighborhood. Their infant daughter born to them the first day of September was snatched from them by death, and was buried Thursday.

Mr. Galvin, principal of the Noah Torrey school has secured a boarding place with Mrs. G. W. Day of Franklin street.

Already the boys of the new Noah Torrey school are figuring in sports. Thursday, the eighth grade team defeated a team from the sixth and seventh grade at base ball. Score 8 to 2. Later the boys expect to organize a foot ball team.

Mrs. Rhoda Stetson Hill observed the ninety-third anniversary of her birth on Saturday, September the ninth. Mrs. Hill is a native of East Braintree and has been ever identified with the best interests of the town of her birth. Though not in vigorous health, she is able to enjoy her friends and receives many calls and letters from friends and relatives. She is interested in charitable and benevolent work. May she be spared to round out an hundred years.

The friends of Union church will be interested to know of the welfare of Rev. Sidney Kingman Perkins of York, Maine, grandson of Father Perkins, so long the beloved pastor of Union church. We noticed in the Congregationalist recently that his people had advanced his salary by the amount of two hundred dollars. It will be remembered that he was ordained in the old church. He is looking well and was pleased to meet with friends from his native state who have been rusticating at York beach, Maine.

—A Taunton man is taxed five cents for property owned by him in Lakeville, if dissatisfied as to the size of the tax bill let him come to Rockland says the Standard.

ORDINATION.

Concludes the Swedish Conference.

All Four Candidates Passed.

Thanks Given for the Hospitality of Quincy.

The Eastern Swedish Ministers' Conference held in the Swedish Congregational church on Garfield street opened its third session Saturday at 9 A. M.

Rev. E. O. Swanson, New Haven, Conn., read a selection from the scriptures and led the prayer.

Then condolence resolutions were presented and accepted on account of the death of a member, Rev. J. E. Thunberg of North Granby, Mass., and the wife of a former pastor of this place Rev. G. Swanstrum of Salina, Kansas; and the wife of Rev. G. E. Pihl of New Briton, Conn., and the illness of Rev. G. N. Leufstedt of Boulder, Colo., by a committee consisting of Revs. Angus Erikson of Boston, K. J. Ohlson of New York, N. Y., and Ludwig Akeson of Worcester.

An examination of the following candidates for ordination was then held, which proved satisfactory: E. R. Larson, Georgetown, Conn., V. Harold, South Manchester, Conn., P. O. Swenson, Attleboro, Mass., and C. G. Ryden, Hoboken, N. J.

Prof. J. G. Princell, Chicago, Ill., gave a very able lecture concerning Religious problem.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock with devotional service by Rev. P. Lindstrom of Waltham.

Several interesting papers were read. One about "The character of the free religious movement in Sweden and this country," by Rev. K. F. Ohlson, New York, N. Y. "Catechetical instruction among the children," by Rev. G. Lindstrom of Springfield. Also "Christianity in the past and present," by Rev. N. E. Johnson of Manchester, N. H; "Church meeting," by F. A. Lindholm of Lowell, Mass.

Then followed a general discussion about liturgy opened by Rev. Ludwig Akeson of Worcester.

A committee consisting of Revs. L. F. Lindholm of Woodstock, Conn., E. O. Hedberg of Malden and L. Akeson of Worcester was appointed to arrange a summer conference to be held at Woodstock, Conn.

Rev. E. Holmblad of South Bend, Ind., and Rev. G. Tongnell discontinued their membership on account of being moved from the field.

EVENING SESSION.

In the evening Prof. Carl Hanson of Chicago, Ill., preached a very impressive sermon about "Religious liberty."

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Public services were held Sunday at the Swedish Congregational church.

The morning service began at 9.30 with a serman to the Sunday School by Rev. J. A. Dahlgren of Dover, N. J. His subject was, "the power against temptation." Rev. L. G. Borg of Collinsville, Conn., preached a sermon from Lev. 3:16-17, on the subject, "Joy in God under all circumstances." Rev. C. Carlson of Cromwell, Conn., followed with a sermon from Math. 5:43-6-4 on the subject, "The practical christianity."

The ordination service began at 3 P. M. A portion of scripture was read by Rev. C. J. Anderson of Orange. Rev. L. Ageson of Worcester led in prayer. A very able ordination sermon was preached by Rev. K. F. Ohlson of New York, N. Y. Text: Rom. 8:18-23, Subject: "Slavery of sin and God's saving grace." Rev. N. E. Johnson of Manchester, N. H., gave a very touching and instructive charge to the candidates to be ordained, Acts 20:28 being his text. The laying on with hands was performed by several clergymen, and the ordination prayer was given by Rev. Aug. Erickson of Boston. Rev. O. G. Norseen, the scribe of the conference, gave the certificates of ordination to the ordained ministers. Rev. Ryden pronounced the benediction.

The conference closed in the afternoon after the ordination service. The president, Rev. J. A. Johnson of Lynn, expressed in behalf of the conference its greatfulness for the hospitality of the church.

The evening service began at 7 o'clock. Rev. E. R. Larson read a lesson from the Scripture and led in prayer. Rev. A. L. Anderson from Brockton preached a good and instructive sermon. Text Rom. 1:14, and subject, "I am debtor." The church was well filled with eager listeners.

The Swedish Eastern Missionary Association observed its fifteenth annual meeting in the same church this morning, which will continue through Tuesday.

Accident to Conductor.

Herbert Johnson, a conductor on the East Weymouth line of the street railway, had the backs of four fingers on his right hand quite badly burned this morning. The accident happened at the Graham turnout on Washington street. Johnson jumped from his car to throw the block signal. As he threw the handle over it arced and flashed. He will be laid up several days.

There were a number of bathers at the Atlantic beach Sunday. Lovers of water find it hard to give up this favorite sport of summer.

SPECTACULAR.

Hundreds Attracted to Burning of Dredger.

Loss of $20.000 to $30,000.

Fore River Shipyard, However, Not in Danger.

The large dredger India belonging to the Eastern Dredging Company, which was anchored in the stream off the Fore River Works, was burned to the waters edge Saturday night. The fire started about 7 o'clock in the crew's quarters, probably from a lamp exploding. The men aboard tried to extinguish the blaze but it spread so rapidly that they had to flee for their lives. The woodwork about the dredger was soaked with oil and the fire spread rapidly. People who were on the Quincy Point bridge say there was a report, and the next minute the whole vessel seemed to be a roaring furnace.

Watchmen at the Fore River Works blew the whistle at the works and turned in an alarm from Box 73 located in the yards, but before the alarm was through sounding the sky was brightly illuminated and the reflection could be seen for miles. The first report was that a large fire was in progress at the Fore River Works. The fire department made a quick run but their services were of little use, as the dredger was moored so far from the wharf that she could not be reached with a stream of water.

An attempt was made to reach the burning boat by carrying a line of hose on a boat, but was unsuccessful. Now and then a little water would strike the burning mass, but it in no way seemed to subdue the flames. Meantime the tug Channing of the New England Dredging Co. was coming down the river with a tow.

Seeing the fire she quickly dropped her tow, and signaled for the draw to open. Mr. Hayden, the draw tender, made ready to open the big draw. No sooner had he got the opening lever in place than it was manned by as many as could possibly get hold and the draw was opened in record breaking time. The Channing steamed along side the burning dredger, and soon was throwing a powerful stream into the burning mass. The effect of this stream was soon apparent, and the flames gradually gave way to their natural enemy. It was a hour or more, however, before the fire was all out.

The bright illumination sent hundreds of sightseers to the scene, and the Point bridge and surrounding shores were black with people. It was a grand sight as a vessel burning at sea is not often seen.

Fortunately the dredger was so far out that no damage was done to the battleships or other property of the Fore River Co. The members of the fire department however fought the flames as best they could and were on hand ready to quickly put out any fire that might start from the flying embers.

During the fire Joseph Mills fell and received painful, but not serious injuries, and after being treated at the hospital was sent home. Mate Patrick Morrisey of the India was severely burned about the back, and Mark Myett of the fire department was struck on the head with a piece of timber and slightly injured.

Along side of the dredger was a scow which was also badly scorched. The dredger was valued at $50,000 and was damaged from $20,000 to $30,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Sunday many people went down to the Point bridge to view the remains of the dredger.

LETTERS WANTED.

Can You from Experience Tell of Benefits of Hospital?

"Our Hospital" will be the name of the little paper which will be published in connection with Hospital Week, and distributed to all. Of course, its publication is in the nature of an experiment, and if it is successful, other numbers may be issued from time to time, say every six months.

Perhaps nothing will contribute more to its success than a number of letters from those who can speak from personal experience, and so it is requested that any who have been at the Hospital or who know particularly about its work, write a brief letter not over 150 or 200 words and mail it to the Publication Committee, City Hospital, Quincy.

It may not be possible to publish all these letters in "Our Hospital," but those that do not appear there will, it expected, be published in the local papers.

MAKING OVER DRESSES.

Getting a New Dress Out of an Old One is not an Impossibility.

It is amazing what a skilful woman can do with a last season's dress and a little new trimming. Every woman can do the same if she will learn how. The way to learn how is to read the Household Department of the Boston Daily Globe, where making over gowns is explained by clever women whose brains are as good as money.

DODD WANTS TO DIE

Mystery In Attempted Suicide of Rich Salem Boy

Salem, Mass., Sept. 18.—In brief moments of consciousness faintly murmuring his desire to die, "Jimmy" Dodd, aged 20, son of the millionaire glue manufacturer, who made a dramatic attempt at suicide in a street car here, lingers between life and death at the Beverly hospital, and may die at any moment. Young Dodd took a terrible draught of sulphuric acid. The boy occupies a bed in the ward for those dangerously ill.

The deepest mystery lies behind the motive that should have caused this young man's attempt at self-destruction. The only one plausible theory is that he may have brooded over his father's domestic trouble.

All New England knows how, two years ago, after the death of the lad's mother, the father, Andrew W. Dodd, took to him beautiful Alma Clapp, whose age is scarcely that of her dying step-son. Highly colored accounts were published of the estrangement, the sudden sailing for a foreign land of the apparently devoted husband, the departure, too, of young James.

As suddenly as he left Salem many months ago, just as suddenly did the son return last Thursday. His father is still away. Abroad, it is assumed. No one knows just where.

Good Ship Nearing Last Days

Boston, Sept. 18.—The Herald says: The ancient frigate Constitution, familiarly known as "the first ship of the American navy," which has for years been one of the most valued possessions of the Charlestown navy yard, is in danger of "turning turtle." The frigate is leaking badly, and the hold fills so rapidly that it is necessary to use a power pump frequently. The officials do not care to risk placing the ship in drydock to make repairs, as the vessel would crush with its own weight.

Welcome to Polish Archbishop

Boston, Sept. 18.—Archbishop Symona of the Polish branch of the Roman Catholic church, who is making a tour of the Polish colonies in the United States, arrived in this city last night. The local Polish colony was out in force to welcome the archbishop at the South Terminal station. A procession was formed, accompanied by two bands, and a short parade made through some of the principal streets of South Boston to Andrew square, in which the church is located.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Judge Parker Says Many Corporations Contribute

PURPOSES ARE CORRUPT

Political Convictions Do Not Stand In Way of Personal Advantage--Failure to Enact Effective Laws Upon the Subject.

Esopus, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Former Chief Judge Parker, last year the Democratic candidate for President of the United States, in an interview referred to the charges made by him in the presidential campaign last fall that corporation funds were being used in aid of the Republican campaign. To a newspaper correspondent who called at Judge Parker's home and asked him if he had anything to say in relation to the statement of Vice President Perkins of the New York Life Insurance company, made before the legislative committee investigating the insurance business to the effect that President McCall of that company had caused a contribution of about $50,000 to be made last year to the Republican national campaign fund, Judge Parker said:

"Yes, I believe I ought to say, now that there is no political excitement to distract the public attention, that the president of the New York Life was not the only such contributor. The officers of other great life insurance companies, such as the Equitable and the Mutual, also contributed of the policyholders' funds for campaign purposes last year. What has been proved in the case of the New York Life will undoubtedly be proved in the other cases.

"Were there an investigation of railroad, manufacturing and other corporations it would be found that these life insurance officers were not the only corporation officers who put their hands into the treasury and took out moneys belonging to widows and orphans to help secure a partisan triumph.

"That their acts were unlawful and their purposes corrupt goes without saying. They intended to have the money used, as it was, in corrupting the electorate. Mr. Perkins makes the point that John A. McCall is a Democrat. Apparently he would have the public assume that when McCall unlawfully and wrongfully contributed these funds—the company's share probably as a member of the underwriting syndicate—it was evidence of political virtue, rather than misconduct.

"The truth about it is, and I say it without feeling, but emphatically, that men like McCall have no political convictions that stand in the way of their personal advantage. Such men desire the triumph of that party which will better serve their personal financial interests and will—for contributions, past present and future—continue to protect those interests by lenient legislation and by pretense at execution of law which shall be tenderly blind to all their offenses. That party they espouse in the board room, and contribute to it of the moneys they hold in trust and occasionally a little of their own.

"The underlying principles which divide the great mass of the people into parties have no effect upon such men. Their one inquiry is, will the party organization in its hour of triumph remember our generosity, and respond to our demands? Of course, the organization does remember, for it expects a similar contribution next time. And the expectation is not in vain. Last year was not the first time. Such contributions had been made before in national, state and municipal elections.

"The officers responsible for these raids upon the treasuries of corporations have received their reward in unfettered management of life insurance corporations; in unembarrassed raids upon the public through trusts—condemned by both common and statute laws; in refusal to punish criminally the officers of railroad and other corporations violating the laws; and in statutory permission to manufacturing corporations to levy tribute on the people.

"There can be no hope of checking the unlawful aggressions of officers of great corporations so long as they may thus form a quasi partnership with the organization of the dominant political party. For in the hour when the administrative official seeks to punish the offender he is reminded by the head of the organization of the magnitude of the contributions of the corporation.

"There is, however, something worse, if possible, than the escape of such offenders from justice. It is the gradual demoralization of voters and the dulling of the public conscience caused by the efforts to make these vast sums of money procure the ballots they were intended to procure corruptly and otherwise.

"It is not my purpose to claim that the Democratic party, subjected to the temptation which has overcome the other party during the last few years, would have acted different. Mere party advantage should not be sought from the disclosures made in this investigation. But the facts should be diligently sought that the people may become aroused that they will insist upon legislation making it a criminal offense for officers to contribute corporate funds for political purposes and depriving the apparently successful candidates of their offices."

COLLINS' POPULARITY

Tributes From Pulpits, Regardless of Creed or Race

Boston, Sept. 18.—The funeral of the late Mayor Collins occurred this morning. At the family residence prayers were said at 9 o'clock, only the family and immediate relatives being present. After the services at the home the body was taken to the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, where public services were held at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Nicholas R. Walsh, rector of the cathedral, was the celebrant of the mass. Archbishop Williams pronounced the absolution. The musical program was by the quartet and a chorus of 125 chosen voices and the sanctuary choir of 70 voices.

While the family of the late mayor had requested that no flowers be sent, many municipalities, towns, city departments and organizations used this means of paying a last tribute. Nearly all of the Massachusetts cities sent floral designs.

The tribute from the Boston city government was a beautiful design, representing the city seal, and was eight feet square. It was made on a placque which was composed of 10,000 white asters. The seal was of purple asters to represent Boston harbor, with ships made of lilies of the valley. The city itself was of white violets and the state house dome of yellow orchids. There were large clusters of American Beauty roses on the side and white roses with bunches of orchids, gladioli and lilies.

In nearly every church in Boston and vicinity Sunday, no matter the creed, reference in sermon or prayer was made to the life and death of Collins. In the Roman Catholic churches, to which faith the deceased was a devout adherent, prayers were offered for the repose of his soul, while in the Hebrew congregations, especially assembled, the ancient prayer of mourning was recited, and in the Protestant churches pastors took the occasion to give voice to the general sorrow. Numerous societies held meetings and passed resolutions and appointed committees to attend the funeral.

Cuban Campaign Function

Havana, Sept. 18.—There was a great demonstration of Liberals here last night, the principal feature of which was a torchlight procession headed by General Gomez, the Liberal candidate for the presidency. There were 5000 persons in line and the number of spectators was estimated at 100,000. Though serious trouble was feared by the authorities, there was not the slightest disorder.

Taft Party Homeward Bound

Yokohama, Sept. 18.—Secretary of War Taft and party sailed Sunday afternoon for San Francisco on the steamer Korea, amid Japanese enthusiasm. Before sailing Secretary Taft said he thought that reports of the Japanese anti-peace demonstrations had been greatly exaggerated in America. He and his party had travelled all through Japan and had found no trace of anti-foreign feeling.

Swam Fifteen Miles

New York, Sept. 18.—Of 30 men who started in the third annual endurance swimming match of the United States Volunteer Life Saving corps, only one was in the water at the finish. Alfred Brown of the College Point crew swam 15 miles, the entire distance, from the Brooklyn bridge to Coney Island and won the gold medal. His time was 6:32:20.

Got Bullet Intended For Target

Cleveland, Sept. 18.—James W. Mayhan was fatally shot in the head while members of the Fifth regiment, Ohio National Guard, were having target practice in this city. Mayhan and another member of the company were in the pit marking the score. It is not known whether Mayhan raised his head too far or whether the bullet glanced back from the target.

Hammered by Polanders

Newton, Mass., Sept. 18.—During a row here Joseph Balkus, an iron moulder, 25 years old, was knocked down and so severely beaten that a doctor's services were necessary. He was removed to police headquarters unconscious. His assailants, who were believed to be Polanders, are still at large. It is believed that Balkus will recover.

Rejected Lover's Double Crime

Crown Point, Ind., Sept. 18.—Harry Hohman, angered because Miss Ida Taylor, his fiancee of five years, had married Charles Jeanette, in the presence of many persons fired four bullets into his former sweetheart's heart and then killed himself. Miss Taylor two weeks ago was married to Jeannette. She was a beautiful woman.

Schooner and Two Lives Lost

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Sept. 18.—Schooner V. H. Ketchum was burned last night off Parisian island, Lake Superior, and two members of the crew were drowned while attempting to leave the vessel in a lifeboat. The fire was first discovered in the after cabin.

"Open Door" In Manchuria

London, Sept. 18.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post says that an imperial decree has been issued ordering many of the ports in Manchuria to be opened equally to all treaty powers.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Sept. 19.
Sun rises—5:28; sets—5:48.
Moon sets—9:09 p. m.
High water—2:30 a. m.; 2:45 p. m.

The current week opens with temperatures generally above the seasonal average in all parts of the country. Rain is indicated for New England.

Mrs. George Ewell is the guest of her uncle, John Shaw, at his summer home on the Cape for a few weeks. She is accompanied by her mother Mrs. Arthur Mitchell of Franklin street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Skinner have returned from a visit to Plymouth, their former home. While there they were guests of Mrs. Skinner's sister, Mrs. Charles H. Sherman.

District Deputy Nellie E. Hallett of Charlestown and Grand Protector Viles of Boston will be guests of Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., at its regular meeting in Wilson's hall on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Stoddard of Baxter street, are receiving the congratulations of their many friends and neighbors, a little son arriving on Monday, Sept 11, to help make happy the family gathering.

Major Arthur W. Stetson of Washington street was one of the party to the number of 325 of the Department of Massachusetts, Patriarch Militant, I. O. O. F., which left Boston Sunday, for New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Harper's Ferry and Gettysburg. They will attend the Sovereign Grand lodge, and parade in Philadelphia on Tuesday. The party will be absent about ten days.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

PLUMBING ORDINANCE.

No. 168. City of Quincy,

IN COUNCIL, May 29, 1905.

ORDERED: That Ordinance No. 36, an ordinance regulating plumbing, be amended as follows:

Add at the end of clause 3 of section 7 the following: "In work of this description no running trap with clean out will be required in the drain pipe at a point near or where it leaves the building," (as provided for in section 6.)

Strike out the whole of clause 4 of section 6, beginning with the words "all branches of soil pipe" and insert in place thereof the following: "All branch soil or drain pipes four inches or larger in diameter, fifteen feet or more in length and used for the drainage of a water closet or closets shall be continued through or above the roof of a building undiminished in size. A ventilating pipe four inches in diameter from a five-inch drain or soil pipe will be of sufficient size. Two or more soil pipes may be connected together, provided said connections are made above highest fixture on that line of pipe."

Strike out the second sentence of clause 5 of section 6, and insert in place thereof the following:

"Drain pipes when laid below the cellar bottom shall be of a grade known as extra heavy cast iron pipe and fittings throughout their entire length. All changes in directions of drains when so laid, shall be made with a Y or long branch T Y with clean-out in end of Y. Drain pipes may be covered with the exception of a sufficient space left around the clean-outs at angles of drain, and at the main trap and Y at the wall of building which must be left accessible with a space of at least eighteen inches wide and four feet in length measured from face of clean-outs in Y to inside face of wall or box. The spaces around clean-outs may be built of wood, brick, stone or cement with removable covers of suitable material."

Add after the second clause of section 7 the following clause: "In houses where the plumbing is already installed and there is a two inch ventilating pipe extending through the roof of house, a two inch trap vent pipe may in the discretion of the Board of Health be connected into it from an additional fixture, without being restricted to the limit provided for on new work."

Add at the end of section 7 the following clauses: "No ventilation is required from the trap of the highest fixture when the connection from a fixture to a round trap (4 inches or more in diameter) does not exceed three feet; and the connection from the trap to the vertical line of pipe (which extends through the roof) does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to the highest connection of two fixtures when the connection with the vertical line of pipe extending through the roof is made with a double Y branch. This does not include a water closet and any other fixture."

"No ventilation is required from the trap of a water closet when the connection of the same is the highest connection of any vertical line of pipe, 4 inches or more in diameter which extends through the roof, and the branch connection from the soil pipe to the closet connection does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to two closets when the connection with the soil pipe is made with a double Y branch."

Passed to be ordained Sept. 5, 1905.

FISH TUG RIDDLED

Thrilling Encounter With a Cruiser In Lake Erie

STRUCK OVER 30 TIMES

Upper Parts a Mass of Wreckage When She Reaches Port, After Being Pursued Eight Miles Under Full Head of Steam

Erie, Pa., Sept. 18.—The fourth of the fish tug incidents of the past week took place in mid-Like Erie Sunday, when the Canadian cruiser Vigilant riddled the big steam tug Harry G. Barnhurst with small shells from the rifle on the patrol boat. Captain Fasol of the tug admitted after he escaped that the Vigilant could have sent her to the bottom if Captain Dunn had so desired. They ran more than eight miles under a full head of steam before they crossed the boundary line and escaped from the Canadians.

More than 30 shots struck the vessel and of these 15 of the small shells landed with telling effect on the upper parts, so the boat careened to one side with the mass of wreckage when she came into port.

Having been used formerly for a pleasure steamer, the Barnhurst is of large size and well fitted with steam equipment. The fireman, Magnus Johnson, fainted in the hold from overexertion in keeping the steamer going ahead. He was reported killed, but revived after reaching shore. Two fishermen were cut in the face by splinters shot away by the bullets.

The Barnhurst, according to Captain Fasel, was about five miles over the line, drawing nets, when the Vigilant appeared. The other Erie tugs, the Alma, Valiant and the Boyd, were also over the line and ran away when the chase started. Captain Dunn ordered the Barnhurst to stop, but instead of doing so, Captain Fasel put on full steam and started for the line. He took a southwesterly direction and could not be headed by the Vigilant.

It has become quite the custom for the Erie fishermen to cross the line regardless of strict orders from the companies employing them and having exciting brushes with the Vigilant. They never think of surrender when there is a chance to run away. The Barnhurst lost a large quantity of nets.

Must Return to France

New York, Sept. 18.—Romaine Daurignac, brother of Mme. Therese Humbert, now serving a sentence in France on swindling charges in connection with the Crawford estate, was ordered deported by the board of inquiry of the immigration department after a hearing on Ellis island. Daurignac said that he came to this country partly for the purpose of observation and travel. Daurignac was convicted in France of irregularities in connection with certain insurance deals. He was well supplied with money.

Crazed With Grief

Boston, Sept. 18.—Utterly despondent because of the death of his young wife, less than a month ago, Ernest Nyman, aged 22, of Somerville, attempted to commit suicide at her grave in Cedar Grove cemetery, Dorchester. Although two bullets pierced his skull, the physicians at the city hospital look for his recovery. Since the death of his wife Nyman has been in a continual state of melancholy.

Hub's Birthday Anniversary

Boston, Sept. 18.—There was no observance of the 275th birthday anniversary of the city of Boston, owing to the death of Mayor Collins. It was on Sept. 17, 1630, that Governor Winthrop called the "court of assistance of Massachusetts Bay colony" to decide what name should be given the colony of Tri-Mountain, and it was then that the small group of dwellings became Boston.

Firemen Badly Injured

New York, Sept. 18.—Fireman Andrew P. McManus was probably fatally injured and Lieutenant Leland Potter was badly hurt in a collision between a hook and ladder truck and a street car. The truck was overturned in attempting to avoid the car and McManus was pinned beneath its six tons of weight. Four other firemen were less seriously injured.

New Obstacles Appear

Karlstad, Sept. 18.—The Norwegian and Swedish delegates sat in conference four hours yesterday. The question of fortifications is still being discussed and some unforeseen difficulties have appeared. It is expected that the discussions will be concluded Wednesday, and the preliminary result will then be submitted to the riksdag and the storthing.

Boiling Tar Started Fire

Salisbury, Mass., Sept. 18.—The Harriman house, a 20-room hotel owned by L. W. Carr, together with six bathhouses, were destroyed by fire. The hotel had closed for the season and there was no one in it except the caretaker and a couple of workmen. The fire started from the overboiling of a kettle of tar.

Yaquis Behaving Themselves

Mexico City, Sept. 18.—Minister of War Casio reports that members of the Yaqui tribe, who have been transported from their old homes in Sonoro to the hot country, where they have been scattered among the farmers, are doing well.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE"

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

AIDED IN ESCAPE

Two Insane Convicts Scale a High Prison Wall

DISCOVERED BY GUARDS

Managed to Drop Outside, However, Before They Could Be Intercepted, and Disappeared In the Gathering Gloom

Bridgewater, Mass., Sept. 18.—Assisted by the local authorities, a large posse of officers from the Massachusetts state farm last night scoured the woods and fields in the vicinity of Titicut station in a search for two insane convicts who escaped from the state farm early in the evening.

The prisoners for whom the search was conducted are Frank R. Wiley and Minot Francis. Both men were formerly confined in penal institutions, but evidences of insanity were noticed and they were transferred to the state farm some time ago, Wiley coming from the Middlesex county house of correction at Cambridge, and Francis from the state prison at Charlestown, where he was serving a sentence for criminal assault.

The authorities at the state farm express their opinion that Wiley and Francis were aided in their escape by other inmates of the institution. The prisoners were in the yard about 6 o'clock last evening when Wiley and Francis were seen by the guards on top of the prison wall. The guards attempted to capture the prisoners before the latter could drop over the wall, but were unsuccessful. When the officers reached the outer side of the prison the escaped convicts were seen running across the field in the direction of Taunton. Pursuit was begun immediately, but the convicts had too much of a start and were soon lost to sight in the early gathering darkness.

The state farm officials are mystified as to how the escape was accomplished. The prison wall is high and offers no foothold. No trace of a ladder, pole or rope could be found in the yard, and investigation failed to disclose that the men reached the top of the wall by climbing upon the shoulders of their fellow prisoners.

Wiley is 23 years old, weighs 150 pounds and is about 5 feet 9 inches in height. Francis is a mulatto, 26 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing 180 pounds. Both men were coatless and hatless, but wore brown trousers and brown striped shirts.

Knife and Club In Street Duel

Boston, Sept. 18.—As the result of a feud that began many years ago two Italians, one with a knife and the other with a club, struggled for mastery on Commercial street yesterday afternoon. Watched by a crowd of several hundred persons, they swung, parried and thrust at one another for fully 10 minutes, when the fellow with the knife brought his opponent to the ground. The latter, who gave his name as Salvidor Sontaro, was taken to the relief hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a severe gash on the chest.

Balt Question May Go Over

St. Johns, Sept. 18.—The colonial cabinet is now seriously considering what attitude it shall adopt regarding American vessels seeking herring cargoes on the west coast during the winter. It is probable that American vessels will be permitted to procure herring during the winter on the same terms as previously, so as to admit of the whole question being considered for next year.

Japanese Government Robbed

Tokio, Sept. 18.—Information has been made public that three naval paymasters have embezzled $165,000 of government funds. The announcement has been calmly received by the public, but the knowledge that the commission of the crime extended over the period of a year without discovery may furnish a weapon to the political parties that are opposing the government.

Printers' Strike Will Spread

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Compositors in eight book and job printing establishments quit work Saturday night to enforce their demand for an eight-hour day. It is estimated that 150 men have gone out and as many more are expected to join them today. None of the newspaper offices have been affected so far.

Bad Man Out of the Way

Manila, Sept. 18.—Felizardo, chief of the outlaws in the province of Cavite, who for a long time have made trouble for the authorities, was surrounded near the Batangas border and jumped over a cliff to his death. The death of Felizardo is expected to end the disturbances in Cavite.

Outing of Czar and Family

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—Emperor Nicholas, with the empress and their children and Grand Duke Alexis, have started on a cruise in Finnish waters. They are expected to return toward the end of the week. Admiral Birileff, minister of marine, declares the cruise is simply a pleasure trip.

Russia Lost $113,000,000 In Ships

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—The Russian losses in ships at Port Arthur, Vladivostok and the Sea of Japan, according to official statistics published today, amount to $113,000,000.

Home Made

Have your cake, muffins, and tea biscuit home-made. They will be fresher, cleaner, more tasty and wholesome.

Royal Baking Powder helps the house wife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, the raised hot-biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer-cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, with which the ready-made food found at the bake-shop or grocery does not compare.

Royal is the greatest of bake-day helps.

Auto Crushed Man to Death

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 18.—A collision between an automobile owned and driven by Alvah H. Hitchcock of Providence and a light buggy in which there were James Moran and Joseph Sicard of New Bedford occurred last evening about three miles outside the city and resulted in the death of Moran, while Sicard escaped with slight injuries. The five occupants of the automobile were uninjured. Sicard was locked up on a charge of drunkenness. Hitchcock claims that the buggy was on the wrong side of the road and when he turned out the buggy turned at the same time. Moran was caught under the automobile and died within 15 minutes.

Gems Vanished From Pocket

Boston, Sept. 18.—A pocketbook containing hundreds of dollars' worth of diamonds has been lost or stolen in East Boston. The gems are the property of Abraham Werley. Werley's story to the police is that on Saturday night he put the jewels in his trousers' pocket, thinking they would be safer on his person than in the house. Werley does not remember being jostled or interfered with. Yet when he returned to his home the pocketbook and diamonds had vanished. Werley dealt in diamond jewelry as a side line.

Young Woman Murdered

New York, Sept. 18.—The body of the young woman found under what is known as the "haunted oak" just off Pelham road, the Bronx, has been identified as that of Augusta Pfeiffer, 22 years old, whose home was only a few hundred yards from the spot where she was discovered. The young woman had been criminally assaulted and choked to death.

Mangled by Electric Car

Medford, Mass., Sept. 18.—Michael Gill, a teamster, was run over and instantly killed by an electric car last night. Gill was lying on the track in a somewhat obscure place on Main street. The body was very badly mangled. It is believed that Gill was in an unconscious condition and did not hear the approach of the car.

Hyde Horses at Auction

New York, Sept. 18.—Coaching men and horse show exhibitors will be surprised to learn that all of the fine harness and saddle horses owned by James H. Hyde were quietly sold at auction at his country place on Long Island. The prices received for some of the costly high steppers were low.

Squadron Won't Visit Us

Halifax, Sept. 18.—Lieutenant Governor Jones has received a dispatch from Prince Louis of Battenburg stating that instructions just received by the second cruiser squadron of the British navy have countermanded the order to visit the United States as originally intended.

Komura's Condition Favorable

New York, Sept. 18.—The condition of Baron Komura, the Japanese envoy, who has been ill in this city for some time, continues favorable in every respect and a prompt convalescence is expected by his physicians.

Thirty-Four Oil Plants Wrecked

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—According to telegrams from Baku the plants of 21 oil companies and those of 13 private owners were completely destroyed during the disturbances in the oil districts.

The Colorado's Fine Showing

Rockland, Me., Sept. 18.—The armored cruiser Colorado was given a screw standardizing test over the new Monroe island mile course and in one of the 22 runs attained a speed of 22.22 knots an hour. The big cruiser in her acceptance trial over the Cape Ann course made a sustained speed of 22.17 knots for four hours.

Two Murder Indictments

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 18.—Two murder indictments were returned by the grand jury here, true bills being returned in the cases of Michael Dyer, charged with the murder of James Webb, a fellow workman; and William F. Waddell, who is wanted by the Beverly police for the murder of John F. Hayes in that city.

Total of Eleven Deaths

Avon, Conn., Sept. 18.—People by the hundred came here Sunday to see the ruins of the Climax Fuse company's factory, in which seven persons were incinerated and from which four other persons have since died. Several of the patients who were seriously burned are reported to be comfortable.

Five Persons Bitten by Dog

Leominster, Mass., Sept. 18.—A dog, apparently rabid, bit three men and two boys on Central street and was then shot by Officer Lynch. The bites were of trivial nature and those bitten did not seek services of a physician. The carcas of the animal is to be sent to Harvard college for examination.

Schooner's Mate Lost

Rockland, Me., Sept. 18.—Captain Worden of the schooner Addison E. Bullard, from Newport News, reports that his mate, J. F. Leahy, was washed overboard and probably drowned during a heavy gale while the vessel was off Montauk. Leahy was 42 years old and unmarried.

Body to Be Exhumed

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 18.—The body of wealthy Mrs. Horace Chase, the supposed suicide, will be exhumed and the autopsy which Medical Examiner Pinkham still holds to be unnecessary will be performed. The first decisive steps towards lifting the veil of mystery which has surrounded the strange case were taken yesterday and through the district attorney's office will follow the autopsy and inquest in regular course.

Supposed to Be "Lone Worker"

Boston, Sept. 18.—Suspected of being one of the cleverest burglars in the country, and among other things thought to be the "lone worker" who has terrorized and obtained hundreds of dollars' worth of property from the business district during the past few weeks, a man claiming to be one Charles A. Gray, 25, was taken into custody by the police last evening.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

First coupon today.

Henry Taylor of Elm street is confined to the house by illness.

Mayor Thompson sent a standing cross as a tribute to Mayor Collins of Boston.

Several Quincy people attended the funeral of Mayor Collins in Boston this morning.

Crowds visited the Fore River district on Sunday to view the remains of the Saturday night fire.

The Griggs lecture is to be given at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the Atlantic Memorial church.

The East Norfolk C. E. Union will meet on Wednesday evening with the Wollaston Congregational Society.

Ex-Councilman Eugene C. Hultman promises to be one of the leading candidates for Representative at the Republican caucuses next week.

The Junior society, Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, resumed their meetings at the birthplace of President John Adams on Saturday, beginning the sixth year.

James F. Bonner of Hamilton, Canada, was in town last week. He was one of the best boys that ever worked at the Daily Ledger office, and is now foreman of a large printing office.

George Wright and T. E. Jacobs had the best gross and best net score at the Scotch foursome handicap of the Wollaston Golf club on Saturday, but the latter prize was awarded to C. A. Price and D. E. Little.

Visitors at the Dorothy Q house Saturday included Mrs. Malcolm T. Harris and Miss Florence Harris of Chicago, Miss Louise E. Potter, Winsted, Conn., Miss Gertrude Babcock of Quincy, Mr. C. D. Hoyt of Chicago and others.

The first Ledger coupon in the Scholarship contest appears in this issue. Some of the coupons from the Quincy Patriot have already been forwarded. The standing at 9 A. M. tomorrow will be published in the Daily Ledger tomorrow. It should be noticed that there is a time limit on the coupons.

LEAGUE FOOTBALL.

The Fore River Team Win and the Quincys Lose.

The Fore River foot ball team won again on Saturday in the Merrimac Valley league, defeating the Merrimacs of Lawrence on the Ward Two playgrounds to the tune of 6 to 0. McDonald and Connelly excelled for the home team and Full Back McCloskey of the visitors kept down the Fore River score. Littleson of Methuen was referee.

The Association football game at Ward Three playground on Saturday between the Boston Rovers and Quincys, resulted in a win for the former by a score of 3 goals to 2. The Boston men started the game with a rush and they scored two goals before the home team had time to take their bearings.

The visitors played a fine combination game, every man on their team appeared to know just exactly where to put the ball in order to do the most good, while the lack of team play on the part of Quincy was pitiful to see. If the Quincys would play more team work and less individual play, the results might be a great deal different.

The Boston players were inclined to rough it and on close decisions the referee nearly always gave them the benefit of the doubt. Rough play should be stopped and it could be if the men appointed as referees would assert their authority and make the players live up to the rules.

The fine playing of Collins, the Quincy goal tender, kept the score from being a great deal larger than it was. Time 45 minute halves, referee, Connors.

Adams School Crowded.

The Adams school opened this morning with an attendance of 475, the new class numbering 50. This means that the building is overcrowded, and it will be a problem how to take care of them.

The delay in the opening of this school was caused by the new sanitaires not being ready. While some little work yet remains to be done they were in use today.

MERRYMOUNTS

Again Defeat the Quincy Team.

Score Was Three to One.

Atkins and Dunn Play Great Game at Short.

The Merrymounts wound up a most successful season on Saturday, by defeating the Quincy team for the third time. The game was played before a crowd of 500 who turned out to see the last game of the season.

Neither side was able to score until the fourth, when the Merrymounts came home with two runs.

In the sixth, the Quincy team made their lone tally which was duplicated by the Merrymounts in their half of the inning.

But five hits were made off Kolson, and these were scattered throughout the game.

Atkins put up a gilt edge exhibition for the Merrymounts, as did Dunn for the Quincys. Both covered the short garden in grand style.

Hoxie and Stevens excelled in the field.

CRAP SHOOTERS.

Two Gangs Caught Sunday and Twelve Are Fined.

There were two raids upon crap shooters Sunday, both of which were successful. There have been numerous complaints to the police of these Sunday games and Chief Burrell was determined to stop them.

The first raid was made by Officer Hinchon, and was upon a party who were engaged in the game near Badger Bros. quarry about 11.15 Sunday morning. Officer Hinchon crawled upon the gang, and before they were aware of it he was right among them.

The parties all belonged in West Quincy and were summond to appear in court.

The paraphernalia used in the game together with two cents in money was confiscated.

In the afternoon the police interrupted a game that was in progress on Beale street near the Wollaston depot. There were twelve in the party and they were seated about a board using vegetable boxes for seats. In the raiding party were Chief Burrell, Lieut. McKay, Officers Bradley, Hinchon, Curtin and Lyons.

The officers surrounded the gang and then made a rush. There was a great scramble to get away and six of the party succeeded in making their escape.

The other six were arrested and with their paraphernalia were taken to the police station in the patrol wagon.

During the afternoon word was also received that a crap game was in progress at Faxon Park. Chief Burrell and a squad of officers went to the scene. The place where the gang was supposed to be was surrounded; the police then closed in only to find that the gang had flown.

Mayor Thompson was walking in the park just previous to the raid and it is thought the outlook must have seen him.

The boys who came from out of town to play ball with the Atlantic team on Saturday set a poor example of breeding as well as baseball. They sang through the streets, addressed every stranger and made themselves generally obnoxious.

COUNCIL DOCKET.

Some of the Business for the Session This Evening.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held tonight at which public hearings will be held on several petitions of the N. E. T. & T. Co. for attachment of its fixtures and wires to poles on Hall place, Arnold, Bigelow and Greenleaf streets, and on the petitions of the Q. E. L. & P. Co., for a location for poles on Federal avenue, Channing street, Brook road, Water street, Burkhardt lane and Intervale street.

The Committee on Streets will report on the petitions for the acceptance of a part of Beacon street, for paved gutters on Goddard street, for the acceptance of Curtis street, and to change the grade of Hancock street near the Atlantic bridge.

The Committee on Ordinances will report on the orders granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. attachments of its fixtures and wires to poles on Billings road, Brook street, Adams street, Davis street, Marion street, and Franklin street. Also on the order granting the Q. E. L. & P. Co. a location for poles on Washington court.

The Committee on Licenses will report on the petitions of various persons.

The Committee on State Aid will report upon application for Soldiers' Relief.

The Committee on Finance will probably report upon some of the matters before them.

Donavan-Gilraine.

Miss Catherine J. Gilraine, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Gilraine of Carruth street and Mr. Timothy J. Donavan of Dorchester avenue, Neponset, were united in marriage Sunday evening at the parochial residence at 7.30 o'clock by Rev. Julian Johnstone.

The bride was charmingly gowned in blue nuns veiling over blue silk and carried Bride's roses. The Misses May and Marguerite Gilraine, sisters of the bride, were bridemaids. Miss May was gowned in white nuns veiling with hat to match. Miss Marguerite looked bewitching in her ecru colored nuns veiling with blue trimmings. They both carried flowers. Frank J. Martin, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following the wedding the happy pair were met by the immediate and intimate friends of both families, who accompanied them to Hotel Essex, where a pleasant hour was enjoyed by all at dinner.

Mr. Frank Martin presided at the piano. Solos and duets were sung by the Misses Gilraine. Miss Agnes, youngest sister of the bride, pleased all by her sweet voice. Mr. and Mrs. Donavan left amidst showers of rice and confetti for New York.

They received many useful and handsome presents, and upon their return will be at home to friends at 56 St. Joseph street, Jamaica Plain.

Yacht Ashore.

Dr. E. E. Davis and party of ladies and gentlemen who were yachting on Sunday in the Carita went aground on Bumpkin island bar. A steam launch took off the ladies. The Stony Beach life saving crew rendered good service in securing the boat. At high tide the yacht was floated with but little injury.

Prizes for Kendall.

At the annual fall show of the Mass. Horticultural Society, which closed yesterday in Boston, Dr. W. G. Kendall of Atlantic was awarded three first, three second and three third prizes on his exhibits of grapes, apples and pears.

MRS. GEORGE CRANE.

Several Organizations Attend Funeral Services—Beautiful Flowers.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. H., wife of Mr. George Crane, was held Saturday afternoon from the Universalist church. The services were very largely attended, the several organizations of which Mrs. Crane was affiliated being present in a body. These included Paul Revere Woman's Relief Corps; Maple lodge, K. & L. of H., Geo. L. Gill Rebekah lodge, the Odd Ladies, and N. E. O. P.

The services were conducted by Rev. R. T. Polk of Boston. Following which the Relief Corps and Knights and Ladies of Honor performed their burial services.

The remains were encased in a black broadcloth covered casket, which was almost hidden beneath a wealth of flowers. These included:

Standing wreath, "Wife."
Pillow, "Mother."

CITY COUNCIL

Extension of Water Mains to Post Island.

Hancock Street Grade Order.

Favorable Report on Oyster Farm Turned Down.

A regular meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening. Councilmen Barry, Burgess, Chase, Gearwar, Hynes and Stone were absent.

JURORS DRAWN.

The Mayor assisted by the City Clerk and Councilman Sidelinger drew the following jurors: Alex. Souden, Thomas Ross, Daniel B. Lincoln, Daniel J. Nyhan and Eugene H. Sprague.

ELECTION OFFICERS.

The Mayor in a communication announced the resignation of Daniel J. Ring as election inspector in Ward Two, precinct one, and the appointment of Thomas P. Fihely to fill the vacancy. Also withdrawing the name of Joseph Mills, deputy inspector Ward Two, precinct one, whose name was not on the voting list, and appointing Joseph J. Kelly. Confirmed.

TREE WARDEN.

The Mayor in a communication called attention to the need of a tree warden and recommended the establishment of that office. To Ordinance Committee.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Gypsy Moth Commission, and recommended that the Council comply with the mandatory request by appropriating $2,500 for the suppression of the gypsy and brown tailmoths.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Adams offered an order for $2,500, which took one reading. Referred to joint committee on Public Buildings and Finance.

PETITIONS.

Several petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

The N. E. T. & T. Co. petitioned for a location for poles on Sea street. To Committee on Streets.

Henry W. Hunt petitioned for a refund of taxes. To Committee on Finance.

McGilvray & Jones petitioned for permission to run an air pipe across Liberty street. To Executive.

The Electric Light Co. petitioned for a location for poles on South Walnut street. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman McLane presented a petition for the acceptance of Broadway between Farrington street and Newport avenue. To Street Committee.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for $1,200 for paved gutters on both sides of Goddard street from Verchild street to Independence avenue. To Committee on Finance.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for $300 for the acceptance of Curtis street. To Finance Committee.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for a public hearing Oct. 16, on the petition to accept Beacon street as a public way from Washington street to Commonwealth avenue. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported leave to withdraw on the petition of John Q. A. Field and others to change the grade of Hancock street near the Atlantic bridge. Adopted.

The Committee on Ordinances reported correctly engrossed on the orders granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. permission to attack its fixtures and wires to poles on Billings road, Brooks street, Adams street, Davis street, Marion street and Franklin street. Passed to be ordained.

The same committee reported correctly engrossed on the order granting the Q. E. L. & P. Co. a location for poles on Washington court. Passed to be ordained.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

Public hearings were held on petitions of the Telephone Co. for permission to attach its wires to poles on various streets. No one appeared for or against the petitions and hearings closed and orders were recommitted.

A public hearing was held on the petition of the Electric Light company for the location of poles on various streets. No one appeared for or against. The hearing closed and orders recommitted.

The Committee on Licenses reported on various petitions for minor licenses. Report accepted.

OYSTER ORDER.

The same committee reported an order granting L. B. Titus a license to plant and grow oysters.

Councilmen Spargo and Chamberlin opposed, defending the rights of the people.

Councilman Stewart favored.

Councilman Bass moved to amend by adding a clause so as to provide that the license could be revoked after a public hearing. Amendment rejected.

The order was then rejected without a roll call.

TRANSFER.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass on the order making a transfer of $703.26 in the appropriation of the Board of Health. Rules suspended, and order passed to be ordained.

CROSSWALKS.

The Finance Committee reported an amendment to the order for $850 for crosswalks, making the amount $800, and striking out the walk from the fountain in City Square to Washington street. Rules suspended, and order passed to be ordained.

WATER FOR POST ISLAND.

The Joint Committee on Finance and Water Supply reported favorable on the order for $1,000 to extend the water service from Sea street to Post Island.

Councilman Chamberlin asked the necessity.

Councilman Bass said there were 26 houses on Post Island and that the service was needed for fire protection. Aside from this the house service was now through a small pipe and was inadequate.

Rules suspended and order passed to be ordained.

WALNUT STREET.

The Finance Committee reported favorable on the order for $700 for resurfacing Walnut street. To Ordinance Committee.

HANCOCK STREET GRADE.

The same committee reported favorable on the order for $5,000 for raising the grade of Hancock street near the Atlantic bridge.

Councilman Loud moved to suspend the rules.

Councilman Bass opposed. He would like to ask the City Engineer if Mr. Cashman, the contractor, had brought the street to grade?

City Engineer Flood replied that the sub grade was practically correct.

Councilman Bass—Will you approve the grade as it now is over your own signature?

City Engineer Flood—No.

Councilman Bass—If we appropriate the money before the grade is completed we may be out. Mr. Cashman ought to do it. He believed too much authority was given the Commissioner of Public Works. He did not want to place the Commissioner where he would have to stand the blunt of it all.

Motion to suspend rules withdrawn.

Order referred to Ordinance Committee.

LOAN ORDER.

The Finance Committee reported a loan order for $6,900 to cover a number of appropriation orders. Ordered to a second reading.

MOTIONS, ORDERS, ETC.

Councilman Bass offered a motion that the City Engineer be requested to inform the City Council if in his judgment the sub grade of Hancock street is in the condition called for by the original plan. Adopted.

Councilman Adams offered an order for an incandescent light on Upland road at the junction of that street and Dimmock street. He moved reference to the Executive.

Councilman Gassett opposed. There were orders for lights that had been before the Council for a long time. This order should wait its turn.

Councilman Adams withdrew his motion.

Adjourned at 8.59, to meet Oct. 2.

WELL QUALIFIED.

Candidate Hultman a Man of Education and Business Experience.

One of the most promising candidates for Representative at the coming caucuses is Eugene C. Hultman of Quincy Point. Mr. Hultman is one of the new men seeking nomination this year. While not a novice in political affairs he represents the younger element which is fast coming to the front. Young blood is what the people are crying for today and to such he answers every requirment.

Although a young man he has had a large and varied experience and is eminently qualified for the position. He has always taken an active interest in local political affairs, having served one year in the City Council, and several years on the Republican ward and city committee, besides serving as warden at elections. He has also been an energetic worker in many ways for the success of his party.

Practical Politics in speaking of his candidacy says —"The strength of his position is apparent when it is stated that he is of Swedish ancestry, and that there is a large element of that nationality in the Republican party in Quincy which looks with favor upon his candidacy, regarding him as a representative man in the community, and none the less desirable in public office by reason of his ability to understand and appreciate their political opinions and desires."

Mr. Hultman, who was born in Boston July 13, 1875, is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute or Technology. His preparatory schooling was obtained in Quincy, where he has resided since early youth, at the public schools, the Adams Academy, and Thayer Academy in Braintree. He graduated from Technology '96 and has filled a number of important engineering positions since that time. Among them were positions with the State Board of Health in the dredging of the Sudbury river, with the federal governments topographical survey in the Adirondacks, and as assistant chief engineer with Barbour-Stockwell Co. He is consulting engineer for the West End street railway and a number of other important enterprises. He is also president of the Vale Mills. When the Fitchburg Railroad was leased to the Boston & Maine he was given full charge of auditing its business.

As a man of education, of business experience and of party loyalty he is eminently qualified for the position. His activities are not confined to business and political affairs, for he finds time to be secretary of the Technology league to oppose the merger between Harvard and his alma mater, whose individuality he would see preserved, and is a member of the Technology club, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, the Granite City club, the Norfolk club and other social organizations. He is also a 32d degree Mason, Knight Templar, and Shriner. He is also an athlete being president of the fencing club of the Boston Y. M. C. A.

License to Shoot.

The approach of the gunning season brings to mind the law recently passed relating to gunning. This law prohibits any unnaturalized citizen from gunning without a license. Said license must be obtained from the city or town clerk. The fee for such license is $15.

LOWER FARES.

City Solicitor Thomas Secures a Hearing.

On Old Order of City Council.

Asking Reduction of Fares to Nantasket and Brockton.

Monday forenoon, says the State House representative of the Daily Ledger, the Railroad Commissioners received a letter from William R. Thomas, City Solicitor of Quincy, saying:

"In behalf of the City of Quincy and acting under the motion of the City Council adopted June 12, 1905, and approved by the Mayor June 15, 1905, a copy of which motion is hereto annexed, I would respectfully ask that a hearing be given by your board in relation to securing a reduction of fares on the line of the Old Colony Street Railway Company between Quincy and Nantasket, and Quincy and Brockton, said company having advanced the rates of fare of long standing between these points during the recent summer. We complain that the rates now charged are wholly disproportionate to the mileage covered."

City Solicitor Thomas went personally to see the Railroad Commissioners, and they have assigned the hearing on the petition for Wednesday, Sept. 27, at 10.30 A. M.

The commissioners have no information on the details of this case, but they do know that the Old Colony street railway company is not in the financial condition it should be, and that it is necessary for it to get more income in some way. For the last financial year, which ended Sept. 30, 1904, it declared a 3 per cent. dividend only, and had only $16,000 left over. The total dividend paid was $204,000.

Commissioner White, when interviewed, says that the commission has already told the company that it must make extensive improvements on its roadbed. He says that the tracks are in bad shape all through Weymouth, Avon, Braintree, Brockton and vicinity and that it will cost more than the entire amount paid in dividends last year to put the tracks in the condition they should be.

He was on a car recently going to Nantasket and he heard several complaints among the passengers about their fares and he judged the company had changed the limits so as to get in another for going a certain distance.

It is one of the principles of the Railroad Commission, upon which it has acted for years, that a street railway company cannot be required to do business at a loss for the benefit of the public. Provided the management is competent and honest, it is the policy of the board to say that the public must pay for the service rendered enough to give a reasonable return to those who have put their money into the scheme, or else they should be allowed to abandon it, for no private individual can justly be compelled to sacrifice himself for the public indefinitely. This principle has a direct bearing upon the petition from Quincy.

Resolutions by League.

The Quincy branch of the United Irish League has adopted resolutions on the death of Patrick A. Collins, late Mayor of Boston. The resolutions were offered by John Cavanagh of Braintree who spoke in favor. Others to speak in eulogy were Peter McConarty, Michael Burns, John J. Byron, Enos Costa, Patrick Fay and others.

LETTERS WANTED.

Can You from Experience Tell of Benefits of Hospital?

"Our Hospital" will be the name of the little paper which will be published in connection with Hospital Week, and distributed to all. Of course, its publication is in the nature of an experiment, and if it is successful, other numbers may be issued from time to time, say every six months.

Perhaps nothing will contribute more to its success than a number of letters from those who can speak from personal experience, and so it is requested that any who have been at the Hospital or who know particularly about its work, write a brief letter not over 150 or 200 words and mail it to the Publication Committee, City Hospital, Quincy.

It may not be possible to publish all these letters in "Our Hospital," but those that do not appear there will, it expected, be published in the local papers.

☞ A few desirable vacancies at Hotel Greenleaf.

☞ Those who start early stand the best show to win the Daily Ledger free scholarships; one for young men, and one for young women.

Delaware's Political Muddle

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 19.—After a conference here last night between former Senator Ball, H. A. Dupont and others, it was decided to issue a call for a meeting of the regular Republican state committee for the purpose of bringing harmony among the warring factions of the state. Ever since Senator Allee repudiated J. E. Addicks efforts have been making to bring the regulars and the union Republicans together.

American Schooner Detained

Digby, N. S., Sept. 19.—Acting under instructions from F. L. Jones, customs inspector of Digby, Officer Clark seized the Eastport (Me.) schooner Glendale at Campobello, N. B., for failing to clear from that port last summer. The Glendale had been placed on the customs blacklist two weeks ago, and all the Canadian customs officers had been notified to detain her as soon as she arrived at a Canadian port.

Robbery the Motive For Murder

New York, Sept. 19.—A reward of $1000 has been offered by the New York Times for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Jacob H. Thompson, the exchange editor of that paper, who was fatally assaulted on Sept. 7 in his room at Hotel St. James. The police are convinced that Thompson was murdered and that the motive of the crime was robbery.

Tarter Outrages Continue

Tiflis, Sept. 19.—A telegram from Elizabethpol says that the district is surrounded by bands of Tartars and that property and the lives of the employes are in imminent danger. Five wagons filled with Armenian refugees were attacked by Tartars. Most of the refugees were killed and the women were carried off. Similar outrages are occuring in various districts.

Boom For American Products

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—The removal of retaliatory duties on American imports has already proved a great stimulus to American trade here. The agents of American houses have wired directions for the shipment of engines, pumps and other machinery, as soon as the order rescinding the duties takes effect.

Objections to Enforcing Laws

Havana, Sept. 19.—Prominent wholesale merchants have protested to President Palma because the department of the secretary of government is compelling dealers in firearms, including those used in hunting, to deposit all but a few in the government arsenal. The order was issued by General Wood, but has only recently been enforced.

Prosperity Reigns In Chile

Santiago, Sept. 19.—The anniversary of the declaration of Chilean independence was celebrated throughout Chile with greater enthusiasm than usual and this is considered due to the great prosperity the republic is now enjoying.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Sept. 20.
Sun rises—5:29; sets—5:46.
Moon rises—9:49 p. m.
High water—3:15 a. m.; 3:30 p. m.

Clearing and warmer weather is indicated for New England.

NEWS IN BRIEF

An organization has been perfected by the Italians of Lawrence, Mass., for the purpose of collecting funds for the relief of those who were made homeless by the recent earthquakes in Italy.

A farewell dinner was given at Berlin to Frank H. Mason, the retiring American consul general there, who is to succeed John K. Gowdy as consul general at Paris.

Dr. George L. Ameriman, for many years registrar of the Sheffield scientific school at Yale, has retired by reason of ill-health and is succeeded by Arthur Marvin.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Chance For New Ones In the Next Presidential Contest

PUBLICITY IN ELECTIONS

Interest Revived In President's Recommendation In the Matter--Recent Case May Have Some Effect on Cortelyou

Washington, Sept. 19.—"Provisions for the publication not only of the expenditures for nominations and elections of all candidates, but also of all contributions, receipts, and expenditures by political committees," was a part of the legislation for the protection of elections recommended by President Roosevelt in his last annual message, a month after the presidential campaign.

This becomes important now that the New York Life disclosures have projected that question into national politics, and efforts will doubtless be made this winter to secure comprehensive legislation. The insurance companies and similar corporations which use the money of the public, would explain their course by saying that Republican success increased the market value and also the earning value of the investments which they held in trust. Nevertheless, many people do not want the trustees of their property to assume this responsibility.

A Texas Democrat says: "I have been paying $1000 a year to that company for 10 years, and now I find that it has been using my money to fight my people and my country." This man, not in politics, has been a consistent supporter of the regular ticket in the last three presidential campaigns, on sectional issues. Many northern Democrats will feel the same way. Thousands of Republicans, who would be perfectly willing to contribute to party success themselves, think it is going too far for corporations like this to do so.

What effect these and similar disclosures will have upon the president's purpose to make Mr. Cortelyou secretary of the treasury is a somewhat debatable question. It is plain that the Democrats are going to allude to the obligations which he assumed to large moneyed interests and ask whether these are desirable on the part of the nation's finance minister. President Roosevelt usually stands by those in whom he has confidence, and he is likely to do so now, regardless of the criticism that may be expected on this score.

It looks as if the Democratic issue of the next presidential campaign would be the allegation that an alliance exists between the great capitalistic interests, which profit by special privileges and exemptions, and the dominant party. This would include all such questions as tariff, trusts, railroads, insurance, etc., and would give about the basis of attack for which things are now shaping.

The Republicans would meet the charge by showing what Republican control does for settled business conditions, and ask the public to take its choice between constructionists and critics of the nation's industrial progress.

Admits Theft of $20,000

Washington, Sept. 19.—James W. Boyd, a clerk in the public health and marine hospital service, was arrested on a warrant charging him with embezzlement. The discovery of facts leading to the charge was made in Boyd's absence, and the amount abstracted will, according to Boyd's own confession, reach not less than $20,000. Boyd had been in the public health service for 12 years.

Bonaparte at Sagamore Hill

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte and his wife were dinner guests last evening of President and Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. The visit of the secretary of the navy was devoid of special significance. Never having been at Sagamore Hill, he accepted the president's invitation to visit him. After dinner Mr. and Mrs. Bonaparte proceeded to New York.

Political Clash In Cuba

Havana, Sept. 19.—The mayor of Las Cruces and several policemen and the councilmen of that town have been arrested by order of a local judge as a result of a collision which took place there. The disturbance was due to political feeling, the police supporting the candidacy for the presidency of General Gomez, while the rural guards are partisans of the government.

"Simple Life" Recommended

Washington, Sept. 19.—Only the "simple life" is possible for young army officers, according to General Corbin, commanding the Philippine division. In his annual report Corbin says there is too frequently evidence that there are officers in the service not mindful of their financial obligations. The number of complaints on this point, he says, calls for drastic treatment.

Clings to Murder Theory

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Welton Stanford, a nephew of the late Jane Stanford, who died at Honolulu last summer, still believes his aunt was murdered by poison. He has had private detectives at work on the case and is satisfied with their progress.

AFRAID TO TACKLE HIM

Two Pursuers Had Half Hour Chat With Escaped Convict

Bridgewater, Mass., Sept. 19.—For half an hour last night two of the pursuers of Minot Francis, a burly negro, who, with Frank R. Wiley, escaped from the state farm here Sunday, talked with him. Francis is under sentence to state prison for assault, but recently was transferred to the state farm upon showing signs of insanity.

About 10:30 Walter Rhoades, who lives in the adjoining house to his father, noticed a big negro skulking behind the shed. He was armed with a heavy sled stake and seemed in a very communicative mood, for he told Rhoades that he escaped from the farm and was making his way to Taunton, where he hoped to be able to get a train for New Hampshire in order to see his wife and 4-year-old child. He said that he had 18 years ahead of him in prison, and that he had pretended to be insane in order to be sent to the farm, where he hoped to make his escape.

The negro said that he was hungry, so young Rhoades went into the house for some bread and sent word at the same time to his father. The elder Rhoades came over to the house as his son appeared with the bread, and when it was handed to the negro the latter laid his club against a tree.

Walter Rhoades seized the club and at the same time drew a revolver, but the negro seemed to understand that the weapon was not loaded, which was a fact. He talked with the two Rhoades and they tried to delay his departure until help arrived, for they did not care to attack him alone. About 11 o'clock one of the local police appeared. The negro thereupon ran behind the house and disappeared into the woods. The neighborhood was aroused and a posse scoured the woods, but no trace of the negro was found.

Game Reported as Plentiful

Bangor, Me., Sept. 19.—The big game season in Maine will open on Oct. 1 for deer and on Oct. 15 for moose, the deer season running until Dec. 15 and the moose season until Dec. 1. Concerning the prospects for hunting, Chairman Carleton of the state game commission says: "Not since I have been a member of the commission have partridges and ducks been so plentiful as they are this year. There is also an abundance of deer. Moose, also, are more plentiful, and they are found in localities where there was none a few years ago."

Skipped While Under Bonds

Providence, Sept. 19.—The police have been notified by the Texas authorities that a man thought to be Julius S. Chappelle, who is under indictment here on a charge of embezzling $15,000, has been arrested in that state and is being held pending instructions from this city. Chappelle is charged with taking the money from Virginia Winterbottom of Providence, who is 92 years of age. The missing man was in charge of her property and while under bonds of $5000, given after his arrest, he disappeared from the state.

Hub May Have Collins Monument

Boston, Sept. 19.—A movement having for its object the erection of a memorial to Mayor Collins has been inaugurated by friends and admirers of the departed mayor. The project has the support of several leading citizens. The nature of the memorial will not be determined until later, but many of those advocating the plan favor a monument in one of the city's parks.

Fishing Schooner Wrecked

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 19.—A dispatch from Canso, N. S., states that the fishing schooner Puritan of this port misstayed while entering the harbor there and will be a total loss. No lives were lost. The Puritan was insured for $4900 and is thought to have had a full cargo, which the owners valued at $8000.

Wounds In Floater's Neck

Boston, Sept. 19.—The body of an unknown man was found last night in the harbor by the police. The body had evidently been in the water for some time. There were two wounds on either side of the neck, which might have been made by a knife or dagger. The police are conducting an investigation.

Avon Deaths Number Thirteen

Avon, Conn., Sept. 19.—The roll of deaths from the explosion and fire at the plant of the Climax Fuse company Friday afternoon now numbers 13, and there are still several injured ones whose condition is looked upon as extremely critical.

Komura's Physicians Agree

New York, Sept. 19.—Baron Komura, the Japanese envoy, who is ill at the Waldorf-Astoria, has typhoid fever. His physicians have agreed on the diagnosis, but say it is a mild case. This final diagnosis may alter the plan to start westward with the baron on Oct. 2. Mr. Sato, the baron's secretary, announced the decision of the physicians last night.

Gold Coming Back to Us

Paris, Sept. 19.—The turn of the tide of gold towards New York is exciting the attention of bankers and other financiers, who say that this restores the natural movement which has been abnormally reversed for the last two years, partly owing to the war in the Far East.

Sixty Buildings Burned

Seattle, Sept. 19.—Sixty buildings were destroyed by fire at Nome, Alaska, causing a loss of $200,000. The city hall was destroyed, but the records were saved. No loss of life is reported.

CITY BREVITIES.

Miss Bessie Drew of Atlantic sang at the Washington Street Congregational church on Sunday morning.

Miss Minnie Packard of Chestnut street and Miss Edna Wood of Upland road will enter Wellesley college this week.

Mrs. Edward Richardson of Gay street who was called to Providence, R. I., on account of the death of a friend, returned Sunday.

Several young women of Atlantic who graduated from High school and Woodward institute last June have accepted positions as teachers out of the state.

Members of the East Norfolk Christian Endeavor Union will enjoy a social evening tomorrow night at the Wollaston Congregational vestry, corner Winthrop and Lincoln avenues. A cordial invitation is extended to each Endeavorer or friend of C. E., and it is hoped that all may feel an interest in the success of the evening.

$5 New York City Excursion.

This trip, Thursday, October 5, 1905, is the cheapest and most delightful out of Boston; at an excellent time of the year, when the foliage is beautiful and the air invigorating and bracing. This is the only time in the year when the opportunity is given to ride through the Hoosac Mountains and Deerfield Valley to Albany, N. Y.; sail down the Hudson River to New York City, stop in the Metropolis and return to Boston via the Fall River Line steamers, all for $5.00. Send to the Boston & Maine Railroad, General Passenger Department, Boston, your address and we will mail you a beautiful illustrated booklet describing the trip in detail.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. ## PLUMBING ORDINANCE.

No. 168. City of Quincy,

IN COUNCIL, May 29, 1905.

ORDERED: That Ordinance No. 36, an ordinance regulating plumbing, be amended as follows:

Add at the end of clause 3 of section 7 the following: "In work of this description no running trap with clean out will be required in the drain pipe at a point near or where it leaves the building," (as provided for in section 6.)

Strike out the whole of clause 4 of section 6, beginning with the words "all branches of soil pipe" and insert in place thereof the following: "All branch soil or drain pipes four inches or larger in diameter, fifteen feet or more in length and used for the drainage of a water closet or closets shall be continued through or above the roof of a building undiminished in size. A ventilating pipe four inches in diameter from a five-inch drain or soil pipe will be of sufficient size. Two or more soil pipes may be connected together, provided said connections are made above highest fixture on that line of pipe."

Strike out the second sentence of clause 5 of section 6, and insert in place thereof the following:

"Drain pipes when laid below the cellar bottom shall be of a grade known as extra heavy cast iron pipe and fittings throughout their entire length. All changes in directions of drains when so laid, shall be made with a Y or long branch T Y with clean-out in end of Y. Drain pipes may be covered with the exception of a sufficient space left around the clean-outs at angles of drain, and at the main trap and Y at the wall of building which must be left accessible with a space of at least eighteen inches wide and four feet in length measured from face of clean-outs in Y to inside face of wall or box. The spaces around clean-outs may be built of wood, brick, stone or cement with removable covers of suitable material."

Add after the second clause of section 7 the following clause: "In houses where the plumbing is already installed and there is a two inch ventilating pipe extending through the roof of house, a two inch trap vent pipe may in the discretion of the Board of Health be connected into it from an additional fixture, without being restricted to the limit provided for on new work."

Add at the end of section 7 the following clauses: "No ventilation is required from the trap of the highest fixture when the connection from a fixture to a round trap (4 inches or more in diameter) does not exceed three feet; and the connection from the trap to the vertical line of pipe (which extends through the roof) does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to the highest connection of two fixtures when the connection with the vertical line of pipe extending through the roof is made with a double Y branch. This does not include a water closet and any other fixture."

"No ventilation is required from the trap of a water closet when the connection of the same is the highest connection of any vertical line of pipe, 4 inches or more in diameter which extends through the roof, and the branch connection from the soil pipe to the closet connection does not exceed two feet."

"The same applies to two closets when the connection with the soil pipe is made with a double Y branch."

Passed to be ordained Sept. 5, 1905.

Attest: GEORGE T. MAGEE, Clerk of Council.

STATE POLICE AID

It Is Enlisted In Connection With the Chase Case

THE INQUIRY REOPENED

Medical Examiner, Who Is Also Physician of Chase Family, Declined to Perform Autopsy--Police Yield to Public Opinion

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 19.—Chief of Police Harris announces that the inquiry into the sudden death of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase last week has been reopened in response to public opinion.

Mrs. Chase, who was one of the wealthy summer residents, was found dying from gas inhalation at her home and she succumbed to the poison three days later. Medical Examiner Pinkham pronounced the case one of suicide and declined to perform an autopsy. Dr. Pinkham is also the family physician. At a conference of the authorities Saturday it was agreed that the rumors that there had been foul play in the case were quite unfounded and it was decided that further investigation should be discontinued.

Chief Harris says that circumstances of death were found to be peculiar. He adds that the public sentiment in Swampscott is so strong in favor of an investigation that the authorities have decided to re-examine the various circumstances connected with the death of Mrs. Chase. To this end the state police have been asked to co-operate, and the district attorney for Essex county, W. S. Peters, has been informed of the details of the case. Chief Harris intimated that some agreement will be reached as to whether the district attorney will order an autopsy on the body, which was interred Saturday in a local cemetery.

Chief Harris had a talk with Dr. Horace Chase, husband of the woman, yesterday afternoon. Chase told Harris that if the officials decided to perform an autopsy he would assist them in every possible way. The chief has obtained possession of a bottle which contained chloral, a drug Mrs. Chase had taken at times to induce sleep.

Judge Berry of the Lynn police court held a conference with Medical Examiner Pinkham yesterday afternoon. Judge Berry said he desired a thorough investigation of the case, but the medical examiner said that he would not perform an autopsy unless he got instructions from District Attorney Peters. Berry, when questioned later by the newspaper men, said: "I may or may not see District Attorney Peters."

Dr. Pinkham admitted that a woman called him by telephone Sunday and spoke of a threat alleged to have been made by some person against Mrs. Chase. The authorities, however, do not regard this message as one of great value.

Leonard Phillips, a brother of Mrs. Chase, said last night that he was dissatisfied with the vast amount of publicity which has been given the death of his sister. Phillips said that there was no question but that his sister committed suicide. No one had anything to gain by her death, he thought, and he was opposed to the idea of holding an autopsy.

---

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 19.—District Attorney Peters states that he will hold a conference today with the state and Swampscott officers and Medical Examiner Pinkham of Lynn regarding the death of Mrs. Chase, and that the result of that conference will determine his future action in the matter.

Irish Exposition Opens

New York, Sept. 19.—The Irish Industrial exposition, conducted by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, was formally opened last night. The opening services began with a parade of the regiment of Irish volunteers, who escorted Mayor McClellan and Archbishop Earley to the speaker's stand, where they were welcomed with a song in Gaelic by a chorus of 50 young women. After addresses by the mayor and the archbishop, letters and telegrams of regret were read, including one from President Roosevelt.

Russian Envoys Reach France

Cherbourg, Sept. 19.—The Kaiser Wilhelm II arrived here last evening. Mme. Witte, her daughter, Mme. Narychkine, and a number of friends went on board the vessel to meet Mr. Witte. Witte and his colleagues were enthusiastically cheered by the passengers and crowds assembled on the quays as they went on shore. The party was driven to a hotel and left this morning for Paris.

Penniless Laborers For Canal

Colon, Sept. 19.—Steamer Canada has arrived here, bringing from Martinique 600 laborers for work on the canal. The government of the canal zone paid the passages of the laborers and will also provide them with lodgings, hospitals and commissariat coupons. The majority of the men arrived penniless.

Moroccan Tangle Continues

Paris, Sept. 19.—Franco-German negotiations relative to the Moroccan conference have again taken an unfavorable turn, causing anxiety in official and diplomatic circles. This is due to the continued insistence by both sides on points which were considered to be susceptible of compromise.

CZAR GETS CREDIT

Calls For Second Peace Conference at The Hague

WAS SECRETLY PLANNED

First Reached Understanding With President Roosevelt, Who Is In Sympathy With "Proposal"--Great Surprise In Russia

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—Emperor Nicholas again appears before the world as a promoter of universal peace. No sooner is the Russo-Japanese war over and even before the peace treaty has been ratified, than the czar issues invitations to a second peace conference at The Hague.

That the czar has done so is learned from a source which leaves no shadow of doubt as to its authenticity. It is officially announced that "the Russian government proposes to address the foreign powers with a view to the holding of a second peace conference at The Hague," but it is known that negotiations preceding this announcement that the government "proposed" to address the powers were entered into especially with the United States and were conducted with the greatest secrecy, there being not the slightest inkling that Russia contemplated anything of the kind.

The announcement created the greatest surprise here, and that Russia should plan a second conference, despite the steps already taken by President Roosevelt, was also heard with amazement. It is clear that the step could not be taken by Russia without first reaching a complete understanding with President Roosevelt. The fact that President Roosevelt is reported as being entirely in sympathy with the proposal and that he is said to believe that to the initiator of the first Hague conference should belong the honor of convoking the second, and readily and evenly gladly acceded to the Russian proposal, is clear proof that the conference has already been called and that President Roosevelt relinquished his part in it to the czar.

There is strong reason to believe that the news, even of the intention of the Russian government, would not be given out unless invitations had already been sent to the powers and, possibly, that their answers had been received.

In this connection an interesting question arises as to how the invitation was communicated to Japan, in view of the lack of diplomatic relations, but the invitation may be delayed until such relations have been resumed, or it may have been forwarded through the United States.

It is impossible to learn the proposed date of the second conference or to gain even an approximate idea regarding it; but it probably will not be greatly delayed. Russia, as the power convoking the conference, will probably submit an official program, the other powers submitting suggestions.

Citizens' Union For Fusion

New York, Sept. 19.—The city committee of the Citizens' union last night endorsed the action of President Cutting in bolting the fusion caucus on Thursday last and then by formal resolution re-established its lines of communication with the fusionists so that negotiations for a fusion ticket can be reopened. The sentiment in the meeting was overwhelmingly in favor of staying in the fusion army and doing everything possible to make successful coalition.

Freight Handlers Won't Strike

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The Chicago union freight handlers have voted to accept the old wage scale and conditions which have prevailed for two years and agreements to that effect have been made with 19 railroads against which strikes have been threatened for the last 10 days. All the freight handlers begun work today under the renewed contracts, with no chance for a strike until the expiration of the agreements a year hence.

A Plea For the Canteen

Washington, Sept. 19.—General Lee, commanding the department of Texas, in his annual report is positively in favor of the re-establishment of the army canteen. He says that 80 percent of the soldiers drink stimulants. A majority drink beer and light wines, while a minority drink strong liquors, but only a small percentage drink to excess.

No Decision In Taggart Case

Wooster, O., Sept. 19.—Judge Eason is not yet ready to announce his decision in the Taggart divorce case. It is understood that another week may elapse before a decision is handed down. Taggart's 60-day furlough, which was given him for the purpose of attending this trial, will expire in 10 days.

Left a Comfortable Fortune

San Jose, Cal., Sept. 19.—An inventory of the separate personal estate of the late Mrs. Jane L. Stanford has been filed by the appraisers. The estate foots up $3,391,871, the greater part consisting of bonds in various railroad companies.

Wind Levelled Circus Tent

Maysville, Mo., Sept. 19.—During a windstorm a large circus tent was blown down and 50 persons in the audience were injured. All the injured will recover.

Suicide Follows Reconciliation

New York, Sept. 19.—Richard S. Fay, said to be wealthy and who was formerly well known in Boston, committed suicide by shooting at his country home at Katonah, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Fay played cards until midnight, when Mrs. Fay retired. She had been gone but a few minutes when her husband killed himself. Fay was married a year ago, but recently began divorce proceedings. Mrs. Fay and a daughter by a former husband left the house a week ago, but she returned a few days later and a temporary reconciliation was effected.

No Favors For Duarignac

New York, Sept. 19.—Despite his appeals to the immigration officials for permission to visit New York city for a few hours, Romaine Duarignac was compelled to remain a prisoner on Ellis Island. He had attempted to enter the country, but was ordered deported because he had served a term in a French prison for his connection with the operations of his sister, Mme. Humbert, in Paris. Daurignac wanted to see New York publishers for whom he has written a book dealing with French prisons.

Another Operation Upon Harper

Chicago, Sept. 19.—President Harper of the University of Chicago has undergone another operation and, according to a statement issued by his family, he is resting comfortably. The operation is said to have been but a slight one, to relieve an intestinal trouble. This is the third time within 18 months that Harper has been on the operating table.

Students as Bill Posters

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Four Union college students were arrested last night for posting bills about the city without a license. They were busy plastering private houses with posters, which were orders to freshmen, when arrested. They gave the names of members of the faculty at the station house.

The Young Court Martial

Mare Island, Cal., Sept. 19.—The court martial to try Commander Young of the United States gunboat Bennington, in connection with a fatal boiler explosion on the gunboat at San Diego, has convened. The charges and specifications were read, and Young pleaded not guilty to each of the six charges.

Fever Suspected at Cincinnati

Detroit, Sept. 19.—Owing to reports that 200 refugees from yellow fever infected districts have gone to Cincinnati and that some yellow fever has been discovered in that city, Health Officer Kiefer of Detroit says that people coming from Cincinnati to Detroit must be provided with health certificates.

Odd Fellows Are Prospering

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—Under weather conditions that were somewhat disappointing the annual communication of the sovereign lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows was formally opened here. The reports show that the order had a most prosperous year.

Quarantine Against Havana

Galveston, Sept. 19.—Orders have been given by the state health department to quarantine all vessels from Havana five days. No explanation is given. No other Cuban port is included. Up to yesterday the traffic between Havana and Texas ports had been open.

BEEF CASES NOT READY

Meat Packers Attack Validity of the Grand Jury

Chicago, Sept. 19.—By pleas in abatement, attorneys representing the 17 meat packers and other persons indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiring in a trust to monopolize the meat business attacked the position of the government. The attack was made against the impanelling of a jury; alleged improper service of a summons on John Murray, one of the jurors; unlawful secrecy at the time the jury was drawn from the box; unlawful presence of a stenographer in the jury room during the hearing, and the subsequent writing of the shorthand notes.

The plea was filed late yesterday afternoon with District Attorney Morrison, after an all-day conference between Attorney Miller, general counsel for the packers, and a number of associate attorneys in the case. There were no court proceedings and the plea will be filed with the clerk of the district court today.

The main ground on which the defendants stand in their plea is the presence of John Murray in the jury. It is their assertion that his name was drawn just before a redistricting of Illinois, which threw him into another district.

Queer Doings In Chinese Joint

Salt Lake City, Sept. 19.—A Chinese woman called the police to a building where they found a dead Chinaman sitting on a cot, while in the same room another Chinaman, who appeared to be insane, had kindled a fire on the floor, apparently in an attempt to destroy the building. On the floor below the police found "Eddie" Merode, a white man, apparently dying of opium poisoning. Merode's money, watch and chain were missing. His recovery is doubtful.

Will Be World's Largest

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—The Pittsburg Steamship company has placed an order with the American Shipbuilding company for two boats that will be the largest bulk carriers in the world. The boats will be built at South Chicago, will come out next spring and cost $450,000 each. The vessels will have the following dimensions each: Length over all, 600 feet; keel, 583 feet; beam, 58 feet; depth, 32 feet. On a draft of 20 feet they will carry close to 12,000 tons of ore.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Why? Why not?

The Quincy Adams depot is 44 years old.

Six years ago today there was 80 degree temperature.

Today is the anniversary of the death of President Garfield.

Fred G. Thayer of Willow street has returned to Amherst college.

Councilman Stone has been confined to the house since Saturday with the grip.

The new shop of Alexander Clark & Co. on Liberty street is about completed.

Walter H. Cobb, the local Herald correspondent, is having his annual vacation.

Miss Irma C. Tilton has accepted a position as clerk in the office of the Board of Health.

The district court has begun to make naturalized citizens of some of our foreign born population.

Those question marks at the top of the first page of the Daily Ledger yesterday caused a lots of speculation.

The days are decreasing in length, three minutes each day, and are three hours shorter than they were in June.

The contractors for the Metropolitan Parkway have men at work at Wollaston beach and the boulevard is progressing.

Miss Ethel Hill of Walker street has returned from Fairmount, Mass., where she has been a guest of Miss Mabel Wyman.

Ex-Councilman Hultman says the querries in the advertising columns of the Daily Ledger yesterday were a great boom for him.

The City Council Committee on Streets will give a hearing Friday evening to the petitioners for the widening of Cottage avenue.

The Swedish conferences in session in Quincy this week have excellent press agents who have kept the Daily Ledger reader well posted on the business transacted.

Frank M. Chubbuck, a government employe in the post office department in this city, is taking his vacation and has gone to Gettysburg to a convention for a week.

The Democratic City Committee has placed the names of James H. Elcock and Alfred J. LaCroix on the ticket as candidates for representative to be voted for at the caucuses next week.

William E. Tarbox of 1623 Hancock street, Quincy, wishes to inform his friends and the public that he is not the Tarbox mentioned in the Quincy court news by the Boston papers, but a party from a neighboring town.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostoms church held last week: President, Mrs. Fulton; Vice-president, Mrs. Fowler; second Vice-President, Mrs. Mills; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Jewell.

Rainy today.

Joseph Pillsbury, of Jacksonville, Fla., is visiting Frank Hall of Muirhead street, Wollaston.

Wallace C. Bennett of Arlington street is at home after a delightful summer spent in camp in Maine.

Howard Terrill of Hancock street has changed his position in Boston to a more promising one in Worcester and will make his home in the latter place for the present.

Charles G. Batson of Quincy and Mr. D. W. Pratt of Weymouth have gone on a two weeks trip to Philadellphia, Washington and New York and will also visit the coal region.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Thayer and son of Cincinnati, have been the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Thayer of Willow street. Mr. Thayer come on to speak at the opening of Thayer Academy and he occupied the pulpit at All Souls church, Braintree, Sunday morning.

ENTER CONTEST.

Several Candidates for Daily Ledger Free Schoolarships.

Although the Free Scholarship coupon has been published but once in the Patriot (good for five votes) and once in Daily Ledger (good for two votes), many doubtless were on the lookout and several candidates are already entered for the prizes which are worth over $200.

The standing to date is:

The Rink Open.

Lovers of roller skating will be glad to learn that the rink at the Coliseum has opened for the season. During the summer months the rink was thoroughly cleaned and newly painted. The walls have been prettily decorated with bunting and Japanese lanterns so that the rink is now very attractive.

Roller skating bids fair to again become the popular winter sport, and Quincy is fortunate in having located here the largest and best rink in New England. Perfect order is maintained, and the coming winter months will doubtless see many pretty parties at the Coliseum. On the opening night, Saturday, upwards of 400 were in attendance.

PROSPERING.

Good Work by Swedish Missionary Society.

Annual Conference at Quincy.

Fifty-two Churches in the Association.

The fifteenth annual conference of the Eastern Swedish Missionary Society commenced Monday in the Swedish Congregational church on Garfield street at 9 o'clock A. M.

Rev. A. L. Anderson of Brockton, president of the society, read a portion of Scripture and invoked divine blessings on the conference. In a brief address he greeted the delegates and outlined the work which was to come before the assembly.

Rev. J. Anderson, the local pastor, delivered a hearty address of welcome to the delegates who had come in great numbers from all parts of the New England states. Some seventy-five delegates, including a great number of clergymen, were present.

The president reported that the past year had been the most prosperous in the history of the association. The association is composed of fifty-two churches. Of these several have a membership of over four hundred.

The treasurer reported an income of $5,775.49 during the year, while the expenditures have been $4,803.05.

The association has an excellent "Seamen's and Emigrant Home" in East Boston. Rev. P. Lindegren, who is the president of this institution of benevolence, cited many touching incidents to prove how valuable this home is for the seamen. Many have during the year been brought under Christian influences through the efforts of the home. The society also has an orphanage, located in Cromwell, Conn., where sixty little children are cared for.

Rev. G. E. Pilh, New Britain, reported that the churches had very generously responded to the call for aid during the past year, hence the finances of the Orphanage were in a good condition. The expenses of the home during the past year was $4,803.05.

Many reports were read during the morning from churches that receive aid from the association. Several newly organized churches receive help from the society.

From South Manchester, Rev. V. Harald reported that the little strugglin church at that place, in trying to pay off the church debt, had been pleasantly surprised one day by the visit of an unknown benefactor, an American friend, who volunteered to give $500.00 toward paying off the church debt if the church could raise as much. This was done and now the little church rejoices that there is no mortgage on their church home.

Following churches were admitted: The Swedish Evangelical Mission church of Stanford and Greenwich, Conn., The Swedish Congregational church of New London, Conn., The Swedish Mission church of Norwood, Mass.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock. Prof. J. A. Hultman, the famous Swedish baritone vocalist who was present, led the singing.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Rev. A. L. Anderson, Brockton, president.

Rev. K. F. Ohlson of New York, vice-president.

Rev. L. A. Akeson, Worcester, secretary.

Rev. A. Erikson of Boston, associate secretary.

Mr. J. A. Edman of Orange, treasurer.

By reason of the clergymen's conference at the same church, Sept. 15-17, together with this gathering, nearly all the Swedish Congregational churches in the eastern states, had no pastors last Sunday, except Quincy, and vicinity.

Bainbridge—Nickerson.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan G. Nickerson at 41 Winthrop avenue, this morning, when their daughter, Miss Marion Hallett, was united in marriage to Randolph Bainbridge, son of Mrs. Alice C. and the late J. W. Bainbridge.

The ceremony was performed at 10.30 in the presence of the immediate families by Rev. Edward A. Chase of the Wollaston Congregational church. The bride was gowned in a travelling suit of grey. A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bainbridge will spend their honeymoon on Lake Winnepesaukee, and will be at home after December first at 78 Lincoln avenue.

The bride, who is one of Wollaston's well known and popular young ladies, prepared for college at Thayer academy and is a graduate of Boston University and the University of Berlin.

Little--Alexander.

In the presence of a little company of friends on Saturday night in the manse of the First Presbyterian church of this city a very happy event took place, when Mr. Noble P. Little of Peabody and Nellie Alexander, daughter of William Alexander of Carnousie Turriff, Scotland, were united in holy wedlock by the pastor, Rev. N. J. Sproul.

Miss Alexander is a granddaughter of Charles Morton of East Milton. Miss Helen B. Morton, cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor. The happy couple left Monday for their future home in Peabody amid the congratulations of their many friends.

TODAY'S COURT.

Sarah P. Madden, who was fined $50 and sentenced to three months in the house of correction and appealed, came into court and withdrew her appeal and took her sentence.

John Moriarty was sentenced to one month in the house of correction for refusing to work at the Quincy almshouse. Appealed.

RECORD COUNTED.

Treasures of President Bowles Returned.

Even Before He Missed Them.

Bogus Inspectors Had Robbed His House.

Robbed of a tin box, containing many valuable papers and an expensive gold watch chain, Rear Admiral Bowles, U. S. N. (retired), now president of the Fore River Ship Building Company at Quincy, remained in blissful ignorance of his loss until the thieves had returned the box and papers to him, with a note expressing their admiration of his record as a naval officer. The watch chain was not returned, says the Herald.

Admiral Bowles lives at 148 Marlboro street, Back Bay. On Saturday bona fide inspectors visited his house and examined and put his telephone into commission.

On Monday two young men called at the house and informed the servant that they were telephone inspectors and wished to test the line. The servant showed them through the house to the 'phone room and left them at work for a few minutes.

During that time one of the sneak thieves ransacked the house, and when the men departed they carried away a tin treasure box containing some valuable papers and a gold link chain.

But this fact was unknown to the household until Monday evening, when by the evening express a package was delivered to the maid at the door of the house by a messenger. The express charges were prepaid and the expressman did not know whom or where the package came from.

When he opened the package Admiral Bowles found, much to his surprise, that it contained his tin treasure box, in which were all his valuable papers, but his gold link watch chain was missing. Nicely folded on the top of the papers in the box was a note carefully and well penned upon choice note paper, in which the thieves explained to the admiral that they were extremely sorry they had discomforted him by so rudely visiting his house and carrying away his valuable papers.

These they returned to him intact, they wrote, because of their admiration for him on account of his fine record as a brave officer in the country's navy, and they apologized sincerely for having intruded upon his home privacy.

The bogus telephone inspectors are described as follows: One 26 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, of medium build, dark hair and mustache, and dressed in dark clothing and a black derby; the other is described as 25, 5 feet 6 inches tall, medium build, is of dark complexion and has a small brown mustache. He was dressed in dark clothing and a black derby.

SHOULD PROTEST.

Boston Gets Water at Expense of Quincy and Other Towns.

The statement of the Metropolitan water service for the month of August shows Boston to have used over 76 per cent. of all the water supplied, a larger per cent than last year.

The total number of gallons used in the district was 115,432,800, against 109,020,500 in August last year, and Boston used 87,999,600 against 82,835,300 last year.

Further Boston used 148 gallons per capita per day, which was 20 gallons per capita above the average in the district, and 30 gallons per capita more than Quincy.

No city or town uses as much water per capita as Boston, and all the cities and towns except Boston and Winthrop are below the average.

The cities and towns in the Metropolitan district should protest against Boston's water assessment which is much too small and thereby makes the assessments on Quincy and other cities too large. The figures for August, 1905, are on the actual population and are not so favorable to Boston as the "estimated" population which has been too large.

NEW PASTOR.

Has Been Very Successful in Building up Churches.

Rev. Warren S. Perkins, D. D., of Boston, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Universalist church of Quincy.

Dr. Perkins was educated for the ministry in the Meadville Theological school and Tufts College and was ordained in 1880. He has served four prominent Universalist churches at Lynn, Lewiston, Me., Meriden, Conn., and Virginia street, Boston.

In all these pastorates the work of Dr. Perkins has been abundantly blest by growing congregations and rapid financial improvement.

At Meriden a church property valued at $20,000 was replaced by a magnificent brownstone church costing over $100,000, dedicated entirely free from debt, and later the pastorate received endowment gifts amounting to $70,000.

On Dr. Perkins departure from Lewiston, the Evening Journal spoke of his ministry, "as full of spiritual invigoration to the church, and full of the sweet, pure and helpful influences of the man."

Of the growth of the church during this pastorate the Journal continued: "Practically, so far as Rev. Mr. Perkins' connection with this people goes it has been one of the most successful of any in the history of New England churches, and certainly phenomenal so far as the history of this individual church is concerned. He found it in a discouraging situation, financially, with some dissensions in membership; today its financial condition is of the best and it is a church strong, hopeful, united."

The services at Quincy will be held in the afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, thus offording an opportunity for worship to any who may be unable for any reason to attend a morning service, and all such regardless of their church affiliations are invited to these services. Dr. Perkins will reside for the present at 97 Howard avenue, Roxbury, where he may be addressed for any pastoral service needed.

IN DOUBT.

Merry Contest is on for Representatives.

Both Present Members May Lose.

Ex-Councilman Hultman Gains by Publicity.

Unless all signs fail the representative fight at the caucuses Sept. 26 will be a warm one. Who will win out is a question that is hard to predict. With six candidates seeking the nomination the vote is bound to be well split up. Of the six, Richard R. Freeman and Harry S. Nicoll are seeking renomination.

Of the others Eugene C. Hultman enters the fight for the first time. Arthur E. Baxter, sought election last year, his name having been placed on the official ballot by nomination papers.

Of the other two Edward J. Sandberg has received the nomination in other years, but failed to win out at the election.

Ex-Mayor John O. Hall sought the nomination in 1903, but was defeated at the caucuses by Mr. Sandberg by 40 votes.

Mr. Freeman has already served three years and there are a great many who think that is enough. Harry S. Nicoll has served one year and custom calls for his return for a second term. There is a feeling however that he may fail this year.

Ex-Mayor Hall was side tracked last year to allow Mr. Freeman to have a third term and for sake of harmony in the party. Mr. Hall now believes that he has taken a back seat long enough in the interest of harmony, and is in the fight this year for keeps.

Although twice defeated at the polls, Mr. Sandberg thinks that this is his chosen year, and if nominated will surely be elected. He counts upon the Swede vote to put him in nomination, but while he was endorsed at a meeting of the Scandinavian club, it is claimed that those present at the meeting were not unanimous for him. That he does not have the hearty endorsement of the club, but that Mr. Hultman has a large following among the Swedish voters, and that they will support him at the coming caucus. It is evident to every one who has looked into the matter any that the so-called Swede vote is to be split up this year between Mr. Sandberg and Mr. Hultman.

Mr. Hultman however has an enemy in Ex-Mayor Charles M. Bryant, who has sharpened his axe and is out after his scalp. It seems that the first year Mr. Bryant ran for Mayor, Mr. Hultman was one of the delegates to the municipal convention who did not vote for him and after his name was placed on the ballot by nomination papers; that Mr. Hultman stood by F. L. Jones the convention nominee, and worked for him in preference to Bryant. Mr. Bryant has never had an opportunity to get after Mr. Hultman for his action that year until now. Evidently time has not healed the hard feelings created that year, and if Mr. Hultman is not defeated for the nomination it will be no fault of Mr. Bryant.

Mr. Bryant can no doubt hurt Mr. Hultman's candidacy in Ward Five, but it is doubtful how much he can hurt him in other wards where the Bryant sentiment is not so strong as it was once. Some say the opposition will add strength.

Taking all in all it looks from the present writing as if there would be something doing Sept. 26, and that the two men who will be fortunate enough to win the nomination would be in doubt until the votes are all counted.

The vote in the Republican caucuses in 1903, when Messrs. Freeman, Sandberg and Hall were the candidates was as follows:

| | Freeman. | Sandberg. | Hall |
|---|---|---|---|
| Ward One, | 107 | 177 | 135 |
| Ward Two, | 61 | 34 | 67 |
| Ward Three, | 94 | 107 | 91 |
| Ward Four, | 68 | 137 | 60 |
| Ward Five, | 265 | 90 | 100 |
| Ward Six, | 60 | 35 | 27 |

Swedish Missionary Society Proposes a Home for Them.

The third session of the Eastern Swedish Missionary society began at 9 A. M. Tuesday. Mr. E. Steele, delegate from Brockton, read Scripture and led in prayer.

The associatson gave its expression of gratitude to its former secretary, Rev. G. Viman, for faithful service during the several years he has served the association.

Financial aid ranging from $20.00 to $5.00 per month was voted to the following churches: Hobokin, N. J.; Stanford and Greenwich, Conn.; Norwood, Mass.; Brattleboro, Vt.; South Manchester, Conn.; Beverly, Mass.; Pt. Richmond, N. Y.; and Everett, Mass. It was recommended that a collection should be asked Easter day, from the churches to defray the expenses of the association.

Rev. A. L. Anderson of Brockton was unanimously called as traveling missionary of the eastern states. The Rev. Mr. Anderson is also president of the association.

A committee was appointed to interest the churches to raise a fund and possibly erect a home for aged clergymen.

The association expressed its hearty gratitude to the local church and pastor for their generous hospitality towards the delegates. The association adjourned at 3 P. M.

LETTERS WANTED.

Can You from Experience Tell of Benefits of Hospital?

"Our Hospital" will be the name of the little paper which will be published in connection with Hospital Week, and distributed to all. Of course, its publication is in the nature of an experiment, and if it is successful, other numbers may be issued from time to time, say every six months.

Perhaps nothing will contribute more to its success than a number of letters from those who can speak from personal experience, and so it is requested that any who have been at the Hospital or who know particularly about its work, write a brief letter not over 150 or 200 words and mail it to the Publication Committee, City Hospital, Quincy.

It may not be possible to publish all these letters in "Our Hospital," but those that do not appear there will, it expected, be published in the local papers.

LOST SEVENTEEN MEN

Steamer From Chile Had Trip of Death and Danger

Boston, Sept. 20.—The steamer Tropic, which lost 17 of her crew off Constitucion, Chile, June 28, while on a voyage from Chilean ports to this city with a cargo of nitrate of soda, has arrived at her destination.

The Tropic stranded 15 miles from Putu. A boat containing Second Officer Dowbigin, Purser Owen and 15 sailors put off from the steamer to summon assistance, but Captain Barker of the Tropic never heard of the men again. He thinks they must have been blown out to sea and lost.

The vessel was floated by an abnormally high tide within a few days. The cargo was valued at $45,000 and was damaged to the extent of $7000.

Honors to Miss Roosevelt

Seoul, Sept. 20.—Through streets crowded with white robed Koreans and lined by the imperial bodyguard standing at salute, Miss Alice Roosevelt, riding in the imperial yellow palanquin, last evening triumphantly progressed from the railroad station to the American legation. The roadways had been freshly paved and the shops draped with Korean and hastily handpainted American flags. On arrival at Seoul the American party was hailed by a Korean band, which played the "Star Spangled Banner." The passage of the party along the streets was everywhere heralded by the bugles of troops.

Heavy Damages Against Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 20.—A verdict of $100,000 against the city of Chicago was given the Panhandle railroad in a damage suit brought because of the burning of a number of freight cars belonging to the railroad company during the American railway union strike of 1894. A motion made by the city to set the verdict aside was denied by the court. The railroad company held that the city of Chicago was liable for damage because of its alleged inadequate protection to the company's property.

Beavers Must Stand Trial

Washington, Sept. 20.—A decision has been reached by the department of justice not to allow ex-Superintendent Beavers, former chief of the division of salaries and allowances of the postoffice department, to plead guilty to charges of conspiracy in the Doremus cancelling machine contract without trial. The suggestion that he plead guilty to one count of the indictment contemplated the dropping of all the other counts.

Steamer's Tail Shaft Broken

Halifax, Sept. 20.—The North German Lloyd steamer Bremen, New York for Bremen, with her port tailshaft broken, was towed in here by the tank steamer Lucigen, Shields for Philadelphia. The accident to the Bremen happened on the second day out, the engines being stopped on Friday. As the weather was moderate and the steamer in no immediate danger the passengers felt no concern.

"Poor" Pedler Had Fortune

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Albert Hertze, supposedly poor and a pedlar, died here. In an effort to identify him search was made of his trunk. Besides bank books representing deposits of several thousand dollars, the searchers found 30 $1000 bonds of the United States Steel corporation. The principal stock in trade carried by Hertze consisted of pins, stationery and cheap jewelry.

Another Insurance Mudd

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Charges of fraud, misapplication of trust funds and attempts to transfer assets to another concern are made in a suit for a receiver and an accounting, filed against officials of the Western Life Indemnity company, an assessment insurance association. The defendant company has more than $20,000,000 in policies outstanding.

Youths Charged With Robberies

New York, Sept. 20.—Chief of Police Ellis of Ansonia, Conn., and Deputy Sheriff Ritch of Greenwich, Conn., found two boys in this city whom they will take back to Connecticut, charged with committing a series of robberies. The boys were Thomas Young, 17 years old, and Gustav Schmidt, 19.

THE ASIATIC WAR

Suggests Much For The Hague Congress to Settle

THREE NOTABLE TOPICS

Need of Adjustment of American Propositions Has Increased--What Was Accomplished by the First Conference

Washington, Sept. 20.—Six months will elapse, according to state department estimates, before the second conference at The Hague can be assembled. No definite advices as to the czar's plans have yet been received here. It is assumed that most of this period will be necessary in adjusting, through correspondence or personal representatives regarding the scope of the proposed meeting.

Three topics were suggested by this government in its circular letter last year as especially inviting discussion. These were the inviolability of private property at sea, putting it on the same basis as private property on land, long an American contention; the better definition of the rights and duties of neutrals, and further restrictions upon the bombardment of ports by ships of war.

The close of the Asiatic war has increased the need of an adjustment of these questions and also added many more. The use of the wireless telegraphy by neutrals in the war zone, the limits to which mines endangering general commerce may be employed, the settlement of contraband disputes, and the interned ship question are among the most pressing. The proposal for a permanent international parliament to define points of international law, meeting at stated intervals, will again be vigorously pressed.

The previous memorable meeting was called on the initiative of the czar, who in December, 1898, through a note to the powers by his minister of foreign affairs, Count Muravieff, proposed as the subjects of such a conference an understanding stipulating the non-augmentation of standing armies and navies for a stated period and the consideration of means for the reduction of such military forces; the interdiction of new firearms of all sorts or the invention and use of new explosives; the prohibition of war balloons and submarine boats; the neutralization of all boats used for the rescue of the shipwrecked during or after naval engagements, and the acceptance of tendered good offices in the event of international disputes with the aim of substitution of arbitration for war.

President McKinley appointed Andrew D. White, Seth Low, Stanford Newell, Captain Mahan and General Crozier delegates on the part of the United States. Secretary Hay, in the instructions given these delegates, committeed this government to advise against adherence to those propositions regarding the reduction of armies and the discouragement of new inventions in firearms and explosives, taking the view that these agencies tended to prevent rather than bring on wars.

To those propositions, which had for their purpose the amelioration of war conditions and the employment of arbitration to settle disputes between nations, he gave unstinted support. The commission from the United States on May 18 met the delegates from 26 countries at the "house in the wood" at The Hague and the conference entered on its labors.

The most important result of the conference was the establishment of The Hague court of arbitration, which the American delegation from the start advocated with great ability. The conference also declared against balloon projectiles, dumdum bullets, asphyxiating gases as means of war, favored the application to maritime warfare of the principles of the Geneva conference of 1864 as to the Red Cross, and expressed the wish that there might be a revision of the Geneva convention.

The conference adopted several resolutions proposing subjects to be brought before the conference that is now urged by the czar. These were the reduction of armies and navies, the improvement of present agreements as to the rights and duties of neutrals, the better definition of the immunity of private property on the high seas during war, and new regulations as to the bambardment of cities and villages during war by naval forces.

Peace Expected to Prevail

London, Sept. 20.—The correspondent of The Times at Karstad, speaking of the Swedish-Norwegian negotiations, says there are some knotty points on which an understanding has not yet been reached. There is, however, every hope that a final agreement will be attaind ere long.

Yielding to Printers' Union

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Twenty-four independent printing shops yesterday signed contracts with the Typographical union for putting into effect the eight-hour day after Jan. 1. A total of 158 shops in Chicago have now signed the agreement.

Automobile Racer Killed

Trenton, Sept. 20.—Robert E. Kidd was killed and S. H. Bird was injured in an automobile accident at Hightstown. The machine was overturned by running into a telegraph pole. Kidd was an automobile racer.

CITY BREVITIES.

The double house on Brooks avenue recently damaged by fire has been repaired.

The new block of T. J. Lamb on the Furnace Brook parkway makes quite an improvement.

The buildings on the Tirrell estate on Hancock street have recently been improved by paint.

The Registrars of Voters will hold another session Friday evening, the last before the caucuses.

The month of September is not keeping up its reputation as the pleasantest month in the year.

Joe McCarthy, who jumped his bail last June, and has since kept out of sight, visited his old haunts on Tuesday, and promptly fell into the hands of Inspector Bradley, who locked him up.

The S. of V. Auxiliary held a sewing circle and whist party on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Godfrey, Braintree. Prize winners were: Mrs. Rose A. Reed, Mrs. Sarah M. Hart, Miss Flossie Godfrey and Miss Caroline Godfrey.

A public word of appreciation should be tendered Mrs. Marble of Squantum street for her services as organist in the Memorial church, Atlantic. The new quartette is receiving many compliments also. Music is such a major part of religious enthusiasm that no church lacks spirit and fraternal feeling if it is held together by organ and voice harmony.

Again there are vociferous complaints about the darkness on Hancock street bridge where the patrons of trolley cars have to connect with Squantum cars or even with the train. There is no way in the darkness to find the one small avenue of escape from the network of wires and ropes. Just because there hasn't been any serious accident is not a sign that one will never happen. It is a matter of public concern and ought to be attended to without delay.

New Novels at Library.

An arrangment has been made by our Public Library with the Boston office of the Booklover's library whereby it is hoped to loan readers some more recent novels which the Bodley Club library was unable to supply. Delay in exchanging the books is now reduced to minimum in dealing with the Boston division instead of the one at Philadelphia. Forty books selected from the September issue of the Booklover's Magazine have been placed upon the revolving case in the reading room.

Court Martial For Burbank

Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 20.—First Lieutenant Burbank, Sixth Infantry, who left here for the Philippines in February, is to be court martialled. Burbank brought suit in the district court here to annul an alleged marriage with a Filipino woman. The suit is still pending.

Failure of Illinois Bank

Springfield, Ills., Sept. 20.—The Barry Exchange bank of Barry has closed its doors. Eugene Smith, the president, has assigned all his property to a stockholder of the bank, and it is believed the indebtedness, which amounts to about $100,000, will be paid in full.

A REFUSAL OF AID

Captain Hotville's Action Costs Him His License

SYLPH WAS IN DANGER

Her Commander Convinced That Vessel and All on Board Would Have Been Lost but For the Timely Appearance of El Cid

Washington, Sept. 20.—The failure of Captain W. H. Hotville, as master of the United Fruit company's steamer Oteri, to give assistance to U. S. S. Sylph, which was disabled off the coast of North Carolina on the night of April 12 last, has cost him his position through the revocation of his license by the United States steamboat inspection service.

This action was taken by inspection officers at Norfolk on Sept. 12, the correspondence being just made public by the department of commerce and labor. The distress of the Sylph occurred while Lieutenant Evans was bringing the vessel up the coast from Florida, where it had been used by Mrs. Roosevelt and her children for a cruise.

It appears from the evidence gathered by the steamboat inspection service that Hotville made little effort to aid the Sylph. The accusation of Evans and the reply of Hotville do not materially differ, except that Hotville offered an excuse for his action. In the inspection service, it is said, this excuse was the most damaging evidence obtained.

Lieutenant Evans, in commenting on the incident, details the accident to the Sylph and his failure to get the Oteri to respond to his signal of distress, and says he "was entirely helpless and the Oteri knew it." He then graphically described the experiences of the night, the failure of other vessels to see the signals from the Sylph, and finally of the rescue on the morning of the 13th by the Morgan liner El Cid, which put about from her course to New Orleans.

The morning had broken with nasty weather and falling barometer and an increasing sea. Evans asked to be towed into safe anchorage within Chesapeake bay and the request was complied with. The Sylph was taken in tow, but its condition was so bad that the Morgan liner was compelled to slow down from 10 to five knots, and later to three knots an hour. The report of Evans closed with this statement: "I am firmly convinced that had the El Cid not taken us into port the Sylph and all her people would have been lost."

Captain Hotville failed to slow down for the alleged reason that at the time the Sylph was spoken the telegraph system on the Oteri became impaired and there was no direct manner of sending word to the engine room for a reversal of the engines. The inspectors held that this excuse showed the master to be a man without resources and on that ground and negligence revoked his license.

Captain Hotville's version of the affair, as given immediately after the incident, is as follows:

"We were steaming along under full headway, when I sighted flare lights on a vessel ahead. This vessel was about eight miles off the land and 16 miles south of Bodie island. The night was clear and the weather good. As we approached I pulled the bell to stop the engines, the wire broke, and before I could communicate with the engine room we were out of range of hearing. As soon as the wire broke I made ready to hail the distressed craft. A hail came, 'Will you tow us?' I answered, 'No, I cannot; drop your anchors, you are in 14 fathoms of water; I'll report you at Cape Henry.' I reported the ship's distress to the pilot and told him to send a tug. We had perishable cargo on board, the yacht was in no danger, and as I had no towing gear, I did the best thing I could under the circumstances."

May Mean Big Strike of Miners

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 20.—One of the biggest coal operators in this region, who has just had a conference with President Baer of the Reading, declares unhesitatingly, and for publication, that the operators will not, under any consideration, grant the demands of the mine workers for an eight-hour day and that they propose to agree only that the present agreement shall be continued.

Dozen Druggists Arrested

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 20.—Every druggist in this city, with one exception, was arrested on indictments brought against them by the grand jury, charging them with illegal sale of intoxicating liquors. The defendants numbered 12, and when arraigned before Judge Haselton were held in $300 each for a further hearing.

North Dakota Bank Closed

Washington, Sept. 20.—Announcement of the closing of the Minot National bank of Minot, N. D., is made by the comptroller of the currency. F. B. Chapman, national bank examiner, has been appointed receiver. The deposits were $104,998.

For Venezuela to Consider

Caracas, Sept. 20.—M. Wiener, the French minister, has lodged a protest with the government against its action in closing the station of the French Cable company and expelling the manager of the company, M. Brun.

GUILTY OE THEFT

Ten Years Tacked to Prison Sentence of Paul Schmidt

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 20.—A sentence of five years in state prison was imposed in the superior court on Paul H. Schmidt, charged with the theft of jewelry at the Crittenden residence in Sherman in August, 1904.

Schmidt was brought here from Wethersfield state prison, where he is serving a sentence of 10 years for manslaughter on account of the killing of William Taylor, who worked with him on the Crittenden farm.

State Attorney Fessenden thought the sentence for the killing of Taylor too light, as the prisoner had been tried for murder in the first degree, and the move to press the charge of theft in connection with the same crime was made by the state attorney in the belief that the ends of justice would be assisted by lengthening Schmidt's imprisonment. Schmidt pleaded guilty to the theft charge.

Firing Did Not Scare Fish

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 20.—One of the interesting results, from a civilian's standpoint, of the target practice of the north Atlantic squadron which has been in progress in Cape Cod bay is the fact that the firing has apparently had little or no effect on the fish. While battleships were shaking the air with the reports of their 8 and 12-inch guns, local fishermen seined 100 barrels of pogies within a quarter of a mile of the fleet. Protests were made by fishermen last summer against the fleet's practice off Gay Head, where it was claimed that the firing had spoiled the fishing.

Leading Citizen Passes On

Concord, N. H., Sept. 20.—John C. Linehan of this city, for 15 years insurance commissioner of New Hampshire, died last night after a long illness from intestinal disorders. He was born in Ireland in 1840. He had served in the war of the rebellion, had been a member of the legislature and of the governor's council. In 1887 he was elected junior vice commander of the Grand Army. For his contributions to Irish literature he was given the degree of master of arts by Dartmouth college.

Noted Politicians at Boston

Boston, Sept. 20.—Cornelius N. Bliss of New York, treasurer of the Republican national committee, and Delancy Nicoll of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee, were at the Hotel Touraine yesterday, although Bliss was not registered. Bliss refused to say anything about the alleged contributions of the New York Life Insurance company to the Republican campaign fund.

Broker Gets His Commissions

Boston, Sept. 20.—Miss Charlotte Crabtree, known to the theatre-going public as Lotta, lost her case before the supreme judicial court yesterday, when the jury returned a virdict of $3763.37 for John J. Caddigan, the real estate broker, who was suing her to recover commissions which he alleged were due him for the leasing of the Hotel Reynolds.

May Be Hiding at Nashua

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 20.—The local police have been asked to co-operate with the New York authorities in the search for Joseph Giraud, who is wanted in connection with the murder of Miss Augusta Pfeiffer at Pelham manor last week. Giraud is thought by the New York police to have come from this city.

Ran In Front of Auto

New London, Conn., Sept. 20.—Martin Felix, aged 13, was run over and fatally injured by an automobile. The boy's skull was fractured, a thigh broken, and he sustained internal injuries. The accident was attributed to the lad running suddenly into the street, endeavoring to get away from a companion.

Two Men Killed by Engine

Hartford, Sept. 20.—Two unknown men who were lying on the railroad track here were killed last night by a switch engine, which backed down upon them and cut their bodies to pieces. Both were neatly dressed and appeared to be above the ordinary type of tramp that is killed on the railroad.

Brokers Charged With Larceny

New York, Sept. 20.—Charged with larceny from various corporations, C. A. Seton and H. H. McElhiney, dealers in stocks and bonds, have been arrested. The concern, according to the police, was in the habit of writing to newly incorporated concerns offering to finance their enterprises in New York.

Alleged Slayer of Stepmother

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 20.—LeRoy Butler, aged 19, a negro, is on trial in the superior court, charged with the murder of his stepmother, Mary Butler, at Stamford on March 10. He pleaded not guilty and will attempt to prove an alibi.

Young Roosevelt to Enter Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 20.—It is announced that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., son of President Roosevelt, has safely passed his entrance examinations to Harvard college and will be a member of the freshman class this fall.

Boston Has Nearly 107,000 Voters

Boston, Sept. 20.—When registration for the state primaries closed here last night there were 106,978 names upon the voting lists for the city of Boston, as against 106,381 last year.

Komura's Improvement Continues

New York, Sept. 20.—The improvement in the condition of Baron Komura continues without interruption and is quite satisfactory to the attending physicians.

BODY IS EXHUMED

Autopsy Performed on Body of Mrs Chase

NO EXTERNAL VIOLENCE

Analysis of Organs to Be Made by Harvard Professor--Incidents at Time of Woman's Death Told by Her Husband

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 20.—In response to public opinion District Attorney Peters of Essex county formally requested Joseph G. Pinkham, the medical examiner, to hold an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, the wealthy Swampscott woman who died last week from gas poisoning. Dr. Pinkham, who is also the Chase family physician, complied with the request and had the body exhumed.

Dr. Pinkham, when summoned to attend Mrs. Chase, who was found unconscious on the kitchen floor of her home Sunday morning, Sept. 10, pronounced the case one of suicide. The police, some of Mrs. Chase's relatives and the public, however, were not satisfied with this verdict and as a result the autopsy was ordered.

At the conclusion of the autopsy Drs. Pinkham and Newhall announced that all the conditions studied so far pointed to death by coal gas poisoning. The following statement was issued by the medical examiner:

"No external marks of violence were found upon the body of Mrs. Chase, which was well preserved. The lungs show extensive changes, due to hypostatic pneumonia. The brain was undisturbed and moderately congested. Pelvic organs showed two cystic tumors and several small fibroid tumors. The stomach, with its contents, brain, liver and kidneys, were placed in jars and sealed for chemical examination. All the signs, so far, indicate death by coal gas poisoning."

The result of the analysis of the organs by Professor Hill of the Harvard medical school will not be known for two weeks.

Last week the medical examiner was informed that Mrs. Chase made a statement to a woman living in Swampscott to the effect that someone was seeking to take her life. Chief Harris of the Swampscott police had a brief interview with the woman yesterday afternoon, but said afterwards that the result was of no importance.

Dr. Horace Chase, the husband, says that on the night before his wife was found unconscious they had slept in single beds in the same room. About 10 o'clock he rose to attend to his son, who was ill in another part of the house. His wife was then asleep. He was out of the room about two hours. It was dark when he returned, and he did not notice whether his wife was still there. When he awoke at 5 o'clock next morning his wife was missing. Upon searching for her, he found her lying insensible on the kitchen floor with the doors locked, the gas cocks turned on, and her pet birds and dog dead beside her. Dr. Chase said he had not made public the information that his wife had committed suicide, from reasons natural to a man under the circumstances. In referring to the considerable property which was in his wife's name, Chase said that in June, 1900, she had made a will in which she provided for both himself and son.

In explaining his decision to have the autopsy performed, District Attorney Peters said: "When there is any serious question as to the cause of death I always believe that the greatest caution should be exercised by the officers charged with determining the facts, and especially by the medical examiner. I take this step so that there will not be any chance of a charge being made that this department was negligent; and to settle the question, if it can be settled in this way, fairly and satisfactorily. If an autopsy is to be performed in any case it should be done in a very short time after death. I have the utmost confidence as to the integrity and ability of Dr. Pinkham."

Alleged Corruption Fund

San Francisco, Sept. 20.—Mr. Nolan, manager for Nelson, the prize fighter, says that a fund of $7000 was raised in San Francisco to defeat the Ralston anti-prize fight bill at the last session of the state legislature. He charges that Harry Corbett, with whom he had deposited $2500 forfeit money, prior to Nelson's recent fight with Britt, is holding $1000 of the forfeit money as Nolan's share of the alleged corruption fund used at Sacramento.

Rumors of Colombian Revolt

Panama, Sept. 20.—Unconfirmed reports have reached here to the effect that President Reyes of Colombia declared himself dictator on Sept. 8 and imprisoned the members of the supreme court. Mobs, angered by this action, attacked the presidential palace and were fired on by troops, who killed or wounded many of the rioters. Revolutions have been started in Antioquia and Santander.

A Yellow Fever Injunction

Atlanta, Sept. 20.—The permanent injunction asked by the state board of health against the authorities of the city of Atlanta to prevent the latter inerfering with the state quarantine against yellow fever infected points has been granted by Judge Pendleton of the superior court. The city authorities will appeal.

To Maintain Present Rates

New York, Sept. 20.—A meeting of the representatives of the state committees from subordinate councils of the Royal Arcanum was held here to take action in reference to the present situation in that order. Resolutions, which were adopted, call for the appointment of an executive committee of 15 to be instructed "to cause proceedings to be taken for injunction and other provisional relief as it may deem best calculated to secure an early adjustment of the illegality and invalidity of the new laws concerning assessments and adjudging the previous laws of assessments in full force."

"Worked" Electric Company

New York, Sept. 20.—In the arrest of David Chatterton the police are of the opinion that they have run to earth the first of a gang of swindlers whose operations have puzzled the officials of the New York Edison Electric company for over a year and have caused a loss to the company of from $50,000 to $75,000 within that time. Offering a current-saving device to consumers, it is claimed the men cheated the company by putting in a concealed loop or switch running outside the meter.

Want Chinese Kept Out

Washington, Sept. 20.—A resolution was adopted by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor expressive of the sentiment of the workmen to thwart any effort of those interested in any change of the existing law excluding Chinese laborers and coolies from the United States and its possessions.

Won't Go to Japan Just Yet

Washington, Sept. 20.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, has arrived at Washington from New York. Abandoning his original plan to sail for Japan at once, he will defer his vacation until Baron Komura has returned to Japan and delivered the peace treaty.

"Science of Art of Preaching"

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Rev. Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus has accepted a chair in the Chicago Theological seminary which has been established especially for him. The new chair carries with it the title of professor of the science of the art of preaching.

Big Pulp Mills Going Up

St. Johns, Sept. 20.—Pearsons, the London publishers, have just completed negotiations for the acquisition of 2000 square miles of forest areas, and a colony is being formed for the purpose of establishing pulp mills on a large scale.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ellis Yarnall, aged 87, a distinguished citizen of Philadelphia, died suddenly in the club house of the Union league of that city. He was a manufacturing chemist, a man of large means and a liberal contributor to charity.

There are indications of a rate war between the transportation companies operating steamship lines in the interisland trade of the Philippines and foreign ships plying between Hong Kong and other Oriental ports.

The naval court of inquiry ordered at the request of Paymaster Ring, which was convened at Boston, has resumed its labors at the navy department at Washington.

About 50 of the leading citizens and cottagers of Newport, R. I., who have been working in the interest of good government in municipal affairs, have perfected organization and issued a manifesto to the public.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The Fore River house on South street is being painted red.

The Consolidated grocery advertise to give away 200 jars of cream.

Another hop will be held at the Squantum Yacht club this week.

The U. S. cruiser Des Moines has sailed from Sanchez for Monte Christi.

Mrs. Mary Barbour of Braintree visited some of her Quincy friends on Tuesday.

Miss Eva Brown left today with a party of friends for a ten days visit at Montreal, Canada.

Just sixty years ago today (Sept. 20, 1845) the first railroad locomotive was run through Quincy.

The cruiser Des Moines was launched three years ago today, and has been in commission some time.

Daniel F. French, who has been ill for several weeks at the City Hospital, has been removed to the Soldiers Home at Chelsea.

The parish of the Washington Street Congregational church held a special meeting Sunday evening at the close of the evening service.

Those boys who visit annually certain grape-vines were disappointed this year when they came, for the fruit had been picked a little early.

The selectmen of Weymouth give notice today of a street railway hearing to be given on Thursday of this week, on relocation of tracks.

Mrs. L. B. Titus, regent of Adams chapter, will entertain the members at Squantum next Monday. Box lunch, hot coffee and steamed clams.

There will be a meeting of the executive board of the Quincy Women's club on Thursday morning Sept. 21st at ten o'clock, in the parlors of hotel Greenleaf.

Mrs. Benjamin Johnson of School street chaperoned a party of young ladies to the theatre yesterday afternoon, occupying a lower box at the Castle Square to witness "Tess of the D'Urfervilles."

That push cart that goes through City Square every day with a man who picks up the pieces of paper thrown about the street is a good thing. It would also be a good thing if people would stop throwing old papers in the street.

Unity circle of King's Daughters are entertaining this afternoon at Bethany chapel their parents and elderly friends. Inasmuch as the entertainers are the King's Daughters we should suggest that their guests be called "The Royal Family."

It is said smoking will no longer be permitted in vestibuled cars of the Old Colony street railway system, and employes of the company must not ride in the vestibules, according to new orders issued. One of the rules requires that only a limited number of passengers shall be allowed in the vestibules.

A reward is offered for a lost Scotch terrier.

C. E. Union meeting this evening at Wollaston.

Miss Dora A. French has joined a party of friends to make a tour in the Adirondack mountains.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old.
In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.
It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.
The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.
Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use
Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure.
Accept no substitute—there is none.
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ON THE WATCH.

For Francis the Insane Negro.

Colored Man Taken To Station.

Others Seen at South Quincy and at Atlantic.

Early this morning a milkman at South Quincy notified Officer Broberg that he saw a Negro who answered the description of Minot St. Clair Francis, the insane man who recently escaped from Bridgewater State farm with Frank R. Wiley.

According to the milkman's story the Negro disappeared in the swamp near the Meadow Brook ice house.

Officer Broberg notified police headquarters and he with Officer Bishop searched high and low through the place where the Negro was alleged to have been seen, but found no trace of him.

Chief Burrell instructed his officers to keep a sharp lookout for the parties and if necessary use force to bring them to the police station.

The police have been kept on the jump today chasing negroes who were supposed to be the insane man who escaped from Bridgewater State farm.

Shortly before 11 o'clock word was telephoned to the police that a Negro, answering the description of the man wanted, had been seen about 9 o'clock near the residence of Dr. Kendall on Atlantic street.

The party who saw the Negro said that he was putting on a suit of brown colored clothing over the suit he already had on.

Chief Burrell and Inspector Bradley immediately drove to the scene.

They did not find the Negro wanted but found another. The man they found was evidently a hobo, and refused to answer any questions, so Chief Burrell brought him to the police station.

At the station the fellow changed his mind, and said he arrived in Boston on a fruit steamer two weeks ago, and had been hanging around the Salvation Army headquarters ever since. He was on his way to the Fore River looking for work when the Chief held him up.

He did not have a cent of money and he will be put into court tomorrow as a tramp.

Chief Burrell left Inspector Bradley at Atlantic trying to locate the Negro who changed his clothing, but up to 2 o'clock no trace of him had been found.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE."

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

First Coupon in the Daily Ledger, on Monday, Sept. 18.

The standing of the candidates will be announced daily in the Ledger.

AN EARLY START AND UNITED EFFORT WILL COUNT.

NEW CANDIDATES.

And New Leaders in Both Lists for the Scholarships.

The list of candidates for the Daily Ledger free scholarships is about twice as long today as yesterday, and now represents nearly every ward of the city. The contest is not confined to Quincy, but is open to Ledger readers in Milton, Braintree, Weymouth and vicinity.

There are 70 or more courses of study in the International Correspondence School which are open to successful ones in this contest, including electrical engineering, mining engineering, civil engineering, plumbing, heating and ventilating, architectural draughting, mechanical draughting, marine engineering, illustrating, chemistry, etc.

For ladies there are also the languages including French, German and Spanish with the aid of the Edison repeating phonograph, carpet designing, wall paper designing, linoleum designing, book cover designing, teaching, stenography, bookeeping, architecture, etc.

There are new leaders today in both lists. Some of the votes to be printed will be good for two, three, four and five votes.

The standing to date is:

FAT MEN'S CLUB REVIVAL.

Fifteen Present at Annual Meeting Pledge a New Member.

Straddling a huge log that had drifted in from the sea or sprawled out at full length and width on the Long Island sound washed shore fifteen fat men, all members of the once famous Fat Men's association, were gathered at Gregory's point, Conn., the other afternoon for the organization's thirty-ninth annual reunion, says a South Norwalk (Conn.) special dispatch to the New York Herald.

All mourned the gradual downfall of the mighty. Patrick Murphy, the secretary, had worked unremittingly for the success of this year's meet, with a view of reorganization, but at the business meeting it was thought better to let the matter go over indefinitely, as each member present promised to bring another member when another year had rolled around.

The ranks of the fat men have been a little thinned during the last decade by deaths, and while the recent showing was not as strong numerically as it has been the quality was fine. Jacob Schaub, the president, a few years ago the liliputian of the organization, tips the scales at 385 pounds. The greeting between those who had not seen one another for a year was not "How do you do?" but "What do you weigh this year?" or "Are you as big as you were last year?"

Most of the members had not seen the secretary since last year's dinner, and they were greatly shocked at his changed appearance. In twelve months Mr. Murphy had faded from 340 pounds to 296 pounds, and, although he vigorously denied it, it is said that he is still losing. The members walked around him, punched him, felt of his flesh and in other ways tried to determine what was responsible for the deplorable change.

Mr. Schaub almost fainted when he heard that he had been entered for a 100 yard dash. He was matched against Robert Folks of New York, but a mistake was made in putting the race off until after dinner, and then no one could run. Everybody managed to squeeze into his place except the president. He could not get seated because of the limited room between the edge of the table and the wall behind it. After everything else had failed a waiter brought a long plank, which was used as a shoe horn, and he was finally forced into the space allotted to him.

Novel Journey of Mice.

In a case of china which a firm at Wilkesbarre, Pa., recently received direct from Nagasaki, Japan, was found a nest of six Japanese mice which had traveled the entire 7,000 miles in evident comfort, for they were fat and sleek, says a Wilkesbarre special to the New York World. They had lived off the rice straw with which the china was packed and made their nest in a big bowl. They are all still alive and will be kept as curiosities.

DOCTOR SHEAHAN

Passes Away at Home at Midnight.

Was a Successful Physician.

Served Ten Years on the School Committee.

Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan, one of the best known physicians in Norfolk county, died at his home on School street at 12.30 this morning, aged 51 years and 9 months.

He enjoyed a very large practice, that was not confined to Quincy, for he was often called out of turn to attend patients, and his advice was sought in consultation cases.

He was born in South Braintree, and was educated in the public schools of his native town and Quincy, and was a graduate of the Quincy High school. He then attended the Boston Latin school and Harvard, graduating from Harvard in the class of 1873.

He then went to Paris, France, where he studied six years in medical universities obtaining his degree in Paris in 1879. While in Paris he saw considerable hospital work and gained valuable knowledge.

He married first a Parisian lady who came to Quincy with him when he returned in 1880. That same year he opened an office in Quincy and took up the practice of medicine. His skill as a physician soon became known, and he built up a large and lucrative practice.

Some time ago he took a trip to Europe, and it was while on this trip that he was taken ill. It was thought he could not live to return home. He was determined, however, to pass his last days in his home surrounded by friends and he made the trip.

He has practically been confined to his home since that time.

He was a member of the Board of Health and its chairman in 1888.

He was a member of the School Committee from 1886 to 1896 inclusive, the first two years being under the town form of government.

He was a member of St. Francis court of Foresters, and Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, who have been solicitous as to his health.

His second wife was Miss Mary Louise Conway, a teacher in the Quincy schools, whom he married Feb. 10, 1902, and who with two sons by his first wife survive him.

Chicago Plan.

The Chicago Board of Education is planning to undertake the construction of its own school buildings. The purpose is to free the board from the contractors. If the plan succeeds it is estimated that at least 33 1-3 per cent of the cost of every future school building will be saved. This means $500,000 or more annually. In addition to this the board is considering the practicability of equipping the buildings from its own workshops.

New York Excursion, Oct. 12 to 15.

578 miles by rail and steamer, $5.00. Through the famous Berkshire Hills to Albany, down the Hudson River by either day or night boat, thence Fall River Line to Boston.

Annual New York Excursion over the Boston & Albany R. R., from Boston, Thursday, Oct. 12. Send to A. S. Hanson, Gen. Pass. Agent, Boston, for descriptive leaflet.

Norfolk County G. A. R.

The annual meeting of the Norfolk county G. A. R. was held at Norwood on Wednesday with Department Commander Wolff and other department officers as guests. E. Henry Dunbar was elected commander of the Norfolk county association.

The W. R. C. also had a convention at the same place and elected Mrs. Mary Holbrook of South Weymouth as president.

Walsh—Crotty.

At the parochial residence on Gay street, Wednesday evening, Rev. J. J. Coan united in marriage Miss Josephine A. Crotty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crotty and Mr. Michael J. Walsh. The best man was Mr. Benson C. Myett and the bridesmaid Miss Mary E. Crotty. A reception followed at the residence of the bride's parents at Wollaston.

14,921 YEARS.

Aggregate Years at an Old Folks' Gathering.

Col. Edward Anderson of this city was the principal speaker on Wednesday at the 12th annual gathering of the old people of Weymouth, which was attended by 200 members whose ages aggregate 14,921 years. The oldest is 92 years old and the youngest 70. Col. Anderson related reminiscences of Daniel Webster, John Brown and others, and was as usual, pleasing.

The speech of welcome was by Rev. L. W. Atwood, pastor of the Universalist church at South Weymouth, and the entertainment included vocal and instrumental music.

A dinner was the principal feature, being served at 1 P. M. at the Union Congregational church at South Weymouth. Rev. D. W. Waldron, city missionary of Boston, and a former pastor at Weymouth, contributed a box of confectionery to each guest.

E. B. Nevins was elected president for the coming year.

Among those present were: Mrs. Louise F. Parker 92, Mrs. Roxanna Urquart 91, Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey 88, Mrs. Nelson Blanchard 87, Mrs. Maria Fearing 85, Joseph F. French 88, Nathan Goodspeed 86, Mrs. Clarinda Goldthwaite 85, Oliver Houghton 84, Josiah Holland 90 and David H. Wade 86.

MILTON.

David Leak, a long resident of Milton and an employe in the Water department, dropped dead Wednesday in a water trench where he was at work.

Mrs. Mary S. Wright of Wollaston has purchased the Flanders estate on Edge Hill road. She is remodelling the house and will occupy it.

Rev. Theodore I. Reese will resume his pastoral duties on Sunday.

Mrs. L. B. Bearse has returned from New York where she has been to observe the fall fashions in gowns.

Fred Ellsworth has returned from a trip to the Thousand Islands.

Mrs. T. J. Nelson and daughter of Brewer, Me., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. H. Bearse.

Mrs. Frank Manuel has returned from New Hampshire.

Mrs. George Enderlee and Miss Lida Enderlee are at the White Mountains.

The Thursday Evening club is arranging for an entertainment.

Frederick P. Hall, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, has resigned, and J. B. Baxter has been elected to that position.

Josiah Babcock has received the contract to do the grading on Grafton avenue.

Education Counts.

In an editorial note by George H. Locke in the School Review, the writer states that of 185 graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who have been out for ten years, one-third are receiving salaries above $3000 a year. Ten receive $10,000 or more, and one has $35,000. The largest number, in a grouping according to each $500 of income, are earning between $1500 and $2000 a year; the average salary of 185 is $3082, and of the total number forty-five receive incomes above the average.

Belgium Sundays.

Sabbath observance in Belgium is optional, especially in regard to the delivery of letters. Postage stamps have a tiny coupon at the bottom on which is the legend, engraved both in French and Flemish, "Not to be delivered on Sunday." If the sender of the letter is a person of strong religious views, who believes in observing the Sabbath in every form, he permits the coupon to remain attached to the stamp, and the letter, which might be delivered on Sunday, does not go out of the receiving office until the following day. If, on the other hand, the sender of the letter has no scruples he tears off the coupon and the letter is delivered on Sunday, the same as any other day. A fine is imposed on the carrier for violating the instructions of the coupon.

The Negro Who Escaped from Bridgewater.

Change of Clothes at Atlantic.

No Trace of the Men Since Yesterday Morning.

That the Negro Francis and his pal Wiley, the two insane prisoners who escaped from the State farm in Bridgewater, paid Quincy a visit there can be no doubt.

Acting upon information received, Chief Burrell, Inspector Bradley, and officers from the Dorchester police station spent Wednesday in searching for them at Atlantic. While they searched and watched the men wanted made their escape.

As noted in Wednesday's Ledger it was reported to the police that a Negro had been seen near the residence of Dr. Kendall on Atlantic street changing his clothes. It was felt by all that if this information was correct that the Negro was cornered.

While close watch was kept of Neponset bridge by officers in citizens dress, the Quincy officers with Dr. A. C. Elliott, W. H. Griffin, H. S. Colbertson and S. H. Folson of the Bridgewater institution made a thorough search of the marshes between Atlantic and Squantum.

The lay of the land is this vicinity affords an excellent opportunity for concealment, as it is covered with a growth of trees, shrubbery and blackberry bushes. These places were carefully inspected.

The search was not entirely fruitless for in a little clump of trees near the railroad track a pair of homespun brown trousers were found.

Dr. Elliott at once identified them as the same as worn by Wiley, the white man who escaped with Francis.

This showed that the milkman who reported the fact of seeing a man changing his clothing and that the man seen instead of being a Negro was the white man Wiley.

As the police at Neponset were watching for a Negro, the supposition is that Wiley was able to walk by them unrecognized and easily lost himself in Boston.

They also found a red handkerchief and an old black felt hat. The Bridgewater officials identified the red handkerchief as being one like that used by Wiley but did not recognize the hat.

It was also learned that a man answering Wiley's description, wearing an old felt hat, had been seen by a number of Atlantic pupils Wednesday morning.

The Quincy police gave up their search at Atlantic at five o'clock, confident that the parties wanted were not in hiding there.

Chief Burrell's officers will keep a lookout, however, in the localities where it has been reported the Negro was seen.

GRAND RECEPTION.

To Parents and Elder Friends of the King's Daughters.

The fourth annual reception of Unity circle, King's Daughters, to their parents and elder friends, was held Wednesday afternoon at Bethany church from 2 to 5 o'clock. It was a most happy gathering, and the afternoon proved to be one of rare enjoyment to the 64 guests present, one or two of whom were over 90 years of age.

During the early part of the afternoon there was a musical in charge of Mrs. E. C. Page. This included a piano solo by Mrs. Charles Sampson; a reading, "Molasses Candy Baby," by Miss Auwelda Smith; and two solos by Mrs. Page, "I love and the world is mine," and "Good night little girl, good night."

At 4.30 a lunch was served at prettily arranged tables in the chapel by the ladies of the circle. A social hour followed during which acquaintances were renewed. As the guests took their departure each was presented with a box of peppermints adorned with a little bow of ribbon and a card with a Scriptural text.

So complete were the arrangements by the different tens, each having a share in the work, that it was a most enjoyable occasion for the guests, and also the King's Daughters.

RAILROAD FARES.

Mayor Thompson Secures Postponement of Hearing.

The Railroad Commissioners received a letter Wednesday from Mayor Thompson saying that he had an engagement of long standing for Sept. 27, the day fixed for the hearing upon the order of the Quincy City Council in regard to a reduction of fares on the Old Colony street railway company, and asking for postponement to some other day. The commissioners have therefore postponed the hearing to 10.30 on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

For Sept. 26 there is a hearing assigned by the railroad commission on the petition of the Old Colony street railway company for authority to increase its capital stock by the issue of new shares to the amount of $269,000.

CAUCUS VOTE OF 1902.

The vote at the caucuses in 1902, when there were seven candidates in the field for the Republican nominations, is also called for. Mr. Sandberg was then the leading man and the first choice of Wards One and Four. Mr. Freemen led only in Ward Five, Mr. Nicoll in Ward Three, Mr. Adams in Ward Two and Mr. Badger in Ward Six.

LETTERS WANTED.

Can You from Experience Tell of Benefits of Hospital?

"Our Hospital" will be the name of the little paper which will be published in connection with Hospital Week, and distributed to all. Of course, its publication is in the nature of an experiment, and if it is successful, other numbers may be issued from time to time, say every six months.

Perhaps nothing will contribute more to its success than a number of letters from those who can speak from personal experience, and so it is requested that any who have been at the Hospital or who know particularly about its work, write a brief letter not over 150 or 200 words and mail it to the Publication Committee, City Hospital, Quincy.

It may not be possible to publish all these letters in "Our Hospital," but those that do not appear there will, it expected, be published in the local papers.

—The Quincy City Council has refused special privileges to those in that city who desire to plant and propagate clams and oysters on the Squantum flats. Undoubtedly they would make a concession should anybody request permission to exterminate the Squantum mosquito.—Boston Journal.

FRESH EVIDENCE

May Throw Light on Death of Mrs Chase

"IS MUCH TO WORK ON"

Another Note Brings "Letter Exhibits" In the Case Up to Three--Police Think Woman Feared Plot Against Her Life

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 21.—Important new evidence has, according to Chief of Police Harris, been found with a direct bearing on the motive through which Mrs. Jennie Chase's death may have been brought about. Whether the new evidence strengthens the suicide theory or not the chief declines to say, but he strongly intimates that it does not.

This, added to the alleged fear of Mrs. Chase that she was likely to be the object of a "death plot," brings new interest into the mystery of the death of the heiress of $1,000,000.

Chief Harris and Deputy Chief Neal of the state police were closeted for two hours last night, and each said that there is much to work on.

"I am working along entirely independent lines in this investigation," said Chief Harris, "and I do not propose to give away my ammunition. I do not object to telling you that I have secured a great deal of information, but it is of such a nature that it would be manifestly improper for me to make it public.

"It will all be laid before District Attorney Peters, together with the report of the chemical analysis now being made on the stomach and other organs of Mrs. Chase's body.

"Possibly, I may place this evidence before the district attorney in advance of the analysis, as I understand that it will be about three weeks before a complete report will be ready."

Another note written by Mrs. Chase to her brother Leonard has come into the case. No mention has hitherto been made of this note, and the chief acknowledges that together with the two other notes and the statement of a certain woman, whose identity is known only to the chief, it forms the most important clue that has been uncovered thus far.

The new piece of writing by Mrs. Chase was given to the undertaker on Saturday, the day of the funeral, with instructions to hand it to Leonard Phillips, which was done.

On the following day Dr. Chase sent for Phillips and personally delivered to him another note left by his wife, and said to have been written in 1900 and to have contained information regarding a will which she had made.

Chief Harris yesterday took possession of both of these notes. This brings three letter "exhibits" into the case. The third letter is the one found at Mrs. Chase's side on the morning when she was discovered unconscious on the floor of the kitchen of her home, which reads, in part: "I do this of my own free will," and is still in possession of Medical Examiner Pinkham.

Mrs. Mark Trask, a widow, who conducts a fashionable dressmaking establishment in the Pelham building, Boston, has made a statement in verification of the story that Mrs. Chase feared a plot to end her life. Chief Neal regards the statement as of the utmost importance, and will place it before the district attorney.

Mrs. Trask made her statement to an officer yesterday just before leaving for New York. She will be called upon for a more complete declaration upon her return.

The police are satisfied now that Mrs. Chase did say that she believed that some person was plotting for her life.

Deputy Neal says that not only will Professor Whitney search for chloral in the stomach and other organs of Mrs. Chase, but for other poison as well. "There will be no cessation in the investigation," said the deputy.

Within 30 days the will left by Mrs. Chase, in which she is said to have left her entire wealth to her husband and adopted son, will have to be entered for probate.

There has been a conference of the Phillips family and the belief is that when Chase attempts to probate his wife's will there will be begun a bitter legal battle in opposition.

The Young Court Martial

Mare Island, Cal., Sept. 21.—The trial of Commander Young, U. S. N., in connection with the fatal boiler explosion on the Bennington in San Diego harbor, has been resumed before a court martial. Nothing important developed and much of the testimony was ruled out.

Ordnance Contract Awarded

Sharon, Pa., Sept. 21.—The United States government has just awarded a contract to the Briggs-Seabury Ordnance corporation for 176 rapid-fire guns of different sizes. The contract amounts to several hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Opposed to Peace Treaty

Tokio, Sept. 21.—An anti-peace meeting held in Uyena park was barely attended owing to a heavy rain. The tone of the meeting was quiet. Resolutions were adopted demanding that the cabinet break the peace treaty or resign.

TALK ON INSURANCE

Probable Object of Statesmen's Visit to Sagamore Hill

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 21.—A conference of importance was held last night at Sagamore Hill, the participants being President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Root, Senator Lodge and Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain. While it is known that a particular subject of great concern to the country was under consideration, the nature of which was not disclosed officially, the opportunity was embraced by the president to discuss with his visitors some matters relating to the foreign relations of America.

It is not unlikely that among other topics of discussion, the recent developments in the investigation of the conduct of the life insurance companies received an important share of attention at the conference. All of the visitors are more or less familiar with the insurance situation and as the president expects to take up that subject in his forthcoming annual message to congress, in the preparation of which he is now engaged, it is natural that he should wish to consult his close friends and advisors about the matter.

All three of the visitors remained as guests of the president over night.

Boy's Exciting Balloon Ride

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Floyd Wallace, 16 years old, went up in a captive balloon at the Oneonta fair grounds at 4 o'clock yesterday. The balloon was being pulled down in the regular manner, but the rope broke and the balloon and the boy rapidly shot up in the air and soon disappeared in the clouds. The balloon rose over two miles high before it disappeared from view. The boy managed to get hold of the valve rope and let out the gas, so that he succeeded in safely effecting a landing at Summit, 30 miles from Oneonta, at 5:45 o'clock.

Calls Panama Canal a Toy

Preston, Minn., Sept. 21.—Declaring that the Panama canal would be an expensive toy that would be of little use in extending American foreign trade, President Hill of the Great Northern railroad, in an address to farmers at the Fillmore county fair, advised the farmers of the northwest not to be deluded into thinking that government control of railroads would reduce rates. He said the Orient was the future market for northwest products.

Final Peace Move at Washington

Washington, Sept. 21.—It can now be stated definitely that the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty of peace between Japan and Russia will take place in Washington shortly after the treaty has been ratified by the respective sovereigns. It is probable that this will be done in the White House as a compliment to President Roosevelt.

Dixon Put Down and Out

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—George Dixon, the former featherweight champion, was last night knocked out in the second round of what was to have been a six-round bout by Tommy Murphy of New York. The first round was a sparring contest, but in the second Murphy assumed the aggressive and succeeded in flooring Dixon early in the round.

Castro Receives Calhoun

Caracas, Sept. 21.—Former Judge Calhoun of Chicago, special commissioner of the United States in Venezuela, and his secretary, were received yesterday by President Castro. Judge Calhoun declined to give his impressions of the president or to answer any questions referring to the case of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company.

Shot Wife and Killed Self

Gloversville, N. Y., Sept. 21.—While in an insane frenzy last night, Morris King, aged 70, a former business man of Gloversville, shot his wife at their home and then turned the weapon on himself, inflicting a wound from the effects of which he died. Mrs. King is seriously wounded, but not necessarily fatally. King had long been in poor health.

To Investigate Big Companies

Madison, Sept. 21.—State Insurance Commissioner Host announces that the insurance commissioners of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kentucky, Tennessee and Louisiana have agreed to meet in New York shortly for the thorough investigation of the New York Life Insurance company, the Mutual and the Equitable.

Handicapped at the Start, but Won

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 21.—In the annual motor boat race run on Long Island sound for a cup offered by Commodore Vanderbilt, the Dixie, owned and run by E. R. Thomas of New York, won over five competitors, after breaking down at the start. The course of 102 miles was covered by the Dixie in 5:12:23.

Monarchy May Be Eliminated

Brussels, Sept. 21.—The question of the definite political status of the Congo independent state will, it is announced, be brought before the Belgian parliament during the coming session. The state is now practically an absolute monarchy, there being no constitution limiting King Leopold's sovereign power.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Sept. 22.
Sun rises—5:31; sets—5:43.
Moon rises—11:26 p. m.
High water—5 a. m.; 5:15 p. m.
Generally fair weather is indicated for New England. It will be warmer.

HAS A BAD RECORD

Arrest of Leroy Shear as He Leaves Dannemora

IS A CHAMPION FORGER

Seeking a Pardon Which Had Already Been Granted Exposed His Character When He Tried to Lead Exemplary Life

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Leroy Shear, said to be the greatest living forger, was released from Clinton prison at Dannemora yesterday and was immediately rearrested and turned over to Police Inspector Douglas, who started with him for Boston, where he is charged with swindling R. H. White & Co.

Shear, who is 67 years old, has had a most remarkable career. In 1863 he deserted from the federal army, was captured, and while a prisoner at Utica, N. Y., poisoned two of his guards in an attempt to escape. For this he was tried for court martial and sentenced to be shot. On the day set for his execution he received a reprieve from President Lincoln and before it expired succeeded in escaping.

On the day of his escape he was pardoned by the president, but did not know of it until years after. Upon his escape he went to Europe, where he remained for several years, finally returning to the United States and settling in Vermont, where he lead an exemplary life and secured a position in a bank.

On being recommended for a federal appointment at St. Albans, Vt., he went to Washington and asked President Hayes for a pardon, which had years before been granted to him. The president, on learning his history, refused to give him the appointment, and the people of the town, upon learning the reason, turned against him and he lost his position in the bank.

While living in Vermont he was a delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago which nominated President Garfield. He has since served two terms for grand larceny and forgery in Sing Sing, and one term each in the Albany penitentiary, Auburn state prison, Moundsville, W. Va., penitentiary, and Clinton prison.

A Rap at "High Finance"

New York, Sept. 21.—Romaine Daurignac, brother of Therese Humbert, has taken steps to appeal to President Roosevelt to prevent his deportation from the United States. Daurignac's deportation was set for today, because he had served a term in a French prison. He has engaged legal counsel. Daurignac said: "France has not progressed so far in high finance as America and so it happened that I was sent to prison for that which is done without causing comment in the United States."

Thinks Quarantine Unjust

Havana, Sept. 21.—Regarding the action of the authorities of Mobile, Ala., in quarantining against all passengers from Havana because of the alleged existence here of pernicious malaria, Chief Finlay of the department of health and sanitation says that the quarantine is unjust, as there is little malaria here. It is asserted that there has not been a case of yellow fever in Cuba for four years, with the exception of two cases at Santiago.

Raid on Russian Prison

Riga, Russia, Sept. 21.—The central prison here was attacked by a crowd of about 100 persons, who scaled the walls, cut the telephone wires and killed two and seriously wounded three of the guards. The mob forced the cells and liberated two important political prisoners. Firing ensued, during which a policeman was killed.

Dewey Again In the Harness

Washington, Sept. 21.—Admiral Dewey has returned to Washington from Hot Springs, Va., where he has spent three months. The admiral's winter plans provide for a trip to the West Indies, where he will go to review the North Atlantic fleet during the maneuvers which will be conducted by Rear Admiral Evans.

Status of Printers' Strike

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—At the headquarters of the International Typographical union the following statement was issued: "Strikes for the eight-hour day are on in 33 cities, and in most of these many of the employing printers have 'signed up.' In 216 cities we have the eight-hour day now, or to become effective on Jan. 1.

Germans Punished by Witbois

Cape Town, Sept. 21.—The Witbois, in evading the sweeping columns of General Von Trotha, commander-in chief in German Southwest Africa, surprised a German convoy, practically annihilated its escort and captured thousands of cattle, 122 wagons, many rifles and a quantity of ammunition.

Escape of Mutiny Breeder

Sebastopol, Sept. 21.—Revolutionists have effected the escape from prison of a student named Feldman, who is alleged to have been one of the organizers of the mutiny on board the battleship Kniaz Potemkine last June.

Won't Even Except Roosevelt

Little Rock, Sept. 21.—President Runyon of the state board of health has sent the following reply to Dr. White of New Orleans in response to the query as to whether President Roosevelt and party would be permitted to enter Arkansas from New Orleans late in October, according to his official plans: "Impracticable to answer satisfactorily until about first proximo." Dr. Runyon says that he does not feel justified in giving a definite answer as to admitting even the President of the United States through quarantine lines that are being zealously guarded.

Missionary In Hands of Police

New York, Sept. 21.—Robert W. Hume, said to be a missionary of New Haven, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. He was arraigned before Magistrate Finn, who discharged the prisoner for lack of evidence. Last night Hume was again arrested, this time on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, it being said that Hume was wanted in New Haven for grand larceny.

Populists Endorse Democrats

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 21.—The Democrats of Nebraska held their state convention here to nominate candidates for supreme judge and university regent. William J. Bryan, who starts on his tour of the world today, bade farewell to his friends in a brief speech. The Populists also held their state convention and decided to nominate the candidates named by the Democrats.

Italians' Misery Increased

Monteleone, Sept. 21.—Further slight shocks of earthquake and violent storms extending over the whole of Calabria have added to the distress of the stricken population. Lightning caused a fire at Olivadi which destroyed the remaining property belonging to survivors of the earthquake. Panics occurred at Cantanzaro and Reggio, where several buildings were struck.

To Have Pool Attachments

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Horse racing with all the wagering attachments is to be resumed in the vicinity of Chicago on Sept. 30. The Harlem Jockey club believe that they have found a way to circumvent the state attorney's office and announce that a running meeting will be held at Libertyville, 30 miles from Chicago, beginning Sept. 30 and continuing to Nov. 1.

Further Honor For Miss Roosevelt

Seoul, Sept. 21.—The emperor, for the first time during his reign lunched with foreigners yesterday. The emperor toasted the daughter of the president and Minister Morgan replied for Miss Roosevelt. After the luncheon, which consisted of native foods, Miss Roosevelt received the Korean cabinet and other high officials.

M'CALL TESTIFIES

Says That Democrates Solicited Campaign Funds

MADE HIS "LIFE WEARY"

Andrew Hamilton, Who Represented New York Life at Albany, Received $235,000 With Only Verbal Accounting

New York, Sept. 21.—Political contributions of the New York Life Insurance company and the connection of Andrew A. Hamilton of Albany with the alleged political activity of the company were the points around which the hearing before the legislative insurance investigating committee turned yesterday.

President John A. McCall of the New York Life Insurance company was the chief witness, and for several hours he was subjected to a fire of questions by Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the committee, concerning the money paid for political purposes.

The climax was reached when McCall declared that the soliciting of funds for campaign purposes was not confined to the Republican party in the campaign of 1904 and announced:

"My life was made weary by the Democratic candidates chasing me for money in that campaign. Some of the very men who today are being interviewed in the papers and denouncing men who contribute to campaigns were crossing my path every step I took looking for money. One—the candidate himself. Parker—if he would show up his books when he was chairman of the Democratic state committee, it would give you a fit. He never rejected a dollar in the world. He would take every dollar that was paid to him."

Judge Parker was chairman of the Democratic state executive committee in 1885.

Mr. McCall's statement was greeted with wild cheering, which continued until a threat was made to clear the room of listeners if the crowd did not restrain itself.

With great care the accounts of Andrew A. Hamilton with the company were analyzed by Hughes, who asked McCall about every item and made it clear that a search was being made for political contributions.

Mr. McCall stoutly maintained that he had given Hamilton no money to be used in influencing legislation at Albany, but the admission was obtained from McCall that Hamilton's expenses at Albany were paid from the company's funds and that his accounts were not submitted to audit.

It was shown that $235,000 has been paid to Hamilton with only a verbal accounting to McCall and that Hamilton now owes the company about $60,000; but McCall said he felt sure that Hamilton, who is now in Europe, will repay this sum upon the company's demand. Hamilton received for legal services, McCall said, about $100,000 a year from the New York Life Insurance company.

Ex-Judge Parker, Democratic candidate for president in 1904, last night gave a statement concerning McCall's testimony relative to the soliciting of funds from the New York Life Insurance company by Democrats in 1904.

"My attention has been called to certain testimony said to have been given by John A. McCall while a witness before the insurance investigation committee in reply to Mr. Hughes' question whether he thought 'that in 1904 the interests of the policyholders were so seriously endangered that the company ought to contribute?'

"It is evident that Mr. McCall was laboring under great excitement in making his reply, for it is very incoherent. But if his answer is intended to convey the impression that in the campaign of 1904 I, either directly or indirectly, solicited from him or his corporation, or any other corporation, any money or valuable things, his statement is absolutely false.

"On the contrary, I repeat now what I said before the election, that I expressly notified and directed the chairman of the executive committee of the national committee that no money should be received from corporations."

William F. Sheehan's attention was called to the testimony of McCall, and he said: "I was chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee. There was not a single man connected with the Democratic national campaign that solicited a dollar from McCall. If any such person made any such solicitation Mr. McCall should name him."

John A. McCall, referring to his testimony before the legislative committee in relation to contributions to the Democratic party, said last night:

"The meaning I intended to convey when I mentioned Judge Parker was this: Judge Parker, when a candidate for the presidency last year, did not personally ask me for campaign funds, but friends of his did so repeatedly. Judge Parker, as chairman of the state Democratic committee several years ago, did, however, accept proferred contributions to the campaign fund."

Legal Fighting Fund Turned Down

A FEMALE RAFFLES

Said to Be at Head of Band of Crooks Invading Boston

Boston, Sept. 21.—Clever in every way, bold as a lion, a beautiful woman of pleasant personality and neat appearance is leading a gang of dare devil crooks, the members of which, under the guise of telephone inspectors, have been plundering the effects of wealthy Boston residents.

From reports received by Chief Inspector Watts, this woman is the chief schemer of the gang in their "cracking of cribs." Her ideas have proven so successful that within the past two days over $5000 of value in jewelry and clothing has been stolen by the gang.

This woman, known now to the police as "Miss Slick," will be connected with a number of robberies committed in the Hub within the past year.

Life Underwriters Clash

Hartford, Sept. 21.—A sharp clash between delegates in attendance at the convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters was manifest at yesterday afternoon's session of the convention, and at adjournment the question at issue was still unadjusted. A resolution of censure aimed at alleged irregularities in certain insurance circles was the issue before the convention. Half a dozen delegates were on their feet, striving to get the attention of the chair and express their sentiments when the assembly voted to postpone the contest until today.

Must Be Another Girard

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Alphonse Girard of this city, being shown the picture of the Girard wanted by the New York police in connection with the murder of Augusta Pfeiffer, said that it did not in any way resemble her son. Mrs. Girard says that she has not seen her son for several years and that his whereabouts are unknown to her.

Williams May Be Insane

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 21.—The trial of Benjamin Williams, charged with having murdered Police Officer James McGrath on May 12, 1904, which was to have begun yesterday, has been put over in order that the question of Williams' sanity may be determined. Five alienists examined Williams yesterday afternoon.

Eagles Make Murphy President

Boston, Sept. 21.—Thirty-four delegates of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Massachusetts met here to determine whether Patrick M. Longan of Gloucester or Thomas B. Murphy of Fitchburg be state president of the organization. After considerable debate it was voted unanimously to recognize Murphy.

To Foreclose $600,000 Mortgage

New York, Sept. 21.—Two receivers have been appointed for the Tubular Dispatch company, which owns the pneumatic tubes in which the mail is carried in New York and also in some other cities. The receivers were appointed in a suit brought by the Central Trust company of New York to foreclose a mortgage of $600,000.

Rae Will Be Extradited

Chicago, Sept. 21.—A writ of habeas corpus has been denied Thomas F. Rae, former treasurer of the Painters and Decorators' union of Boston, and Rae will be taken back to Massachusetts to answer charges of larceny from the union in 1902.

Hungry Russians Raid Koreans

Seoul, Sept. 21.—It is reported that the Russians under General Madrikoff at Tunghwa are suffering from lack of provisions. They are in the mountains and are alleged to be robbing Koreans.

$5 New York City Excursion.

This trip, Thursday, October 5, 1905, is the cheapest and most delightful out of Boston; at an excellent time of the year, when the foliage is beautiful and the air invigorating and bracing. This is the only time in the year when the opportunity is given to ride through the Hoosac Mountains and Deerfield Valley to Albany, N. Y.; sail down the Hudson River to New York City, stop in the Metropolis and return to Boston via the Fall River Line steamers, all for $5.00. Send to the Boston & Maine Railroad, General Passenger Department, Boston, your address and we will mail you a beautiful illustrated booklet describing the trip in detail.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Warmer today.

The sunshine is appreciated.

The Quincy Mansion School has opened for the fall term.

Officer James W. Murray is confined to his home by rheumatism in his wrist.

It is rumored that a long-time resident of the Point will soon move to Quincy.

Mrs. Fred E. Drake of Upland road is expected home from New Hampshire tomorrow.

William B. Rice is not ill at his home as reported but attends to his Boston duties every day.

Miss Elizabeth Scouler of Madison avenue has been confined to the house by illness for the past few days.

A summary of the work of the Merrymount base ball club for the season will be printed in the Daily Ledger tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner of Newcomb street are soon to move to the Moody homestead on Silver street, Quincy Point.

Another game in Quincy on Saturday in the Merrimac Valley football league —Fore River vs. Lawrence at Ward Two playground.

City Clerk Keith has designated the election officers of the second precincts in the several wards to serve as officers at the cancuses next Tuesday.

St. Francis court of Foresters will meet tomorrow evening to make arrangements to attend the funeral of Dr. J. M. Sheahan on Saturday morning.

Waldron P. Schumacher of Beach street, is at Portland, Oregon, employed as an assistant to Prof. Richards of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who is at the exposition in the interests of mining engineering.

Capt. Joshua Slocum, whose trip around the world all alone in the yacht Spray is familiar to many, will give a stereopticon lecture at Bethany church Thursday evening, Oct. 28, under the auspicies of the King's Daughters.

The Clapp Memorial team of East Weymouth play the Deweys at Garfield Park, Weymouth Landing, Saturday, at 3.30. This will be the second game of the series and a large crowd from Wollaston and Quincy are going to see the fun.

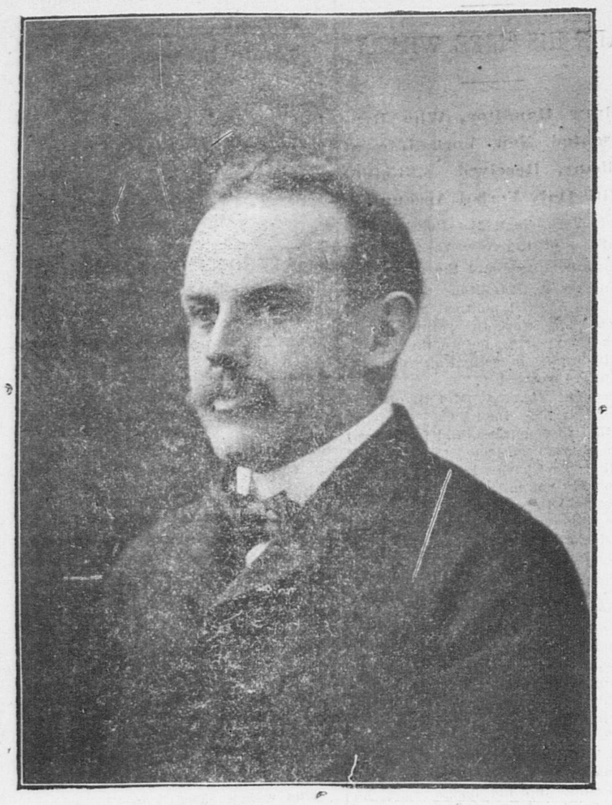

Claude Wilson, the Negro held up at Atlantic Wednesday morning by Chief Burrell and Inspector Bradley, was arraigned in court this morning for being a tramp. The court held him until Friday morning to enable the police to look up his record.

The thief who robbed Admiral Bowles's house, and then, out of admiration for the officer's record of gallantry, returned the loot, is as gentlemanly a villain as was the celebrated bandit to whom Bishop Whipple objected, "But, sir, I am bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Minnesota," receiving the reply, "The mischief you are. Why that's my church, too."—Transcript.

Young Falcons at School.

The young of falcons and hawks are well trained by their parents. From the time they are strong enough to pull at and break up the quarries brought to them it is one long course of instruction. The old birds know perfectly well what the young ones will have to do, and they get them fit for doing it as soon as they can. They compel them to take longer flights day after day and teach them how to stoop—that is, strike at their quarry. One or the other will shoot up with a portion of feather or, it may be, fur, followed by the young hopefuls. Then the morsel is dropped from the clutch. Down they dash for it, and the one that makes the quickest stoop secures the prize before it reaches the ground. When the old birds think the young can fend for themselves, off they go. This is not a case of choice, but necessity, for they are simply cuffed and buffeted off. So well is this known in the country that it is a common thing to hear a lad say, "Them 'ere hawks has druv their young uns off."—Blackwood's Magazine.

A Wonderful Plant Family.

There is a family of microscopic plants called diatoms which swarm in all oceans in every clime. They are coated with pure silica, or flint, and are found in the most delicate and loveliest forms. So tiny are they that it takes 41,000,000,000 of them to fill a single cubic inch, and 186,000,000 to the naked eye would just look like a speck of dust and weigh only a grain. They multiply so fast that within forty-eight hours one may become 8,000-000 and its offspring fill two cubic feet in four days. As they die they sink to the bottom, falling in a constant shower. In the course of ages they fill up harbors, the deposits formed of them being many miles in extent and hundreds of feet in thickness. The deepest deposit known is that on which the city of Berlin stands, which is eighty-four feet thick. At St. Petersburg there is a deposit of thirty feet, and at Richmond, Va., is one of eighteen feet.

The Cool Man.

The superiority of those men who keep their tempers in public bodies is so apparent that coolness should be one of the first virtues to be cultivated there. The discreet member will regard public life of this kind as a school for such a purpose. There are trials for nervous or impulsive men often in these positions, but a part of their tactics must be to resist them if they are to have hope of success. Nothing can be clearer than that it is for their interest to do so. The debater who keeps cool is sure to have his opponent at a disadvantage. The cool man is usually a master of sarcasm, which is an effective weapon in annoying an adversary, but a dangerous one also, because there is always the temptation to carry it too far. The men who have the widest influence are the good natured men, whose words leave no sting behind them.

An Awe Inspiring Spectacle.

Of the overpowering magnificence of the sun's corona as seen in a total eclipse some idea may be gathered when it is considered that even matter of fact scientists are stricken speechless with awe in its presence. Sir Francis Galton was once assigned to measure the heat of that strange halo. He recounts that he experienced a feeling of supreme exultation when he discovered that his instrument was broken and that he would be permitted a few moments in which to revel in the remarkable spectacle. So carried away was he by the glory of the panorama that he even forgot to note down the beginning of the first contact.

Overreached Himself.

The wives of two British army officers who had been stationed for a long time in India met recently in London and went to a restaurant to take luncheon together. As their talk was of a personal and somewhat private nature, they fell to conversing in Hindoostanee. This aroused the curiosity of the waiter attending them to bursting point. He presently came forward and said gravely: "Excuse me, madame, but I think it only right to inform you that I understand French."

A Doubtful Compliment.

Dobbs—Imagine jilting me for a fellow like that. But I expect the attraction was his money, not his face.

Blobbs—You must be fairly wealthy yourself.

Hard Place to Fill.

New Nurse—Please, mum, I can't do a thing with the baby. He cries all the time.

Mistress—Well, I declare! How stupid of me! His other nurses were colored girls. You'll find some stove polish in the kitchen.—New York Weekly.

Convenient.

"It is a great comfort to have a child about the house," said the man of domestic tastes.

"Yes," answered the unfeeling wretch. "When company comes that you don't care for you can make it recite."—Washington Star.

All Willing to Be Laggards.

"We must all die some time," said the sympathizing friend.

"True," replied the invalid, "quite true, but I have noticed that there are some things in which none of us is seeking precedence."—Chicago Post.

Appealed to His Better Nature.

"What did you say to the lawyer about breaking your father's will in your interest?"

"I told him I hoped he would allow me a reasonable per cent on what he got out of it."—Baltimore News.

An extra whistle is blown at the shipyard now at 6.30 A. M. which is the quitting-time for the night force.

Awaits Result of Heresy Charge

Boston, Sept. 21.—Professor H. G. Mitchell of the Boston university school of theology, whose confirmation in his professorship was refused by the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church last May for alleged heresy, will not resume his lectures until the final disposition of his case on Oct. 25. This announcement was made at the opening of the school of theology yesterday.

Missionaries About to Depart

Boston, Sept. 21.—A large audience gathered last night in the Clarendon Street Baptist church to bid farewell to 40 newly-appointed and returning missionaries, who are about to sail for missions in various parts of Asia. The stations to which these missionaries have been assigned are in Burmah, Assam, South India, China, Japan and the Philippines.

Held on Perjury Charge

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 21.—Patrick O'Leary, 34 years old, is under arrest, charged with perjury in connection with naturalization testimony in the case of his brother. It is alleged that O'Leary testified that his brother had been in this country 11 years, when the steamship certificate showed he arrived in 1901. O'Leary was held in $1000 for trial.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE."

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

CRESCENT ST.

Mayor Thompson Would Avoid Litigation.

No Ground on Which to Proceed.

Might Jeopardize Park Improvements in City.

Mayor's Office, Quincy.
Sept. 21, 1905.

Mr. A. W. Stetson, Secretary, Board of Trade, Quincy.

Dear Sir :—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of September 6th, conveying to me the following vote passed by the Board, namely: "Voted: That it is the opinion of the Quincy Board of Trade that the rights of the citizens of Quincy have been invaded by the obstruction now existing on Crescent street; and it is the sense of this Board of Trade that the Executive should at once have the obstruction now existing on said Crescent street removed, in order that the citizens of Quincy should no longer be deprived of their rights."

I will say that prior to and since your action this matter has been given careful study, the interests of the city involved being of sufficient importance to require careful consideration, and it being the duty of the Executive to safeguard and protect such interests.

Assuming the contention contained in your vote that the rights of the city of Quincy have been invaded and taken away by an authority foreign to us, without title or warrant, creating a condition grave in character which demands investigation, it becomes us to calmly review the motives as to why a responsible State Board like the Metropolitan Park Commission should invade and destroy, without the consent of the city's authorities, what you have assumed is exclusively ours.

By reference to Public Statutes in 1894, chapter 288, we find that a board of Metropolitan Park Commissioners was created and its duties and powers prescribed and defined; also in the following year (1895) chapter 450, its powers were further extended; and we find authority for existing conditions on Crescent street (as raised by your question) contained in Section 2, as follows:

"Said commission, with the concurrence of a majority of the board of park commissioners, if any of the city or town in which the property is situated, may, by deed executed, acknowledged and recorded according to the laws of the Commonwealth, accompanied by plan or survey, also to be recorded, abandon any portion of the lands or rights in land taken or acquired by it, and said abandonment shall revert the title thereof, as if never taken, in the persons, their heirs and assigns, in whom it was vested at the time of taking.

"If a majority of said commission vote to abandon any portion of the lands or rights in land taken or acquired by it and the board of park commissioners of city or town in which such property is situated refuse or fail to concur with said commission within fourteen days from the giving of written notice of such vote to such board of park commissioners, then in such case said commission, upon notice in writing of not less than seven days to such board of park commissioners, may appear before the governor and council and ask for the concurrence of the governor and council in such abandonment; and if the governor and council after a hearing thereon concur in such abandonment the same shall have full force and effect. The said abandonment may be pleaded in reduction of damages in any suit therefore on account of such taking.

"Said commission, with the concurrence of the majority of the board of park commissioners, if any, in the city or town in which the property is situated, may at any time sell at public or private sale any portion of the lands, or rights in land, the titles to which has been taken or received or acquired and paid for by it, and may, with the concurrence of such board of park commissioners, execute and acknowledge a deed thereof, with or without covenants of title and warranty, all in the name and behalf of the Commonwealth, to the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, and deposit said deed with the treasurer and receiver general of the Commonwealth, together with a certificate of the terms of sale and price paid or agreed to be paid at such sale; and said treasurer and receiver general, upon receipt of said price and upon the terms agreed in said deed, shall deliver the same to said purchaser.

"If a majority of said commission vote to sell any portion of the lands or rights in land taken or acquired by it and the board of park commissioners in the city or town in which such property or right in property is situated refuses or fails to concur with said commission within fourteen days from the giving of written notice of such vote to such board of park commissioners, then and in such case said commission, upon notice in writing of not less than seven days to such board of park commissioners, may appear before the governor and council and ask for the concurrence of the governor and council in such sale; and if the governor and council after a hearing thereon concur in such sale it shall have full force and effect. The treasurer and receiver general may by the attorney-general sue for and collect the price and enforce the terms of any such sale."

The Metropolitan Park Board in its development of the scheme for which it was created both in the district and city made divers taking of private property, public and private streets and ways, and it asked and obtained, as required under the Acts 1895, chapter 450, the concurrence of the city government in its taking of that portion of Crescent street to which your vote refers and same was acted upon and concurred in by our city goverment (See action thereon per files in city clerk's office dated August 30, 1900.)

In further elaboration of the scheme at the point in question, the engineers of the Commision have made new lines changing the approach to the Parkway from Crescent street, abandoning at this junction the original lines of Crescent street as traveled since it was laid out by the town of Quincy, and deeding to private parties a portion of the traveled way that is assumed was exclusively the property of the city and dedicated to public uses.

In conveyances of this character, it is required that the concurrence of the local park board, if any, shall be had. (See chapter 450, Acts 1895.) I find this concurrence of our Park Commissioners was duly obtained December 14, 1904, and is so recorded at the registry of deeds in Dedham.

The question of fact as to the proceedings stated will not bear dispute: The broader question as to the constitutionality of the legislation of 1894 and 1895 contained a possible doubt as affecting existing conditions. The question occurred to me: What is it worth? And believing we should have the opinion of one who would be admitted an authority by all. I have obtained the opinion of ex-attorney-

STILL AT LARGE

Many Reports from the Insane Negro.

But He Successfully Evades Police.

A French Canadian Held Up at Norfolk Downs.

The police telephone line has been kept busy for the past few days receiving reports from various quarters largely from Atlantic and Wollaston, that the much-wanted insane Negro had been located. In every instance the police promptly investigated, but the Negro is still at large.

Thursday afternoon about 4.30 several telephone messages were received from Wollaston that a Negro had been seen changing his clothing near Highland avenue. Lieut. McKay and other officers went down, but could find no one who could swear positively that they had seen him, but they thought they had.

The officers searched the locality thoroughly without result.

This morning shortly before 11 o'clock a telephone message was received from the station agent at Norfolk Downs that Wiley had been seen walking up the track toward Quincy.

When the 10.49 outward Boston train arrived, the conductor informed Officer Crooker that a negro having on brown clothing was seated on the bank near the Norfolk Downs station. Officer Goodhue was sent down and he found Officer Lyons had the suspect in tow.

He proved to be a French Canadian who was on his way to Brockton. The fellow was allowed to depart.

Several officers in citizens dress are on the lookout for the men, but have little hopes of getting them. Probably they are miles away from Quincy.

A Boston paper says a man resembling Wiley was seen in Mansfield and vicinity.

A reward of $100 is offered by the State police for the arrest of Francis and $25 for the capture of Wiley.

A Pleasing Journey.

Thursday evening the "Ladies' Aid Special," an imaginary train, left Wollaston M. E. church station for all points in the United States from Funville to Where-you-will, with stop-over privileges at Guesstown and Lunchburg. Ninety passengers enjoyed the trip. The special was under the supervision of Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick, who was assisted by Mr. John Kay as conductor; Mr. Harold Brown as porter; Mr. J. A. Sedgwick as engineer, and Master Lee Brooks as news agent. The passengers were entertained while en route by a description of a trip to Denver by Mrs. Carrie Durgin, and a violin solo by Miss Ethel Smith, accompanied on the piano by Master Harry Smith.

RECEPTION.

To Rev. and Mrs. N. J. Sproul.

First Pastor of Church A Guest.

Also Aged Father of the Present Pastor.

A happy event for the people of the Water Street Presbyterian church, was the reception on Thursday evening to Rev. N. J. Sproul, the pastor and his wife, it being two years ago that they were settled over the church.

The pastor at the services on Sunday urged a large attendance at the prayer meeting of Thursday evening, unmindful of the plans of others, and at the outset was surprised that so many more than usual had heeded his admonition.

Rev. and Mrs. Sproul were requested to take a position in front of the platform in the church auditorium, and with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bishop they received a large number of church people and friends, who were presented by the following young ladies and gentlemen who acted as ushers:

Miss Alice Joss, Miss Mary Shirley, Miss Jessie Shirley, Miss Ada Rennie, Miss Margaret Milne, Miss Margaret Hall, Miss Lillian McIntosh, Miss Margaret Michael, Miss Isabelle Michael and Messrs. Arthur Trimain, John Michael, Charles Clark, Chas. Stewart, Arthur Philips, Ernest Robertson, James Stewart and Malcom Clark.

During the reception Mrs. Daniel Ross presided at the organ.

Following the reception, there was a supper in the basement, including a bountiful supply of cold meats, salads, pickles and piccalilly, rolls, cake, fruit, tea and coffee.

Among the guests was the first pastor Rev. D. B. McLeod of Somerville, and the father of the present pastor, Mr. Alexander Sproul of Toronto, Canada, who is 72 years old. Mr. McLeod was accompanied by his charming daughter.

James Joss presided at the post prandial exercises, and first introduced Rev. D. B. McLeod, who said he continued to take a great interest in the success of this church which had grown fast during the twenty years since his ministry. It has now one of the best congregations in the presbytery, with large accessions yearly. It also was making large contributions. The church now has an earnest pastor, and he extended to him and the church congratulations.

Mr. Archie Parsons contributed a solo and responded to the encore.

Rev. N. J. Sproul was the next speaker, and listened to with pleasure. After a few stories he spoke of "The ideal church." He said it was not necessarily the church with the costly cathedral or the large congregation, but where the men and women were consecrated to God; all active and workers; faithful and punctual in attendance; the church with a good Sunday School; the church which helps spread the gospel; the church which is faithful and generous in giving; the praying church. The pastor thanked all in behalf of his wife and himself, for cooperation and kindness.

Mr. George Bowman, long an active worker of the church, who is recovering from a serious illness, was the next speaker. He wished he might have done more recently. He complimented pastor and people on their progress.

Mrs. Thomas D. Milne contributed a pleasing solo and was recalled.

Alexander Clark complimented the church on the work it was doing.

Mr. Nathaniel Sproul, the pastor's father was next introduced. He said the long journey from Toronto, Canada, had fatigued him, and since his arrival he had been unwell. He was pleased to see the large number out to honor his son and daughter. It would be a pleasure to recall upon his return home that they were among kind friends. He thanked all for kindnesses extended to them.

Alfred Bishop was pleased at the success of the gathering, and the words of Mr. Bowman and the pastor's father.

Andrew Milne was introduced but moved to adjourn, and with the singing of Auld Lang Syne the company dispersed.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The children at the Coddington school certainly need a champion, and the questions which a correspondent asks in another column are none too strong. The Coddington building erected a half century ago has outlived its usefulness. Since the location of the sanitaries in the unventilated cellar the situation is worse than ever. A generation ago a school room in this same cellar was condemned and vacated, but now it is in daily use by one grade of children.

The Coddington is unhealthy!

Further, the Coddington is a four-story building with an annex, and ill-adapted for a modern school. Besides it is overcrowded. Could the situation be worse? Unhealthy, unsafe, undesirable.

Wonder if any of the present Councilmen have ever visited the school! Certainly here is a crying need which cannot much longer be ignored.

Some parents who live near the Coddington have voluntarily requested that their children be transferred to the Cranch building. Others would if they realized what a great difference there is in the two buildings.

Parents, however, should keep the needs of the Coddington agitated. It must be done until the wrong to the children is righted.

Dismembered Body of Woman Afloat In Boston Harbor

THE INTESTINES MISSING

Indications That the Victim Had Been Operated Upon by Someone Acquainted With Surgery --No Means of Identification

Boston, Sept. 22.—The police of Winthrop and Medical Examiner Harris of this city were called upon last night to investigate the death of a woman, whose dismembered body was found in a suit case in the water near the Winthrop Yacht clubhouse. There were no marks by which the remains could be readily identified.

The medical examiner found two long cuts on the body, and from these and other circumstances the authorities are of the belief that the woman was the victim of an operation.

The property of the Winthrop Yacht club is situated on a long, narrow peninsula, which makes out into Boston harbor. The locality is three miles from this city. At 5:20 o'clock last evening two Winthrop residents, Alfred D. Allen and Randolph Pollard, who are members of the yacht club, were standing on the float near the clubhouse when they noticed a suit case, covered with olive green leather, floating deep in the water. Thinking that it might have been lost overboard from a yacht, they took it from the water. They were unable to find any identifying marks on the suit case and the men opened it. They were startled to find the nude trunk of a woman, wrapped in a strip of white oil cloth. There were no marks of identification.

The police were immediately notified and the suit case and contents were removed to the police headquarters at Winthrop. Medical Examiner Harris viewed the body and later it was turned over to an undertaker. Harris is of the opinion that the body had been in the water not longer than 24 hours.

Two cuts were found on the trunk, one extending from the breast bone down the entire length of the body, and another from the right side above the hip bone and meeting the other cut. There were four stitches in the latter cut. The intestines had been removed, indicating that the woman had been operated upon for an internal trouble. The body had evidently been dismembered by a sharp knife. The cuts were clean and no bones were broken. The police hold the opinion that someone acquainted with surgery did the work.

The theory of those who saw the remains is that some person attempted an operation and, failing, decided to cut up the body and dispose of it in order that the authorities would not learn of the woman's death. It is thought that the suit case was taken on board some harbor steamer or a yacht, and dropped into the harbor, the wind and tide carrying the object to Winthrop.

The police estimate that the age of the victim was about 34 years, and that the weight would be in the vicinity of 120 pounds. The body is that of rather a small woman and would not exceed, the police think, 5 feet 4 inches in height.

Chief MacNeil of the Winthrop police summoned the aid of the state police and both are at work on the case, which is one of unusual difficulty. While the authorities are of the opinion that the crime was probably committed in this city, there is nothing about the dress suit case or the dismembered trunk that offers the slightest clue. They are hoping that the disappearance of the missing woman may lead to inquiries by friends. An autopsy will be made by Medical Examiner Harris.

Thugs Started Riot

New York, Sept. 22.—One disturber was killed, a policeman seriously injured and two persons shot in an East Side riot last night. The fighting followed the effort of Policeman Miller to clear away a crowd which had become disorderly in front of a restaurant in lower Second avenue. Reserves from two precincts had to be summoned before quiet could be restored. Several arrests were made.

Modern Gun to Shoot at Yankees

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—The request of Captain Dunn of the Canadian cruiser Vigilant that his vessel be armed with a quick-fire gun for use against American vessels accused of fishing in Canadian waters, is considered favorably by the marine department, which maintains that Canadian authorities have the right to arm the cruiser with any arm firing a shot up to 18 pounds.

Dan Patch Breaks Records

Allentown, Pa.. Sept. 22.—Records were broken in the races at the Allentown fair in the presence of 75,000 people, when Dan Patch, paced by two runners, went a mile in 2:01. An hour later Dan Patch, hitched to a road wagon, cut the pacing record of his sire, Joe Patchen, from 2:11½ to 2:05.

RAMMED BY SCHOONER

Steamer Juniata Limps Into Boston Badly Damaged

Boston, Sept. 22.—The injury of six passengers and two of the ship's officers by a collision at sea was reported by the steamer Juniata of the Merchants and Miner's Transportation company, Boston for Baltimore and Norfolk, which put into this port last evening, disabled and badly damaged. The Juniata was rammed 30 miles off Chatham by the five-masted schooner Harwood Palmer, Baltimore for Portland, Me., with a cargo of coal. No one on board the schooner was injured.

That the accident did not result in a general loss of life on the steamer is considered remarkable by everyone on board. The steamer had a great hole stove in her starboard side amidships, her cabins from that point forward were ripped and torn into kindling wood, her pilot house was wrecked and the foremast and smokestack were carried away.

The Juniata returned to her dock here and landed her passengers, and arrangements were made to transfer the cargo. The Palmer lost her jibboom, bowsprit and headgear. The accident occurred in a thick fog.

Trains Crashed on Crossing

Whitman, Mass., Sept. 22.—A south-bound freight train crashed into a freight bound north here last night. Several cars were derailed and one which turned over demolished the gate tender's house at a street crossing and carried away the telegraph line. The gate tender escaped, but Clarence Bourne was caught and pinned under the car for more than half an hour. He was severely injured. No one else was hurt. The cause of the accident is not known.

Serious Accident Barely Averted

Boston, Sept. 22.—Just after an electric car had passed over the new subway excavation near Newspaper row last evening the tracks and top of the wooden framework forming the level of the street fell several feet. A hundred workmen were summoned and the entire top structure was removed a length of 75 feet. The wooden supports were found to be weak and loose.

Williams Must Stand Trial

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 22.—The court having ruled that the defendant was undoubtedly sane, Benjamin Williams, a former soldier at Fort Ethan Allen, has been placed on trial in the county court on the charge of murder. It is alleged that Williams shot and killed Patrolman James McGrath of this city while the latter was trying to arrest him on a charge of desertion.

Boston Bank to Liquidate

Boston, Sept. 22.—The officers of the Boylston National bank and the Mount Vernon National bank announce that arrangements have been made whereby the Boylston bank has acquired the business of the other institution and the Mount Vernon will go into voluntary liquidation. The terms under which the consolidation of interests is made have not been announced.

Dartmouth Student Drowned

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 22.—By the upsetting of a canoe in the Connecticut river, Alfred D. Gere of Northampton, Mass., aged 21, a Dartmouth college student, was drowned, and his companion, Francis B. Riley, narrowly escaped with his life. Gere was the only son of Edward C. Gere, editor of the Hampshire Daily Gazette of Northampton.

State Police Think Suicide

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 22.—Although still pursuing their investigation of the death of Mrs. Jennie Chase, the heiress of $1,000,000, whose death was first declared self-destruction by asphyxiation and then became the object of a searching inquiry because of many mysterious circumstances, the state police believe the woman a suicide.

Tobacco Farmers Lose Heavily

Westfield, Mass., Sept. 22.—Many tons of tobacco through this valley have been damaged by continued damp weather, which caused what is commonly known as tobacco rot. The loss in weight to the crop in this vicinity is estimated at no less than 25 percent. In some barns the leaves literally rotted off the stalks.

Steamer Temporarily Disabled

Newport, R. I., Sept. 22.—Steamer New Shoreham, Block Island for Providence, became disabled last night four miles southeast of Brenton's Reef lightship, but the crew was able to make repairs to enable the boat to proceed. A bolt in the starboard boiler blew out. There was no excitement among the passengers.

Must Answer Larceny Charge

Boston, Sept. 22.—T. F. Rae, 38 years old, arrived in this city last night from Chicago in charge of police officers. He is brought here to answer a charge of larceny from the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, of which organization he was treasurer in 1902.

Wanted by Boston Police

Boston, Sept. 22.—Word has been received at police headquarters here of the arrest at Halifax of Frank Gallagher, who, the police allege, robbed a number of lodging houses of this city of over $1000 worth of jewelry and clothing during the past few months.

Charges Against Bookkeeper

New Haven, Sept. 22.—The case of Charles E. Griffin, bookkeeper for Smedley & Co., who is charged with embezzlement and making false entries in the books of the firm, was continued for one week in the city court. Bonds were fixed at $5000.

CITY BREVITIES.

The funeral of Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan will be held from St. John's church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

A much needed improvement will be made in removing the old toll house on the Quincy end of the Point bridge.

The Knights of Columbus will meet at St. John's church at 9 A. M. Saturday to attend the funeral of Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan.

Mrs. Whitney of Cambridge and Mrs. Chiles of Boston, members of the Colonial Dames, visited the Dorothy Q. house on Thursday.

The Registrars of Voters will meet in the Council chamber at City Hall tonight. It will be the last opportunity to register before the caucus.

Charles Bosworth, who is in Chugwater, Wyoming, on a cattle ranch, reports a good time in participating in a yearly round up and in branding cattle.

The City Council Committee on Streets will give a hearing tonight on the petition to widen and accept Cottage avenue. The improvement would be a benefit to all property within half a mile.

Civilian Doctors the Losers

Washington, Sept. 22.—The work of civilian physicians in examining recruits for the army has proven so unsatisfactory that their services will be entirely dispensed with in that capacity after Sept. 30 next. The fees to civilian physicians for this work have averaged $60,000 annually. The new plan will be to have recruits examined thoroughly for physical defects by recruiting officers. On acceptance, the recruit will be sent to the nearest depot, where he will be examined by the regular post surgeon.

Highwayman Sent to Prison

Dedham, Mass., Sept. 22.—Samuel W. Hunt, a negro, was sentenced by Judge Schofield to a term of from seven to 10 years in the state prison for highway robbery in Brookline. Charles W. Birtwell was assaulted and robbed by three negroes near his home in Brookline. Hunt was captured a few hours later. Albert Williams, another member of the party, was shot and killed by Police Captain Paige of Brookline while trying to escape arrest. The third man was never apprehended.

Minister's Character Cleared

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The committee of the Rye Methodist Episcopal church, which has been investigating the informal charges of improper conduct on the part of the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. J. H. Hand, last night submitted its report, completely exonerating the pastor of any charges whatsoever brought against him. It was charged that Hand had acted improperly with one of the members of his church.

Strife in Interior of Russia

Tiflis, Sept. 22.—All the woolen shawl factories here are idle, owing to the declaration of a strike involving 8000 workmen. Tartars attacked the Armenian quarter of Shemakaha. Robbers frequent the roads and it is practicably impossible to bring provisions to the Shusha district. The police of Batoum have discovered a quantity of rifles and ammunition destined for the trans-Caucasian revolutionists.

Cincinnati Man For Commander

Gettysburg, Pa., Sept. 22.—At the last session of the encampment of the National Association of the Sons of Veterans Colonel H. V. Speelman of Cincinnati was chosen commander-in-chief and Peoria, Ills., was selected as the next meeting place. The parade of Sons of Veterans was applauded by thousands of spectators.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mr. VanSwinderen, the Netherlands minister to the United States, has returned to his post after an absence of several months in his native country.

Rev. John J. Downey, pastor of St. Margaret's Roman Catholic church at Beverly Farms, Mass., died after a short illness. He had been prominent in charitable work in Boston, where he was born 41 years ago.

At the annual meeting of the Vermont State Firemen's association at Burlington a motion to disband the organization was lost by a large majority.

The entire plant of the Kirby Lumber company at Bronson, Tenn., was destroyed by fire. One hundred men are thrown out of employment. Loss, $100,000.

The steamship service between Rotterdam and Boston, which was discontinued last March, owing to extreme dulness in ocean freights, is to be resumed next month. Three steamers have been assigned to the service.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes," Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of

TIMOTHY W. FITZGERALD,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Hannah Fitzgerald of said Quincy, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline, in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-seventh day of September, A. D. 1905, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week for three successive weeks in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of September, A. D. 1905.

IN TRACTION DEAL

Over $300,000 Lost by New York Life Company

A HEAVY RUNNING LOAN

President of Metropolitan Life Has It at 1 1-2 Percent Interest--Further Interesting Disclosures by Perkins

New York, Sept. 22.—George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company and member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., was on the witness stand before the special legislative committee probing insurance companies' methods during the greater part of Thursday's session. When an adjournment was taken he was still on the stand with a number of questions pending, to reply to which he asked permission to look up the records and submit transcriptions.

The only development of moment during the day was the witness' disclosure in the New Orleans Traction syndicate in which the company sustained a loss of over $300,000. Edmund V. Randolph, treasurer of the company, had been questioned rather sharply regarding this transaction when he was on the stand last week. Yesterday the matter was brought up when Counsel Hughes attempted to probe the collateral loan act.

The bonds of the New Orleans Traction company had been bought from the New York Security and Trust company at 85 and were subsequently sold at 75. Mr. Perkins testified they were sold on Dec. 31, 1903, to Fanshawe & Co. for $937,500. Mr. Hughes found, under date of Jan. 5, 1905, a loan of that amount to Fanshawe & Co., and asked if the loan was made against these bonds. This Perkins said he would have to look up and the question was dropped for the present.

It was brought out that John R. Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, was carrying a running loan with the New York Life of $50,000 at 1½ percent interest. Perkins did not know whether this matter came before the finance committee and would also look that up. Witness could not explain why, after the New York Life had bought $4,000,000 worth of bonds from J. P. Morgan & Co., $2,000,000 worth should be sold back to that firm at the same price within two months, and no minutes of the finance committee could be found to explain it.

The transaction in Navigation Syndicate bonds of Dec. 31, 1903, when Perkins, for the New York Life, sold Perkins, for J. P. Morgan & Co., $800,000 in these bonds, came up again when the warrant for the check of $800,266 was produced. These bonds were bought back by the New York Life two days later and the $266, Perkins testified, was for the adjustment of interest. Perkins would not acknowledge the transaction was a loan.

The total dealings of the company with the Morgan firm amounted to $39,286,075 with a profit of $784,768.19. The manner of the company's income was for the present dropped and the way of spending the money was probed. The agency system of the company was described and at this point Vice President Buckner, who has charge of the agents, was called. He stated that the total salaries of agency inspectors were $126,000 annually. Agency directors get an average annual salary of $3000. The latter receive about $100,000 annually in bonuses. Buckner was unable to answer many questions without referring to records and will be called again.

Earlier in the day Perkins had been questioned on the "joint account" transactions of the New York Life Insurance company which he was unable to explain last Friday. He presented statements of each account. Perkins took occasion to correct his testimony of last Friday relative to the navigation bonds, when he was asked if the object of the transaction between J. P. Morgan & Co. and the New York Life Insurance company was to remove the $800.000 bonds from the insurance company's books, and reduce their holdings temporarily from $4,000,000 to $3,200,000. Perkins had answered yes, but yesterday said: "I did not mean that; I meant to say 'no.'"

ACTOR ARRESTED

Eben Plympton In Most Tragic Role of His Career

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Alleged to Have Inflicted Injuries Upon Old Friend Which Resulted In Fractured Skull and May Cause His Death

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 22.—Eben Plympton, the well known actor, was arrested at his summer home at Silver Lake, 12 miles from here, brought here last night by Sheriff Callengwood, and lodged in Plymouth jail on a charge of assault with intent to kill upon George Martin, who has been his guest at Silver Lake for a number of years. Martin is in a Boston hospital with a fractured skull and his condition is said to be critical.

The alleged assault occurred last Thursday night or Friday morning, it is said, but no legal action was taken until yesterday, when District Attorney French ordered Plympton's arrest. The men were alone at the time of the assault and as Martin is in no condition to give his story of the quarrel and Plympton will not talk it is impossible to obtain the details of the affair. Martin is suffering from numerous injuries about the head, which are said to have been inflicted by some kind of a heavy weapon.

Plympton was unable to furnish $2000 bail and will be arraigned in the district court here.

The affair happened at Plympton's country place, where he has made a practice of resting each summer after his theatrical engagements have ended. Martin has long been his friend, and this summer, up to the time of the alleged disagreement, there was nothing to interfere with the serenity of their relations.

Immediately after the blow was struck Plympton sent for Drs. Adams and Holmes of Kingston, and they did all that medical skill could suggest to revive Martin, who was unconscious. Then it was decided to send Martin to the General hospital in Boston.

Plympton, who is a native Bostonian, is one of the most prominent actors before the public today. His career has been a brilliant one and covers a period of 34 years on the stage. At one time he was a member of the famous Museum stock company, and there played a wide variety of parts, the best remembered of these being in the classic comedies.

Big Strike Probable In Berlin

Berlin, Sept. 22.—Trouble between the great electrical companies of Berlin and their employes has reached a critical stage. The workmen in several departments of the two chief companies have already gone on strike and the companies threaten to shut down their plants unless the strikers return to work at once. The men demand $7 a week for the lowest class of unskilled labor, an increase of 15 percent. The electrical companies of Berlin employ at least 60,000 men.

Warships to Enforce Demands

San Sebastian, Spain, Sept. 22.—In consequence of the recent attack by Moors on a Spanish journalist and the refusal of the chiefs to give satisfaction therefor, the sloop of war Infanta Isabella has been ordered to proceed to Ceuta, a Spanish fort and seaport on a small peninsula in the north of Morocco. A cruiser, a gunboat and a torpedo boat destroyer are being held in readiness in case the demand of the Spanish government is not complied with.

Insult to America Deplored

Havana, Sept. 22.—As a result of the disturbances at Cienfuegos, during which filth was thrown upon the escutcheon of the American consulate, the Cuban state department has apologized to the American charge of affairs, Mr. Sleeper, assuring him that energetic efforts will be made to ascertain the identity of the guilty parties and that measures will be taken to prevent the recurrence of such an event, which Cuba greatly deplores.

An Appeal to Roosevelt

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 22.—The New England cotton manufacturers last night adopted resolutions declaring that the cotton industry has been damaged by speculation, and calling upon President Roosevelt to appoint a commission to not only investigate the best method of issuing reports, but to investigate gambling in cotton futures.

Orders Were Misunderstood

Harrisburg, Sept. 22.—Five railroad men were killed and eight others seriously injured in a collision between a pay train and a combination passenger and milk train at Mount Holly Springs. Officials of the company say the accident was probably due to a misunderstanding of orders.

Wanted In New Hampshire

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 22.—J. P. Moulton of Berlin, N. H., was arrested here on a charge of forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses. He waived extradition and returned to Berlin with an officer.

France Building Submarines

Paris, Sept. 22.—The French government has begun the construction of 18 submarine vessels divided between the yards at Cherbourg, Lorient and Rochefort-Sur-Mer. The vessels will be finished in 1907.

PACKERS FINED $25,000

Four Officials Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Conspiracy

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Four officials of the Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Packing company of Chicago were fined an aggregate of $25,000 by Judge Humphrey in the United States district court here. The fines followed a plea of guilty to indictments charging conspiracy to accept railroad rebates. The defendants were: Samuel Weil of New York, vice president of the company; B. S. Cusey, traffic manager; V. D. Skipworth, and C. E. Todd, assistant traffic manager. Weil was fined $10,000 and the other three $5000 each.

The plea does not in any way affect the charge of interference with government witnesses made in a previous indictment returned against Cusey and other Schwarzchild & Sulzberger men.

The fines carried with them a provision that the defendants be confined in jail until the fines were paid. The fines, however, were paid immediately. Max Sulzberger giving his check for the total amount, $25,000. The defendants then left the courtroom.

Was Active In Jameson Raid

London, Sept. 22.—The British South Africa company in London has received information of the death at Cape Town of Colonel F. W. Rhodes (retired), brother of the late Cecil Rhodes and managing director of the African Trans-Continental Telegraph company. For participation in the Jameson raid Rhodes was sentenced to death, the sentence being subsequently commuted to imprisonment, followed by banishment. The colonel served with distinction in the campaigns in the Soudan.

Safeguarding Firing of Salutes

Washington, Sept. 22.—Owing to the number of serious accidents which have resulted from the firing of salutes at military posts, the war department has ordered that hereafter salutes with cannon will be fired only under the personal direction of a commissioned officer. Metallic case ammunition must be used wherever possible, and muzzle-loading guns will be used only when it is absolutely impossible to use breech-loaders.

Gaynor Won't Be Mayor

New York, Sept. 22.—The fusion conference committee, with representatives present from all anti-Tammany political organizations with the exception of the Citizens' union, met again last night, but adjourned without reaching an agreement on names. Justice Gaynor has positively and finally refused to allow the use of his name as a candidate for mayor.

M'Call's Statement Denied

New York, Sept. 22.—Chairman Taggart of the Democratic national committee has arrived in New York from Indianapolis. He denies the statement made by President McCall of the New York Life before the legislative insurance investigating committee that the Democratic national committee had solicited money for the campaign fund from that concern.

Homesick Young Globe-Trotter

New York, Sept. 22.—Free passage home from Spain was given to W. Clark of Boston, aged 19, who arrived here on the steamship Vera. At the port of Huelva, Spain, from which the Vera sailed, her captain met and befriended Clark, who told him that after travelling about the world on a globe-trotting trip he was homesick.

Had Strong Constitution

Buffalo, Sept. 22.—Peter Mikulwicz, a bartender, walked the streets from 3 p. m. until 11 p. m. yesterday with two 22-calibre bullets in his chest, and finally dropped to the street. When taken to a hospital he said a negro, who, with a white man, tried to rob him, had shot him. Mikulwicz is likely to die.

Want to Borrow $6,000,000

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Both branches of city councils passed ordinances authorizing a loan of $6,000,000, of which $4,000,000 is to be expended in abolishing grade crossings and the remainder for street paving. The ordinances are not effective until approved by the vote of the people.

Political Assessments Shut Off

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Director of Public Safety Potter has issued an order to all policemen and firemen prohibiting them from paying any assessment or contribution for political purposes. Disobedience of the order will be cause for immediate dismissal.

Hitch on Demolition of Forts

Karlstad, Sept. 22.—The Swedish and Norwegian commissioners met in joint conference last night, after the holding of separate conferences during the day. It is understood that the question of the demolition of the fortifications still remains open.

Delcasse In Auto Tumble

Foix, France, Sept. 22.—While driving an automobile here M. Delcasse, former foreign minister, was thrown into a ditch owing to the overturning of his machine. Mud in the ditch saved Delcasse from serious injury.

Komura Continues to Improve

New York, Sept. 22.—Baron Komura, the Japanese peace plenipotentiary, who is ill with typhoid fever at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, continues to show the steady improvement which he has enjoyed for the past few days.

Anonymous Letter Proved True

New York, Sept. 22.—Two weeks ago the town authorities of Port Washington, L. I., received an anonymous letter telling them that they would probably find in a clump of woods the dead body of James O'Hara, who had been missing since Aug. 13. The writer of the letter said he had overheard a conversation between Cleveland Poole and another person, unnamed, which induced him to write to the police. Yesterday a hunter stumbled across the badly decomposed body of O'Hara. Officers immediately arrested Poole, who admitted he had been drinking with O'Hara the last night the latter was seen alive.

A CRYING NEED.

New Coddington School Demanded.

Unhealthy, Unsafe and Undesirable

Is Overcrowded and Disgrace to City.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

We read in our local daily paper reports of an over crowded condition of things at the Coddington school. Are the people of Ward One familiar with the Coddington building, and the comforts (?) it affords? Do the people of the largest tax paying ward know that one room is situated in the cellar?

Do they know that large stoves furnish the heat, and that those who sit near them have to work with overheated brains?

Do they know that for ventilation the windows have to be thrown open, while the children go through gymnastics, and that those unfortunate enough to stand near the windows, become thoroughly chilled in winter weather.

The Coddington has three stories and is an old building at that. If a fire should occur what chance of escape would the children have? The Adams school has long stood in need of proper sanitary arrangements but not until an epidemic of a dread disease which carried away some of the little ones, invaded the school, did the city deem it necessary to make the improvements.

If the Coddington building should be destroyed by fire today, what would the city do? They would immediately replace it with a building such as almost all of the wards in the city possess. Are we to wait for such an exigency?

Should any children come to their death through our negligence could we ever atone for it? Would not a new building then become an everlasting rebuke?

Above the fact that the Coddington school building is a positive disgrace to the city, the cry of the need of the children should be heard and taken up and passed along till the sound penetrated every part of the city.

Don't stand back and wait for others to agitate the movement. Every word that can be said strengthens the cause. Let us all pull together and demand what is our just due. Champion.

BIG SUM GONE.

Atlantic Man Causes Arrest of Woman for Alleged Theft.

John J. Kerrigan of Atlantic is out $350. Just where the sum went to is a mystery. It appears that Mr. Kerrigan came home from Boston on Wednesday night with $590 in his pocket. When he awoke Thursday morning he found his pocketbook on the floor and $350 of his money missing. He immediately surmised that Mary Tarrant, his housekeeper, had the money.

He swore out a warrant against her, and Officer Bradley placed her under arrest. At the police station she was searched by a woman but no trace of the money was found. The woman stoutly denied all knowledge of the money.

She was arraigned in court and the case continued until Saturday.

Corp. Parker Missing.

Corp. Willie D. Parker of troop M 15th cavalry stationed at Fort Ethan Allen has been dropped as a deserter. Parker, who is 24 years old, is said to be a son of W. D. Parker of Quincy.

Many at Fort Ethan Allen are of the opinion that he is dead in the woods which skirt the reservation.

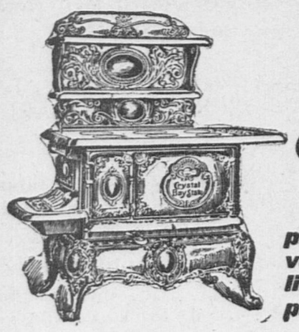

The authorities however believe that he has deserted and gone to Canada. Parker was married last month to a Miss Walker, who has also disappeared.

An Atlantic woman writes: If the Quincy school collapses, it will be on account of shame for its present coat of paint—or the absence of the coat. Where there is only one school in a village, and that school occupies the most central position, where are the energetic councilmen of Atlantic that they don't put in a word for the outward appearance of the Quincy school?

CRESCENT SREET.

general of the Commonwealth, Albert E. Pillsbury, which is as follows:

"I have your request, in behalf of the city of Quincy, for my opinion upon the constitutionality of the provisions of St. 1894 chapter 288 and St. 1895 chapter 450, which in substance purport to authorize the Metropolitan Park Board to take existing streets for parks or parkways, and to sell lands previously taken, the proceeds to be paid into the Commonwealth's treasury. I understand that the case out of which the question arises is briefly that the Board, with the concurrence of the local authorities as required by the statutes, took parts of a street or streets in Quincy for a parkway, and has since resold a part of the land so taken into private ownership; in other words, the city's grievance, if any, is that parts of its streets, which presumably it had to pay for, have been taken and discontinued and subsequently sold for private uses, the Commonwealth taking the proceeds.

The broad question of the power of the legislature to authorize the taking of more land than is necessary for a public purpose does not seem to arise. Neither statute purports to authorize this, and it would probably be difficult or impossible to show that more land was taken than might, in some aspect of the case, turn out to be necessary.

There is now no doubt of the power of the legislature to authorize the taking of lands in fee for public parks or parkways, even if already held to another public use. Further, it is settled and familiar in Massachusetts that the public highways, though provided and maintained by the cities and towns, do not belong to them as proprietors, but belong to the public and are under the control of the legislature, which represents the public; and this control is practically absolute. Probably the legislature has power, at least as against the city, to discontinue a city street, sell the land, and put the proceeds into the Commonwealth's treasury. But even this question does not arise here. These statutes authorize the taking of streets, and the subsequent sale of unused lands, only with the concurrence of the local authorities; which concurrence, as I understand, was obtained in this case. In other words, the city, by its designated representatives, which the legislature undoubtedly had power to designate, has consented to what has been done.

In my opinion there is no constitutional objection to the statutes, or to the proceedings under them as described to me, of which the city can avail itself.

With this presentation of facts, I will leave it to the fair and honest judgment of the Board of Trade whether any advise is wise, which, if followed, would involve the city in costly litigation, besides jeopardizing permanently the continuance of further development by the Park Commission in the city, a matter worked for by all our members in the legislature and every city government for the past ten years.

Yours very truly,
James Thompson, Mayor.

Association Football.

The Quincy football club have two games scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 23. They will play the Methuen team at Methuen, this being the third game in the league series. The other game will be played at the Ward Three playground when they will meet the Everetts of Everett. If the Quincys play a combination game, leaving out all "grand stand" or individual plays they could easily win both games.

The standing of the various league clubs is as follows:

| | Games Won. | Games Lost. | Goals Made. | Goals Lost. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Andovers, | 2 | 0 | 14 | 1 |
| Fore Rivers, | 2 | 0 | 8 | 1 |

A Question of Life or Death

[Original.]

"Am I dead?"

A man in a dazed condition had entered a rural police station lugging a coffin and stood before the sergeant's desk. His skeleton figure, his livid skin, his shrunken eyes, all went to prove that he was a corpse, voice and motion alone indicating the contrary. The sergeant drew back, and something like a shiver passed over a couple of roundsmen who were lounging by the desk.

"What do you mean?" stammered the sergeant.

The man put his hand in his pocket—the policemen fancied they could hear his bones rattle as he did so—took out a clipping from a newspaper and laid it on the desk. It read:

Died.—Kirkham—On the 25th of September, John Leonard Kirkham, aged twenty-six.

"I see," said the sergeant. "What did you die of?"

The corpse replied by drawing forth another clipping, which read:

At midnight on the 24th inst. a young man named Kirkham bade good night to a friend at the ferry to cross the river. It proved a Styx, for he never reached the other side. It is supposed he fell overboard and was drowned, since he had no cause to be weary of life. Indeed, he was about to be married to a very estimable young lady. His body has not been recovered.

"You are the body?" asked the sergeant, looking up after reading the item.

"Yes."

"Well, tell us about it."

"When I entered the ferryboat," the stranger began, "I had just bidden good night and given my final instructions to my best man, for I was to have been married the next day to the loveliest girl in the world."

The speaker's voice trembled, and he was obliged to pause. Then he gave a frightened glance at the coffin, which he had stood on end beside him, and proceeded:

"A fortune had been left me by an aunt whom I have not seen since I was a little boy, on condition that I marry her adopted daughter, my aunt's object being to keep the property in the family and benefit the girl she had brought up and loved like a child of her own. I was her only blood relation living. Just before entering the dock on the far side of the river a man stepped up to me and said:

"'Can you tell me, sir, what that is burning back of us in the city?'

"He led the way—we were on the lower deck—to the stern, and I followed him. Since we were about to enter the dock every one had gone forward. On reaching the extreme stern, while I was leaning over the rail looking for the fire, he suddenly grasped my legs and tumbled me overboard. I was rescued by two men in a skiff. The man who had thrown me over jumped into it, and the others pulled away."

The sergeant looked at the roundsmen knowingly and remarked, "There's a clew for ferryboat disappearances." The stranger proceeded:

"I was rowed to a dock where a carriage was waiting and forced to enter it, the man who had thrown me over getting in with me. I saw him hand the men in the boat a roll of bills and concluded they had been simply hired for the job. The carriage was driven till dawn, then stopped, and I was blindfolded and led into a house. At last the bandage was taken from my eyes, and I found myself in a room from which the only view was chimney pots.

"For several days I lived, without seeing any one, on bread and water that was handed in to me. On the third day my kidnaper came in and showed me the notices I have shown you.

"'You're dead,' he said, 'and I propose that you shan't come to life again, at least on this side of the planet.'

"He did not tell me what he was going to do with me, but gave me to understand that resistance would be useless, and, whatever happened, if I failed to play any part that might be expected of me I would be murdered. When he went away he forgot to take the clippings I have shown you, and I put them in my pocket.

"That night I smelled a strange odor and slept like a log. The next morning I was in a stupor, but conscious. My kidnaper came into my room with another man, who looked me over, then sat down at a table and wrote something, the kidnaper showing him an envelope he had taken from my pocket. All that day I was under the influence of the drug, and the next I must have been given an extra dose, for I was unconscious.

"I felt a shock and opened my eyes. I was lying in the road with my legs in this coffin. I heard horses galloping away from me. I got up, walked a short distance and found myself here. Now I'd like to know if I am a dead man or a live one."

"You're alive and will continue to live till we've tracked your kidnaper. Are you sure that your aunt had no relation living who, in case of your death, would be the heir at law?"

"She hadn't a kinsman on earth. She had had a son, a scapegrace, but he was killed in a drunken broil."

"No, he wasn't. He's alive and has kidnaped you to prevent your complying with the terms of the will by the marriage and intended to furnish proofs that you were dead and claim your property. A runaway during your funeral spilled you out and spoiled his game."

The sergeant's diagnosis proved to be correct. Mr. Kirkham was married a few days later, and the kidnaper went to state prison.

PLEASE REPLY? CHARLES M. BRYANT?

Do You Want A Young Man

Of Business Experience

To Represent You in the Legislature?

Vote for EUGENE C. HULTMAN

At the REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

Sept. 16. 9t

WELL QUALIFIED

Candidate Hultman a Man of Education and Business Experience.

One of the most promising candidates for Representative at the coming caucuses is Eugene C. Hultman of Quincy Point. Mr. Hultman is one of the new men seeking nomination this year. While not a novice in political affairs he represents the younger element which is fast coming to the front. Young blood is what the people are crying for today and to such he answers every requirment.

Although a young man he has had a large and varied experience and is eminently qualified for the position. He has always taken an active interest in local political affairs, having served one year in the City Council, and several years on the Republican ward and city committee, besides serving as warden at elections. He has also been an energetic worker in many ways for the success of his party.

Practical Politics in speaking of his candidacy says—"The strength of his position is apparent when it is stated that he is of Swedish ancestry, and that there is a large element of that nationality in the Republican party in Quincy which looks with favor upon his candidacy, regarding him as a representative man in the community, and none the less desirable in public office by reason of his ability to understand and appreciate their political opinions and desires."

Mr. Hultman, who was born in Boston July 13, 1875, is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute or Technology. His preparatory schooling was obtained in Quincy, where he has resided since early youth, at the public schools, the Adams Academy, and Thayer Academy in Braintree. He graduated from Technology '96 and has filled a number of important engineering positions since that time. Among them were positions with the State Board of Health in the dredging of the Sudbury river, with the federal governments topographical survey in the Adirondacks, and as assistant chief engineer with Barbour-Stockwell Co. He is consulting engineer for the West End street railway and a number of other important enterprises. He is also president of the Vale Mills. When the Fitchburg Railroad was leased to the Boston & Maine he was given full charge of auditing its business.

As a man of education, of business experience and of party loyalty he is eminently qualified for the position. His activities are not confined to business and political affairs, for he finds time to be secretary of the Technology league to oppose the merger between Harvard and his alma mater, whose individuality he would see preserved, and is a member of the Technology club, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, the Granite City club, the Norfolk club and other social organizations. He is also a 32d degree Mason, Knight Templar, and Shriner. He is also an athlete being president of the fencing club of the Boston Y. M. C. A.

A Song of Patience.

Only for a little while
Sunny days consent to smile,
All their charms must fade away
In the midsts of wintry gray.
Flowers must wither; leaves must fall;
Hushed must be the robin's call.
Summer blooms but to beguile
Only for a little while.

But the snows will melt at last,
Days of storm are quickly past;
Just the same as days so gay—
Sun and shadows shift and play.
Quaff the pleasures while you can;
Bear the sorrows like a man.
For the tear is, like the smile,
Only for a little while.

MANY ATTEND.

Funeral of Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan.

St. John's Church Full of Mourners.

Many Floral Tributes. Burial at St. Mary's Cemetery.

St. John's church was thronged this morning with relatives and many of the friends of the late Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan who had gathered to pay their last respects to him who in life had done so much to relieve the sufferings of others.

The services were held at 10 o'clock and at that hour every available seat in the large edifice was taken.

Aside from the fraternal organizations present there were representatives from the Norfolk South District Medical society and several of those who served with the diseased in the city offices which he had held.

The ushers at the church were: Joseph A. Dasha, Edward J. Murphy, Dr. D. B. Reardon, William Moran, John H. Griffith, George B. Gavin, T. J. Collins and T. J. Dunphy.

A few minutes before 10 o'clock the remains were escorted from the house to the church by the several organizations with which he was affiliated, the bearers being Joseph Griffin, John Lynch, Eugene W. O'Connor, John H. Dinegan, William P. Hughes, William T. Shea, Thomas Hogan and Timothy F. Ford.

Following this was a carriage which was completely filled with floral tributes and carriages containing the mourners. The flowers included the following:

Carnations,—Mr. and Mrs. Benj. T. Wilkins.

Roses, Lilies and Palms,—Mrs. Wakehouse and Mrs. Nickerson.

Spray of White Carnations,—Mr and Mrs Benjamin T Johnson

Roses,—Mrs John A Holden

White Roses,—Mr and Mrs W Hatch

A solemn high mass of requium was celebrated with Rev. John J. Coan as celebrant, Rev. Julian E. Johnston as deacon and Rev. John J. Casey as subdeacon. Inside the chancel rail were Rev. A. F. Roache of West Quincy, Rev. J. J. Murphy of Weymouth, Rev. J. P. Cuff of Atlantic, Rev. William T. Dasey of Randolph, Rev. W. E. Keating of Brockton, Rev. Walter E. Fagan of Chelsea, Rev. Francis Walsh of Charlestown.

The Georgian Mass was sung by the choir and during the services the solo parts wers sung by Mrs. Mary White Murphy, Miss Alice Malloy, Michael Dwyer and Thomas R. Donovan.

After the services at the church the remains were taken to St. Mary's cemetery at West Quincy for interment. They were escorted by the fraternal societies, the order of the procession being as follows:

St. Francis Court, M. C. O. F.
Division 5, A. O. H.
Quincy Council, K. of C.
Quincy Court, M. C. O. F.
Division 4, A. O. H.
Division 17, A. O. H.
Division 18, A. O. H.
Division 22, A. O. H.

Members of the several Auxiliaries of the A. O. H.

Then came the hearse and many carriages containing relatives and friends.

Officer Assaulted

Jeremiah Donovan was arraigned in court for an assault on Officer Bowton. The assault was the result of a mixup early this morning.

Officer Bowton had arrested Patrick Creamer for drunkenness, who put up a stiff fight.

Donovan went to the assistance of Creamer and between the two Officer Bowton was so badly used up that he required the services of a physician and is today confined to his bed.

Officer Bowton also put up a stiff fight and used his club in a vigorous manner on Creamer, who is also under a physician's care.

Donovan's head was also somewhat cut. He was held in $500 until Sept. 29, for examination.

Fouud His Money.

John J. Kerrigan, the Atlantic man who had Mary Tarrant, his housekeeper, arrested for larceny of $350, telephoned the police Friday afternoon that he had found his money.

When Kerrigan came home from Boston Wednesday he had $590 in his pocket. The next morning $350 of it was missing, and he promptly had his housekeeper arrested for the theft.

After court Friday he went home and later in the day found the money where he, for some reason best known to himself, had hidden it.

Baxter Endorsed

At a largely attended meeting of the Peter Heynes club, composed of employes of the Fore River Ship and Engine Company held in Ward Two last evening, the candidacy of Arthur E. Baxter for the Republican nomination for Representative was unanimously endorsed, amid great enthusiasm.

The annual convention of the Norfolk County W. C. T. Union will be held in the Baptist church, Prospect avenue, Wollaston, Thursday Sept. 28, at 10 o'clock. Adjournment at 4.

Bad Dreams

Too often seemingly trifling complaints of children are put off as things of no consequence. Every unnatural action is a symptom of disorder and deserving of careful investigation. Worms more than anything else are the cause of childhood sickness. Attacking, as they do, the stomach and bowels, the effect of their presence is felt throughout the whole system and made known by nervousness, peevishness, disturbed sleep, erratic appetite, weak stomach and general lassitude.

Dr. True's Elixir

is the surest and safest worm remedy ever compounded—but it is more than that. As a tonic and general corrective it is unexcelled. It tones stomach and bowels, cleanses and enriches the blood and sends renewed health tingling through the veins. For over 50 years the most popular home remedy. Sold at all druggists, 35c. Write for free booklet on "Children and Their Diseases."

—The results of the late census show that there are many towns which have become entitled, by reason of having a population of 12,000 and rising, to city governments. Years ago all towns were eager to reach that position, and having reached it immediately clamored for the honors. But now a more conservative condition prevails, owing perhaps to the exposures of the force which politics have in the city government over that of town government, and disposition of the legislature to interfere in what are really home matters and not supposed to come under legislative action. The people are learning that the nearer they can keep to their officials the better off they are. A large town well managed is by all means far superior to an inefficient and dishonest city government. —Athol Chronicle.

CASE IDENTIFIED

Police Get Important Clue In the Winthrop Mystery

NOT DELIBERATE MURDER

Belief That Woman Died After Criminal Operation Had Been Performed--Medical Examiner Withholds His Report

Boston, Sept. 23.—Although more than 36 hours have elapsed since two residents in the neighboring town of Winthrop discovered the nude trunk of a woman enclosed in a dress suit case in the harbor near the Winthrop Yacht club. the authorities are baffled in their search for the perpetrator of what is considered one of the most mysterious and repulsive crimes in the history of Suffolk county.

The first tangible clue in the case came when E. J. Cummings of the firm of Josiah Cummings & Son, 67 Bedford street, visited the state house and was shown the suit case. Cummings identified it as one sold by his firm. It bears the firm's private mark stamped with a die into the leather bottom of the case. Cummings said the suit case must have been sold at least four years ago, because the firm had not carried cases of that particular variety in stock within that time. The case is of dark olive brown leather and measures 26 inches in length by 14 3-4 inches in width. It is about four inches longer than the ordinary dress suit case.

A possible clue was received in a report last night from Lawrence, Mass., to the effect that John J. O'Brien, manager of an employment bureau in that city, was of the opinion that he knew the woman whose torso was found at Winthrop. According to O'Brien, a woman, belonging in Grantham, N. H., came to him for employment as a domestic about three weeks ago. She said that she had recently been operated upon for appendicitis. She afterward left Lawrence for Winthrop, according to O'Brien. The agent also says that the woman carried with her an olive green dress suit case that was fastened with a strap.

The autopsy of the body was conducted by Medical Examiner Harris, assisted by William F. Whitney, pathologist of the Harvard Medical school, and Dr. Brown, the medical examiner's assistant. Others present were Deputy Chief Neal and Detectives Rhoades, Keating and Grady of the state police.

The autopsy was a very thorough examination. The results, while not made public by the medical examiner, proved beyond all reasonable doubt that the dismemberment of the body took place after the woman was dead. Dr. Harris, at the conclusion of the autopsy, refused to make public his findings, stating that he would file the results of his work with District Attorney Sughrue.

While the autopsy failed to establish how old the woman was, the authorities are of the opinion that she was between 18 and 22 years old.

The most important point established is that the dead woman had been the victim of a criminal operation and that death was due to peritonitis, probably the result of septic poisoning.

Early yesterday the police visited the apartments of a Howard street physician in an attempt to discover if any of his patients were missing, or if there could be any traces of the other parts of the body. A thorough search was made, but nothing was discovered that could in any way implicate the physician.

Practically the only mark of identification on the body was the scar of a recently healed wound, which, from its appearance, was probably inflicted during an operation for appendicitis. The authorities are engaged in looking up the families of women who have been reported missing in the hope that some light may be thrown upon the Winthrop mystery.

The police have also sought to locate a mysterious stranger, evidently a doctor, who is said to have been seen in Winthrop a day or two ago carrying a dress suit case resembling that in which the body was found. Deputy Chief Neal of the Massachusetts district police, who is in charge of the investigation, says that the man is not under suspicion, but the officials would like to locate him in order to be convinced that he is innocent of any participation in the crime.

It is the generally accepted theory of the police that the woman was not deliberately murdered, but that she died after a criminal operation had been performed upon her, and that the physician who attended her dismembered the body and tried to dispose of it secretly in order to escape the consequences of his act becoming known.

Word was received from Fall River last night that a young woman who was formerly employed in a dentist's office in that city had been missing three weeks. Since her disappearance from Fall River a young man, who was employed in the same office, has been missing also. Relatives of the young woman will visit Boston to view the body.

The harbor waters and shores have been carefully searched for the head and limbs of the woman, but the search was fruitless. It is thought that some mark of identification might be found on some other portion of the body than that enclosed in the dress suit case.

A DARING BURGLARY

Masked Burglars Got $16, but Overlooked a Large Sum

New London, Conn., Sept. 23.—Two men who wore long yellow masks broke into the house of Max Rakoon through a window at midnight and, at the point of a revolver and a long butcher knife, demanded that Rakoon and his wife tell where their money was hidden. They refused and the robbers proceeded to bind them by tieing their thumbs together. They also bound a 15-year-old son and gave a little girl a 10-cent piece to play with to keep her quiet.

At first Rakoon and his wife refused to show the robbers the hiding place for their money, but after threats by the robbers they told them where they could find $16. The robbers demanded to know where there was more, but got no satisfaction, and then searched the building without finding any. Rakoon says there was a large sum of money in a kettle which they overlooked.

The men drove away in a carriage, and so far the police have found no trace of them. The one telephone line that runs to the Chesterfield section of the town, where Rakoon lives, was evidently cut by the men who committed the robbery.

Wachusett Reservoir a Model

Washington, Sept. 23.—The board of consulting engineers of the Panama canal commission will make an inspection of the Wachusett reservoir, a part of the water supply of Boston, before sailing for the isthmus next Thursday. The Boston reservoir is maintained by an earthen dam with a sand and earth foundation. It holds water to the depth of 60 feet and is regarded as a practical illustration of the strength of an earthen dam on earth foundation.

Yellow Fever Victim In Joss House

New Orleans, Sept. 23.—For the first time a Chinese name has appeared on the yellow fever list. The Chinese were supposed to be immunes. The discovery of this case, however, indicates that there have been others which have been successfully concealed. The victim was found dead in a joss house, where he had been taken by his countrymen, who hoped to appease the wrath of his ancestors.

Prince Entertains Miss Roosevelt

Seoul, Sept. 23.—Prince Yi, the emperor's cousin, was host at an open air garden party given at the old East palace in honor of Miss Roosevelt. All officials of note of Korea were present. The wooded paths and colored pavilions were decorated with American and Korean flags. Prince Yi toasted President Roosevelt, while Minister Morgan toasted the Emperor of Korea.

Bright Business Outlook

New York, Sept. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that current trade shows a distinct gain in comparison with the same time last year; crop reports are reassuring, and evidences of continued activity are noted in almost every department of industry. Fall trade is now well under way, especially encouraging results being achieved.

About to Sign Agreement

Karlstad, Sept. 23.—The commissioners of Norway and Sweden went into plenary session last evening and remained in session until 1 o'clock this morning. Several points regarding the fortifications still remain undecided, but it is believed possible that a preliminary agreement will be signed today.

Motorman Blamed For Disaster

New York, Sept. 23.—Responsibility for the elevated railroad accident of Sept. 11, when 12 persons lost their lives through the fall of a car from the trestle on Ninth avenue, has been fixed by the state railroad commissioners. They found that Motorman Kelly was responsible for the accident.

Collision of Torpedo Boats

Cherbourg, Sept. 23.—During the naval maneuvers here two torpedo boats collided and remained interlocked until they were towed to port, where they were separated by tugs. Investigation showed that the boats had suffered serious damage. Their crews were rescued.

Won't Exclude Liquor Dealers

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—At the Odd Fellows' canton here the proposed amendment to exclude from the order all persons who are engaged in the liquor business, except those persons who make wine from grapes that they had themselves grown, was tabled.

Fifty Killed In Tokio Riots

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 23.—Steamer Iyo has brought fresh reports of the rioting in Tokio. They say the news of the disturbances was closely censored and that 50 persons were killed, several hundred wounded and that the ruin from the fire was great.

Moroccan Program Agreed To

Paris, Sept. 23.—It is officially announced that Dr. Rosen, the new German minister to Morocco, and the French government have reached a complete accord on the program for the Moroccan conference.

May Soon Start For Home

New York, Sept. 23.—The condition of Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, is greatly improved. His physicians hope that he will be able to leave for British Columbia on Sept. 27.

Aunt Maria From Danbury

By EVERETT HOLBROOK

Copyright, 1905, by Charles B. Etherington

IN a letter written to me in the early part of January Cousin Emily first mentioned her husband's aunt, who was coming from Danbury, Conn., to visit them. "Poor Aunt Maria," said she, "must be a typical old maid. Bert tells me that she is very nervous and timid, that she doesn't care to go out to meet people and that she has a positive horror of men. I don't know what I shall do with her."

And, again, a few days later:

"Aunt Maria will arrive about midnight Thursday, all alone, in a cab from the depot. Bert can't meet her, and he won't let me go at such an hour. I don't quite understand why she can't come on an earlier train."

No more could I until the postscript of the letter had conveyed the following hint:

"I looked up the trains from Danbury and found that there was one which would bring Aunt Maria to us in time for dinner. I suggested to Bert that he telegraph about it, and then I learned that it's Danbury, Vt., where Aunt Maria lives and not Danbury, Conn. I suppose she'll be in hysterics when she gets here after riding across the city in the night. I'm going to be very good to her."

It seemed strange that Emily's husband should not meet this timorous maiden aunt and escort her to his home. Although there was a pressure of work in the office of the gigantic corporation which employed him so that he had been detained till past midnight a dozen times since the first of the year—so Emily had informed me—I should have thought he might escape from toil upon an excuse so excellent.

I wasted considerable time in meditating upon this matter, endeavoring to estimate the probability that the neglect of Aunt Maria today implied the neglect of Emily next year. The marriage had been a love match if ever there was one; too hasty, with a previous acquaintance perilously brief, yet not without high purposes of lasting loyalty, and, though Bert was undoubtedly committed to the creed of gain, the modern money hunter is not so bad a husband as his prototype of a generation ago, when pinching self denial was still an acceptable offering to Mammon. Upon the whole, I was inclined to hope for the best and to believe that Bert had valid excuses in the case of Aunt Maria.

My next letter from Emily seemed to support this view, but it raised other questions even more heavily weighted with perplexity.

"I never was more surprised in my life than when I first saw Aunt Maria," she wrote. "She is not the least like my mental picture of her. I had fancied her thin and old and quaint in dress and manner. Why, she's not more than thirty and quite good looking. Her clothes are very simple, but they're nice enough for anybody, and I'll wager they were all made in New York.

"And, oh, it is so strange that she should be so timid and afraid of men! I have never seen a human countenance, of man or woman, so calm and steady and bold as hers. 'Bold' isn't quite the word. It has a false significance when applied to a woman. And yet in its better meaning it applies admirably to Aunt Maria. This woman, with her level brows, her steel gray eyes, her resolute, predatory nose; her straight, firm mouth and strong chin, should be the heroine of some amazonian romance. Well might she be such a heroine, for, with all her strength, she is as feminine as I am. You might have fancied that I was describing a man in woman's clothes, but not at all, my excellent cousin. She is not without the charm of sex. A man might love Aunt Maria and die for her or with her in some great adventure.

"But it's quite true what Bert said of her—that she was tormented by just such fanciful terrors as the comic papers attribute to old maids. She sits in her room with the door locked in the daytime, and when I knock she makes me speak before she will admit me, and strangers so embarrass her that I can hardly persuade her to meet any of my acquaintances who call. I'm afraid she will find it very dull here."

Except for Bert's mother, who came on for the wedding, Aunt Maria was the only member of his family that Emily had ever met, and she was naturally anxious to make a good impression. I understood this perfectly and therefore sympathized with the regret which she expressed in her next letter.

"Aunt Maria doesn't like me a bit. I can't win her over. I can see very clearly that she regards me as a nonentity and wonders why on earth Bert ever married me. She seems to be a woman of considerable means. She has money in stocks, bonds and things and can talk with Bert about subjects that I do not understand. They sit up till 1 o'clock and talk, and I can't keep awake to save my life. So I go to bed about 11 or even earlier, and I think Bert is glad to have me take myself off, because I am such a dummy when it comes to business interests and that sort of stuff. What do I care about the control of the X. Y. Z. railroad or the decision of the supreme court in the case of the Forty Thieves' company? Bert will attend to all those stupid things for me so far as they affect our interests, and I will try to make a cheerful home where he and I may grow rich in sweet memories and in such capital as a human soul may need in the business of being better all the time.

"However, you mustn't think that I am angry with Aunt Maria or in the least bit jealous of her for the influence she exerts over my husband. I like her more than Bert does, if I'm any judge of the matter. He is polite and attentive to her, but she makes him so nervous sometimes that he nearly has a fit. I heard him walking the floor for two hours in his room the other night after he had had one of his long talks with her. I kept going to sleep and waking up again, and Bert would be always tramping up and down. Finally I called to him and asked him what time it was, and he uttered a hollow groan and said it was a quarter of 4. What with Aunt Maria's conversation and the dreadful work in the office Bert is growing thin, and there are dark circles under his eyes. This morning he was looking particularly bad, and I asked him impulsively how long Aunt Maria expected to stay. He suddenly clapped a hand to his forehead and cried out, 'The Lord only knows!' I think perhaps I ought to speak to her about it if I could summon up the courage; but, oh, I am a poor worm of the dust in the presence of Aunt Maria! I always feel as if she were saying to herself when she looks at me: 'What earthly use is this tow headed creature anyhow? Is Albert Stevens a child that he should have a doll?' And yet there is something steadfast about this woman. She would be loyal to the death, I'm sure, and I love loyalty. So I would like to be friends with Aunt Maria, but she won't have it. She has no use for me except that I shall keep our maid on duty in the front hall so that no strange men can get in. Really, she is a perfect crank about men. I'm sure she searches her room thoroughly before she goes to bed and piles furniture against the door to assist the lock. And if she should find an intruder there some day heaven help him! Though he were stained with all the crimes, I think his punishment would go beyond the bounds of justice. A hatpin in the hands of Aunt Maria would be a dreadful weapon, for she is the incarnation of cold precision, and every thrust she gave would touch a vital spot. Speaking of men, I had one here yesterday to fix the kitchen range, and Bert told me that night that I'd better not have any more workmen come while Aunt Maria is with us. So I suppose she must have come upon this man suddenly and have got a scare, though I didn't know about it."

Emily is such an inexperienced child and had fallen so far into the wake of the world before that visit to the city which sealed her fate that I could readily understand her simple view of Aunt Maria. To my eye, however, the lady appeared to be something more than a mere eccentric character and to stand very much in need of a rational explanation. This need became even more pressing after I had made a call upon a friend of mine who hails from Danbury, Vt., and goes there frequently to visit his aged parents. According to this gentleman's report, no such person as Miss Maria Stevens had lived in Danbury within the past twenty years.

I was endeavoring to formulate a course of action suitable to a situation so delicate when I received from Cousin Emily a letter containing an account of a very sensational occurrence in her home, as follows:

"Well, we have had a great time here. I'll just tell you what happened, and then you'll understand—better than I do, probably. In the first place, there was the big storm, a tropical deluge of rain beginning in the middle of a winter's night. I thought that our house would be swept away or melted like sugar, and in the morning I was by no means surprised to learn that the roof had leaked and that the water had run down through the ceiling of Aunt Maria's room. She slept so soundly that she knew nothing about it till morning.

"The garret was a wreck, for the water had played peculiar pranks around one of the chimneys and had washed out a great lot of soot. A river black as the Styx flowed across the floor and emptied itself in a series of graceful waterfalls down the garret stairs.

"Bert had to go straight to the office, and I was left alone to face the situation. I sent the cook into the garret with a mop and dispatched the maid to fetch a carpenter who had done considerable work for us and was such a jovial, harmless fellow that he hardly seemed to fall under the ban imposed because of Aunt Maria's peculiarities. Indeed, I described him to her, and she made no objection to his coming.

"What does the fellow do but bring an assistant, a rat faced creature calculated to excite suspicion even in so trustful a heart as mine. Aunt Maria was in the hall upstairs when the men came, and so soon as her eyes fell upon Mr. Ratty she fled. And here's the amazing part of it: The man ran after her. He chased her through her room and Bert's and mine and out into the hall again. She tried to get down the stairs, but the carpenter and I were in the way, so she could only flee aloft. Up the garret stairs she flew with surprising agility, and Mr. Ratty still pursued her. I could do nothing but scream in a stifled voice, while the stupid carpenter stood petrified.

"At the head of the garret stairs was the cook with her mop. It was soaked with sooty water. Aunt Maria seized it, and as Mr. Ratty came bounding up the stairs she thrust it hard into his face. He fell backward to the bottom, and I thought he must be dead, but he struggled to his feet and then sank slowly down to the floor again and lay still.

"I ran to his assistance, half frightened out of my wits, and my state accounts for my action that has won me so much unmerited praise. The poor fellow had a big envelope clasped in his hand, but the document which it had contained had fallen upon the floor. It looked as if it might be a life insurance policy. That was my insane notion about it, and, thinking that he stood much in need of such a paper at that moment, I carefully thrust it into the bosom of my dress. Then I called to the carpenter, who got his wits at last and helped me carry the man into Bert's room. We laid him on a couch, and presently Aunt Maria looked in at the door and said, 'Is he dead?' hopefully, upon my word. 'He is unconscious,' said I. And at that Aunt Maria came cautiously in and tried to get through to her own room.

SHE DROPPED IT UPON A PARTICULARLY HOT FIRE.

"Instantly Mr. Ratty, who had been shamming, sprang from the couch and leaped toward Aunt Maria, who was neatly trapped in a corner of the room. 'Take this!' he cried and called out some name. He thrust the big envelope toward her and at that moment first perceived that it was empty.

"I never had seen such a dreadful expression of disappointment on any creature. The fact that he looked like one of the lower animals made it the more pathetic. He put a hand to one of his pockets and then rushed out of the room, rightly guessing that he had dropped the paper at the foot of the garret stairs.

"Aunt Maria immediately locked the doors, and when she turned to me I was holding the paper in my hand. Oh, how wonderfully her eyes lighted up! She took the paper from me and dropped it upon a particularly hot fire in the grate. It flamed up and was burned. Aunt Maria distributed the black residue with a poker. Then she turned to me.

"'Forgive me, Mrs. Stevens,' she said. 'I have done you a great injustice. You'll be of use to Mr. Stevens yet. He knew what he was doing when he picked you out.'

"Well, of course I was wholly mystified at the time, but the matter has since been explained to me. Of course the woman wasn't Aunt Maria at all. There isn't any Aunt Maria. Our guest was the private secretary of Schuyler Bodley, the great financier, who is 'the brains of our whole outfit,' as Bert says. There is a lawsuit for millions. I don't understand all the facts or know who is in the right, but it appears that Mr. Bodley made a terrible lot of money by selling some stocks which were not worth anything. And there's another man who had the privilege of selling some, but he didn't do it quickly enough. So he naturally wants Mr. Bodley to divide with him, but Mr. Bodley won't do it. Is that clear?

"Anyhow, the second man wanted to serve a paper on the private secretary, who knows all Mr. Bodley's secrets. And no wonder she takes a serious view of life. The paper would have compelled her to go to court to testify. So she had to hide, and Bert brought her here. The danger is over now, and she has gone to work again and lives at home. But Mr. Bodley is very grateful to Bert and has promoted him, and I have received from a stockbroker whom I never heard of before a certified check for $10,000, with a letter saying that it is the profit on my purchase of something or other that I never dreamed of buying. Bert says I may honestly keep the money, because we all ran a chance of going to jail in this affair, and that's why he didn't tell me in the first place who the woman really was. He wanted to keep me out of trouble if he could. That was very sweet of him, but it's all so strange. I don't think I shall ever come to understand anything about business."

An Inspiration.

The announcement this week that Mr. Robert W. Emmons and his brother Mr. Arthur B. Emmons, have just given $5000 to our Hospital to establish, in memory of their father, "The Nathaniel H. Emmons Memorial Bed" should certainly prove an inspiration to us all.

And the helpfulness of this example is increased when we recall that $5000 was also given in 1891 to establish "The Elizabeth N. Emmons Memorial Bed."

Certainly it is a beautiful thing to found such a memorial, which through all time, shall continue to do its beneficient work.

And now we are to be called upon out of memory, as it were, for our health and our blessings to give what we can for the support of our Hospital.

Surely we will respond gladly.

LOST BUT SEVEN.

Merrymounts Win 17 Out of 24.

Baker Led at the Bat.

Remarkable Record by Kolson in Box.

The Merrymounts played their last game Saturday and closed the season with a record of seventeen victories out of twenty-four games played. This is the third season of the team, and has proved to be a successful one in every way, having won the championship of Quincy and defeated some of the strongest teams in this vicinity.

That the Merrymounts have played teams in their class is shown by the scores, most games having been won or lost by a close margin. The team has been backed in good shape by the people of this city and on an average of five hundred have been at the games to encourage the home team.

The following is a schedule of games played:

May 6, Merrymounts 23, Boston Y. M. C. A. 7.
May 13, Merrymounts 8, Boston Y. M. C. A. 4.
May 20, Merrymounts 17, Boston Unions 16.
May 27, Merrymounts 0, Braintree 5.
May 30, A. M., Merrymounts 14, Atlantic 4.
May 30, P. M., Merrymounts 6, Atlantic 5, (ten innings.)
June 3, Merrymounts 9, New Dorchester 8.
June 10, Merrymounts 8, Deweys 5.
June 17, A. M., Merrymounts 2, Hyde Park 5.
June 17, P. M., Merrymounts 10, Braintree 6.
June 24, Merrymounts 3, South Quincy 2.
July 1, Merrrymounts 4, Quincy 3.
July 4, Merrymounts 3, West Quincy 9.
July 8, Merrymounts 0, Neponset 2.
July 15, Merrymounts 2, West Roxbury 3.
July 22, Merrymounts 5, Boston Unions, 4.
July 29, Merrymounts 9, Deweys 2.
August 5, Merrymounts 4, Quincy 0.
August 12, Merrymounts 3, South Quincy 6.
August 19, Merrymounts 1, Clapp Memorial 5.
August 26, Merrymounts 5, Copelands 3.
September 2, Merrymounts 6, Braintree 3.
September 9, Merrymounts 6, South Quincy 5, (eleven innings.)
September 16, Merrymounts 3, Quincy 1.

The team has been made up of the following players: Kolson pitcher; Drake, catcher; Taylor, captain, 1 base; Cole, 2 base; Atkins ss, and Donaher 3 base, the infield has been practically the same all the season. In the outfield, Baker has covered left, Osgood and Granahan center and Stevens, Bennet, Hoxie and MacFarland right.

The team has done some fine work with the bat and this has been an important factor in winning so many games, the batting averages are as follows:

| Player | Games | Times at Bat | Runs | Hits | Batting Average |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Baker | 22 | 94 | 17 | 34 | .362 |
| Cole | 20 | 81 | 13 | 29 | .358 |
| Taylor | 22 | 87 | 24 | 31 | .356 |
| Donaher | 23 | 103 | 17 | 32 | .308 |
| Bennett | 11 | 47 | 4 | 14 | .298 |
| Granahan | 10 | 44 | 2 | 13 | .295 |
| Atkins | 23 | 85 | 10 | 24 | .282 |
| Drake | 21 | 90 | 13 | 24 | .267 |
| Kolson | 24 | 82 | 15 | 13 | .159 |

Kolson is the only man that has played in every game, and his work as pitcher has been remarkable, as on some of the holidays he pitched two games, and he has also fielded his position in fine shape. Baker has been at the top of the list in the two previous seasons, but Taylor leads in the number of runs scored.

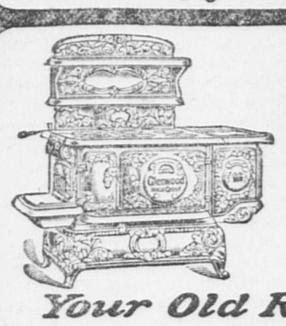

The prospects for next season are very good, and the Merrymounts will probably be represented by a very strong team, and some talk is being made of organizing a league to be called the South shore league, and to consist of Merrymount, So. Quincy, Braintree, Clapp Memorial, Deweys and Union Glee Club. If this is carried through it will boom base ball in this city, and furnish excellent entertainment to the people.

New York Excursion.

The annual New York Excursion via the Boston & Maine R. R., mountain, valley, river and seashore route takes place on October 5th. $5.00 is the round trip rate. You may stop over in Albany one night. You may go down the Hudson by either day or night line steamers. You may stop in New York two days. Return trip from New York to Boston is via the famous Fall River Line. A beautiful illustrated booklet describing the trip in detail and giving all necessary information has recently been issued by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston. Send your name and address and we'll mail one free.

During the four weeks to November, the falling leaves will make electric car rails so slippery that the motormen will find it impossible to run their cars on schedule time. Up to the present date the cars through Braintree have given very good service.

CITY BREVITIES.

Sunday will be rally day with the Quincy Point Sunday school.

The service Sunday evening closes the pastorate of Rev. Leon H. Austin at the Quincy Point church.

Specimens of the ballots to be used at the joint caucuses next Tuesday have been posted by the City Clerk.

Henry Splaine, State Inspector of Factories and Public Buildings, was in the city yesterday making an inspection of City Hall.

A most valuable piece of real estate in Quincy centre has just changed hands. This will doubtless be a tangible gain in every way as it adjoins a very pretty estate and if not built upon may make a breathing space in a somewhat compactly built street.

George Monk of Washington street entertained a party of friends on his power boat, The Jim, Friday, including C. James Connolly of the Adams House and H. J. Butter of the Symphony orchestra, Boston, and Thomas E. Furnald of this city. The party enjoyed smelting the whole catch being 38 dozen.

A football team has been formed at Quincy Point consisting of thirteen boys all of whom are ten years old. Master Alfred Hayden of Washington court is the manager, and he is very anxious to arrange matches with other teams. The playgrounds at the Point make a most convenient place for the games.

—Mayor Collins illustrated in a conspicuous manner many of the qualities which are most essential to good municipal administration. He possessed the willingness to perform hard work and courage in doing what he conceived to be his duty, even at the risk of pursuing an unpopular course. He was thoroughly sane in matters involving large expenditures, and as far removed from the impracticalism of over-sanguine school and park schemers as from the vice of political subserviency. His administration was satisfactory to public spirited citizens of all parties, and his sudden death leaves the city in a most unfortunate predicament.—Brookline Chronicle.

—George von L. Meyer is coming back home, and the reception which is to be given him will be sizable enough to attract attention on all sides. There is no question of the amount of good which he accomplished in helping to prepare the way for the peace negotiation, and the skill with which he handled the case does him great credit.—Practical Politics,

THE REBATE CASE

VOICED BY PRESIDENT TUTTLE OF THE BOSTON AND MAINE.

Existing Law Sufficient to Correct Railway Abuses.

Boston, Sept. 23, 1905.

Railroad men in New England regard the fining of four packers in Chicago for the violation of the anti-rebate law as a complete justification of the position they have maintianed that the present legislation in the matter of railroad rates is amply sufficient to correct abuses if enforced. Commenting on the decision President Lucius Tuttle of the Boston and Maine Railroad says:

"Though I am not familiar with the details of the case, it is evident from the press reports that men whose guilt was proved by their own confession have been easily and speedily punished under the existing law. The confession was that they had conspired to obtain rebates, and whether they did secure them or not I cannot, of course, say. But the point is that the means of reaching offenders against the spirit of the act, even though they do not succeed in their intention, already exists and is effective.

"This simply emphasizes the point that there is already ample provision in the statutes for dealing with abuses if they arise. It bears me out in what I have already said publicly several times. All that is needed is that the present laws shall be enforced, and the less cumbersome the machinery for doing this the more effective and prompt will be the results."

"The law which is sufficient to punish attempts to secure rebates from railways is equally effective against the unfair and illegal use of private cars. The private car is certainly an 'instrumentality of transportation,' and so comes within the control of the law as soon as it is entered for use anywhere on a transportation system, since the Interstate Commerce Commission is given by the statute jurisdiction over all 'instrumentalities of transportation.'"

The position in which President Tuttle says the fining of the beef shippers sustains him, was taken in a speech before the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers last January. At that time he said:

There was a large attendance of citizens last evening at the public hearing, before the Committee on Streets, on the widening and acceptance of Cottage avenue.

"The present laws seem adequate and sufficient, if thoroughly applied, to enable the Interstate Commerce Commission to bring to light, punish and prevent every form of rebating and secret rate giving or taking as rapidly as the cases are brought to its attention, and therefore further legislation upon this branch of the subject seems at present to be unnecessary."

The opinion of New England railroad men in this matter has been supported from the beginning by transportation men all over the country. In his testimony before the Committee on Interstate Commerce of the House of Representatives, in January, President Samuel Spencer of the Southern Railway said:

"I want to say emphatically, for a very large proportion of the railroads of this country—a very much larger proportion than I have any direct right to speak for, but I say it unhesitatingly—that there is no difference of opinion between the railroads, the country, the Congress, and the President on the subject that rebates are wrong; that they must be stopped; that secret and discriminatory devices of all kinds must meet with the same fate, and, to use the President's own expressioe: 'The highways of transportation must be kept open to all upon equal terms.' On that basis the railway companies are ready and anxious to aid and cooperate.

"I might add, while I would not suggest and do not think that any additional legislation is required to strenghten the hands of the Commission in order to proceed against that particular class of abuses, that if such legislation does appear to the country, to your committee, and to Congress to be necessary the railways will certainly stand—and I have no hesitation in saying so—in a position of cooperation and aid toward that end. That particular phase of regulation of railways has already been pronounced by the Commission as fully covered by existing statutes. It becomes a question of the enforcement of the law."

It is the general opinion here that the decision of the court in Chicago will considerably weaken the movement toward government interference in railway management which at one time threatened to disturb New England industrial conditions so seriously.

—The old geographies may have to be discarded, but they will come in right handy for the pressing of autumn leaves.

For the Legislature

AT THE CAUCUS NEXT TUESDAY.

Mr. Sandberg is a man that will represent all the people of Quincy, not corporations only. He is the same Ed. Sandberg after election as before. He came to Quincy at a very young age and has worked himself up to a prominent business man, and always taken an active interest in politics for the good of the Republican party, both in National, State and City affairs. He has been one of the most loyal supporters of the party for which he deserves recognition. Now we ask all fair minded people of Quincy to come forward and support him next TUESDAY at the caucus and you will make no mistake, as the returns will be in your favor.

"Doing Things."

Saying things and doing things are different propositions.

Right in your midst we conduct the finest surburban furniture store in all New England. Not filled with costly fads and fancies but displaying the most delightful assortment of carefully selected furniture that is manufactured today.

It is "DOING THINGS" that makes this business grow. One great help has been a low suburban rent, enabling us to undersell all Boston stores.

We have everything you need for the house and you can make your home attractive with our co-operative system of a little down and a little each week, you'll never miss it.

FUTURE PLANS

And Possibilities of the Women's Club

Means a Larger Social Life.

Useful Work Will from Time to Time be Undertaken.

It seems fitting that previous to its first meeting, some words of explanation should be said with reference to the Quincy Women's club, in order if possible, to remove the misunderstanding which is apparent in many quarters with regard to its future plans and possibilities. On one hand one may hear unmeasured condemnation of the (supposedly) wholly frivolous intention of the organization,—on the other, lamentations at the prospect of its being given over absolutely to gloomy, if instructive, lectures and narrow philanthropic effort.

The simple truth is, that the Quincy Women's club will be neither given over to social affairs, nor is it to be wholly absored in educational and philanthropic work. Like all women's clubs so-called in progressive communities, its programme will include features of various kinds—social, philanthropic, educational, literary and artistic,—all most desirable and necessary.

The need long felt in Quincy for a larger social life will be met by a certain proportion of functions purely social in character, to include teas, entertaining lectures,and musicales--while aside from such definite provision for the social side, the coming together for the regular meeting twice each month of the 300 members must in a general way have social significance as promoting community feeling and good will among women representing all parts of Quincy and widely differing interests, leading to "Sociability" in the largest sense of the word. It seems unnecessary to say that the club includes no dances in its social plan, nor will it provide, restaurant, residential, or reading-room conveniences for its members. These if provided would entail a very large membership fee. A constitution and bylaws on quite different lines from those already adopted, and other club quarters, the Brackett house not having been given to be used for such purposes.

As to the more serious sides of the club programme,—however strongly the social side may appeal to many of its members, it is impossible to believe that 300 women would be willing to expend their time, trouble and money necessary to organize and hold bimonthly meetings without adequate provision for emphasis through lectures and discussions of the larger issues of life and thought, and for the accomplishment through concerted effort of some measure of useful work.

Among the various standing committees are those on Philanthropy and Education, and through these committees —each consisting of some ten or fifteen women—useful work will from time to time be undertaken. The visiting nurse work has already been successfully initiated by the committee on Philanthropy and definite plans are already in hand for other lines of community activity.

It is perfectly possible to devote a certain amount of the energy of the club to serious and practical ends, while keeping the social end likewise in view, and making provision for a suitable number of social gatherings and meetings whose programmes shall be of a recreative charater.

And this mingling of the serious with the recreative in the conduct of the club is not only wise, but necessary —since the house was given by Dr. Brackett for club use only on condition that it should be made a centre for educational and philanthropic work—and only as a centre for such work can it remain free from taxation.

To all those who are distrustful of the future of the Quincy Women's club and doubtful as to the advantages of membership therein, we would recommend holding their doubts and fears in abeyance until after the first meeting, a "House warming" to be held at the Brackett house on Tuesday the 10th of October and the issue of the club programme for the year.

Dear club members and friends, "let Patience have her perfect work!" The organization and getting into running order of a Woman's club is under any circumstances, a large and difficult proposition—and in the case of the Quincy club the renovation and furnishing of a club house at the same time make additional labors and complications.

There is to be no "assessment" to raise money, as has been reported by mischief makers. The club will be in a position to meet all bills for current expenses and for putting the club house in order. The officers are striving faithfully, and at considerable sacrifice of time and personal interests, to make the club an organization that shall in all possible ways—socially, philanthropically, educationally—be a source of pleasure and benefit to its members as individuals, and a power for good in the city of Quincy.

A Member and Well Wisher.

THE REASON WHY

Eugene C. Hultman Should Not be Sent to the Legislature.

I asked a question through the column of your paper and find several replies have been made and some reasons which are not facts have been attributed to my opposition of this candidate. The people of Quincy are well aware that when ORIGINAL grants were made to the street railroads, the BOARD OF ALDERMEN had the right to REVOKE the locations of these tracks that had been granted at the expiration of one year. The people of Quincy are also aware that the street railroads have put through the legislature certain laws whereby the locations of tracks cannot be revoked unless by the order of the railroad commissioners. In othe words, it took away from the local authorities the rights which existed when the locations were issued and placed the authority in other hands than our own local government. There is a special committee appointed by the legislature sitting this summer which still further revised the railroad law which, as writer understands it, is for both steam and electric roads.

I have nothing against Mr. Hultman's integrity, his business ability, or any personal feeling. My worse enemies admit I do not carry any feeling from one political contest to another and some of my best friends that I have in Quincy at present I have opposed politically in years back. I do not believe that any one who is employed by any corporation particularly those whose rights to the street and public service affects our own people, as Street Railways and Steam Railways, should be sent to represent us where the laws governing these corporations are made. I think the people will admit it is particularly hard work for a man to be unbiased in facts of this kind particularly where they are of great importance to the Corporation That Are Paying Him A Salary from which he Derives a livelihood, and for this reason alone, I am strongly opposed to Mr. Houltman's candidacy and feel there are other candidates besides him who, if elected, could serve the interests of the Quincy people better than he could for this one reason alone. C. M. Bryant.

The Women's Club of Pawtucket, R.I. has maintained for the past two years a vacation school and playground, with teachers and a thorough equipment. The city gave a school for the purpose and the girls were taught sewing and cooking. A quilt made during the summer is to be exhibited, and the proceeds will go toward a fund for Christmas work for the children.

Both Sentenced.

In the superior court at Dedham yesterday, Dr. Charles R. Greeley, the East Weymouth dentist who was before the Quincy court charged with a statutory offence, was sentenced to one year in the house of correction, and Mrs. Bertha F. Loud charged with a like offence was sent to Sherborn.

New Voters.

The Registrars of Voters held a busy session last night in the Council Chamber, City Hall. The session was from 7.30 to 9 o'clock and between these hours there was a constant stream of persons who desired to get their names on the voting lists, During the session 77 names were added to the lists, making 110 at the two registrations held since the voting lists were posted.

Copeland Club Ladies' Night.

The Copeland club celebrated their third anniversary by giving an enjoyable ladies' night in St. Mary's hall on Thursday evening. Music for dancing was furnished by Thompson's orchestra.

During an intermission supper was served by Phillips, the caterer, and pleasing solos were rendered by Miss Celina Bellivue and Messrs. Andrew Dinegan, Albert Martell and Luther Nason of the club.

The success of the evening was to a great extent due to the efforts of the club's entertainment committee: Maurice F. Cohen, Joseph J. Flaherty, Alexis R. Elcock, Joseph A. Monahan and Lawrence Duncan.

—The Joy Steamship Company, running between Boston, Providence and New York has issued a very handsome lithographed map showing a bird's eye view of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. The towns, harbors and points of interest are marked in colors, and the irregular coast line is distinctly outlined. As a comprehensive map it is decidedly the best thing of its kind so far issued. A map of New York City, East River and the Hudson is also included. It can be obtained by applying at any of the Company's offices.

REUNION OF 39th.

Dinner at Squantum Inn—J. H. Dusseault New President.

The thirty-ninth annual reunion of the 39th Mass. volunteer infantry association was held Thursday afternoon at the Squantum Inn. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock, following which there was a business session.

President Francis S. Babbett of Taunton presided and these officers were elected:

President, James H. Dusseault.

Vice President, Samuel Hall.

Secretary and Treasurer, Charles H. Porter.

Executive Committee, Edwin Mills, A. P. Barrett and Charles N. Hunt.

Following the business session there were remarks by comrades.

One of the events of interest was the attendance of William G. Dodge, who enlisted at the age of 14 years, and served three years. During his service he was taken prisoner, and was confined nine months in rebel prisons.

One hundred members of the Association were present.

Granite Street Bowling Alleys.

Frank G. Ferris, for the past three years proprietor of the Granite Street Bowling Alleys reopened same this week for the coming winter season. He has conducted a most successful summer season at Nantasket Beach, and judging from the amount of rolling the past three nights, this popular sport has lost none of its old time supporters. Already the popular proprietor has arranged several tournaments and undoubtedly the local team will be seen in the Old Colony Bowling League again this winter.

Two years ago Qnincy finished with first honors, but last seasons hard luck followed them, allowing them to finish in third place. This winter they propose making a grand showing, and the local rooters and fans will be there to help them win.

THE AUXILIARY

Many Ladies Interested in Work of Y. M. C. A.

The Woman's Auxiliary to Y. M. C. A. will hold its first fall meeting Monday afternoon at three o'clock in association hall. Mrs. Sheppard, the president, has enthusiastically prepared an excellent calendar for the coming year and hopes to open the fall work with a large attendance. Every woman in the city who believes in the object for which the association exists, is urged to express her belief by becoming a member of the auxiliary.

The calendar for 1905-1906 is as follows:

September 25,—Rev. A. B. Tyler, Mrs. Carolyn M. Engler of Lynn, Mrs. Julian S. Wadsworth of Brockton, Mrs. E. D. Gourd soprano.

October 16,—Mrs. A. A. Ellsworth, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Alden, Mrs. J. D. Buckingham soprano.

November 20,—A. P. Gillette, Secretary Boston & Maine R. R. Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. G. H. Collyer soprano.

December 18,—Mrs. E. W. Sheppard, Mrs. Henry Tirrell soprano.

January 22,—Mrs. V. E. Miller, R. M. Armstrong of Boston, Mrs. Frank Moore soprano.

February 19,—Mrs. E. C. Burnes, Mrs. W. W. Main of Melrose, Mrs. E. C. Page soprano.

March 19,—H. C. Gibson, Miss Alice Coe contralto.

April 16,—Rev. E. N. Hardy, Mrs. Wilson Marsh, Miss Hazel Mowry soprano.

May 21,—Business meeting.

June 18,—Annual meeting and social.

—Mr. Rockefeller is being quoted in the press this week as having predicted two years hence the greatest labor panic this country has ever seen. If he is a clear-eyed prophet, he will do well to combine with other wealthy men of his like to plan some humanitarian scheme that will obviate the distress and sorrow he so freely and publicly prophesies.—Boston Courier.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

HYDE SYNDICATE

No Records to Show Who the "Associates" Were

THE EQUITABLE SHARED

Had Paid $1,670,000 Into the Syndicate--New York Life Official Describes the Company's Agency System

New York, Sept. 23.—Syndicate operations of the Equitable Life Assurance society were taken up by the insurance investigating committee Friday and consumed the entire afternoon session. Henry R. Winthrop, assistant secretary and finance manager of that society, presented and swore to a record of syndicate participations of his company, also to a record of sales and purchases of securities for the past five years. He detailed as far as he was able the transactions of the syndicate of "J. H. Hyde and Associates."

One of the operations was in Atlantic Coast Line bonds in which "J. H. Hyde and Associates," the Equitable participating as a member, paid $1,376,096 on call and received $114,500 profits. Winthrop said there was nothing on the Equitable books to show who the "associates" were nor what was Hyde's personal profit.

The Equitable participated also in a Union Pacific syndicate in the name of J. H. Hyde, and when asked by what authority the society assumed the responsibility of Hyde's personal operations, Winthrop produced the minutes of the finance committee in July, 1905, showing a written assignment to the company by Hyde of his interest in this syndicate. The society had paid into that syndicate $1,670,000. Much of the information desired in regard to these syndicate operations Winthrop said he would have to look up and supply later.

Before Winthrop was examined, Counsel Hughes read a long letter from Grover Cleveland, who is a trustee for the policyholders in the Equitable society under the Thomas F. Ryan trust agreement. The letter was offered in evidence. Mr. Cleveland detailed the progress of the trustees in mutualizing the company and said: "The obstacles that lie in the path of the proposed mutualization are so inherent that even with the greatest study and care they cannot be easily overcome."

In conclusion Mr. Cleveland said: "In common with all others who desire the best conditions in this important field of business, where people have so much at stake, the trustees acting for the policyholders of the Equitable society will gladly welcome any aid in their work which may result from the labors of your committee."

At the morning session Thomas A. Buckner, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, described the agency system of the company and the method of paying bonuses. A "Nylic" system, inaugurated by this company, separating the agents who create business into grades according to term of service, was explained, and these bonuses, Buckner testified, were charged to renewal premiums. Moneys received by agents from "Nylic," Buckner said, were in addition to the regular agents' commissions.

Mr. Hughes asked for full statements of the business written in the United States and Canada, also separate statements relating to foreign countries, showing premiums and commissions paid, that it might be ascertained how much, if any, the business of the New York Life Insurance company was being extended in the foreign field at the expense of the American policyholder.

The committee adjourned until next Wednesday.

Complaint Against New York Life

Lima, Peru, Sept. 23.—Deputy Broussass called the attention of the chamber of deputies yesterday to a transaction he had had with the New York Life Insurance company. He said that in 15 years he had paid the company $4000 in premiums. but that, on liquidating the policy, he received only $2000. The chamber of deputies has called the attention of the government to the matter.

Widow's Defense For Killing

Springfield, O.. Sept. 23.—Henry Limes, a wealthy stock buyer of Jamestown, was shot and instantly killed by Sarah Richardson, a widow who lives alone near Jamestown. Limes was 50 years of age and had a wife and two children. Mrs. Richardson says that Limes was about to assault her when she shot him through the heart with a revolver.

Jap Commander Tried Suicide

Tokio, Sept. 23.—A special to The Jiji from Sasebo says that Captain Iwichi, commander of the ill-fated Mikasa, made an attempt to commit suicide after an address to the survivors of the warship by jumping from a window. He was severely wounded about the head and is now reported to be in a critical condition.

Extreme Measures, If Necessary

Cleveland, Sept. 23.—Raymond Prefontaine, Canadian minister of marine, who is visiting here, says that Canada is determined to break up the practice of American fishermen poaching in Canadian waters. The minister said that if it was necessary extreme measures would be resorted to.

SCHOLARSHIPS FREE.

The public schools of the city reopened this week, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE."

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

A HUNT FOR ARMS

Results In Bad Political Clash In a Cuban City

A CONGRESSMAN KILLED

Chief of Police and Others Also Laid Out During the Conflict --Troops Sent to Places Where Serious Trouble Is Expected

Havana, Sept. 23.—Official dispatches from Cienfuegos announce the killing of Congressman Villuendas, leader of the Liberal party and the most able orator in the lower house, and the chief of police of Cienfuegos during a conflict between the Liberals and Moderates. It is feared a clash may result between the two political parties.

The government advices say the police had information that within the hotel in which Villuendas resided a quantity of arms had been deposited and they went to the hotel to investigate the matter. As the police ascended the stairs they were met by a party of Liberals who fired on them.

A press dispatch from Cienfuegos says that six persons were killed and 25 wounded during the conflict.

Dispatches to the government say that besides Congressman Villuendas and Chief of Police Iliance, two policemen were killed and a number of policemen and civilians wounded. Rural guards surround the entire block in which the Hotel Suize, the scene of the affray, is situated.

One telegram says that Villuendas fired the shot which killed the chief of police, while, according to another telegram, the shot was fired by Jose Fernandez, a Liberal, who has been arrested.

A search of the hotel revealed two dynamite bombs in the room occupied by Villuendas. The police, in searching the hotel, were carrying out the order of a judge who was informed that explosives were hidden there.

The government has received a telegram from Senator Frias asking it to send reinforcements at once. The telegram says: "While in Cienfuegos at present the forces are keeping order, every precaution is needed, as there is danger of assault. I recommend that the authorities prevent the entrance into Cienfuegos of probable trouble-makers who are liable to invade the city. There are fears of dynamite bomb throwing."

Acting on the advice of Senator Frias, the government last evening sent a train of five cars, loaded with rural guards, the largest number of whom are destined for Cienfuegos, while the others will be distributed in Matanzas and Santa Clara, where advices received by the government indicate serious trouble may occur at any time. The train also carries artillery and the troops are supplied with 13,000 rounds of ammunition.

The feeling in Havana is most intense. The Liberals are bitterly denouncing the government, saying they have received no advices from Cienfuegos because the government will not permit the use of either the government telegraph lines or of the cable lines.

An extra session of the house of representatives was held last night, at which the disturbances at Cienfuegos were discussed.

Extra editions of the Liberal papers place the entire blame for the disturbances upon the government.

The mayor of Havana has issued a proclamation forbidding the carrying of canes or weapons of any kind, with or without licenses, in the vicinity of the polling places during the elections today. An official dispatch says that the mayor of Cienfuegos has issued a similar proclamation and has also prohibited the sale of alcoholic liquors.

General Gomez, governor of Santa Clara province, the Liberal candidate for the presidency, arrived here last night. Gomez said that he came to Havana for the purpose of informing President Palma that he feared the elections in his province would not be fairly conducted, but that after the occurrences at Cienfuegos he would not visit the president. Regarding the rumor that an attempt had been made to assassinate him, the governor declined to say anything.

Congressman Villuendas was 30 years old and had reached the rank of colonel in the Cuban war.

What Quesada Says

Washington, Sept. 23.—Senor Quesada, the Cuban minister, speaking of the trouble at Cienfuegos, said that it was entirely local in character and had no national significance whatever. Cienfuegos is debatable ground, he said, and party strife runs high there.

Trio of Excited Liberals

Havana, Sept. 23.—According to advices received by the government from Santiago de Los Banos, three Liberals entered the Moderate club there, firing revolvers and waving machetes. They were arrested by rural guards after one of them had been wounded.

Much Feeling Against Komura

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 23.—R. Karahria, editor of The Yorodzu of Tokio, a paper which was suspended by the government for publishing cartoons hostile to Baron Komura, has arrived here. The editor is free in saying Komura is liable to assassination when he returns to Tokio.

Should you require Probate Bonds, or Bonds in Insolvency Proceedings, we will provide them on the shortest notice, and without red tape.

We also issue the various Court Bonds used in the collection of debts and the recovery of damages, and, through our agents, will furnish them quickly to responsible parties at any point in the United States.

The fact that many of these bonds involve great risk, forms a strong argument against their being assumed by personal sureties.

THE... PANAMA CANAL

How Uncle Sam Is Tackling the World's Most Gigantic Engineering Feat.

Ten Thousand Men Digging Through a Mountain Range on the Isthmus to Connect Two Mighty Oceans. Largest Force at Work on the Culebra Cut.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific the Canal Will Be Fifty Miles Long and at Least Forty Feet Deep—Many Dams to Be Built and a River's Course May Be Changed.

Sanitary Conditions Being Successfully Mastered—Towns and Cities Properly Sewered. Pure Water Brought From the Mountains—Employees Well Housed and Fed—Suitable Hospitals and Medical Attendance Provided.

By J. A. EDGERTON

THE United States government is doing many big things these days—maintaining the integrity of China, keeping the "open door" in the orient, protecting the smaller republics of the whole western hemisphere and acting as a mediator in securing peace in the far east. But withal she is doing nothing larger than the attempt to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by a waterway through the isthmus of Panama. This is admitted to be the most gigantic engineering feat ever undertaken by man. Longer canals have been made. The Suez ditch, for example. But none of them has presented the difficulties that are encountered at Panama. Digging through a mountain range is a new proposition. De Lesseps was successful in making the Suez waterway. Yet he fell down on Panama. It remains for Uncle Sam to do what France failed to do. Will he succeed? Who, knowing his history and spirit, can doubt it? If faith, grit and determination can overcome the passive resistance of nature he will overcome. He has conquered a continent, won in five wars and for the first time in history has made representative government a shining success. What is the mere constructing of a canal fifty miles long to compare with these larger accomplishments? Of course he will win. The American people are a unit on this undertaking, and when the American people unite opposition might as well get out of the way. This is not boasting; it is simply the will and the consciousness of ability to perform. The Panama canal will be built. The nation is pledged to reach that goal. It has set its hand to the task, and every American should have too much pride in his country to see it fail.

World's Great Highway.

Almost since the discovery of the new world men have dreamed of uniting the two oceans. The scheme was definitely broached in the early part of the sixteenth century. Now, in the beginning of the twentieth, the thing is to be done. A problem large enough to engross the attention of men for 400 years is large enough for a great nation to undertake. A result that will beneficially affect the commerce of the entire earth is sufficiently important that no possible effort should be neglected for its accomplishment. Prophetic minds have foreseen that some day, and no very distant day at that, the greatest civilization the world has known is to fringe the shores of the Pacific. That ocean, rather than the Atlantic, is to be the world's great highway. The Panama canal will be the gate to the Pacific, and with its completion it will open the door to a new era.

These are the larger aspects of the case, and a thing is never really seen until it is seen at its best. It is from this higher viewpoint that the American people should behold the undertaking. The vexatious details of sanitation, engineering, shaping of rivers and digging the waterway must of course be encountered. But these should never obscure from our sight the final goal. This is really a great thing we have set out to do. It will benefit all mankind. It will be a mile post in history. It will make for the future. What are a few comparatively small obstacles that they should stand in the way of this larger good?

Pacific Civilization.

It is not without interest that much of American history for the last decade has had to do with this future Pacific civilization. Our part in the Philippines, in Hawaii, in China, in settling the Russo-Japanese war and in the Panama canal all looks in this direction. The opening of Alaska, the Lewis and Clark exposition, the building up of our Pacific ports, what are all these but parts of the same general scheme? Walt Whitman, with his cosmic vision, saw much of this thing that is now shaping. Perhaps John Hay, with his farsighted statesmanship, had the same object in view. At any rate, it is plainly coming, and in bringing it about no one step will be more important than the construction of the Panama canal.

Passing from the general to the particular, the present status of the work on the canal can be simply told. There are about 10,000 men now employed, most of whom are engaged in the actual digging of the big ditch. The largest force of these is at work on what is known as the Culebra cut, which was started by the French under De Lesseps. This cut is across the mountains, where the largest amount of excavating must be done. The canal crosses the range at its lowest point, but even at this the hills are in the neighborhood of 300 feet above the level of the sea. The French cut down about half of the way, and the Americans have taken up the work where they left off. Now all this may look easy on paper, but that first 150 feet exhausted the French nation—or that and the climate and the grafting altogether did it—and that was the least difficult end of the work. Digging out the bottom of a mountain range is a harder proposition than digging out the top of it, and it is the bottom half of the contract that we have on our hands.

No Time Being Lost.

The sinking of that other 150 feet is not all that will have to be done, however, for the ditch itself must be at least forty feet in depth. This is supposing of course that the canal is to be a sea level affair, a point that is by no means settled. Most of the engineers favor that plan, but congress must make the decision. It is estimated that it would take $80,000,000 more to build a sea level canal than one with locks at the sixty foot level, and it is practically certain that it will not go above the sixty foot level. It will also require at least two years' additional time. The work that is now being done is such that would have to be done whatever the level. Thus no time is being lost, and Uncle Sam can hear the evidence and arguments of the engineers, after which he can render his verdict.

1—HOTEL FOR CANAL WORKMEN. 2—SITE OF ATLANTIC ENTRANCE TO THE CANAL. 3—BLASTING IN THE CULEBRA CUT. 4—CULEBRA HILL, NORTHERN END OF THE CUT.

Many Dams to Be Built.

The cut through the mountains is only a small part of the work. In addition, many dams have to be made, and one river that occasionally goes on a rampage will either have to be domesticated or persuaded to go in some other direction. One proposition is to dig a tunnel through the mountains and make this river run into the other ocean. But, then, turning an adult river from one ocean to another is only a trifling proposition for your Uncle Samuel to tackle. As for the dams, the contemplated one at Bohio is to be abandoned for the simple reason that bedrock is a couple of hundred feet farther down than was imagined, and a dam that is not founded on the eternal rock is like the house built on the sand. It would fall, and great would be the fall of it.

One of the chief difficulties with which the French had to contend was the climate. Panama is hot, malarial, damp, discouraging and generally a tough proposition for civilized white men to run up against. As for the natives, they are used to it, and they are so generally no account that it does not much matter as to them. They are too lazy to dig a ditch even for sewage, much less a ship canal. So it is absolutely necessary for Anglo-Saxons to do the work or at least to oversee it. As before stated, it was the climate and grafting that queered the French. But what is climate to a Yankee? If it does not suit him he makes it over. This is what he has been engaged in doing at Panama. True, the sun is as hot as ever, but it is not the sun that kills. It is the bad water, the unsanitary conditions, the failure to take precautions in safeguarding health. These things the Americans are in a fair way of overcoming. First, they have done what it never seems to occur to a tropical native to do, and that is to provide for proper sewers in the towns and cities; second, they have got pure, fresh water from the mountains; third, they have provided proper rules and regulations for protecting the physical weilbeing of employees; fourth, they have provided suitable hospitals and medical attendance. The result is that the death rate is only an infinitesimal part of what it was under the French regime.

Immense Progress Made.

Another great work done by the American commissions has been in looking after the proper housing and feeding of the men. This has been a gigantic task in itself, but is now well under way. Then there is a railroad to run, which belongs to Uncle Sam, as well as a steamship line from Colon to New York. The railway proper is only about forty-five miles long, but it has numerous spurs and sidetracks amounting to about 200 miles in all.

Then there has been all the French machinery, much of which had been allowed to rust and go to ruin, to renovate or throw into the scrap heap, as the case seemed to warrant. In addition to all of this, there has been an immense amount of surveying to do. All these different departments of the work are organized, and immense progress has been made under each head. Taken all in all, there is nothing discouraging in the situation up to date. The only things that can defeat the work or very materially retard it are red tape and grafting, and the president has shown a very vigorous tendency to discourage both. He seems to think that the only way to dig a canal is to dig it, and as he is the boss of the whole job it may reasonably be expected that the dirt will fly.

About Fifty Miles Long.

The canal winds somewhat and is forty-five miles in length. With the dredging in the sea it will be about fifty miles all told. So far as the plans have been perfected, it will probably be 150 feet wide at the bottom and at least forty feet deep. If built at the sixty foot level several locks will be necessary. If at sea level one lock only will be required. This one lock, which will be near the Pacific entrance, will be for the purpose of shutting out the high tides on the Pacific side, the variation there being twenty feet as against only about four feet on the Atlantic side. The two entrances to the big ditch will be near the cities of Panama and Colon, the termini of the present Panama railway.

As to the time required to complete the undertaking, who can tell? The engineers say eight years for the sixty foot level and ten years for the sea level canal. To do the thing actually may take longer. The American people must make up their minds to see the thing through whatever time is needed. The same holds true as to expense. The engineers have figured on $230,000,000 for a sea level ditch and considerably less for a lock canal. It may be more than that. It is one thing to build on paper and another to build on earth. But the American people have made up their minds to stay by the task regardless of expense—provided always that the money does not go into the capacious pocket of the grafter.

At present we can rest in the assurance that the canal will be constructed. Come what may, Yankee pluck and grit will see the thing through. Faith will remove mountains, and Uncle Sam has faith. Besides, he has dynamite, steam shovels and vim. No dinky little mountain range 300 feet high can stand before a combination like that.

The Order of Goats.

The Independent Order of Goats, a New Jersey fraternal organization which was incorporated recently at the statehouse in Trenton, has its office at Montclair, says a special dispatch to the New York Times. The order is formed for the relief of its members, to pay death benefits and to promote fraternal interests of its members.

New Way to Fight Mosquitoes.

A Memphis (Mo.) man has discovered a new way to get rid of mosquitoes, says the Kansas City Star. He says to rub alum on your face and hands. When the mosquito takes a bite it puckers its buzzer so it can't sting. It sits down in a damp place, tries to dig the pucker loose, catches its death of cold and dies of pneumonia.

HELD IN $5000 BONDS

Plympton's Case Continued at Request of the Government

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 23.—Eben Plympton, the actor, who was arrested on the charge of having assaulted and seriously injured George Martin, was arraigned before Judge Osborne on the charge of assault with intent to murder. He pleaded not guilty and the court granted the government's request for a continuance for one week, to await the outcome of Martin's injuries. Plympton was held in $5000 bonds. Martin is in a critical condition in a Boston hospital.

Harry Blanchard and Wallace Bonney, both of Plymouth, made an official report to the police last evening of the fact that they had been near the Plympton house when the alleged assault was committed. According to Blanchard, the actor and Martin quarreled outside the former's house over the alleged neglect of Martin to convey his host home in a carriage after they had both visited the railroad station. Later both Plympton and Martin went into the house and soon, according to Blanchard's statement, he heard the sound of blows, as if some person were striking another with a club. Next day, Blanchard added, Martin appeared in the roadway with a bandaged head.

Youth Lost His Memory

Brunswick, Me., Sept. 23.—The parents of Ernest Bodwell, aged 19, a medical student of Bowdoin college who has been missing for more than two weeks, have received a letter from him, stating that he is working at Fairhaven, Mass. Young Bodwell said in the letter that until Wednesday night he did not know his own name nor did he have any recollection of anything that had transpired since he left Brunswick. Mrs. Bodwell left last night for Fairhaven to bring her son back to Brunswick. It is the opinion of the boy's parents that overwork has unsettled his mind temporarily.

Trap Not Sprung In Time

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 23.—Two men, whose names are supposed to be Murphy and Beibel, who were collecting sums of money from prominent persons here, claiming that it was for a convention of the American Federation of Labor at New Haven in October, have taken several hundred dollars out of the city. A trap was set to catch the men late yesterday, but they eluded it. It is thought that they have secured over $1000 in Connecticut.

Boy Defended His Mother

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 23.—Edward Manning, who shot his step-father, Patrick McDade, was tried before Judge Smith on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon and held to the grand jury under $500 bonds. In his finding Judge Smith said it was with much reluctance that he was obliged to send the case to the grand jury; that if it came within his jurisdiction he should discharge the boy, as he was defending his mother.

Collins' Family Share Estate

Boston, Sept. 23.—The will of the late Mayor Patrick A. Collins has been filed for probate, but by the request of the family the exact provisions will not be made public. No public bequests were contained in the document. The property is to be divided between the widow and the three children. No inventory was filed, but it is understood that the estate will be from $75,000 to $100,000 in value.

Forgot to Turn Off Gas

Melrose, Mass., Sept. 23.—Miss Mabel Stevens, 20, was found unconscious in a room at a lodging house at 87 Emerson street. Both gas jets in the room were open. Dr. Perley, who was called, ordered the removal of Miss Stevens to a hospital. A short while after her arrival at the hospital she recovered and said that she forgot to put out the gas when retiring.

Ex-Governor Howard Dead

Providence, Sept. 23.—Henry Howard, formerly governor of Rhode Island, and a leading manufacturer, died at his home in Harris last night, aged 78. He was a member of the legislature in 1856 and 1857, and was chosen governor by the Republican party in 1873, serving until 1875. He had been president of several manufacturing concerns.

Longshoreman Strike Averted

Boston, Sept. 23.—The dispute between the officials of the White Star line of steamships in Charlestown and the Boston Longshoremen's council relative to the employment of non-union men for general work on the docks was amicably adjusted yesterday, and the threatened strike has been averted.

Passenger Steamship Competition

Boston, Sept. 23.—The trans-Atlantic passenger service from this port is to be increased by the entry into the field of the Allan line, which heretofore has carried only freight from here. The service will be inaugurated Nov. 14 and there will be fortnightly sailings.

Record Mile Without Pacemaker

Readville, Mass., Sept. 23.—Audubon Boy equalled the world's record for pacing, held by Star Pointer, at the Readville trotting park, travelling the mile in 1:59 1-4. The pacer went the mile alone, the running horse giving out shortly after the start.

Anderson Retains Championship

Hamilton, Mass., Sept. 23.—Will Anderson, who learned golf at North Berwick, Eng., and who played from the Apawamis club of Rye, N. Y., won the open golf championship of America at the Myopia Hunt club for the fourth time in five years.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The next regular meeting of the School Committee will be held in their rooms Tuesday evening.

The Ladies' Social union of the M. E. church, West Quincy, will meet on Wednesday with Mrs. Herbert Doble.

The regular meetings of the Hospital Aid Association will be resumed Thursday, Sept. 28, at 3 P. M. in the chapel of First church, City Square. All women interested are cordially invited.

The fourteenth semi-annual convention of the Norfolk County Association of King's Daughters will be held at East Weymouth Congregational church, October fifth. Lunch will be served by the Entertaining Circle.

Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 the W. C. T. Union will meet with Mrs. Fenton 321 Farrington street. This is the annual meeting all members will endeavor to attend. The program of the afternoon is "What is being done in the City of Quincy for Temperance causes."

On Monday afternoon September 25th the Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., enters upon the season of 1905-1006. The meeting will be held at three o'clock in Association hall, the president, Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard presiding. Rev. A. B. Tyler has charge of the afternoon program and has for speakers Mrs. Carolyn M. Englet of Lynn and Mrs. Julian S. Wadsworth of Brockton. Mrs. Ernest D. Gourd will sing.

Mock Trial.

The Rev. D. M. Wilson and the people of Northfield have been enjoying a little breeze from Quincy. Wednesday of last week Mrs. James Slade called at the parsonage from the hotel across the way, where she was stopping on her way home from a carriage ride with a friend through the White Mountains. She found the minister's family, and all the town indeed, holding high carnival over a mock trail which had been set in motion by Mr. Alexander Fryer of Quincy Point. Mr. Fryer was in Northfield representing the railroads at the summer conferences. He had become the centre of a merry group of young men representing other interests there, and he induced these young men to personate the court at the trial, a dozen young ladies of the town constituting the jury. Besides giving a brilliant entertainment, and having a royal good time, the affair netted a snug little sum for the benefit of the Young People's club. Mr. Fryer returns to Quincy followed by the cordial good will of the Northfield young people—and their elders.

Newbro's Herpicide.

THE ORIGINAL REMEDY THAT "KILLS THE DANDRUFF GERM."

SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Every school child should know that baldness is a contagious disease, caused by a microbe. Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany, discovered that dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair, and final baldness are produced by a germ or microbe that passes from one head to another, where it burrows into the scalp and by multiplying and extending deeper and deeper into the hair follicles, saps the life of the hair root and produces baldness.

IT TAKES YEARS

to produce complete baldness, for the action of the dandruff microbe is not constant in every case. It is governed by predisposition, by the state of health, by environment, but particularly by the endeavor made to combat the growth and development of the dandruff microbes, which can only be destroyed with Newbro's Herpicide.

This new antiseptic scalp germicide is past the experimental stage. It was made to destroy the germ that causes dandruff and falling hair, and by coaxing energy back into the impoverished bulbs, it enables the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly. Thousands of letters from physicians, clergymen and laymen tell the same story of its wonderful success.

AN IDEAL HAIR DRESSING.

It is fortunate for those who understand the new rules for scalp cleanliness that the antiseptic qualities of Newbro's Herpicide make it the most delightful and refreshing hair dressing imaginable. Chronic baldness is incurable; save your hair, while you have hair to save.

RECOMMENDS IT TO FRIENDS.

Herpicide is the most wonderful preparation I have ever heard of. I shall highly recommend it to all my friends.

MRS. MARTHA MAYOR.

IT PREVENTS ITCHING.

I have used Herpicide two years. It prevents itching caused by microbes and dandruff, and keeps the scalp cool and comfortable.

PARK THEATRE.

One of the most sparkling and delightful romantic comedies that it has been the fortune of New England playgoers to witness in many a season is "His Grace de Grammont" in which Otis Skinner has scored such a pronounced triumph at the Park theatre, Boston. The production itself is a magnificent series of pictures, its scenes reflecting all the graceful elegance, colorful charm and rich splendor of the Court of Charles the Second. Seldom, indeed, have the arts of the scene painter, costumer and stage director so brilliantly blended to produce a masterpiece of pictorial loveliness. It is the age of gay cavaliers and amorous court beauties that is here reproduced before the footlights. The dresses of Lady Castlemine, Elizabeth Hamilton and the coquettes of the Stuart reign have become the talk of the fair sex in Boston; while the second act scene of the gardens at Hamilton place deserves praise as one of the most beautiful exterior landscape views ever put into a footlight frame. Otis Skinner has given this play such a notable pictorial setting and mounting, in fitting recognition of the picturesque elements of the comedy itself, which is in Clyde Fitch's cleverest and most fascinating style, and which seeks to convey, above all, the deilghtful charm of court splendor in the days when Charles II was re-enthroned at Whitehall. The main interest of the play, after all, is Mr. Skinner's footlight impersonation of the famous French Chevalier, De Grammont, who was the beau ideal gallant of his time. Mr. Skinner shines resplendent in the graceful polish of the part, while his love scenes with the Beautiful Hamilton are among the most charming that even this expert stage lover has ever achieved. Its Boston engagement will continue only until October 9, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

ASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The attraction at the Castle Square next week, following the highly successful appearances of Miss Mary Lawton in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" during the present week, will be the popular romantic drama, "Under the Red Robe." Ever since its production some eight or ten years ago, "Under the Red Robe" has proved itself one of the most popular of romantic plays. It is a dramatization of Stanley Weyman's novel of the same name, and tells an entertaining and fascinating story of life during the most picturesque period of French history. Selected by the Boston Stage Society for the coming week's attraction at the Castle Square theatre, it will be given there for the first time in over three years, and it is certain of a hearty reception by the patrons of that playhouse.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Another big program, fully as strong as that of the current week, is announced from Keith's for the week of Sept. 25. Lasky's military octette, will be the headline feature of the program. A military fantasy in three scenes is presented introducing the octette playing on various musical instruments, and the octette is under the leadership of one of the young women. Included in the surrounding show are the Five Pirossoffis, direct from the music halls of Europe; Lee Harrison monologue and storyteller; Clekko and Fravoli, operatic singers in high class selections; Clifford and Burke, blackface comedians and singers; Jack and Gilda Cannon comedians and parody singers; Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne will be seen in one of their most popular rural comedies. The kinetograph will show the usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The disposition of Manager Morison of the Empire theatre to afford its patrons a pleasing variety of attractions is shown in the announcement of William Gillette's farce comedy "All the Comforts of Home" as next week's attraction at this popular play house. The newly organized Empire stock company has already proven a well equipped organization for such classes of dramatic work and further evidences of the ability of its members will undoubtedly be shown in the coming production. Mr. Gillett's comedy enjoyed great favor with Boston audiences when it was first given in this city a long time ago and its revival a half dozen years ago proved that its humor was as amusing as ever.

BOSTON THEATRE.

A theatrical event of more than passing interest and a genuine treat for all who appreciate good, wholesome comedy, are assured in the appearance at the Boston Theatre next Monday evening of Mr. Thomas Jefferson as the vagabond Rip in "Rip Van Winkle." It is eight years or more since the younger Jefferson essayed the role made famous by his illustrious father, and he has been touring the South and West at the head of his own company ever since, winning fresh laurels on each successive engagement. The play itself is one that never seems to grow old. Rip, with his good-natured vagaries, has furnished food for laughter to several generations of playgoers. Mr. Jefferson has a strong supporting company and promises that the play will be more elaborately and artistically staged than ever before. Associated with him in the case, which is undoubtedly the strongest ever seen in "Rip Van Winkle," are Frank C. Bangs, Russell Bassett, Malcolm Duncan, Earl Western, Waltars S. Howard, Carl Kettler, Dudley McCann, Robert Brown. Ethel Fuller, Loretta Francis, Meta Greene and Viola and Leoni Flugrath. The Boston Theatre engagement is limited to two weeks.

Jeremiah Donovan was arraigned for assault on Officer Boutin at Quincy. Case continued until Sept. 29.

Thomas M. Deneill was fined $10 for drunkenness at Randolph.

The continued case of Mary Tarrant for larceny from John J. Kerrigan at Quincy was called and she was discharged.

Religious Education.

On Monday evening, September 25 there will be an interesting meeting in the Parish House of Christ Church. The purpose of the meeting is to bring together the officers and teachers of the Sunday-school and the parents of the school. During the past three years there has been so much said and written on the need of religious education that the Sunday-school has been roused to new methods with which the parents are not familiar. At Christ Church the school has been graded, and all scholars placed in a definite line of promotion; written examinations are given regularly and reports sent to parents. It is for the purpose of securing the intelligent cooperation of the parents in this work that the meeting is held.

Among the speakers will be the Rev. Carleton P. Mills, Field Secretary of the Sunday school Union of the Diocese of Massachusetts, Rev. William E. Gardner, rector of Christ church and Mr. William L. Thomas, Superintendent of the Sunday school. During the evening, Mrs. Frank J. Moore, soprano soloist, will sing. All interested in the subject of religious education will be welcomed at this meeting.

POLICE BAFFLED

Mystery of the Dress Suit Case Still Unsolved

NO NEARER A SOLUTION

Vigilant Search For the Missing Head, Arms and Legs--Efforts to Locate Boston Doctor and Wife Who Have Disappeared

Boston, Sept. 25.—Three days' continuous investigation by the police of the state, of Boston and of Winthrop, reinforced by a score of volunteer searchers, has failed to unravel the puzzling mystery of the dress suit case, which was taken from the waters of Winthrop cove last Thursday and which contained the nude and dismembered body of an unknown woman.

The police acknowledge the present futility of their efforts and the result of the investigation thus far has merely been the fruitless conclusion of several clues, which, when presented, seemed of the utmost importance and hopefulness.

Thus far every clue run down, and there have been many, has failed to throw the faintest light on the strange crime, and the police apparently know no more of the perpetrator or of the victim than they did on the night the dismembered body was found.

The search for the missing head, arms and legs of the woman is being carried on with unremitting vigilance. This inquiry has been confined to Winthrop and adjacent waters by the police, but yachtsmen and boatmen throughout the entire waters of Boston harbor and beach resorts have been on the lookout. Medical Examiner Harris has expressed the opinion that these may be revealed this week by the action of the tides, assuming that they too were thrown into the water.

While the police have not abandoned the theory that the suit case may have been thrown into the water from a rowboat, they are also devoting attention to the possibility of its having been cast from a train on the Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn railroad, which skirts Winthrop cove. The currents at the most convenient point would naturally bring a bundle thus thrown from a passing train round to the float of the Winthrop Yacht club. Inquiry among the conductors and brakemen of the railroad, however, fail to help the police in this direction, although they have also been informed that a West End physician was seen to take one of the trains last Thursday.

The physician in question has been missing from his lodgings for over a week and his wife has also disappeared. They are known to have quarreled. A witness has been located who states that he heard this doctor ask for the loan of a strap, as the lock of his dress suit case would not hold. Other neighbors assert that the missing doctor on several occasions threatened his wife's life and gossip among them connects the two with the dress suit mystery.

The police have found satisfactory information concerning two missing young women, whose cases, because of certain resembling features, had become associated with the mystery. The two young women in question have been located. The clue, which for the moment led the police to believe something tangible had been discovered of the man with an olive green dress suit case rowing away from an East Boston wharf on the day of the ghastly find has also been exploded. The police claim to have located this man, who happened to own a dark green bag which he used to carry provisions to a yacht.

Despite all these discouraging features, the lack of developments and the apparently impenetrable wall confronting them the police are unrelaxing in their efforts.

It is to the dress suit case that the police just now are looking for guidance. They have learned that it was manufactured by E. J. Cummings & Son of this city, probably not less than four years ago. Mr. Cummings, the head of the firm, has identified the case, and has also informed the police that it had been repaired and probably by a harness maker. On the case has been discerned the figure "8," which Cummings states was not on it when sold from his establishment, and it is probably the identifying mark of an expressman. The police are now endeavoring to locate a harness maker and expressman, in this way to find its owner.

A Boy's Terrible Fall

Boston, Sept. 25.—In attempting to jump from the roof of one five-story tenement to another, across a five-foot space, Albert Wyman, 9 years old, fell to the ground and was killed. The lad's mother came to this city from Worcester a week ago.

Million Dollar Fire at Butte

Butte, Mont., Sept. 25.—Fire which caused a loss of $1,000,000 consumed the entire business portion of Butte on the south side of West Park street and half destroyed the public library. The fire started in the four-story Symons store.

Sweden Grants Norway Liberty

Karlstad, Sept. 25.—After protracted sessions extending over some weeks, the Norwegian and Swedish delegates have arrived at an agreement on all points for separation. The terms are not made public.

Think Francis Is Cornered

Bridgewater, Mass., Sept. 25.—Minot Francis, the insane mulatto who escaped from the state farm here a week ago, is still at large, although the local authorities believe that he has taken refuge in the thick undergrowth of a swamp to the west of this town. The place will be kept surrounded with the hope that hunger will drive Francis to surrender.

Engineer Lost a Foot

Bradford, Vt., Sept. 25.—An express train on the Boston and Maine railroad struck the engine of a freight train standing on a siding too close to the main line here. Fred F. Harvey, engineer of the freight, who was oiling his locomotive at the time, lost his left foot. No one else was injured. Harvey's engine was badly damaged.

Run Down and Killed by Cycle

Boston, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Melissa Needham of this city was fatally injured while crossing Columbia road by a motor tandem cycle. The cyclists attempted to avoid the collision, but failed. Mrs. Needham was thrown heavily to the ground and died in a short time.

Turned on Gas and Died

Claremont, N. H., Sept. 25.—Wallace M. Leet, a traveling salesman for a Cincinnati liquor firm and well known throughout New England, committed suicide at Hotel Claremont by gas asphyxiation. He arrived at the hotel Saturday evening and appeared despondent.

Plympton Out on Bail

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 25.—Eben Plympton, the actor, who was arrested on the charge of assault with intent to kill on George Martin, and who has been confined in Plymouth jail since his arrest, was released on $5000 bail Sunday. Assurity was furnished by George F. Monahan and Max Fischacher, both of Boston. After leaving the jail Plympton went to Boston with his bondsmen.

Winning Eight-Hour Fight

Indianapolis, Sept. 25.—A bulletin issued from the office of the International Typographical union shows that 224 subordinate unions are now working on an eight-hour basis or have arranged to do so not later than Jan. 1, 1906. Since Sept. 8 such agreements have been signed in 66 cities.

Captain's Mind Was Deranged

Atlanta, Sept. 25.—Captain G. M. C. Godfrey, assistant surgeon, U. S. A., stationed at Fort McPherson, committed suicide by shooting at his residence at the post. Godfrey was 35 years of age and a graduate of West Point. The act is attributed to temporary mental aberration.

Chinese Diplomat Promoted

Washington, Sept. 25.—Wang Tai Shei, first secretary of the Chinese legation, has been designated as Chinese minister to the court of Great Britain. The Chinese minister made a formal announcement of the appointment to the state department today.

For Representative.

JOHN O. HALL.

Ex-Mayor Hall should receive the votes of the Republicans of Quincy in sufficient numbers to secure him the nomination at the caucuses on Tuesday, Sept. 25.

He has been for many years a resident of the city and active in all matters connected with the welfare of her citizens.

He has been an efficient and faithful public official and his faith in her prospernus future and his ability to work for her interests and to fitly represent her on all occasions, should entitle him to the hearty support of all Republicans.

Dr. Sheahan's Funeral.

When the funeral procession of Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan left St. John's church for the cemetery on Saturday the hearse was preceded by the white horse and buggy used so many years by the doctor in his errands of mercy. The horse was led by his coachman Michael Tulley.

When the hearse reached a point opposite St. Mary's church, it was stopped while the church choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Graces from My Jesus Flowing."

At the grave Rev. J. J. Coan, in compliance with a request made by Dr. Sheahan read the 57th psalm.

—The circumstance that every dollar in the country is being fully employed at present is of course due to our great national prosperity and to the fact that business men are everywhere making preparations for an increase of this prosperity when the magnificent results of the season's crops are transferred in the form of cash to producers' hands. Few persons whose judgment is worth having are found willing to deny that the general financial and business outlook in our country at the moment is extremely favorable and that the only visible sources of danger to it are the excesses of speculation. We have gathered the second largest wheat crop in our history and, owing to the failure in great degree of all the leading Russian grain crops and to the underharvests, as a rule, throughout Europe, the foreign demand for our foodstuffs this year must, it seems, heavily exceed that of seasons immediately preceding and be such as to increase the price of the American staples. Our corn crop, because it enters into so many diverse uses on the farms, is properly considered our most important article of agricultural production. This year we have the biggest corn crop on record.—Banker and Tradesman.

—Hereafter there are likely to be fewer automobilists arrested on the Blue Hills parkway says the Milton Record, for the speed limit was increased this week by the Metropolitan Park commissioners. Ever since automobiles have been permitted to use the park roads the limit on Blue Hills parkway, as on the other parkways and the reservation roads, has been ten miles an hour. The fact that this rate was strictly enforced caused much trouble to the autoists who were accustomed to travel on Blue Hill avenue at fifteen miles an hour, and on the Milton highways at about the same rate. The new limit on the parkway is fifteen miles an hour, which is the same as that permitted on the town roads except in the thickly settled sections.

JULIUS CAESAR.

Interesting Lecture Before the Shakespeare Club.

The Shakespeare club of Atlantic is to be congratulated upon the delightful meeting which it offered Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23.

The Congregational church was filled with members of the club and friends, many of whom were from Quincy, who realized a long anticipated pleasure when, at three o'clock, the President, Mrs. Williams Ward Whitcher, introduced Prof. Edward Howard Griggs who delivered a lecture upon the play of "Julius Cæsar."

Prof. Griggs gave in his opening remarks a vivid picture of the events which form a background for the play. Rome had expanded her power until she was the centre of the world.

The Patricians and Plebeians had appropriated all the wealth and honors of the state;—this was a class which was apparently neglected and despised by the social system, and in the conflict induced by these differing elements, civil war was the result. The dissolution of the Republic was at hand. The real struggle, was the contest between the republican and the monarchical principles.

Shakespeare saw the grandeur of the crisis, and made it the theme of "Julius Cæsar." He treated it as no other poet would have treated it, because he perceived the exact relations of the principle contended for, to the future history of mankind.

His real catastrophe was not the death of Cæsar; it was the death of the Roman republic at Philippi.

The lecturer went on to say that none of Shakespeare's characters require more careful study than Brutus and Cassius. The one, acting upon speculative opinion regardless of, or not seeing, the inevitable consequences to follow. The other, the man of action who precipitates and denounces. Brutus is a high-minded philosopher, Cassius a ward politician.

These distinctions of characters are clearly brought out in the first great scene between them, and upon these distinctions, future events mainly depend. In speaking of the character of Cæsar, as drawn by Shakespeare, the lecturer said that the dramatists art is so subtle that many students have asserted that it represented the great dictator in a false light. He, however, believed Shakespeare to be wholly right.

In the period of the action of the play, Cæsar possessed the reality of power, but had not the kingly title, the visible symbol of power.

The ambition to possess this is one of the ruling motives of the play. The poet, while interpreting the historian, shows in Cæsar the inward workings of "the covetous desire he had to be called King" as Plutarch says:

While giving this partial, and inadequate resume of Prof. Griggs' remarks, it is not possible to reproduce his charm of manner, his vivid descriptive power, his keen analysis of plot, and character, his illuminating criticism.

All these made the play seem a new thing. One felt like going home and immediately re-reading it, in the light shed upon it,—which the writer really did do.

It is greatly to be hoped that there may be an opportunity for Quincy people to hear Prof. Griggs in the near future.

Mrs. Williams Ward Whitcher, president of the Shakespeare club worked hard for the success of the lecture and was ably assisted by a committee from the club, among them: Mrs. Theodore Parker, Mrs. Henry W. Read, Mrs. Charles R. Safford, Mrs. Elbridge G. Dunn, Mrs. William F. Cummings and Mrs. Frank L. Pearson, also Miss Emma King and Miss Mabel Read.

There were a list of fifteen patronesses and about two hundred subscribers.

Association Football.

Quincys were defeated in the league game played at Methuen on Saturday last, by a score of three goals to two. The playing of both teams was very good; Quincy having all the hard luck in failing to score.

The game was protested by the Quincys on account of one of the Methuen players wearing spike shoes. The protest will be acted on at the next meeting of the Merrimac Valley League Executive. The Quincy Reserves won from Everett by a score of six goals to four, at the Ward Three playground; both teams played a fast game throughout. The Everetts should be complimented on their aggressiveness in the face of defeat. Thomas Raleigh refereed the game with his usual impartiality. The game at Methuen was refereed by Connors of Andover.

T. J. Collins, the local Globe correspondent, has returned from a two weeks' vacation.

Caucuses Tomorrow.

Republican caucuses will be held everywhere throughout the state tomorrow; and in places where the Luce law has been adopted joint caucuses of the Republicans and Democrats will be held.

In the majority of places delegations to the several conventions will go unpledged, and as there are but few contests among the delegations, it will not be difficult to forcast the result, especially in this city.

For lieutenant-governor indications point strongly to the success of Eben S. Draper.

Locally the chief interest centres in the representative contest. There are six candidates, only two of which can be nominated.

The situation is an unusual one and the result is hard to forecast. At the present time Quincy is one district and entitled to two representatives. It would seem that the time was ripe for Quincy to be divided into two districts and when the matter of redistricting comes before the legislature next winter Quincy representatives should see to it that it is done. It would simplify matters and save a deal of expense.

Wards one, two and three should be one district and wards four, five and six the other. If divided in this manner each district would contain about the same number of voters.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Rev. Warren S. Perkins, the new pastor of the Universalist church in this city, preached a very interesting discourse yesterday upon "The Brotherhood of Man." It was so ably presented that it would entertain most any person religiously inclined.

POLES IN A RIOT

Created Lively Rumpus at the Doors of Their Church

A ROW OVER COLLECTORS

Rival Factions Dispersed Only After Police Drew Revolvers and Wielded Clubs--Stones For Guardians of the Peace

Adams, Mass., Sept. 25.—A long-standing disagreement between 300 parishioners of St. Stanislaus (Polish) church and the pastor, Rev. M. F. Kopythiewicz, culminated yesterday in a riot at the church doors. Stones were thrown and the police were obliged to draw their revolvers before peace was restored.

The dissatisfied parishioners marched to the church in a body and attempted to displace the regular collectors with collectors of their own. Chief of Police Curran and several officers were present in anticipation of trouble, and were forced to draw their clubs in their efforts to disperse the crowd.

The parishioners met the police by throwing stones, and two of the officers were struck. The police then drew their revolvers and overawed the crowd, which retired a short distance. The officers made six arrests, and while taking their prisoners to the police station the crowd went back and entered the church. The officers returned shortly with reinforcements, and by a liberal use of their clubs drove the invading parishioners from the building. In spite of the intense excitement Rev. Father Kopythiewicz continued the service without interruption.

The trouble in the church first came to the surface several weeks ago. It involved the financial accounts of the parish, including the special collections which are being taken for the new church building now nearly completed.

The dissatisfied element at that time appointed collectors of their own to take the places of the men appointed by the pastor, and had made their contributions to them.

Yesterday's trouble was foreshadowed by an assault on one of the regular collectors in the church at the early mass. The officers who were hit by stones were not injured.

Attempt to Destroy Notables

Pekin, Sept. 25.—At the Pekin railway station, as a train carrying one of the four missions ordered abroad to study political methods was leaving, a bomb was exploded inside a private car, killing four minor officials and wounding over 20 other persons. The wounded include Prince Tsai Tche, who heads the most important of the missions, and Wu Ting Fang, former minister to the United States, both of whom received slight injuries. The perpetrator of the outrage was blown to pieces.

Train Wrecked--Engineer Killed

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 25.—An Erie train was wrecked in a collision with an engine about a quarter of a mile east of Susquehanna, Pa., last night. Both engines were turned on their backs beneath a coal pocket. The collision was caused by an engine from the coal pocket making an attempt to cross the main line. The engineer of the wrecked train was killed and an Erie detective was fatally injured.

France Wants Taigny Recognized

Caracas, Sept. 25.—The French government has asked the Venezuelan government to reconsider its last note.

The note referred to in the above dispatch was issued Sept. 20 by the Venezuelan government, and said the government would abstain from treating with the French government through M. Taigny, its charge of affairs at Caracas.

WORKING ON MESSAGE

President Already Has Material For Its Construction

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 25.—President Roosevelt will complete his summer sojourn at Sagamore Hill and return to Washington next Saturday. The president is devoting considerable time each day now to work on his annual message to congress. For some time he has been assembling data for the message, but since the adjournment of the peace conference he has been writing the data into definite form.

Three topics, highly important at this time to the American people, will be discussed by the president in his message. They are the federal regulation and supervision of life insurance; the relations between this country and Venezuela, and America's interest in the fiscal affairs of the government of Santo Domingo. Other important subjects naturally will be considered, among them the scandals disclosed in the departments of agriculture and the interior, the work of the department of justice in the beef trust cases, the regulation of railroad freight rates, the progress made in the construction of the Panama canal and the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan.

Much of the material for the discussion of these subjects President Roosevelt now has in hand, and the last days of his stay at Sagamore Hill are being devoted to the preparation of the part of his message which will deal with them.

Jail-Breaking Scheme Miscarried

Somerville, N. J., Sept. 25.—An attempt was made last night, for the second time in a few weeks, to release the prisoners in the county jail here. A charge of dynamite was exploded on a window sill, blowing a hole in the wall, through which two prisoners were about to crawl when they were frightened back by a shot fired by an outside watchman. All the prisoners in the jail were promptly secured in cells.

Cannot Form Hungarian Cabinet

Vienna, Sept. 25.—Count Cziraky, who was appointed by Emperor Francis Joseph to negotiate with the leaders of the coalition parties in the Hungarian diet, with a view to the formation of a Hungarian cabinet, has failed in his efforts. The situation is now worse than ever. Considerable excitement prevails in political circles.

Had Escaped From Asylum

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Emma Ivon, who escaped from the state hospital for the insane two months ago, was captured here last night as she was alighting from an electric car. She struggled with the officers, but was soon quieted. The woman says she has been in Lawrence, Mass., since her escape.

Miss Roosevelt at Sunday Games

Seoul, Sept. 25.—Miss Alice Roosevelt and party yesterday attended the athletic sports of Japanese schoolboys. The party was received by the Japanese educational committee. The visit is largely losing an official character and the party will spend some time at picnicking and riding in the hills of Seoul and vicinity.

Army of Half Million Trained Men

London, Sept. 25.—The correspondent of The Morning Post at Shanghai says that in the reorganization of the Chinese army the empire will be divided into 20 military districts. All the men will be enlisted for nine years. By 1910 China expects to have 500,000 trained men ready for service in the field.

Strengthening Finnish Garrisons

Helsingfors, Sept. 25.—Large forces of troops have already been drafted into Finland. Over 1200 men arrived at Helsingfors yesterday to reinforce the garrison of Sveaborg, which is adjacent to Helsingfors, and garrisons at other points have also been reinforced by between 700 and 1000 men.

Far Eastern Fleets to Meet

London, Sept. 25.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that the British Far Eastern squadron will assemble in Tokio bay early in October, after the ratification of the Russo-Japanese peace treaty, and that the Japanese fleet will also assemble at the same place.

Platt Resorts to Invalid's Chair

Kansas City, Sept. 25.—Senator T. C. Platt of New York arrived in Kansas City yesterday from Denver in his private car and left for the east last night. Notwithstanding his denial of reports about his health, the senator was wheeled about in his car in an invalid's chair.

Ohio Furnishes Strongest Middy

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 25.—General strength tests which have been applied by the naval authorities of the naval academy to the 230 midshipmen show that C. F. Chambers of Stubenville, O., is the strongest member of the class, his total strength being represented by 1106 kilos.

Thirsted For Sight of Gore

Nimes, France, Sept. 25.—Twelve thousand spectators of a bull fight here broke up the chairs, other seats and the boxes and set fire to the barriers surrounding the arena because the matadors refused to kill another bull as an encore after they had dispatched five.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Sept. 26.
Sun rises—5:36; sets—5:36.
Moon rises—2:36 a. m.
High water—8:45 a. m.; 9 p. m.

Fair weather is indicated for New England. It will be colder in western New England.

VOTE FOR

EDWARD J. SANDBERG

For the Legislature

AT THE CAUCUS NEXT TUESDAY.

Mr. Sandberg is a man that will represent all the people of Quincy, not corporations only. He is the same Ed. Sandberg after election as before. He came to Quincy at a very young age and has worked himself up to a prominent business man, and always taken an active interest in politics for the good of the Republican party, both in National, State and City affairs. He has been one of the most loyal supporters of the party for which he deserves recognition. Now we ask all fair minded people of Quincy to come forward and support him next TUESDAY at the caucus and you will make no mistake, as the returns will be in your favor.

CITY BREVITIES.

VAST NAVAL BASE

Great Britain Is to Establish One at Singapore

THE PACIFIC'S GATEWAY

Its Strategic Value, Coupled With Recent Alliance, Gives England and Japan Whip-Hand In Far Eastern Matters

London, Sept. 25.—The fact that the British government proposes to establish a vast naval base at Singapore, which was announced by The Sunday Observer with the suggestion that this was the first tangible result of the new Anglo-Japanese alliance and the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese war, affords the newspapers an opportunity for discussing a subject which was passed without much notice at the time the decision of the government to use Singapore as a base was first announced some time ago, when Admiral Fisher outlined the naval reorganization plan.

The newspapers now point out the tremendous strategic value of Singapore as guarding the gateway to the Pacific and, when open to Japan's war vessels, as giving Great Britain and Japan the whip-hand over the other European countries where the Far East is concerned.

Some of today's papers are inclined to dwell upon this phase of the acquirement of Singapore as though just at this time it were a demonstration of power by Great Britain. But the government's intention to purchase the docks at Singapore has been an open secret for many months and, according to a good authority, the British government is simply facing the result of the new strategic situation in the Far East and providing her navy with convenient docks at Singapore, which is the centre of the Far East.

The Japanese alliance permitted the withdrawal of five battleships from the China seas, and there is no intention in times of peace to dispatch any battleship to the Far East. The three cruiser groups—the China, the East Indies and the Australian squadrons—will remain as before.

Meanwhile the extensive docks of the Tanjong Pagar company will be purchased at a price to be fixed by the arbitrators now in the Far East, of which board Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is the umpire, and Great Britain will have one of the finest naval bases in the world and one which, in the event of war, would be of the highest strategic value.

Bald Eagle Put Up a Fight

Vallsburg, N. J., Sept. 25.—A bald eagle, measuring 5½ feet from tip to tip of the wings, was killed here by Felix and Edwin Bitters, aged respectively 12 and 13 years. The boys were crossing the fields with their dog a short distance from their home when the eagle swooped down on the dog and attempted to carry it off. Edwin ran to the rescue and seized the eagle by the neck. The bird fought desperately, tearing the lad's clothing into tatters with its talons, but he held it fast until his brother killed it with a baseball bat.

Poor People Lose a Friend

London, Sept. 25.—Thousands of persons in the East End visited the People's church, Whitechapel, where the body of Dr. Thomas J. Barnardo, the philanthropist, who died last Wednesday, is lying in state until the funeral takes place. Two memorial services were held during Sunday and were largely attended by poor children. At the conclusion of the evening service it is estimated that 4000 persons filed past the coffin.

Cains Killed by Falls

Newton, Mass., Sept. 25.—Martin F. Cain, 50 years old, while working on a staging at the Firth house at Chestnut Hill, fell 10 feet and died from concussion of the brain. He was the third of a family of three brothers to meet death while working at roofing, Frank Cain dying from injuries received in a fall a week ago, and James Cain dying from results of a fall from a church in Newton.

Motorman Killed in Crash

Albany, Sept. 25.—One motorman was instantly killed and the other escaped death by jumping when two trolley cars met in a head-on collision near Nassau. The dead motorman, Thomas Loftus, was in charge of the south-bound train. It carried no passengers and no one else was injured. The north-bound train consisted of a milk car. The accident is attributed to mistaking orders.

Misery Piles Upon Misery

Rome, Sept. 25.—Another cyclone has caused enormous damage in Calabria. A gradual clearance of the buildings ruined by the recent earthquakes shows that the number of persons to perish was greater than given in the first estimates. Large numbers of bodies are being discovered daily. According to statistics, 20,000 cattle perished during the earthquakes.

Effort to Check Enmity

Baku, Sept. 25.—A conference of representatives of the Armenians and Tartars has decided to summon a general congress, representing the inhabitants of the Caucasus, to meet for the purpose of considering the causes of the enmity existing between the Tartars and Armenians and to take measures for checking the same.

Schiff May Be Called to Explain

New York, Sept. 25.—Reports have it that Jacob H. Schiff, head of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., will be exhaustively examined by the insurance investigation committee about an alleged purchase from his firm by the Equitable Life of $2,000,000 of Union Pacific preferred stock. It is claimed that this stock is not carried in the name of the Equitable, but is held by clerks in the employ of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; that these clerks' names are recorded on the books of the Union Pacific as the owners and that dividend checks are made payable to them, which are then transmitted to the Equitable Life.

A Contract Labor Sensation

New York, Sept. 25.—After eight months of careful preparation the United States district attorney of this district will, according to reliable authority, cause the arrest of 11 heads of tile manufacturing and contracting concerns of this city on warrants charging them with having conspired to violate the contract labor law by the importation of foreign workmen. The penalty of conviction is a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than two years.

Brutality of "White Ribboners"

Williamstown, W. Va., Sept. 25.—Breaking into the city jail here, an armed and masked mob of "White Ribboners" took out Moses Lovern, a negro, serving 60 days for assaulting James Butcher. Lovern and Thomas Blackburn, the only other prisoner, were rowed across the river in a boat, and, upon landing, the mob beat, whipped and stoned Lovern until he was unconscious. Both prisoners were returned to the jail. Lovern will die.

Electrics In Rear-End Collision

Providence, Sept. 25.—Alleged failure of the car brakes to work was the cause of a rear-end collision between two electric cars at Cranston last night, in which Motorman Tierney and four passengers were slightly injured. The forward car had slowed down, when the second car got beyond Tierney's control and crashed into the first car. The passengers in the first car escaped unhurt.

On Voyage to Great Beyond

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 25.—William H. Thompson, a retired sea captain, who is said to have navigated the first vessel that carried gold seekers around Cape Horn to California in 1849, died at the home of his daughter here. Captain Thompson was born in 1815.

Belgian Won Golden Bowl Race

Paris, Sept. 25.—Vanderstuyft, the Belgian, won the golden bowl in the bicycle race of 24 hours here, covering 574 miles, 26 yards, 2 feet. Nat Butler, the American, was third, covering 532 miles, 30 yards and 1 foot.

KEPT AFLOAT BY CARGO

Schooner Loaded With Lumber Badly Damaged by Steamer

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Sept. 25.—Schooner Viola, from St. John for New York with a cargo of lumber, was worked into the harbor here in a water-logged condition, the vessel having been cut down by steamer Indian. The steamer stood by the damaged craft for three hours and proceeded to Boston. It is not known here what damage, if any, the Indian sustained.

The steamer was on her way from Philadelphia to Boston. When off East Chop, Vineyard sound, at 9 o'clock at night, the steamer suddenly crashed into the Viola. A great hole was torn in the port side of the schooner and the water which poured into the opening filled the hold within a few minutes. The port side between the fore and main rigging was torn away to a point below the waterline, and the hull was badly damaged.

The schooner's cargo of lumber kept her from sinking. The Indian stayed by the disabled craft until after midnight. The captain of the Indian did not consider it advisable to take the schooner in tow, as he feared that she would capsize.

Hungarians In Serious Fight

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 25.—The bitter feeling between two cliques in the Hungarian colony in this city culminated about midnight last night with a murderous assault by one party upon the other, which resulted in the arrest of six men and the fatal injury of one of the men attacked. Steven Riko has a terrible bullet wound in his abdomen and death is expected at any moment. His friend, Steven Dempk, also was shot, and received a blow over the head which knocked him unconscious, but his injuries are not considered fatal. Charles Barto and five of his friends are held under heavy bonds pending the result of Riko's injuries. Barto admits that he shot, but says that it was "in self-defense."

Three Friends Die Same Way

Derby, Conn., Sept. 25.—For 20 years Dr. Thomas J. O'Sullivan, Edward J. Condon and Peter Reilly were fast and inseparable friends, politically and otherwise, and for that period were recognized Democratic leaders. Five years ago Sullivan fell a victim to cancer and died. Last year Condon likewise died from a cancer. Now the same disease has proved fatal to Reilly. O'Sullivan was operated on in St. Vincent's hospital, New York; Condon in St. Vincent's hospital, Boston, and Reilly in St. Vincent's hospital, Bridgeport. The three men were all born in 1850.

Bullet For Store Manager

Providence, Sept. 25.—Samuel Steiner, superintendent of the Manufacturers' Outlet company, owners of a department store, who was shot Saturday night, is resting comfortably and the chances favor his recovery. Surgeons located the bullet beneath the right shoulder blade. Steiner was shot while intercepting a young man suspected of stealing from the store. Frederick Balcom will be arraigned on the charge of committing an assault with a dangerous weapon.

Women Autoists Hurt

Boston, Sept. 25.—Traveling at a high rate of speed, two large touring cars met in a head-on collision while rounding a curve in the Back Bay fens last night, and Mrs. N. E. Bynner and Miss Lydia E. Price were seriously injured and both machines were wrecked. Mrs. Bynner is one of the best known women automobilists in the country, and was operating her own car. Miss Price was in the car with her brother, Bliss A. Price.

Fatal Fall of Doctor

West Ossipee, N. H., Sept. 25.—Dr. James R. Chadwick of Boston, a lecturer at Harvard college, was found dead just outside his summer residence at Chocurua by one of his servants. It is supposed that he fell from the piazza roof some time during the night. The doctor was dressed only in his night clothing. Coroner Hodsdon, who held an inquest, gave the opinion that death was the result of accident.

☞ Eyeglasses fitted scientifically. No guess work.—Williams.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Ratcliffe of Newton Center visited relatives in this city last week.

Walter E. Simmons, Jr., and family, of Wollaston, have returned from Plymouth, Mass.

Raymond W. Parlin of Winthrop avenue, who has been ill with tonsilitis, is slowly improving.

Miss Sadie Waters of Everett was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilscher of Beacon street over Sunday.

Miss Emma D. Conklin of Coddington street left Friday for a ten days' visit with relatives at Fall River.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gleason, of Independence avenue, are enjoying two weeks at their former home at Canaan, Maine.

H. E. Hardwick has closed his summer cottage at Kenberma, and with his family returned today to his home on Revere road.

Mrs. Lucy J. Marsh and daughter accompanied by Mrs. Bush leave Tuesday with horse and carriage for a drive to Bradford, N. H.

Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield will commence her season's matinee whist at her home on Granite street, on Wednesday afternoon.

The monthly missionary meeting of the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostom's church will be held Wednesday afternoon in the parish rooms.

The first meeting of the Sunshine club of St. Chrysostom's church for this season will be held tomorrow afternoon at four in the parish rooms.

Mrs. William A. Field has returned from a four months' visit with her daughter Louise, at their summer cottage at Peaks Island, Portland, Maine.

Charles A. Howland of Adams street, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Francis H. Lister and two children, sailed on Thursday of last week for Europe.

George Waters returned Sunday to his home on Beacon street much improved in health after a two weeks' visit with his daughter, Mrs. Belle Hallett of Everett.

The flower scheme at First church Sunday was a beautiful one, as the brilliant, late flowering scarlet salvia, known as Mexican sage, gave a mass of color in front of the pulpit. Upon either side in contrast to the marble tablets, were pale yellow and white wild multiflora, giving a fine relief to the red of the pulpit. Purple asters also added to the effect.

The residence of L. J. Myers is being newly painted.

Allen Goss of Stoughton spent Sunday at Quincy.

Henry P. Kittredge has returned from a trip to Halifax.

James M. Coe of New York city is visiting relatives in this city.

The hearty wishes of the people go with Rev. and Mrs. Leon H. Austin into a wider field of duty.

There will be no meeting of the City Council tonight. The regular meeting will come next week Monday.

The Quincy Odd Fellows, who were in attendance at the Sovereign grand lodge meeting in Philadelphia, have returned.

There will be a regular meeting of the vestry of St. Chrysostom's church next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the choir room.

James N. Nowland, master of the Adams and Cranch school buildings, is confined to his home on Whitney road with a fever, but is not dangerously ill.

The Wollaston Unity club will hold its first meeting this season on the second Friday in October. The Unitarian club will meet the second Tuesday of next month.

The letter carriers went out heavily loaded this morning. In addition to the magazines and other matter that comes at this time they carried a large amount of political mail.

The rubbish heap in the rear of the Hancock house took fire Sunday afternoon and before it was extinguished it did considerable damage to a team that was near the fire. Officer Crooker and others extinguished the blaze without an alarm.

The Washington street Congregational church was crowded at both services on Sunday. The evening service was held in the auditorium, at the close of which the Lord's supper was served. This was an unusually solemn occasion as it was the last service which the pastor and people would hold together.

The open land extending from Faxon to Saville avenue not built upon, suggests a snug nest surrounded by high hedges like the one in front of a pretty little place on Wibird street, thus insuring absolute privacy in the midst of busy and rapidly growing city. The possibilities of esthetic improvements in Quincy, are great, the probabilities, alas from various reasons are small, yet a united effort for the best citizenship can help the best ideal growth.

He Was Properly Impressed.

Mr. Good—Well, Bobby, how was school today? Did anything make an impression on you?

Bobby—Well, I should say so. The teacher caught me throwing paper wads, and she took a whip and made about a dozen impressions, I guess.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Protest.

The Captain (to pitcher)—See here! Yer've give sixteen men bases on balls dis innin'! Wot d'yer think dis is—a six day walkin' match?—New York World.

Indolent Rossini.

Rossini was one of the most indolent men that ever lived, yet he wrote operas against time, as it were. "The Barber of Seville," for instance, was written and mounted in less than a month, which fact gave rise to Donizetti's cogent witticism. Upon being told that Rossini had finished his opera in thirteen days Donizetti replied: "It is very possible. He is so lazy!"

The Cares of a Home.

"Dear me," said young Mrs. Hunnimune, "I must see our grocer right away."

"What for?" asked her husband.

"I have some instructions to give him. I want to tell him to make our coffee a little stronger and our butter a little weaker."

Foot Ball League.

The Fore Rivers had the new Lawrence club at Ward 2 play grounds on Saturday, and won comfortably, the opposition being too weak to stretch the League Champions. The champs are getting into their stride again. The new players Bob Lewis and Jack Nattall, showing up finely. Harry Artis, the popular left backer, was resting owing to a slight injury received last week, but will resume his place next Saturday when the team goes to Lynn. The "Iron Workers" team will be selected from the following: Lynch, McGregor, Artis, Connor, Lyons, McDivett, Forsyth, McDonald, Connolly, Lewis, Nattall, Fletcher, McIlvane.

Association Foot Ball.

McDonald's resolutes met the Everett F. C. in a game of foot ball on the Ward Three playground. The visitors made a grand break in the first half but the home team tired them out with their clever play. The tricky work of Hall, Quin and Cameron was brilliant. White in goal saved some ticklers. Line up: White, goal; Killorain, r.b.; Gileson, l.b.; Hall, c.h.; Logan, c.h.; Eaner, l.h.; Adams and Cameron, r.w.; Quin, c.; Johnstone and Duffer, l.w.; Resolutes 6, Everett 4; referee, T. Raleigh; linesmen, McDonald and Achroyd.

The Savings of Years

[Original.]

Among the Scotch-Irish of the Cumberland mountains dwelt Owen McCoy, who was considered miserly. The imputation was scarcely deserved. McCoy had been left by the death of his wife with a son five years old, and, dreading that at his own death the boy would be left in the impoverished condition common among the poor mountain whites, saved for him everything that was not necessary for their maintenance. The boy Donald grew up to be a manly fellow. Then his father became ambitious for him and desired that at his marriage he should choose a wife who would add to the little heap in the tin box. But the son, with the perversity of youth, who will not accept the experience of older people, upset his father's calculations by falling in love with Tristicia Fielding, who had neither dowry nor prospect of dowry. One day Owen McCoy walked past the little patch of ground which was all the Fieldings possessed and saw Tristicia hanging up clothes in the yard. He called to her and she came to the fence.

"You uns air a good gal, Tristicia," he said, "and I don't reckon you uns calc'late to stan' in anybody's way. I be'n savin' fo' my boy Donald ever sence he war a leetle shaver, but it's only enough fo' he uns. As I said befo', you uns is a good gal, Tristicia, an' I'm goin' to ask you uns to let up on Donald."

Tristicia stood with her arms bared to the elbow, leaning on the snake fence, peering at vacancy. Then without an answer she turned away and continued her work. McCoy learned of her decision through his son, who told him that she had broken with him for no good and sufficient reason.

No one knew of the sacrifice Tristicia had made or the effort it cost her. One evening she was sitting on a ledge of rock overhanging the mountain torrent near her house when she heard footsteps coming on the road behind her and then voices. The first voice she recognized as that of Hiram Clusky, a good for nothing. All she heard as they passed was, "Tin box full of it," "McCoy," and "I'll take the front while you uns git inter the cabin rear."

These scraps of conversation were enough to convince Tristicia that McCoy was to be attacked and relieved of his savings. The men were evidently going by the road. As soon as they were out of hearing Tristicia sprang up and ran as fast as she could to her yard and through the orchard and potato patch to McCoy's back door. It was dark within, and she tapped on the window. The elder McCoy asked what was wanted.

"Git up, Mr. McCoy, quick! Clusky 'n' 'nother un's comin' t' rob you uns. Git you uns' gun. Git Donald up with his'n!"

"Donald ain't hyer. Reckon Clusky knowed it. I'll slip on my clo'se 'n' let you uns in."

Within a minute he opened the door and, taking down his rifle from the wall, gave it to Tristicia. Then, taking his own from a corner, he asked her if she would do her part.

"Reckon if I had Donald's I might shoot somepin."

McCoy gave her the gun she wanted, and it seemed to put nerve into her. "I'm goin' to shoot fo' the money you uns be'n savin' fo' Donald," she said. Then she told him that he was to be taken in front and rear, so he stationed her in rear, while he took the front.

In the wild region they occupied, especially at the time, the mountaineers were prepared for attack and there were cracks in the plaster between the logs to be used as loopholes. McCoy took one loophole and Tristicia another. They waited about ten minutes, when McCoy saw the two men walk by scrutinizing the cabin. Then they walked back and Clusky turned in to the door while the other man went round to the back. Clusky called to McCoy to get up, as he was wanted by a sick man to go for a doctor. McCoy answered with a rifle bullet which sent his enemy limping away. At the same time Tristicia saw the man in the rear running toward the back door. She drew a bead on him as well as she could in the dim light and fired. The man gave a yell and fell back. Clusky, hearing the shot and the yell, limped to the back of the house, and Tristicia saw him supporting his comrade away. Then when the stillness was restored she fainted.

Two days after the defense of the McCoy cabin Tristicia was in the orchard gathering apples. Suddenly she felt two arms around her in a tight clasp. Her first thought was that one of the men who had tried to rob McCoy had grappled her. She was about to collapse when she heard a familiar voice say "Tishie, darlin'," and the eyes that had often looked love into hers were looking into them again, their love light intensified. Donald McCoy was holding her and, taking her chin in his hand, pulled it round where he could kiss her lips.

"That war a big job you uns done, sweetheart," he said. "You uns purty nigh killed a robber, an' yo' tuk the 'ramrod' outen dad at the same time. He tole me what he said to you uns about me, an' I reckon 'twar that made yo' fire me. Dad he says now he won't have no one but you uns fo' a da'ter an' he's lookin' fo'wa'd to the day when you uns 'll come to ou' cabin an' we'll have a gal in it t keep it from bein' lonesome. I tol him you uns 'd be thar to keep him from gittin' killed an' me from losin' what he's been so long savin' fo' me."

Her eyes were bent, her cheeks were like the apples hanging highest where they could best catch the sun.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

Vol. 17. No. 224. QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1905. PRICE TWO CENTS.

To the Republican Voters of Massachusetts

It is clearly evident that the voters of Massachusetts as a whole, without respect to Party, believe it to be for the welfare of the State that measures should be taken to promote closer and more liberal trade relations with foreign countries, and especially with Canada and Newfoundland. It is also evident that this can be accomplished only through a revision of the tariff, a policy favored by the President and by a majority of the representatives in Congress from the State of Massachusetts. The extreme protectionist interests have so far influenced the "Machine" of the Republican Party of this State that it does not intend to have expression given to this sentiment, but instead to suppress at the coming Republican Convention any genuine declaration in favor of what is generally understood to be "Tariff Revision," and to nominate one or more candidates hostile to that policy.

In the careful canvass made in 1904, 60,000 Republicans of Massachusetts declared themselves in favor of Reciprocity, hoping by this method to secure enlarged trade relations with our near neighbors. The strength of this desire was then recognized by the Republican politicians, and a plank was inserted in the platform in harmony therewith.

The same desirable result can be readily obtained at the next Republican State Convention if the 60,000 Republicans of this State who favored this trade movement in 1904, and other Republicans whose views are in harmony therewith, will join the Republican members of the Massachusetts Committee of One Hundred on Reciprocal Trade in their request for the adoption of a plank expressive of Massachusetts business opinion in the platform by the next Republican State Convention; doing this by signing the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement, and either sending it directly to the Secretary of the Committee or handing it to some person authorized to collect the same.

If those whose opinions are in harmony with the ideas expressed will act as above indicated, there will be hereafter no question as to what the views of the State of Massachusetts are on this important question, while the realization of this change will be of great industrial advantage to New England and the whole country.

COUPON.

The undersigned, a Republican voter in Massachusetts, petitions the Republican State Convention to insert in the platform that it adopts the following plank as expressive of the sentiments of the Republican voters of this State; and to nominate men for office whose views are in harmony therewith:

"We demand that hides, coal, iron ore, lumber and wood pulp be placed by Congress on the free list, and that duties upon manufactured and other articles be reduced wherever existing duties are higher than are needed for any just purpose of protection."

WIFE GONE.

Also $140 in Cash and Valuables.

And Two Star Boarders.

Husband Is Employed at the Shipyard.

When Joe Nash of East Howard street returned from his work at the Fore River shipyard on Monday he found no dinner awaiting him, and, further, his wife was missing. Two of his boarders who answer to the name of Mike and Tony were also absent.

Investigation showed that a small iron safe, in which Nash kept his valuables, had been smashed, and that $140 in money, a gold watch chain, and two gold rings had been taken from it.

When he reported the matter to the police he told them that his four year old son had been left behind.

The boy says the two boarders smashed the safe, and that his mother went off with them.

It was later learned that the trio had left the house about 10 o'clock, and Lieut. McKay has learned that they, with two trunks, took a train for Boston from the Quincy Adams station at one o'clock.

FALL OUTING.

The Regent of Adams Chapter Entertains at Seashore.

Mrs. N. V. Titus, regent of Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, entertained the members at her home at Squantum on Monday. Besides Adams Chapter there were also present members of the Massachusetts Society of the Daughters of 1812.

While a short business meeting of the 1812 society was held, members of Adams chapter met at the summer cottage near the shore and enjoyed a social time, while others walked along the shore and enjoyed the scenery.

Between one and two o'clock steamed clams, corn and hot coffee were served by the hostess, supplemented by the box lunch which each member carried. The table was spread in the sunshine, sheltered from the fresh north wind by a tall hedge. The repast was much enjoyed, especially the clams, it taking a good supply to meet the demands of appetites made keen by the sea breezes.

The four o'clock car carried the party from Squantum to Atlantic where they separated for their various homes.

THE AUXILIARY

Novel Plan Adopted for Raising Funds This Year.

The first meeting of the season of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. was held Monday afternoon at three o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building, eighty ladies being present.

Mrs. Sheppard, the president, opened the meeting with pleasant words of welcome.

The devotional exercises were in charge of Secretary Gay, followed by a solo very sweetly rendered by Mrs. E. D. Gourd.

The treasurer reported that the Auxiliary had paid over in the past year for Y. M. C. A. work $1,306.81.

A very novel and practical plan of earning money for the work, was presented by Mrs. Carolyn M. Engler of Lynn, which the Auxiliary voted to adopt.

Mrs. Julian S. Wadsworth of Brockton read an exceedingly interesting paper on "What the Auxiliary is, should be, and can be." A paper which was considered one of the best presented at the Y. M. C. A., conference last year.

After a second solo by Mrs. Gourd, the meeting adjourned to the parlors, where tea was served and a social hour enjoyed.

High School Plans.

Commissioner of Public Works Burke has secured several sets of plans for the enlargement of the High school. They will probably be presented to the School Committee before the meeting tonight for approval.

VALUABLE ASSET

People Should Urge Mr. Freeman to Serve Again.

Editors of the Quincy Daily Ledger:

It has been suggested in the Ledger that because Mr. Freeman has been in the Legislature three years he should now step aside for a new man. This argument is clearly against the best interests of the city, and it seems to me that it is the very reason why the people of Quincy should urge Mr. Freeman to serve again.

As a member of the Sewerage board I learned to know the value to the city of having experienced, influential and loyal representatives at the State House. The Quincy sewer department still has important matters pending there. Mr. Freeman understands them and would continue to work for the best interests of the city. His experience and influence are a valuable asset which the people of Quincy would be foolish to throw away. A. F. Schenkelberger.

For Representative

JOHN O. HALL.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Ex-Mayor Hall should receive the votes of the Republicans of Quincy in sufficient numbers to secure him the nomination at the caucuses on Tuesday, Sept. 25.

He has been for many years a resident of the city and active in all matters connected with the welfare of her citizens.

He has been an efficient and faithful public official and his faith in her prosperous future and his ability to work for her interests and to fitly represent her on all occasions, should entitle him to the hearty support of all Republicans.

LAW VIOLATED

Democrats Not Properly Represented Among Election Officers.

There is considerable kicking on the part of the Democrats over the appointment of election officers and there are rumors that the matter will be taken to the Ballot Commissioners.

According to the law the election officers must be equally divided between the Republicans and Democrats. The claim made is that a number of those who have been appointed as Democratic election officers are registered under the Luce law as Republicans.

Last year was the first year under the Luce law, and it is a well known fact that at the Municipal caucuses many so called Democrats voted the Republican ticket and are therefore registered as Republicans.

Those who are interested in the matter say that these people having been appointed as election officers does not give the Democratic party the representation as election supervisors as required by law.

Sentenced at Dedham.

John Hill of New York who attempted to break and enter the store of Henry P. Kittredge, was sentenced at Dedham on Monday to 10 months in the house of correction.

Edward Murray and James E. Kerr, breaking and entering and larceny of dynamite at Quincy and Milton, to the Massachusetts Reformatory at Concord.

James Allen and William F. Brown, breaking and entering, 15 months each in the house of correction.

Frank Bennett, Boston, breaking and entering, two years in the house of correction.

James Michaels and Henry Harris, New York, attempted larceny, six months each in the house of correction.

James Allsopp, breaking and entering, two years in the house of correction.

LATE RETURNS.

Expected from the Caucuses Tonight.

Six Republicans All Confident.

That They Will Be Nominees For Representatives.

Joint caucuses are being held in all wards of the City today. The polls opened at 12 o'clock noon and will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight.

Full lists of delegates have been filed by both the Republican and Democratic parties, for all the conventions.

Outside of the contest for Representatives among the Republicans there is but one contest. That is the state delegation in Ward Three. The ward is entitled to two delegates and there are four names on the official ballot, viz: William T. Spargo, Alex. Falconer John C. Murray and Walter E. Piper.

There was a contest in Ward Five over the same delegation but one of the candidates withdrew his name so that there is now no contest there.

There is no contest among the Democrats for any office.

The Socialists not having polled the necessary number of votes at the last State election to be recognized as a party there is no ballot for them.

Under the Luce law a voter who attends the caucus today must vote the same party ticket that he did at the caucuses last year, unless he was foresighted enough last June to have his party preference changed. As far as known however no voter did this.

When a voter approaches the voting booth today he will be asked which party ballot he desires. As soon as he states his preference the caucus officer will consult the list and if it shows that he voted with the same party last year he will be given a ballot and he may pass within the rail. If the list, however, shows that he voted another party ticket last year his ballot will be refused and he will have the alternative of voting with the same party as a year ago or not at all.

All six candidates for the Republican nomination for Representative have a large force of runners out, and every effort is being made to get out a large vote. Carriages are in use in every ward of the city and no voter need walk to the polls if he desires to ride. Some of the more enthusiastic candidates have hired automobiles to take voters to the polls, and if one does not care for a hack he can have an automobile, although if he rides in an auto it will naturally be supposed that he will vote favorable to the gentleman who is paying for the auto.

As a large vote is expected, it will be 11 o'clock and after before the result is known.

Just who will win out is hard to foretell. All of the candidates feel quite certain that they will win, but it is self evident that some one must get left. The campaign on the whole has been a very clean one.

Lloy—Taylor.

At Medford, Sept. 18, Miss Bessie Bella Taylor, daughter of William Taylor of Quincy, was united in marriage to Alexander McNab Lloy, son of Alexander Lloy of Medford.

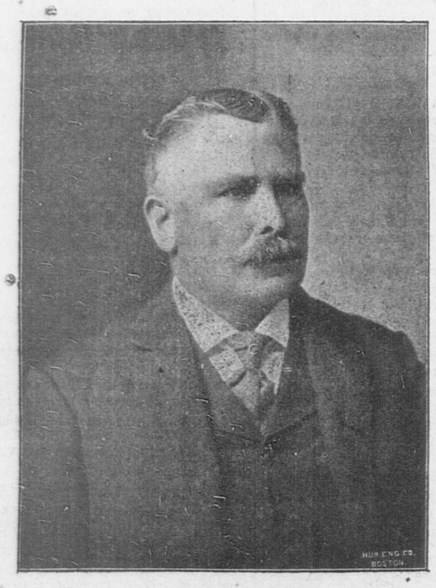

The ceremony was performed at the home of his brother at 87 Brookings street, by Rev. Edgar C. Bridgham, pastor of the First M. E. church. The best man was Allen Drew, of Chester avenue, and the bridesmaid was Ethel Sawlor, also of Chester avenue. S. R. Lloy and C. B. Southerland, both of Roxbury, were the ushers. The bride was charmingly clad in white silk with lace trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses. The bridesmaid wore white dotted muslin and carried pink roses. The wedding march was finely rendered by Bertha Lloy, a sister of the groom. A reception took place after the ceremony. The newly married couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. S. R. Lloy and Mrs. T. Sawlor.

Amid showers of rice and confetti the happy couple left on the midnight train for New York where they will spend a brief honeymoon. They will be at home on and after the first of October, at 87 Brookings street.

Councilmen Sent to Jail

Omaha, Sept. 26.—Five city councilmen have been sentenced to 30 days in jail and to pay the costs of an injunction suit. These five men were enjoined by Judge Sutton from passing an ordinance entering into an agreement with the Omaha Gas company for the extension of a gas franchise. They were served with the injunction of the court, but passed the ordinance the following day. They were cited for contempt and were given the sentence mentioned.

Five Killed in Railroad Wreck

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—A rear-end collision between a New York limited express from St. Louis and a local passenger train which was standing at the Paoli station of the Pennsylvania railroad resulted in the death of five men and the injuring of more than 20 others. All those who met death were in the private car of General Manager Atterbury, which was attached to the rear of the local train.

A PROMISING CLUE

Dress Suit Case In Winthrop Mystery Is Identified

OWNED BY PHYSICIAN

Known to Police, but He Has Disappeared From Boston--Package of Woman's Bloody Garments Found on the Beach

Boston, Sept. 26.—The features of Monday's investigation of the Winthrop dress suit mystery were the finding of a bundle containing several woman's garments and blood-stained clothes, and the identification of the dress suit case in which was found the dismembered body of a woman near the float of the Winthrop Yacht club. While the police appear to be more or less sceptical concerning the value of these discoveries, they are, nevertheless, working along the lines suggested by them.

The bundle was found by searchers lying on the shore of the Winthrop peninsula near that part known as Cottage Park, about a mile and a half from the point where the dress suit case was found. In the bundle, which was enclosed with strong Manila wrapping paper, were a woman's undervest, a towel, the part of a shirt, some absorbent cotton, and several pieces of cheese-cloth, blood-stained. On the wrapping paper was a label with this address: "R. O. Burnham, 2 Dalton street, City,—from Salter Silk company, 125 Kingston street, Boston."

Shortly after midnight Captain Dugan, Officer Grady of the state force, Inspector Douglas of Winthrop and Boston Inspectors Burke and Conboy arrived at Mrs. Burnham's home in Dorchester.

She had retired, but came down and admitted the officers. There was a conference which lasted about a half hour.

Mrs. Burnham was shown the wrapping paper which bore her name. "It covered a package sent to me by express last week," she said.

"What disposition did you make of the paper?" she was asked.

Mrs. Burnham explained that she was the proprietor of a small dry goods store at 2 Dalton street, and that the package came to that address.

"I think that I threw the paper in the ash barrel back of the store," she replied. Mrs. Burnham was unable to fix the date on which she threw the paper into the barrel.

The clue to which the police are devoting close attention is the identification of the dress suit case, which is alleged to have been the property of a missing West End physician. Two persons, both having acquaintance with the physician, one a former employe, the other a former landlady, have expressed the belief that the dress suit case in the possession of the police had belonged to the doctor. Both are very positive in their statements, particularly the former office boy. The landlady said that when she last saw it, some weeks ago, the handle was loose. This is corroborative of the police contention that the handle had recently been repaired.

The report of Medical Examiner Harris to the effect that the dismembering of the body and the operation performed on the woman were the work of a skilled surgeon and the allegations of two witnesses that the dress suit case was the property of a physician have led the police to redouble their efforts to locate the missing doctor. The police know the wanted man, but have not divulged his name and have instructed the witnesses to keep silence.

The physician in question is not registered as such in this state and is liable to arrest on such a charge. He is a foreigner and has resided in other cities of this country before coming here.

Search for the missing members of the unknown body is being rigorously maintained. The police are, however, satisfied that the head, arms and legs were not placed in any of the sewers, inasmuch as they would probably have reached the main pumping station Sunday at the latest.

In connection with the mending of the dress suit case, the local police have been informed that John Weeks, a harness maker of Camden, Me., about three weeks ago repaired a dress suit case, similar in description to the Winthrop one, for a young woman.

An Inhuman Mother

Richmond, Sept. 26.—Jimmie Epps, 8 years old, and his mother are in jail at Williamsburg, charged with the killing of the boy's 6-year-old sister, Matilda. The boy admits having beaten his sister with a brick, but insists that he acted at the instigation of his mother, who, he says, also beat the child.

KARLSTAD DEAL

Is Accepted With Satisfaction by People of Sweden

NORWAY NOT SO PLEASED

Agreement Calls For Compulsory Arbitration, Outside Certain Points, Before The Hague Court--New Forts Must Go

Stockholm, Sept. 26.—Almost without a dissentient voice, the people of Sweden, so far as can be judged by the opinions of the press here and elsewhere, accept with satisfaction the terms of the agreement between Sweden and Norway reached at Karlstad. The general opinion is voiced by The Social Demokraten, which in its leading editorial this morning says:

"Our principal objects, arbitration and the demolition of the frontier fortifications, having been attained, we trust that everybody in both countries will recognize that the two Scandinavian peoples mutually need each other's friendship and that the agreement will bring more happiness to both."

In an interview, Premier Lundeberg, who was one of the Swedish commissioners at Karlstad, said:

"I am satisfied that the result of the conference will be satisfactory to Sweden as, with certain modifications, we gained almost everything asked for by the riksdag. The result also ought to be satisfactory to Norway, as she gained the assurance of that independent position which has been the goal of all the efforts of the Norwegians. The concessions made by the Norwegian delegates at Karlstad were necessary in order to secure this result. Considering everything, and in the interests of peace, it is to be hoped that the preliminary treaty will be ratified by both parliaments."

Expressions of pleasure are heard everywhere because both sides have recognized the humanitarian principle of permitting the Laplanders to enjoy the privileges of pasturage for their reindeer undisturbed. This is particularly pleasing to the Swedes from a sentimental standpoint, as the rights of the Laplanders are looked upon as time-honored. The settlement of the transit question establishes a foundation for peaceful intercourse between the two countries.

Christiana, Sept. 26.—All indications point to the acceptance by Norwegians generally of the terms of the agreement reached at Karlstad, although at present some persons are inclined to severely criticise the Norwegian commissioners for conceding so much to Sweden. As far as can be ascertained, the result meets the approval of the great bulk of conservative opinion.

The press as a whole accepts the situation, though a few Chauvinists continue to voice their opposition to the agreement. The provincial press also appears to accept the result with equanimity. The Verdens Gang this morning says:

"We must acknowledge that our delegates obtained as much as possible and that a large majority of the people of the nation agrees with the delegates that the question of the demolition of the fortifications was of secondary importance, considering the undoubted security obtained by Norway as the result of the convention."

The text of the protocol which was signed at Karlstad by the Norwegian and Swedish delegates appointed to arrange the terms for the dissolution of the union of Norway and Sweden, subject to the ratification of the riksdag and storthing, consists of five main articles and 35 sub-clauses.

The first article deals with arbitration; the second with the neutral zone and the demolition of the fortifications; the third with reindeer pastures, etc., etc.; the fourth with intertraffic, and the fifth with common waterways.

The agreement provides for the compulsory arbitration before The Hague court of all disputes except matters of vital interest for the period of a decade, with extensions for other periods of 10 years unless two years' previous notice is given of an intention to abrogate it.

The treaty provides for a zone on either side of the frontier which shall forever be neutral, and for the demolition of the fortresses within that zone with the exception of the old portions of the fortifications of Fredriksten, Gyldenowe and Overbjerget, which may remain, but which are not to be used as fortifications.

A headquarters staff and garrison may be maintained at Fredriksten to the same extent as prior to the erection of the new fortification. No extension of the Kongsvinger group of fortifications will be permitted, nor of the new forts erected within 10 kilometres of the old fortress of Kongsvinger.

BUSY TIME AHEAD

Many Problems Await Roosevelt at Washington

QUESTION OF PATRONAGE

New Postal Decision Creates Trouble--Canal Complications and Santo Domingo Policy to Be Wrestled With

Washington, Sept. 26.—In spite of President Roosevelt's accessibility at Oyster Bay, an extraordinary number of administration questions, which offices immediately concerned are not worth disturbing him about during vacation, have piled up higher and are awaiting prompt attention on his arrival on Oct. 1.

Patronage questions threaten to be troublesome. The postoffice department's announcement that fourth-class postmasters might disregard the four-year term idea and serve, practically, during good behavior, has given postmasters of higher grades, particularly in the west, the notion that they can remain in office on local business men's indorsements, even though the congressmen from the district and the senators do not desire their reappointment. The lawmakers accordingly assert that postal officials have become "cocky," relying on the president's civil service reform theories.

This is making trouble in certain specific cases. The long period of uninterrupted Republican rule has left many practical workers who did not come in on the first distribution extremely restive for recognition, and they point to the change which the president himself made in places about him in Washington at the opening of this administration, as illustrative of their feelings towards the smaller offices.

Everybody in town is now getting up an annual report, and while these in nearly all cases are addressed to the president and furnish a basis of facts for his message, their authors like to confer with the president regarding any specific recommendation before they make it, lest he should be embarrassed by any proposal out of harmony with the general administration policies. The discussion of proposed reports will consume much of his time.

Secretary Taft's return will open the discussion of Philippines and Chinese affairs and lead to the formulation of the administration's plan of campaign, along economic lines, for the improvement of Philippine industries and the betterment of Chinese relations.

The canal complications will give the president considerable concern. He is now operating under a makeshift, having the old machinery of organization, but with new men. He will try to shape congressional sentiment so that he can have a freer hand.

The Santo Domingo policy undoubtedly puts the greatest problem before the administration, since the treaty requires a two-thirds vote in the senate, and its ratification to gratify the president may be obstructed by those who wish to utilize the opportunity to check his legislative plans, as well as by genuine opponents of so aggressive an attitude. A public printer will doubtless be appointed early in October.

Surgeon's Knife Used on Duchess

New York, Sept. 26.—The Duchess of Marlborough, who was Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, was operated on yesterday for an affection of the throat. The duchess withstood the operation in a most satisfactory manner. She was not in the least nervous regarding the operation, having been assured that it would not be attended with any great danger. The exact nature of the trouble could not be learned, but she has suffered for some time from a growth in the throat.

Mechanics Buried in Debris

Buffalo, Sept. 26.—With a crash that could be heard for blocks, a three-story brick building under construction here collapsed, carrying down with it 30 bricklayers and carpenters. A score of the men were injured, eight of them seriously. That there was not serious loss of life was due to the fact that there was no roof on the building and that the mass of bricks fell out toward the street, the men being buried in the timbers of the interior.

American Capital in Santo Domingo

Duluth, Sept. 26.—Congressman Bede and three or four others, representing a syndicate largely composed of Duluth and Minneapolis men, are now on their way to Santo Domingo. If things are found as expected the syndicate will purchase 200,000 or 300,000 acres which are now under option and become a large factor in the development of the island.

Fever Getting Beyond Control

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 26.—Twenty-five new cases of yellow fever were reported by physicians to the state health officers for the 24 hours ending at 6 o'clock last night. The situation is rather discouraging, as the cases are scattered all over the city and all hope of checking the disease before the appearance of frost has been practically abandoned.

Big Forest Reserve in Utah

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 26.—President Roosevelt has signed an executive order creating the Dixie forest reserve in Utah. The new reserve embraces 465,900 acres, 94 percent of which is public lands.

CHARGE OF BRIBERY

Boston Alderman Is Not Sustained by His Colleagues

Boston, Sept. 26.—At a meeting of the board of aldermen, Alderman Linehan presented affidavits of three witnesses to substantiate the allegation that he had been offered a bribe by the treasurer of the National Dock trust to vote the orders granting grade crossing locations to the trust in East Boston.

Mr. Linehan then moved reconsideration of the vote whereby the board had refused to adopt his motion to sit as a jury and make a public inquiry into the charges. By a vote of 10 to 2, the board refused reconsideration.

The grand jury of Suffolk county at a recent special session reported no ground to return a bill on the same charges.

Church Destroyed by Fire

Chelsea, Mass., Sept. 26.—The Mount Bellingham Methodist Episcopal church of this city, whose 50th anniversary celebration was to have been observed next Wednesday, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The edifice with its furnishings and organ cost $30.000. When the tall steeple fell a number of firemen were injured, although none fatally. The fire, which was caused by spontaneous combustion, started in a closet-room.

Bank Officers Make Assignment

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 26.—As the result of the destruction of the Vail Light Lumber company's plant on Sept. 8, Allen L. Graves, president of the Factory Point National bank, and J B. Whipple, a teller in the bank, have made a voluntary assignment. Both men were intimately connected with the lumber company, Graves being the president and Whipple the treasurer.

Socialist Leader a Suicide

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 26.—John A. Norton, formerly candidate for governor of the state on the Socialist ticket, committed suicide by inhaling gas through a tube which he attached to a jet. Norton was an inventor and it is stated that lately his mind had been turned by fear that some one was going to steal his valuable tools. He was 46 years old.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

Big Bleachery's First Strike

Lincoln, R. I., Sept. 26.—Because of the refusal of the management of the Saylesville bleachery to take back two men who, it is claimed, were sick last week, 70 of the help in the folding room have struck. The bleachery employs about 2000 persons and this is the first strike that has ever occurred at the factory.

Steamer's Shaft Cracked

Boston, Sept. 26.—As steamer Penobscot was about to start on her regular trip to the eastward it was discovered that her shaft was cracked. Steamer Calvin Austin, which was scheduled to leave three hours later for St. John direct, took the Penobscot's passengers and will call at Portland and Eastport.

Old Schooner Sprung Aleak

Portland. Me., Sept. 26.—Schooner Osprey, Machias for Boston, with lumber, put into this port leaking at the rate of 2000 strokes an hour. The schooner is old and sprung aleak while being tossed in a sea off this port. She was beached in the harbor here.

Providence Mayor's Sudden Death

Providence, Sept. 26.—Mayor Augustus S. Miller dropped dead at the Hope club at 1:45 o'clock this morning. It is believed that death was due to heart disease. Miller was born in Plainfield, Conn., on Aug. 13, 1847.

Supposed Murderer Arrested

Albany, Sept. 26.—A man supposed to be Joseph Girard, suspected of murdering pretty Augusta Pfeiffer in a lonely part of the Bronx 10 days ago, is now in jail at Schoharie awaiting positive identification. This man has been in this vicinity since Friday and the police of Albany and Schoharie counties have been hunting for him. He appeared near the railway station at Central Bridge and Baggagemaster Holbrook seized and held him until the village constable arrived, when the suspect was put under arrest.

Left Oyster Bay by Request

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Lee, the Chicago woman who has made several efforts to see President Roosevelt this summer, came here again yesterday and tried to hire a horse and carriage with which to drive to Sagamore Hill. She did not succeed and the secret service men were notified. She was requested to leave town and did so.

Shooting Affray on Ferryboat

New York, Sept. 26.—A panic was precipitated among the passengers on the Staten Island ferryboat Southfield on her way to New York last night when a quarrel occurred among a crowd of Italians returning from a picnic, during which Tomaso Pascalo was shot and fatally wounded. Friends of the wounded man attacked his assailant and were only preventing from hurling him overboard by two policemen who happened to be on the boat. The prisoner was locked up upon arrival in this city.

Fix Rates to Suit Themselves

Chicago, Sept. 26.—"The packers fix the rates," declared President Stickney of the Chicago, Great Western Railroad company while testifying for the defense before the interstate commerce commission regarding freight rates on live stock and live stock products from the Missouri river to Chicago. "The packer," he said, "generally tells you that if you want the business you must haul the meat for the price he names."

Rapid-Fire Guns For Poachers

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The department of marine and fisheries has referred to the imperial government the question of supplying the Canadian "cruiser" vigilant with quick-fire three-pound guns. If the answer from London is favorable four quick-firing three-pounders will be at once placed on board the Vigilant on Lake Erie and decisive steps will be taken to stop wholesale poaching by American fishermen.

Warrants Out For Contractors

New York, Sept. 26.—United States Marshal Henckel admits that warrants for the arrest of 11 contractors, charged with conspiracy in importing English tile setters under contract, have been placed in his hands for execution by Commissioner Ridgeway. It is expected that the defendants will get together today and, accompanied by counsel, surrender themselves in a body.

Can't Agree on Fusion Candidate

New York, Sept. 26.—The nominating committee of the fusion conference met but failed to agree upon a candidate for mayor. John Ford was named as the Republican candidate, and Justice Seabury as candidate of the Municipal Ownership league. R. F. Cutting of the Citizens' union proposed the name of Robert G. Monroe as the candidate of the Citizens' union.

Non-Union Men on Newspapers

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 26.—All the union printers employed by the newspapers and job offices of Charlotte went out on strike upon the refusal of the employers to grant the demand for an eight-hour work day. The Observer and The Evening Chronicle will appear without interruption, non-union men having been employed to take the places of the strikers.

Fireworks Factory Wiped Out

New York, Sept. 26.—By the explosion of a large quantity of powder, the fireworks factory of Joseph Spezio at Green Point was totally destroyed. Spezio's 16-year-old son was instantly killed and his wife and two younger boys and a workman were seriously injured What caused the explosion could not be learned. The loss is about $3000.

Animals Had Fun With Crew

New York, Sept. 26.—A badly lacerated crew arrived here on the steamer Indramayo, guarding a cargo of wild animals from Chinese and Japanese ports. Six leopards and two big snakes caused most of the injuries which were inflicted by the animals during an exciting voyage. During the voyage an elephant died of seasickness.

CRISIS IN HUNGARY

Personal Popularity of Austrian Ruler Is Being Assailed

London, Sept. 26.—Special dispatches from Budapest to London newspapers indicate that the excitement consequent of the strained relations between the crown and the united opposition in the Hungarian diet is increasing and that, while the leaders of the coalition parties are counselling the people to refrain from violating the law, inflammatory speeches are being made by prominent persons in various sections of the country and that, probably for the first time, the personal popularity of the king-emperor is being assailed.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the coalition parties at Budapest yesterday, several sharp speeches were made and the conviction expressed that a peaceable settlement was impossible, though there was no reference to other than a legal fight over the differences between the two parts of the empire. It is stated that the coalition leaders proposed to Count Cziraky to compromise the difficulties arising from the question of the language to be used in the army in Hungary by the introduction of Hungarian words of command for 16 Hussar regiments only. It is understood that this proposition was carried to Francis Joseph, whose failure to reply indicates that his ultimatum is unchangeable.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Despondency, resulting, it is supposed from lack of regular employment, is the cause assigned for the attempted suicide of Richard Carroll at Providence.

Harold A. Webster, aged 52, an inventor of shoe machinery, died at Haverhill, Mass., after an operation for an intestinal trouble. He had recently perfected a machine for loose stitching, which will materially affect the hand work in factories.

The $35,000 home of the Concord, N. H., Young Men's Christian association was formally dedicated with appropriate services.

The International Navigation congress was opened at Milan in the presence of the King and queen of Italy and the cabinet ministers. Thirty-six nations are represented.

Johnnie Lamley, who in his time was one of the most successful jockeys in the United States, died at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.

The department of state has received a note inviting this government to a congress on oceanography which is to be held at Marseilles in connection with the Colonial exposition in that city in 1906.

GREAT BLUNDER.

The Relocation of Crescent Street a Disfigurement.

Editors of the Daily Ledger :

I have read with great interest the statements of His Honor the Mayor to the Board of Trade, in regard to the changing of Crescent street in Ward Four. From the facts that he presents I think that he has taken the right course, not to involve the city in expensive litigation, that would accomplish nothing.'

But a great blunder (or worse) has been made in giving sanction to change the old street. It joined Copeland street by a turn similar to the letter "V," but now it is changed to one like the letter "S," so that it would be impossible for a big team to make the compound curve.

There is not a patriotic citizen in Ward Four that would have sanctioned such a disfiguring of the street, providing the city got $5000 for it, but what are they to think when they know that the city did not get one cent. Then pursue it farther and cross Copeland street and we find the Willard School play ground all taken by the same Commission for the same purpose, so that the line of the boulevard comes within a few feet of the building and land that it is absolutely necessary for the children to play on. I find that this was done so quietly that the School Committee did not even know of it.

The result is that we have our largest school in the city without any play ground whatever.

Was there any need of the boulevard going through the school grounds? None whatever, except that the Commission could get someone to give away the city property, when they would have to pay for it from private parties.

It will take from $5,000 to $7,000 to provide a new playground, for we must have the playground at any cost, for the parents will not stand it to have their children play on the streets, while other schools have their playgrounds.

I am told that the haste was so great to give away the city property that the Mayor that year sent a special message to the Council to have the rules suspended and rushed through the order in one night.

Charles M. Bryant thinks that we hould not send Mr. Eugene C. Hultman to the legislature because he has been employed by a corporation. This is condemning a man on suspicion. I think that Mr. Hultman could serve our corporation better with his experience with the other, providing he was not in the employ of both corporations at the same time, and I have seen no evidence that he is.

From his education and experience I think that he is eminently fitted to represent us. I will not condemn him for fear, but I will condemn any man for his acts.

Mr. Editor, I have always taken a lively interest in the west section of our city, for it was to West Quincy that I came when I first saw Quincy thirty-five years ago. It was then an isolated village and few would suppose that it was any part of Quincy. There was no street car system, and no telephone, and the little mail bags came up to Farnum's store once or twice a day. It almost appears as if some officials after election time is over and there are no votes to get, think that the same conditions exist, but it is not so, for progress is on every turn.

We have an ideal condition this year at our caucuses :—six republican candidates to select from, and I hope that the voters will pick the best, and those that are elected will be vigilant in our city's interest.

Yours very respectfully
J. L. Miller.

Quincy, Sept. 25, 1905.

Brockton's Big Fair.

Knabenshue and his air-ship, the $5,000 attraction, will be a magnet that will attract thousands to Brockton's Big Fair, Oct. 3, 4, 5 and 6. Knabenshue is the man who set New York by the ears with his wonderful flights to and fro in the clouds over the city last August. This will be his first appearance in New England.

The Horse Show, under the management of F. M. Ware, will be up to its usual high standard of excellence. The stage show will include seventeen star acts, headed by Dare Devil Diavolo in his marvelous feat, "looping the loop."

The purses for the races aggregate $8,100 and will be as speedy as usual.

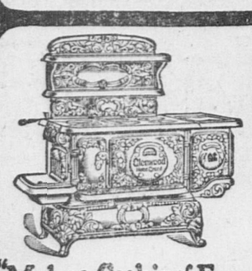

Automobilists will be given extended space for their motor cars this year, and on Oct. 4 and 5 cups for the most handsomely decorated car and for the car coming the longest distance will be offered.

TODAY'S COURT.

Thomas Dutson and Michael Nicholson were arraigned for disturbing the peace at Weymouth and were fined $10.

"Yankee grit, enterprise and patience," sum up in a few words the cruise around the world of Capt. Slocum alone in the Yacht Spray. The captain will tell the story in detail at Bethany chapel in this city on Thursday evening.

THE FIVES COUNT.

And Conductor Johnson Moves Up in the List.

Several canditates have gained today in the free scholarship contest. Miss Emma Peterson is a new and promising candidate in the ladies' list, and Miss Winneberger is another new one, while other candidates have made gains.

In the men's list Conductor Johnson made the largest gain. Harold Newcomb is a new candidate, and several report gains.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

|---|---|

HULTMAN and SANDBERG.

Nominated by Republicans for the Legislature.

Elcock and La Croix the Democratic Candidates.

Representative Freeman Defeated by 12 Votes and Representative Nicol by 16 Votes.

CANDIDATE SANDBERG

The caucuses are over. The two gentlemen who represented Quincy in the Legislature last year failed to receive a renomination. In their places two new candidates have been nominated,—Eugene C. Hultman and Edward J. Sandberg.

The result of the caucuses is different from what the majority of the people thought. It bears out the statement of the Daily Ledger, that the result would be hard to foretell, and that the winners would be in doubt until the votes were counted. So it proved. The majority of sidewalk politicians had picked Freeman for high man, with Hultman or Sandberg for second place.

The result however places Freeman in third place. Hultman was high man with the total of 637, and Sandberg a good second with 616. Freeman was 12 votes behind Sandberg which means, possibly a recount. Nicol also was only 16 behind Sandberg.

The difference is so great, however, that it is not believed that the result will be changed.

There was some talk after the result was known of Freeman running independent. As Mr. Freeman is chairman of the Republican City Committee, it is hard to see how he can consistently do otherwise than accept the will of the people and retire gracefully with his record of three years.

Throughout the campaign not one word has been heard against the ability or character of Mr. Freeman. The criticism, however, has been that he having already served three years should retire gracefully and give some one of the many others a chance to represent us on Beacon hill.

This was the principal reason for his defeat. The secondary cause is laid at the door of ex-Mayor Bryant whose zeal to wipe out a personal grudge and at the same time help along Freeman, acted as a boomerang.

A study of the vote by wards shows that Wards One, Two, Three and Four cut into Freeman. These four wards only gave him a total of 229 while they gave Hultman 456 and Sandberg 548. Had Wards Five and Six done anything at all for Sandberg he would have been high man.

On the other hand Hultman received a very flattering vote in these two wards; Ward Five contributing 130, and Ward Six 52, while the same wards gave Sandberg, but 45 and 23. These wards stood by Freeman, however, Ward Five giving him 267, and Ward Six 108. But for this support, he would have been badly snowed under.

Hultman and Sandberg were the choice of Ward One.

Hultman was high man in Ward Two his home ward; second in Wards One and Five, and third in Wards Three and Six.

Sandberg was high man in Wards One and Four; second in Ward Three; and third in Ward Two.

Freeman was high man in Wards Five and Six, and second in Ward Two.

Nicol was high man in Ward Three, and second in Wards Four and Six.

Messrs Hall and Baxter did best in Ward One, but neither got into first or second place in any ward.

Baxter was low man on the list, receiving a total of but 212. He, however, ran ahead of Freeman in Wards Three and Four.

The vote of Mr. Freeman in each of the four years may be of interest:

| | 1902 | 1903 | 1904 | 1905 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Ward One, | 63 | 107 | 100 | 97 |
| Ward Two, | 18 | 61 | 47 | 69 |
| Ward Three, | 32 | 94 | 134 | 48 |
| Ward Four, | 42 | 68 | 40 | 15 |
| Ward Five, | 205 | 265 | 241 | 267 |
| Ward Six, | 62 | 60 | 52 | 108 |

| Number | 2 | 1 | 1 | 3 |
| Candidates | 7 | 3 | 4 | 6 |
| Total Vote | — | — | 1091 | 1747 |

The only contest on the Republican ballot among the delegates to the several conventions was in Ward Three, where there was a double list of delegates for the State convention. The vote of the four candidates was as follows, the first three being elected: Walter E. Piper, 217; William T. Spargo, 182; Alex. Falconer, 142; and John C. Murray, 109.

These delegates were elected:

WARD ONE.

State,—Warren W. Adams, Robert G. Proctor, Clarence Burgin.

Councillor, — George T. Westland, Eben W. Sheppard, Otto Gelotte.

Senatorial,—Archibald F. MacLeod, Edward L. Goodridge, Benedict Benson.

Senatorial,—Albert Clark, William P. Barry.

County,—Joseph Walker, 2d, Charles H. Owens.

WARD FIVE.

State,—James H. Broughton, Charles M. Bryant, Walter S. Pinkham, Herbert Y. Follett.

Councillor, — Herbert J. Gurney, Henry O. Fairbanks, Walter M. Hatch, Charles S. Adams.

Senatorial, — Richard R. Freeman, Walter J. Wellington, Charles M. Bryant, Frank C. Potter.

County,—James C. Bates, Herbert T. Whitman, Enoch S. Thomas, Victor J. Emery.

WARD SIX.

State,—Roger H. Wilde, Ralph W. Hobbs.

Councillor,—Daniel McGrath, Herbert D. Gearwar.

Senatorial, — William G. Gassett, George F. Sawyer, Jr.

County, — Louis F. R. Langelier, James H. Cunningham.

Democratic.

There were no contests among the Democrats either for Representative candidates or delegates to the various conventions. The nominees for the Legislature are:

James H. Elcock of Ward Four.

Alfred J. LaCroix of Ward One.

The delegates to the State convention are.

Ward One, George H. Wilson and Edward J. Parker.

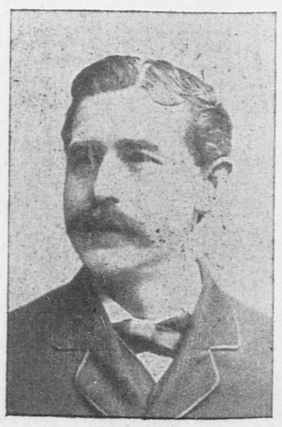

Ward Two, Timothy J. Carey and Joseph J. Kelley.

Ward Three, John P. Duffy and Patrick W. Driscoll.

Ward Four, James F. Burke, James H. Elcock and William P. Hughes.

Ward Five, Patrick Ferguson.

Ward Six—William T. Moran.

CANDIDATE ELCOCK

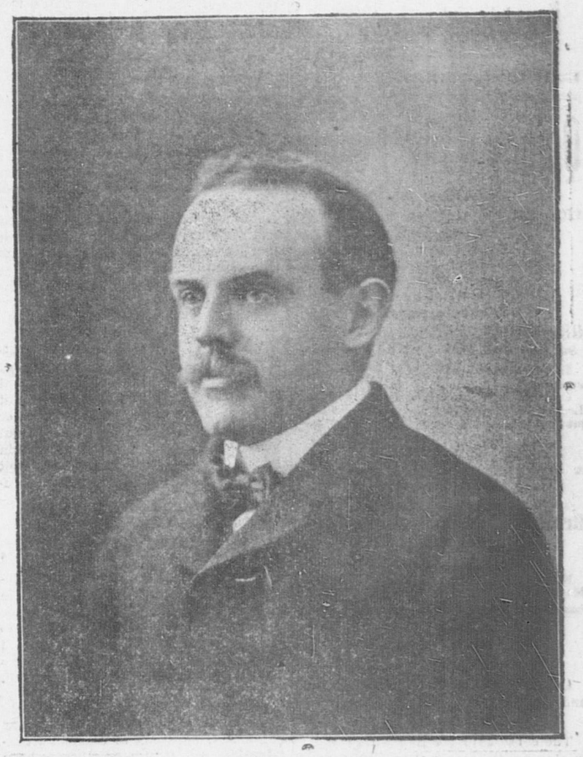

The result however places Freeman in third place. Hultman was high man with the total of 637, and Sandberg a good second with 616. Freeman was 12 votes behind Sandberg which means, possibly a recount. Nicol also was only 16 behind Sandberg.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Congratulations to Messrs. Hultman and Sandberg!

The contest for the Republican nomination for Representatives was so close that it is not surprising that the result could not be predicted with any degree of certainty.

Welcome to mayors and ex-mayors of the cities of Massachusetts. After trying to please their varied constituency they are entitled to the pleasures which these monthly outings afford.

Henry H. Faxon, Esq., will pass another milestone in his eventful life tomorrow. The Daily Ledger is pleased to see him in better health than a year ago. He will be 82 years of age.

The two asterisks which appeared on Quincy ballots for the first time did not save the present Representatives; but they did not pull together in the Legislature or at the caucuses. While Mr. Freeman received 267 votes in Ward Five, Mr. Nicol received but 84. While Mr. Nicol received 237 in his home ward Mr. Freeman was low man with 48.

Now that it has been decided that the Metropolitan Park assessments upon the cities and towns shall be upon the valuation, the same as all other taxes, there should be a more just assessment for water. The special commission has decided that Boston shall pay 62 per cent. of the Park assessments instead of 50 per cent., and it should pay 75 per cent. of the water assessments instead of a smaller per cent., because it uses 75 per cent. of the water. Now Quincy and most of the other suburban cities and towns are paying larger assessments than they should. Besides a fancy sum was paid to Boston for its old water system when the Metropolitan board took it over.

To Consider Thibetan Treaty

Washington, Sept. 27.—A conference will be held in the near future in Calcutta at which it is hoped that the difference between China and England in regard to the treaty of the latter country with Thibet will be adjusted. China never recognized the treaty Colonel Younghusband made with the Thibetan authorities and protested against it as soon as the military expedition returned from Lhassa.

Useless to Oppose Palma

Havana, Sept. 27.—Governor Gomez of Santa Clara province, Liberal candidate for the presidency, says he will advise the Liberal party to disband, as the United States is backing President Palma because his is the established government.

Manila Visited by Typhoon

Washington, Sept. 27.—The war department has received a cablegram from Manila saying that the transport Logan has been delayed from sailing from that place by a typhoon. No mention is made of damage to property.

Cholera Danger Not Over

St. Petersburg, Sept. 27.—Although the government some time ago came to the conclusion that the danger of an outbreak of cholera in the Volga basin was over and ordered the special stations for combatting the disease in that region to be closed, the fears of an epidemic have been revived. The province of Astrakhan is officially declared to be in danger of cholera.

Shaw Quits In February

Washington, Sept. 27.—In reiterating his declaration of last March that he would leave the cabinet about February, Secretary Shaw last night said: "I shall leave the cabinet on or about Feb. 1. I had hoped to get out last March, but consented to remain longer, because certain interests kept me there, but I shall go next February."

All Steamers to Be Inspected

Washington, Sept. 27.—A reinspection of all steamers in the United States has been ordered by the department of commerce and labor. No general inspection has been had since the revision of rules made in May to harmonize them with the laws passed by the last congress, following the General Slocum disaster at New York.

Against Secret Contributions

Washington, Sept. 27.—Secretary Hitchcock, speaking of campaign contributions, said: "I have all along been opposed to secret contributions and I am in favor of congress passing a law compelling full publicity of campaign expenses. If contributions are legitimate there is nothing to be feared through publicity."

Not Discouraged by Blindness

Leith, Sept. 27.—Hugh Blaik, a large shipowner and a pioneer in the shipping trade between Leith and American ports, died here last evening. Blaik had been blind for 20 years, but he continued to personally direct his extensive interests.

Spain Demands Satisfaction

Madrid, Sept. 27.—The Epoca says that the government has ordered the Spanish minister at Fez to demand in the most energetic manner complete satisfaction for the recent Moorish attacks on Spanish vessels.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

To the Republican Voters of Massachusetts

It is clearly evident that the voters of Massachusetts as a whole, without respect to Party, believe it to be for the welfare of the State that measures should be taken to promote closer and more liberal trade relations with foreign countries, and especially with Canada and Newfoundland. It is also evident that this can be accomplished only through a revision of the tariff, a policy favored by the President and by a majority of the representatives in Congress from the State of Massachusetts. The extreme protectionist interests have so far influenced the "Machine" of the Republican Party of this State that it does not intend to have expression given to this sentiment, but instead to suppress at the coming Republican Convention any genuine declaration in favor of what is generally understood to be "Tariff Revision," and to nominate one or more candidates hostile to that policy.

In the careful canvass made in 1904, 60,000 Republicans of Massachusetts declared themselves in favor of Reciprocity, hoping by this method to secure enlarged trade relations with our near neighbors. The strength of this desire was then recognized by the Republican politicians, and a plank was inserted in the platform in harmony therewith.

The same desirable result can be readily obtained at the next Republican State Convention if the 60,000 Republicans of this State who favored this trade movement in 1904, and other Republicans whose views are in harmony therewith, will join the Republican members of the Massachusetts Committee of One Hundred on Reciprocal Trade in their request for the adoption of a plank expressive of Massachusetts business opinion in the platform by the next Republican State Convention; doing this by signing the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement, and either sending it directly to the Secretary of the Committee or handing it to some person authorized to collect the same.

If those whose opinions are in harmony with the ideas expressed will act as above indicated, there will be hereafter no question as to what the views of the State of Massachusetts are on this important question, while the realization of this change will be of great industrial advantage to New England and the whole country.

RIOT ON A TRAIN

Strike Breakers Attacked and a Passenger Shot

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 27.—A train for Boston was stopped twice within the city limits last night to enable the conductor to summon the police for the purpose of quelling a disturbance in the smoking car over six strike breakers from Walton & Logan's shoe factory.

The men were returning to their homes in Chelsea, Mass., when, just as the train was leaving the Lynn station, they were attacked by a number of strike sympathizers. Clubs were freely used and a revolver was fired, the bullet going through the hat and grazing the top of the head of Eugene Holmes, a passenger.

The train was stopped and the police carried the wounded man from the car, but no arrests were made, as no one could identify the man with the revolver.

The fight, which subsided after the arrival of the officers, broke out afresh as the train started again, and this time Charles Breslin was the victim. He was trying to get away from the turmoil, when he was pushed off the moving train. He sustained several severe cuts and bruises.

The train was stopped once more and again the police were called, but as all was quiet when they arrived, no one was taken into custody.

Manslaughter Indictments

Fitchburg, Mass., Sept. 27.—George E. Powers and John E. Finn of this city, conductor and head brakeman of a freight train which was wrecked here on July 5, with the loss of two lives, and who disappeared immediately after the accident, were arrested last night on a charge of manslaughter. At a recent session of the grand jury indictments were returned against both men, but the fact was not made public until the arrests.

Senator Proctor's Generosity

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 27.—The erection and endowment of a state tuberculous hospital by Senator Proctor of Vermont is announced by Dr. W. M. Bryant of this city, secretary of the state tuberculous commission. Senator Proctor will furnish the site, erect the building at a cost of not less than $50,000 and more, if necessary, and endow the institution by a fund of $100,000, the interest to be used in its maintenance.

Steamer Badly Damaged

Providence, Sept. 27.—Steamer Queen City, which plies between this city and Seaconnet, arrived here in a damaged condition. While passing through a stone bridge at Tiverton the boat was carried against a dredge by a heavy wind. In the collision the Queen City had her port side smashed in and was otherwise damaged. The steamer is leaking considerably.

Against a Receivership

Hartford, Sept. 27.—The new board of directors and officials of the Connecticut Loan and Realty company have made a report to the superior court that it will not be necessary to appoint a receiver for the company. Only 1 percent of the instalment shareholders express a desire for a receiver, while the majority favor the plan of liquidation by the directors.

Favorite Spot For Fires

Boston, Sept. 27.—For the third time since its erection and the second time within a year a large warehouse and factory building on Binford street, South Boston, was visited by fire last night. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The flames were confined to their place of origin.

Struck Heavily on Shoal

Chatham, Mass., Sept. 27.—During a fresh northerly wind the Fall River schooner Ralph M. Hayward struck heavily on a shoal just west of Pollock Rip lightship, at low water, but floated with the rising tide and proceeded to her destination, leaking 150 strokes to the minute.

Out of Work and Homes

Montville, Conn., Sept. 27.—The striking weavers at the Pequot mills have been paid their wages and discharged. Several of the strikers who occupy tenement houses belonging to the mills have been told to vacate at once.

Hungarian Situation Serious

Budapest, Sept. 27.—The situation here grows worse daily. The radical element threaten to swamp the Moderate party and to hurry the country into irreparable action. Public references to the dynasty are made in a tone which it is impossible to reproduce. The principal newspapers urge the formation of one great party under Francis Kossuth.

A GUILD WALKOVER

Sentiment of Caucuses of Bay State Republicans

RUNNING MATE IN DOUBT

Draper Appears to Have Lead Over Goetting and Hall--Sharp Contest For Attorney General --Many Delegates Unpledged

Boston, Sept. 27.—Although unanimously in favor of Lieutenant Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston for governor, the 1623 delegates chosen at the Republican caucuses throughout the state are divided between three candidates for the second place on the state ticket for the November election and four for attorney general. With many city and town delegations entirely unpledged, it seems as if none of the aspirants for office will be able to make a claim to the majority of the delegates until a poll of the convention on Oct. 7.

That a larger number of delegates favor the candidacy of Eben S. Draper of Hopedale than support A. H. Goetting of Springfield or Fred S. Hall of Taunton is indicated by the returns received thus far, although definite results are not obtainable, since so many of the state delegates are unpledged.

Among the four candidates for attorney general—District Attorneys Dana Malone of Greenfield, Asa P. French of the southeastern district and George A. Sanderson and Edgar R. Champlin of Middlesex county—the delegates are divided. Malone, however, succeeded in carrying nearly all the cities and towns west of Worcester county and gained many delegates in Suffolk and Bristol counties. French, in a general way, carried the southeastern section of the commonwealth. Champlin and Sanderson divided the honors in Middlesex county, in which both are residents, while District Attorney Peters of Essex county, who is also a candidate for attorney general, has support in his section.

The results of the caucuses indicate that the attorney general contest will certainly be carried into the convention, with the probability also that the lieutenant governor's contest will be settled there also. Draper represents the rigid tariff protection wing of the party, while Hale's candidacy was conducted on lines of tariff revision and Canadian reciprocity.

Mr. Draper has developed his greatest strength in Boston, where he practically swept the city, Hall winning but four delegates out of over 200. In Lowell Draper and Goetting split even on the 40 delegates. Draper was strong throughout Worcester and Middlesex counties.

Judge Hall carried Bristol county and a greater portion of Plymouth. In Fall River he won 22 out of the 35 delegates and in Brockton the entire delegation of 21.

Democratic caucuses were held yesterday also in several cities and towns. With the exception of Cambridge, where the delegates favor John H. H. McNamee for governor, no preference was expressed for the head of the ticket.

Had Enough of Curley

Boston, Sept. 27.—A feature of the voting in this city was the defeat of Thomas F. Curley, who was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative. Curley was elected to the legislature last year, but his seat was declared vacant, following his conviction of participation in civil service frauds. Curley served 60 days in the Suffolk county jail for the offense. He was defeated yesterday by 19 votes.

Policyholders In the Lurch

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Investigation of the affairs of the Western Life Indemnity company by a state examiner brought to light facts tending to show that claims of perhaps thousands of policyholders in assessment companies have been practically wiped out through company manipulation. Examiner Frouts discovered that 28 small insurance companies have terminated their existence by merging into the Western Life Indemnity.

Old Revolutionist Dead

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Major Stephen J. Lang, 86 years old, who was one of the leaders of the Hungarian revolution in 1848, died at his home here last night from pneumonia. He was an aide to the rebel leader Kossuth and after the collapse of the revolution escaped in the disguise of a Turk and came to the United States, settling in Boston. He came to St. Louis in 1869.

Held For Providence Police

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—A. L. Rice and W. H. Gilman were arrested in their apartments at the Palace hotel on a charge of fraudulently obtaining $6500 from the United National bank of Providence. C. F. Corbett, who was with them when the arrests were made, was also taken into custody. The men are being held, pending instructions from the east.

Swift Runner Becomes Policeman

New York, Sept. 27.—John J. Joyce, the distance runner, has reported for duty as a police patrolman. In 1901 Joyce won the Metropolitan cross country championship and in the three succeeding years won honors in 5 and 10-mile events. This year he won the indoor championship 10-mile run at Madison Square garden.

Pencil In His Body Two Years

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Robert Hanners, a baker, 24 years of age, walked into the county hospital last evening and announced to the physician in charge: "Doctor, two years ago I swallowed a lead pencil, and it's bothering me a bit." The doctor laughed at him, but Hanners stuck to his story and complained of a severe pain in his right side. His case was diagnosed as appendicitis, and as a case that required immediate operation. The pencil, five inches in length, was found imbedded in the appendix as Hanners had predicted. He will recover.

Steamer In Two Collisions

Newport News, Va., Sept. 27.—Steamer Bayport, with 2400 tons of coal, ran down and sank the three-masted schooner Job H. Jackson in Chesapeake bay. Charles Johnatse, who was at the Jackson's wheel, was washed overboard and drowned. The Bayport rescued Captain Williamson, Mate Robbins and four of the crew of the Jackson. The Bayport then dropped anchor near Cape Henry, and at 3 o'clock in the morning schooner Ann J. Trainer ran down the Bayport, smashing in six plates and carrying away her aft house.

Blame For Railroad Disaster

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—An inquest into the Pennsylvania accident at Paoli, which caused the death of six men, resulted in a verdict that the accident was caused by the carelessness of the engineer of the New York limited express and by the carelessness of the crew of the local passenger train.

Jockey In Auto Accident

New York, Sept. 27.—Jockey Arthur Redfern met with an automobile accident here which will compel his retirement as a rider for the year. While driving his car en route to the race track, Redfern collided with a motor cycle and sustained a fracture of the right arm.

FACTOR FOR PEACE

How New Treaty Is Viewed by England and Japan

NOT MEANT AS MENACE

An Effective Safeguard Against Renewal of Disturbances In Far East--Imposes Limitations Upon Germany In Shantung

London, Sept. 27.—The text of the new agreement between Great Britain and Japan which was signed by Foreign Secretary Lansdowne and Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, on Aug. 12, was issued by the foreign office late last evening. The momentous document is a brief one, comprising less than 800 words, including eight articles and a preamble.

Accompanying the agreement is a letter from Lansdowne to the British ambassadors at St. Petersburg and Paris, for transmission to the Russian and French governments respectively, in which the foreign secretary courteously reviews the agreement and carefully points out that the new defensive alliance is not intended as a menace, but rather as a guarantee of peace and prosperity in the Far East, in which all countries may participate.

The main features of the new agreement have already been forecasted in dispatches from London and Paris. The articles of the official text, however, bring out forcefully the tremendous importance to both countries of this alliance, which practically makes Great Britain Japan and Japan Great Britain for the purposes of defense "in the regions of East Asia and India." This inclusion of India specifically as a point at which any aggression by a foreign power will call for the assistance of Japan finds much favor with the press of London, which welcomes the new and more extensive alliance of the two insular kingdoms west and east as giving immediate relief from the dangerous thundercloud which for so many years has hung over the Indian frontier.

Baron Hayashi, who was interviewed after the publication of the agreement, said:

"The new treaty forms an effective safeguard against the renewal of disturbances in the Far East. That is its object. We cannot say that a permanent peace has been secured—that is too much to be sure of, but we can aver that tranquility has been assured for a long time to come. This applies not only to Great Britain and Japan, but also to all powers having political or commercial interests in that part of the world; in fact, to all who have been interested in maintaining the status quo.

"I repeat that the treaty is a sure guarantee of peace, for that is its aim and object. It should be clearly recognized by all that it is not meant as a menace to any one. It has no aggressive intent, its only object being to secure the peace of the world so far as the Far East is concerned. The treaty is so clearly worded that no further comment is needed, and I am convinced that it will form, as was intended, the most powerful factor for peace. I hope that the people of both countries will realize this and will keep to the spirit of the treaty for a very long time to come."

Sir Charles Dilke takes the position that the new treaty makes no change in the pre-existing status quo, but says it is an inevitable consequence of the new conditions in the Far East and that it is certainly a stronger guarantee of the maintenance of peace than the previous alliance. He argues that Russia was never really a menace to the Indian frontier, but merely played on the susceptibilities of Great Britain. With regard to Persia, Sir Charles does not believe that Russia would ever risk a quarrel with India.

"In reality," said he, "the countries most affected are France and Germany, because to both the new treaty secures possessions which they might have found it impossible to defend. To France the arrangement is entirely satisfactory. With Germany the case may be different, because it deals a blow at the aspirations which Germany is supposed to entertain with regard to the province of Shantung and because Germany's present privileged position in Shantung may become non-existent by reason of the treaty. Germany, therefore, may have some slight feeling of irritation because of the limitation thus imposed. It is only in this respect that the treaty is likely to give rise to any permanent unpleasantness. In all other respects it makes for peace."

While there is some criticism of the treaty in the Radical newspapers, it is only half-hearted, and as a whole, London, which has been anxiously awaiting the breaking of official silence with regard to the document, heaves a sigh of relief and greets with great satisfaction the positive assurance of the future assistance of a powerful Oriental ally in all matters pertaining to Far Eastern policies.

Went Beyond Constitution

Havana, Sept. 27.—An order was issued by Secretary of Government Andrade for the arrest and deportation of an Italian agitator, Jose Pinnino, who, at a Liberal meeting, called President Palma "fool," "traitor" and other names. The Cuban constitution does not warrant the deportation of pernicious foreigners and therefore the action of the secretary is the cause of wide comment.

Although there appears to be a balance in the appropriation for books and supplies the fact is that bills have been contracted which will entirely exhaust this amount, and in oders for all classes to be equipped with text books and to meet additional expenses incidental to opening a new room in the Quincy annex, the City Council will be asked for an additional appropriation.

To the Voters of Quincy:

The undersigned desires to express publicly his hearty thanks to the Republicans of Quincy for the loyal support given him at the caucuses on Tuesday and to assure the voters that if elected it will be his aim and endeavor to do all in his power for the welfare of the city.

Respectfully,
EUGENE C. HULTMAN.

The vote at the caucuses was considerably larger than last year, the Republican vote being 1747 against 1091 last September.

SEASON OPENED.

Y. M. C. A. Give a Supper to Local Pastors.

The first event in the season's schedule at the Young Men's Christian Association was held Tuesday evening, when the directors and committee men met for the first monthly supper.

The following city pastors were present—a goodly representation though it was hoped more could have attended:—Rev. W. B. Barr, Rev. E. A. Chase, Rev. W. E. Gardner, Rev. E. N. Hardy, Rev. W. J. Heath, Rev. J. G. Miller, Rev. N. J. Sproul, Rev. A. B. Tyler, Rev. E. D. Webber.

The purpose was conference and fellowship. The chairmen of the department committees spoke of the need of and possibilities for their work and the plans as laid down in the prospectus.

R. C. Drinker spoke for the educational department, E. D. Gourd for the social, Dr. C. T. Sherman, for the religious, C. E. Patch for the boys and Dr. E. E. Johnson for the physical.

The president, R. D. Chase, made a very strong address of welcome to the pastors and gave most eloquently his reasons for his belief in the Association work.

Mr. Chase then called on the different clergymen to speak, which they all did. Many good points and some problems were opened up.

Altogether it was a most happy opening of the season's work and should be productive of much good to the churches and associations.

Kept Open House.

Eugene C. Hultman. one of the successful ones to receive the nomination as representative to the General Court, kept open house Tuesday evening at his home on Washington street. Early returns of the caucuses were received by telephone.

As soon as the result became known he had many callers, who came to extend congratulations. One of his callers was Arthur E. Baxter, who also extended his congratulations and assured Mr. Hultman that he should have his hearty support.

Later in the evening Mr. Sandberg, the second successful man, with a party of friends, called, and the two candidates shook hands and congratulated each other.

Our Good Hospital.

To the Editors of the Ledger:

I am glad to speak a few words in praise of our good hospital.

It seems to me it cannot be excelled in the skill of its physicians, who are so faithful in their visits, and in the untiring care and kindness of its very efficient matron and nurses.

The food is excellent and daintily served, and absolute cleanliness prevails in all departments.

Here, indeed, the sick may find a model home. A grateful patient.

Roller Skating—Coliseum.

The management of the Coliseum announces that tonight and Saturday night the music will be furnished by Castellucci's full American Band of East Weymouth of 30 pieces. They will be assisted in the concert by the well know tenor soloist, Mr. Irving F. Joy. On Thursday and Friday nights splendid music will also be furnished. It is the intention of the managers to furnish their patrons with many novel and pleasing attractions and special entertainment will be constantly given during the season.

Series of Whist.

A series of whist will be held under the auspices of Loyal Pride of Granite Lodge, I. O. O. L., M. U., beginning Thursday evening, Sept. 28, at 8 o'clock in Doble's hall, South Quincy. To be continued the fourth Thursday evening of every month throughout the winter. Public cordially invited. Admission 10 cents.

The Merrymount club rooms at Wollaston have closed for the past week for extensive repairs.

PIECES OF GAUZE

They Figure Prominently In Dress Suit Case Mystery

SOME FOUND ON TORSO

The Bundle of Clothes Found at Winthrop Probably Has Relationship With Crime--Searching Harbor For Woman's Missing Head, Arms and Legs

Boston, Sept. 27.—But little developed as a result of yesterday's investigation into the Winthrop dress suit case mystery which gave the police much encouragement of a speedy solution of the baffling tragedy. Last night, however, fresh information was gleaned which tends to strengthen the belief that all the members of the body of the unknown woman were thrown into the waters of Winthrop bay, probably within a mile and a half from the place of the finding of the dress suit case containing the torso.

A resident of Winthrop Highlands, Mrs. Elizabeth Greene, has told the police of having seen two or three objects in the water about three hours prior to the finding of the dress suit case and about a mile west of the spot. She is quite positive in the belief that the objects she saw were two dress suit cases and a woman's hat.

This latest information coincides with the theory of the police that the head, arms and legs of the woman were placed in another dress suit case and cast into the water not far from the place where the case containing the trunk was thrown.

The police also consider of the greatest importance the finding of a blonde hair among the clothes taken from the bundle found on the Winthrop shore Monday. It corresponds to the blonde hair found in the dress suit case and is said to resemble that of the dead woman. Important also is the presence of a piece of surgeon's gauze in this bundle, as a piece was found on the torso of the victim.

The surgeon's gauze is likely to play a prominent part in the police investigation, particularly as Miss Annie E. Harnett, a clerk employed by Mrs. Rebecca C. Burnham, admits having sold surgeon's gauze to a blonde woman some two weeks ago. The paper in which the bundle of clothes found at Winthrop was wrapped came from Mrs. Burnham's store at 2 Dalton street, in the Back Bay district. All these various threads of evidence lead the police to believe that the bundle and the dress suit case have close relationship in the crime and they are now endeavoring to locate the blonde woman who purchased the surgeon's gauze.

Some satisfactory progress has been made in tracing the dress suit case and the police are of the opinion that the last owner will soon be known to them. They have learned that the dress suit case had been purchased from a pawnbroker about six months ago. Although the case appeared to have been positively identified by two witnesses as the property of a physician known to the police, the authorities seem to be dissatisfied with this identification, as they are prosecuting the search for the last owner.

The missing physician, whose wife had also mysteriously disappeared, does not figure so prominently in the case, as the police claim to have located his wife, who, for a time, they were inclined to believe might have been the victim of the crime.

Divers are at work searching the waters near the place where the dress suit case was found in the hope of discovering some trace of the other members of the body. Thus far their efforts have not been successful. This line of effort will be continued until the entire portion of the harbor has been explored.

Several other pieces of cloth were found yesterday at Cottage Park, within 10 feet of the place where the bundle of clothing was found Monday. It is supposed that this cloth had originally been part of the bundle.

MERE MONEY GETTING

Rockefeller Says There Is Something More to Life Than That

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—Several hundred representative men of Cleveland called upon John D. Rockefeller at his home in Forest Hill and through Andrew Squire, an attorney, and L. E. Holden, proprietor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, expressed to Rockefeller their esteem for him as a citizen and as a great business man.

The gathering included merchants, lawyers, clergymen, educators and men in humbler walks of life. Through Squire, every person was presented to and shook hands with Rockefeller. There were personal statements of good will from those who greeted Rockefeller, who, in response, thanked each person for their kindly expressions and esteem.

Mr. Rockefeller made a brief address in response to the greetings which had been spoken by Squire and Holden. His remarks were almost entirely reminiscent of his residence in Cleveland and of the growth of the city. He said, speaking especially to the younger men present, that there is something more to life than mere money getting.

"Turn your thoughts upon the higher things of life," he said. "Be of service to humanity. Turn your thoughts into channels of usefulness; look forward to a determination that something useful shall come out of your success. Let your question be: 'What shall be the fruitage of my career? Shall it be the endowment of hospitals, churches, schools and asylums?' Do everything you can for the betterment of your fellow men and in doing this you will enjoy life the better."

Union's Arbitrary Action

New York, Sept. 27.—A strike has occurred among the machine typesetters of the Socialist newspaper Forward. This paper itself is an organizer of unions. Editor Cahan of The Forward says that the strike is due to a union typesetter whom he considered incompetent. The Forward had offered to pay this man full wages, allowing him to sit idle while another and more skilful man ran the machine. This offer the union refused, and a strike was the result.

An Abettor of Suicide

Darlington, S. C., Sept. 27.—The Darlington grand jury has made a presentment accusing Pegram Dargan of having aided and abetted Robert K. Dargan, his brother, in taking his own life, or procuring and giving to him carbolic acid and other drugs with which he committed suicide. R. K. Dargan was president of the Independent Cotton Oil company and of the Darlington Trust company, institutions which have recently failed.

Glowing Reports of Crops

Washington, Sept. 27.—Secretary Wilson, who has just returned to Washington from a visit to the middle west, says that in the Dakotas the small grain has surpassed in yield and quality the crops of the last six or seven years and in these states and Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Illinois, the corn crop is the best he has ever known. He says the entire crop is beyond the danger of frosts.

Depopulating Baku

Baku, Sept. 27.—Since the departure of the viceroy the state of mind of the inhabitants has changed for the worse. A fifth of the population has left the town or been sent away and the exodus continues.

DRUG CLERK GAINS

Henry Maloney Giving the Leaders a Hustle.

The biggest gain in the Daily Ledger free scholarship contest today is by Henry Maloney, the drug clerk, whose friends have added 111 votes to his total. A good increase was also made by Fred S. Sheppard.

Miss Manning has stepped into second place in the ladies' list and Miss Lapham is a new candidate.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

|---|---|
| Ealom M. Cash, clerk, | 279 |
| Henry Maloney, drug clerk, | 238 |
| August V. Johnson, steam engineer, | 204 |
| Herbert Johnson, conductor, | 158 |
| Charles E. Lyons, clerk, | 122 |
| Theodore Hermanson, insurance, | 65 |

Four Big Days.

Oct. 3, Children's Day; Oct. 4, Governor's Day; Oct. 5, Boston Day; Oct. 6, Firemen's Day. These are the days of the big Brockton Fair this year. All the attractive features of former years will be retained and enlarged wherever opportunity offers. In addition, the management have secured Roy Knabenshue and his air-ship at an expense of $5,000. This is the biggest feature ever exhibited at any out-door show in this section of the country. These aerial flights afford every one an opportunity to see this intrepid aeronaut successfully speed his air-ship through the clouds.

There is always something doing, and you can see everything that is fit to see, at the Brockton Fair.

TODAY'S COURT.

William H. Mulligan was arraigned for a sault and drunkenness at Quincy. Cases continued until next Wednesday.

B. J. Hughes was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Houghs Neck. Case continued to pay fine until Monday.

Edward McLaughiin was sent to the State farm for vagrancy at Holbrook.

MAKING COFFINS.

The First Job of C. E. White at Panama.

Heavy Mortality Among Negroes.

Met a Former Quincy Boy Soon After Arrival.

At Sea, Sept 11, 1905.

We are now in the Carribean Sea and it is very rough. We go up on a sea about fifty feet and then take a tumble of about seventy five feet and ditto. We have been doing this since we left Hayti last night.

There are about twenty carpenters on this boat. They are from all parts of the United States,— New Orleans, Iowa Cincinnati, Baltimore, New York and Massachusetts. I have got a mate from Gardner, Mass. There are five of us that are going to try and live together; one is from Baltimore, one from Cincinnati, one from Gardner and one from Maine. They are all married and have two children (a boy and a girl) except the one from Maine and he has seven. We all have the same state room and are having a great time. The ship's doctor has vaccinated me for smallpox, and is filling me full of quinine for malaria; I should say for a preventative.

My ticket reads for Panama on the Pacific coast but I don't know where I am going. The boys in my crowd are going down to try and save money. We are going to get a house together and do our own cooking and washing, and not drink a thing.

"Stockelberg" just come into my stateroom and we had quite a talk. He said that we would probably go to Panama and be sent out in bunches from there.

Tuesday, Sept. 12, A. M.

I have just had coffee. We have four meals on the boat. Hot coffee and rolls at six o'clock, breakfast at nine o'clock, lunch at one-thirty and dinner at six-thirty. We have a wireless telegraph outfit on board and have been sending and receiving messages ever since starting

We have only seen land six hours since we left New York, Cuba and Hayti; but in about four hours we will sight Colon. He have not made a single stop, or the engines have not stopped since last Wednesday noon. I am taking 5 gr. Quinine pills, so that when I strike land my blood will be full of it; the doctor said that the malaria germs will not take, if your blood is full of it.

Thursday, Sept. 14.

When we got to Colon they took me away from my crowd and sent me to Panama with five other men, out of forty-eight carpenters, and I am working on the Pacific ocean, in the U. S. Hospital.

Yesterday I started on making coffins to pack away the Negroes. They are made of California red wood and painted black. The "boss" said it was a—of a job to put a new man on, and I told him it looked very encouraging; but he said he would give me something else to do as soon as he could.

This forenoon I was sent to the Negroes yellow fever ward for a short job. This afternoon my mate and myself started on putting up portable houses for the doctors. We have five to put up. They are two stories high and have four rooms and a kitchen. They come in pieces about 10x3 feet, and all bolt together; the only tools needed are a hammer and a monkey-wrench. My arm is sore as the deuce; the vaccination is taking in great shape.

I just went to supper and who did I meet but George Foster. Remember him? He is working on the railroad yards at Colon and came over on a freight. If I can hold this hospital job I will be satisfied; we are up on a mountain on the coast of the Pacific, and it is the most healthy place on the Isthmus.

It costs me twenty-three dollars a month for my board and I set the hotel man for a month. I sleep on a cot bed in a cage made of mosquito netting with a piece of eight ounce canvas for a blanket. It rains every two or three hours every day; it is the rainy season, but we don't lose any time.

There are no windows in any of the houses. The windows and doors are open all the time, all the year around, except when the rain blows in, but that don't happen very often because the roofs overhang about eight feet.

It is a fine hospital; the Negroes have one part and the civilized people another. One of the boys sent over with me went to the hospital this forenoon with fever and he came from New Orleans at that; he said he could stand the climate and did not take any medicine. I got vaccinated and am taking quinine also and I never felt better in my life, but of course I am not going to crow yet.

Whiskey is $3.50 a quart in Panama money which is worth half as much as our money. We have two hours for nooning, and if a man can keep his health it is the biggest snap in carpentering work I ever saw. The bosses say don't hurry, take your time. They are taking out "stiffs" and putting new ones in to take their place all the time, day and night. There is one grave yard here called "Monkey hill" with over forty-thousand buried. There is only one other grave yard and that is on the other end of the Isthmus at Colon, on the Atlantic side.

Friday, Sept. 15.

I am back again making coffins; they are behind on orders; they took a load this forenoon and cleaned them all out. If it keeps on in this way they will have half the carpenters making coffins; they are all for negroes and it is a wonder they are not all dead; they are so "rotten." There are no white people sick here that I know of.

I am working in the mill; there are a band saw, circular saw, etc. We have two hours for dinner from eleven to one and when it rains the outside men loaf without loss of pay, and it rains every day.

Oranges and cocoanuts grow everywhere, and bananas in Colon.

I send in this letter a five cent Panama piece worth two and one-half cents in our money. We don't have any U. S. money here, and when we buy anything they give us Panama money in change. If you buy five cents worth of anything and give a ten dollar bill, you will get nineteen dollars and ninety cents change in silver, weighing about ten pounds. I will write again Sunday. Charles E. White.

MILTON.

NINE MAYORS.

And Nineteen Ex-Mayors on an Outing at Quincy.

The Massachusetts Mayor's club held an outing at Quincy on Wednesday. The party arrived from Boston on the 10.27 train embarking at Wollaston. They were met by Mayor Thompson, ex-Mayor Hall, the president of the club, and ex-Mayor Porter the treasurer. Carriages were immediately taken for a ride about the city. The party visited the First church and saw the sarcophagi in which are the remains of the two Presidents. They then visited the new power station of the street railway at Quincy Point and the works of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. At the Squantum Inn a shore dinner was served by Lee.

In the party besides the Quincy gentlemen were:

Mayor Peterson of Salem.
Mayor Hervey of Waltham.
Mayor Wallis of Beverly.
Mayor Pritchard of Newton.
Mayor Daly of Cambridge.
Mayor Keith of Brockton.
Mayor Parson of Marlboro.
Mayor Lynch of Lawrence.

Birthday Reception.

Gen. Warren B. Stetson, who was born in this city and is a brother of A. W. and Miss Ella Stetson and Mrs. H. O. Studley celebrated his 63d birthday at his beautiful home in Middleboro, informally on Tuesday, and received the congratulations of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Stetson served as a member of the 4th battalion of rifles at Fort Independence, enlisting in May, 1861. Later he enlisted in the 13th Mass. volunteer infantry, and served until discharged. In 1898-99 he was assistant general and in the local post has taken a prominent part. Now he is commander of the Massachusetts division of the U. V. U. and second in command in the Plymouth County G. A. R. association. He enjoys the best of health.

Lizzie M. Gordon.

The funeral of Miss Lizzie M. Gordon was held Wednesday afternoon from her late residence on Gordon street, and was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. N. J. Sproule of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. E. N. Hardy of Bethany church. She leaves a brother and an aunt to mourn her loss.

The floral pieces were as follows:

Spray of pinks and roses, Mrs. Farquhar.

NOW EIGHTY TWO.

Henry H. Faxon Receiving Many Congratulations Today.

Henry H. Faxon, whose fight against the evils of the liquor traffic has made him widely and well known throughout New England, is observing his 82d birthday anniversary today. Mr. Faxon passed the day in a quiet way, receiving a number of his friends informally.

During the early morning he was about City Square enjoying his morning walk. During his walk he was stopped by many who were cognizant of the fact that it was his birthday who extended congratulations. A little later he returned to his home where there was almost an endless line of callers.

Although Mr. Faxon is not as vigorous as he has been in past years, his health is comparatively good, and his interest in current events is as keen as ever. He has, however, to depend largely upon the services of his secretary, Miss Brown, to keep him in touch with local affairs, more particularly to anything pertaining to the liquor traffic.

The Attorney-Generalship Contest.

The returns from the caucuses are most encouraging to the supporters of District Attorney French. Apparently the claims which have been made for him upon the ground of fitness and locality have been met with the recognition which they deserve. The committee in charge of his campaign assert that with those delegates whom the press concedes to be pledged to him, those that have been elected as favorable to his candidacy, and others as to whose preference they have direct and positive knowledge, Mr. French will lead on the first ballot.

Upon the question of second choice, no candidate stands in so advantageous a position. It looks as if Norfolk and Plymouth Counties, which have been so long unrepresented upon the state ticket and of which Mr. French is admitted to have the solid support, would at last receive recognition. It must be very gratifying to Mr. French to be assured that he is so emphatically vouched for by those who know him best, and who are best able to judge of his calibre as a lawyer and as a public servant. His friends should bear in mind, however, that he is not in the fight to obtain a complimentary vote, but that he is in to win, and they should go into the convention determined to stand by him until the contest is decided.

Capt. Slocum Tonight.

Capt. Slocum, who will relate the experiences of his lone voyage around the world in the sloop Spray at Bethany chapel this evening, is well educated and also witty, a good combination to ensure an interesting talk and an enjoyable evening. The proceeds will be devoted to charity by Unity circle of King's Daughters, under whose auspices the lecture is given. It will be illustrated by the stereopticon.

Linscott Sentenced.

The cases against A. A. Linscott, formerly a Quincy jeweller, came up in the Superior court at Dedham, on Wednesday for sentence. On the complaint for larceny of money from Patrick Fleming of West Quincy, he was sentenced to one year in the house of correction. The other complaints against him were placed on file. The Fleming case was the one where it was alleged that Linscott was given $1,000 to send to the old country, but did not do so.

Matinee Whist.

At the first matinee whist party of the season given Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield, Granite street, there were six tables in play, and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. The successful ones were: Mrs. Pineo, a foot rest; Mrs. G. F. Spooner, battenburg centerpiece; Mrs. John Thomas, sofa pillow; Mrs. Wm. Westland, towels; Mrs. Jennie Langhorne, apron; Mrs. Isabella Davidson, table mat.

Roller Skating.

Last evening at the Coliseum was quite a gala occasion fully 500 being in attendance, a great number of them skating, among which were many of our well known citizens. The music was furnished by Castelluccus American Band of Weymouth of 30 pieces. The tenor soloist, Mr. Irving F. Joy, made a very distinct hit in his singing. He was accompanied by the face band.

Tonight and Friday night the Roma Band of Boston will furnish the music. On Saturday evening the full American Band of 30 pieces will again return.

Mr. Joy will render vocal selections each evening.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit. Mich.

NO POSITIVE CLUE

Identity of Dress Suit Case Torso Remains Unknown

PERPETRATOR OF CRIME

He May Be Eventually Apprehended Through Information Furnished by Pawnbroker--Searching For Missing Portions of Woman's Body

Boston, Sept. 28.—After nearly a week of the most untiring and diligent investigation by the police departments of this city and of Winthrop the identity of the unknown woman, whose dismembered body was found in a dress suit case in the waters of Winthrop bay, remains unknown, and no positive clue to the perpetrator of the revolting crime has been discovered.

Considerable progress, however, has been made, and the police feel assured that the number of articles found have a pertinent bearing on the crime and will lead to the ultimate apprehension of the culprit. Even if arrests were made, the police state that they must be able to positively identify the dead woman before the case could be prosecuted successfully. To this end they are bending their combined efforts.

In the belief that the head, arms and legs of the victim may have been cast into Winthrop cove at the same time and near the same place as the dress suit case containing the torso, divers are now searching all the submarine territory of the bay. As yet their efforts have not been rewarded. Lest the missing members had been deposited among ash or garbage receptacles, the head of the sanitary department has given instructions that everything be carefully scrutinized. While the police do not look for results from this avenue, they do not intend to neglect any possible channel.

The police attach the greatest importance to the discovery that two dress suit cases were purchased last week in a South End pawnbroker's shop. The dress suit case in the possession of the state police has been identified by Joseph Berkman, the pawnbroker, as one that a stranger purchased. The authorities are of the opinion that the missing members of the woman's body were placed in the other dress suit case and disposed of in the same manner. Some, however, doubt than an ordinary dress suit case could hold the head and limbs. Mr. Berkman has given the police a fairly good description of the purchaser of the dress suit cases, but the probability is that the man has gone from the city and has eluded the police.

The facts of the purchase of the dress suit cases in the South End, and the wrapping paper, which was about the bundle of clothes found on the Winthrop shore, coming from 2 Dalton street, have directed attention again to the Back Bay district and to the possibility of the deed having been committed there. This is somewhat strengthened by the allegation that a man brought the larger dress suit case to be repaired by a harness maker near the store of Mrs. R. O. Burnham at 2 Dalton street.

Three blonde hairs promise to play a significant part in the investigation. Three finds have been made by the police or by citizens and in each instance a blonde hair has accompanied the find. In the dress suit case with the woman's torso there was a blonde hair, and on a man's mackintosh and a bed quilt, both taken from the water yesterday, were blonde hairs. The report of the medical examiner contained the assertion that the woman was a blonde. The three hairs will be submitted to microscopic examination to determine the likeness as to color and texture.

Additional evidence has come to light which tends further to direct police attention to the Back Bay district in the vicinity of Dalton street. It appears that on Sept. 16, five days preceding the finding of the dress suit case, a policeman who patrols a part of the Back Bay district saw a man and woman alight from a street car at the corner of Huntington avenue and West Newton street. The officer recognized the man as a doctor who for some time has been suspected by the police as a practitioner of criminal operations. He formerly had an office in the West End and later moved to the South End. The woman had the appearance of a nurse and carried a bundle, suggesting her profession.

The officer followed them and saw them enter a house on Dalton or Dundee street. The police are withholding the name of the doctor and the exact location of the house, which, however, is under surveillance. It is understood the doctor has disappeared.

Thinks Treaty Hurts Russia

St. Petersburg, Sept. 28.—The Novoe Vremya, commenting on the Anglo-Japanese treaty, assumes an alarmist tone, expressing dissatisfaction with the treaty, which, it says, is directed against all the powers having political interests in Asia and especially against Russia, which has most extensive interests there.

Pythians' New Insurance Rates

Washington, Sept. 28.—The improved order of Knights of Pythias, now in session here, adopted a scale of graded insurance rates, to be fixed according to age after the manner of the regular insurance companies, to take the place of the assessment feature.

DRAPER'S PLURALITY

Makes It Certain That He Will Be Guild's Running Mate

Boston, Sept. 28.—Eben S. Draper of Hopedale is assured of the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor on the first ballot in the state convention as the result of the Republican caucuses. The total number of delegates to which the convention is entitled is 1612, and Draper will probably have nearly 1100 of them on the first ballot. He has practically swept the state. The great counties of Middlesex, Suffolk, Worcester and Essex all went solidly for him.

Judge Hall will have his own home counties and some scattering votes, and Goetting will have a good support in the western counties, but the Guild-Draper ticket is as good as nominated now.

No matter how it is viewed, the exceedingly small vote which Hall secured must be regarded as a slap at the reciprocity movement. Hall was the accepted candidate of that organization, and in Boston, the chief commercial city of the state, he secures a scant five delegates.

As regards the attorney generalship, the air will be vocal, from now on until the convention makes a nomination, with the cries of the campaign managers of the several candidates. Regardless of noisy and conflicting claims, some of the shrewdest politicians in the state expect to see Malone eventually win.

Says Certificates Were Genuine

Providence, Sept. 28.—According to a telegram received by F. W. Tillinghast, a local attorney, from W. O. Gilman of this city, who is under arrest at San Francisco, together with Aubrey L. Rice, on the charge of having fraudulently obtained $6500 from the United National bank of this city, Gilman has signified his intention of taking action in regard to the charges made against him. Gilman asserts that the stock certificates upon which the money was obtained were genuine.

Divinity School Without Dean

New Haven, Sept. 28.—No dean of the Yale Divinity school to take the place of Rev. Frank K. Sanders, who resigned last term, has been named, as there are no funds available for salary. Instead there has been a rearrangement of the faculty and Professor Curtiss will preside as chairman. Other duties usually assumed by the dean have been divided among other professors.

Stevens Case Goes to Grand Jury

Peabody, Mass., Sept. 28.—Captain Walter C. Stevens of Melrose, an officer in the Massachusetts signal corps, charged with arson, had his case come up for continuance before Justice Merrill and he was held for the next sitting of the grand jury. His bonds were increased from $500 to $1000. Stevens is accused of having attempted to burn a building owned by him in East Peabody.

For Uniform Insurance Laws

Bretton Woods, N. H., Sept. 28.—At the national convention of state insurance commissioners here F. H. Nash, assistant attorney general for Massachusetts, discussed "Federal Supervision of Insurance Companies." The general tenor of his address was in opposition to federal supervision, although he believed that insurance laws of the various states should be more uniform.

Dull Democratic Caucuses

Boston, Sept. 28.—With only a few local contests for minor offices to arouse enthusiasm and practically no candidate for governor, there was very little interest manifested in the Democratic caucuses held generally through the state. In many places scarcely a dozen votes were thrown for the delegations which had been nominated a week ago.

Live Wire Brought Death

Randolph, Mass., Sept. 28.—Fred S. French, manager of the local exchange of the New England Telephone company, was hurled from the top of a pole where he was working by coming in contact with a live wire, striking on his head. He died last night. French was born here 41 years ago and was unmarried.

Not Guilty of Manslaughter

Dedham, Mass., Sept. 28.—The jury in the case of Bernard McDonnell of East Boston, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Michael J. Connors at Franklin, returned a verdict of not guilty. Judge Schofield then ordered the defendant discharged.

Increase of Suicides In Maine

Augusta, Me., Sept. 28.—From figures compiled by Dr. Young, registrar of vital statistics, it is found that during the past year in this state 77 persons committed suicide, against 50 for the preceding year. Of the number 60 were males and 17 females.

Working Classes Against Dynasty

Vienna, Sept. 28.—The debate on the government's declaration of policy was continued yesterday in the lower house of the reichrath. Herr Poirnerstoffer contended that the hostility of the premier to universal suffrage had aroused the working classes against the dynasty. The premier, he said, should take care that the revolutionary flames now raging in Russia did not spread to Austria.

Alleged Theft of $250,000 Worth

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 28.—Frederick Merker, employed as a shipping clerk by the Singer Sewing Machine company, was arrested on a charge of stealing $250,000 worth of machine parts from the company. He was held without bail for trial. Merker had charge of the shipment of parts of sewing machines to agents.

CITY BREVITIES.

Capt. Slocum tonight.

Hancock street near the fountain in City Square is being resurfaced.

Within a month nominations must be filed for the city caucuses which take place early in November.

The colors of the Quincy league football team are maroon and blue, while those of the Fore River team are dark blue and white.

A social of the Is of Bethany church was held Tuesday evening with Miss Jessie Pratt of Coddington street, which was largely attended.

The one round from Box 69 at 4.32 Wednesday afternoon was a false alarm. Some boys were playing near the box, when one of them opened it, pulled the hook part way down. Then they ran away.

Some good material for a football team has been found at the Quincy High school this year, and the first practice game will be played with Weymouth High at the Park next Tuesday afternoon.

Those persons interested in bridge construction should take a look at the masonry on Hancock street. Just at present, viewing it from the Atlantic station it raises great question marks as to its symmetry. Time will tell—if the time of completion ever comes.

The crowd that took dinner at the Squantum inn last Sunday speaks well for its popularity. A party from Wollaston who dined there, waited over two hours for service and then were obliged to have a private dining-room. Autos lined both sides of the street and all day machines of every description wended their way Squantumward. The inn closes next Monday after a most prosperous season.

Brockton's Fair.

The cattle exhibit at the Brockton Fair is well worth your notice. The old-time cattle show with its dingy and gloomy barns and sheds has given way to the broad, roomy and well lighted stables, a benefit to the occupants and spectators alike. At the Brockton Fair are provided 600 feet of roomy barns, 42 feet in width, for the cattle alone. Some of the best blooded stock in the country can be seen at this fair, judged and displayed in a ring of generous proportions. Besides special prizes, $3,500 is awarded in premiums in this department alone. The Horse show, races, stage show, art and crafts exhibit, Firemen's muster, poultry exhibit, and all the features that have made the Brockton Fair famous are retained, and many new ones added. Knabenshue and his air-ship, a $5,000 feature, is alone worth coming many miles to see. October 4 will be Governor's day, and October 5 will be Boston day.

Fusionists Hopelessly Disagree

New York, Sept. 28.—Five minutes sufficed to dissipate hope of fusion between the Republicans, the Citizens' union and the Municipal Ownership league on a city ticket, when representatives of the three parties met last night and received the report of the conference committee that they were unable to agree on candidates.

Gaynor and Greene to Return

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 28.—A dispatch to The Post Standard from its Montreal correspondent says that John F. Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene have abandoned all hope of successfully resisting extradition and that all they hope for is a fair trial in Georgia.

Old Ironsides' Fate Waits

Washington, Sept. 28.—Secretary Bonaparte has advised parties in Brooklyn, who have had communication with him in reference to the sale of the frigate Constitution, that he will not take up the matter until congress meets.

Satisfied With American Rule

Washington, Sept. 28.—Commander Dyer, naval governor of Guam, reports that the natives are well pleased with the sovereignty of the United States and that there is no sentiment among them for independent government.

SYNDICATE DEALS

Further Light on Doings of the Equitable Life

DEPEW A PARTICIPANT

Senator Asked to Appear Before Investigators--A Case Where $218,100 Was Put Up, With No Return of Cash or Interest

New York, Sept. 28.—Wednesday's session of the legislative committee to investigate insurance methods was given over to inquiring further into the syndicate transactions of the Equitable Life Assurance society. Henry R. Winthrop, assistant secretary and financial manager of the society, was again the witness, and many of his statements were accompanied by typewritten documents giving the various transactions in detail. It was brought out that in one of these syndicates Senator Chauncey M. Depew was a participant to the extent of $100,000, and the senator was requested to appear before the committee.

Mr. Winthrop was unable to find where a record of the profits from a number of the syndicate transactions was made, but expert accountants now at work on the books of the society are expected to unearth these later. The witness also detailed a number of loans to the Equitable Trust and Mercantile Trust company, as well as the sharing of these companies in syndicates with the Equitable society.

Henry Greaves, who was a clerk for George H. Squire, formerly a member of the finance committee, was called to supply some information regarding the "George H. Squire, trustee," account, and from him it was learned that there were a number of these accounts. There was, besides the "George H. Squire, trustee," account, the "Marcellus Hartley, trustee," account and another, the "J. W. Alexander, trustee," account. Greaves produced the bank book of the Squire account and by means of it Mr. Hughes tried to trace amounts that would correspond to profits to this account, but the witness could not remember the items deposited.

Mr. Greaves, however, gave way temporarily to Winthrop, whom Hughes queried further regarding syndicates. Winthrop was asked to furnish a list of the individual participants in the syndicates, and said that President Morton was preparing such a statement. Winthrop said he had no positive information of the James H. Hyde and associate syndicates, but he expects he will have.

Mr. Winthrop said that in the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington and Long Island 4s syndicate, managed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., there were two participations, one of $500,000, the other of $100,000. The society derived profits of $2386 on the $100,000, while J. W. Alexander, J. W. Hyde, G. H. Squire and W. H. McIntyre divided the profits on the $500,000. The Equitable put up $218,100. It has received no interest, neither has the money been returned, and when asked if the matter had been called to the attention of these men Winthrop said: "It will be."

Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has been subpoenaed. Schiff will be asked about the transactions of his firm with the New York Life Insurance company, as well as with the Equitable Life Assurance society.

Congressman's Slayer Admits Deed

Cienfuegos, Sept. 28.—In connection with the disorders which resulted in the killing of Congressman Villuendas and Chief of Police Illance, indictments have been found against 12 persons, three of whom are held without bail and the remainder admitted to bail in $5000 each. A rural guard who is in a hospital, seriously wounded, says that he killed Villuendas after he himself had been wounded.

Subway Tavern a Failure

New York, Sept. 28.—The Subway tavern, a saloon which was opened with prayer by Bishop Potter a year ago, was closed for good last night. The Subway tavern ended its existence as a temperance experiment on the first of the present month, and has since been running as an ordinary saloon in an effort to make it more profitable, its patronage having dwindled away.

Dangerous Agitator Deported

Havana, Sept. 28.—The Italian agitator, Jose Pinnino, was deported to Cartagena on board a cattle steamer. Pinnino desired the privilege of paying first-class fare to New York, but as President Palma's decree ordered his deportation on the first steamer leaving Havana, the secret police obeyed the order to the letter. Pinnino had been expelled from Italy.

Swap Blots Out a State

Brussels, Sept. 28.—An agreement has been reached between the Belgian and Prussian governments for the cession to Belgium of the neutral territory of Moresnet in exchange for a strip of land adjoining the town of Eupen in Prussia, close to the Belgian frontier. Thus the smallest European state has been blotted out.

Nova Scotia Coal Strike Settled

Springhill, N. S., Sept. 28.—The strike at the Springhill Coal company's mines has been settled, the management having practically conceded all the demands of the men. The men returned to their posts last evening.

RIOTS AT BUDAPEST

Hungarian Feeling Against the Dynasty Is Increasing

Budapest, Sept. 28.—Between 40 and 50 persons were injured in riots here last evening when Socialists and adherents of the coalition parties clashed opposite the Royal hotel, and for two hours there were scenes of tremendous excitement. The Royal hotel is the headquarters of the Independence club, in which is the council room of the coalition leaders.

At 8 o'clock about 1500 Socialists gathered outside the Independence club and announced their intention of entering and tearing down the council room. A large force of police was present, assisted by 150 leading citizens.

The mob made an effort to enter, but was vigorously opposed by the police. A fight ensued and amid the wildest clamor a number of persons were stabbed, but the Socialists were finally scattered. Fifteen minutes later, however, the Socialists again gathered. By this time adherents of the coalition in large numbers appeared upon the scene and their appearance resulted in a free fight between the two factions. Knives, sticks and stones were used vigorously.

In the meantime a thunderstorm came up and vivid lightning lit up the square while the thunder added a note of terror. Rain fell in torrents and dampened the ardor of the combatants, who were finally dispersed by the police.

The general situation certainly has grown worse, while the feeling throughout Hungary against the dynasty is increasing. Revolutionary cries are frequently heard in the streets and an element of the population is endeavoring to stir up the passions of the people.

Monster Explosion Comes Today

Port Said, Sept. 28.—The blowing up of the British steamer Chatham, which was sunk in the canal Sept. 6 owing to the fact that she was on fire and that the flames threatened to reach a quantity of dynamite, which formed part of her cargo, will take place today. There are nearly 90 tons of dynamite and other explosives on the vessel, and much curiosity, not to say fear, is entertained here concerning the result of the explosion.

Disease In Naval Academy

Washington, Sept. 28.—Owing to cases of diphtheria among the midshipmen at the naval academy at Annapolis, the secretary of the navy announces that the return of the midshipmen to the naval academy, now on leave, will be postponed until Oct. 7. There are nine fully developed cases of diphtheria and 12 more in which there are symptoms of the disease. There are also five cases of typhoid fever.

Russian Loan to Be $150,000,000

Paris, Sept. 28.—Banking circles here are much interested in the anticipated new Russian loan. The best informed financiers place the amount of the loan at $150,000,000. Some bankers express the belief that the cost of bringing home the Manchurian army and the internal reorganization of Russia will require more than $150,000,000.

Death of Wheeler Peckham

New York, Sept. 28.—Wheeler H. Peckham, the lawyer, died suddenly here in his office. Paralysis is thought to have caused his death. Peckham was born at Albany and was 73 years old. In 1894 he was appointed to the federal supreme court by President Cleveland. The senate refused to confirm his nomination.

Ministers Needed In Politics

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 28.—During the session of the Unitarian congress Rev. Dr. R. W. Boynton of St. Paul took occasion in his address to declare "that ministers as well as laymen should take a hand in politics when a state of affairs exists such as in Philadelphia at present."

Ring Investigation Ended

Washington, Sept. 28.—The naval court of inquiry appointed to investigate the administration of Pay Director Ring, as general storekeeper at the navy yard, Boston, has concluded its sessions and is now engaged in the preparation of its report to the secretary of the navy.

Serious Tumble In Bathtub

Washington, Sept. 28.—General P. C. Hains, one of the members of the Panama canal commission, will not be able to accompany the board to Panama by reason of injuries received from a fall in the bathtub at his apartments. His head was seriously injured.

Open Shop Successful

Chicago, Sept. 28.—According to an official statement issued by the Chicago Typothetae, 465 men are now working nine hours a day in 32 shops under open shop conditions, as against 440 union men who quit work when the strike was ordered.

Ship and All Hands Lost

Adelaide, Australia, Sept. 28.—The wreckage washed ashore on Kangaroo island points to the loss, with all hands, of the ship Loch Vennachar, which left the Clyde June 14 bound to Adelaide and Melbourne.

Discontented on the Isthmus

Colon, Sept. 28.—Steamer Trent sailed yesterday for West Indian ports, having on board 150 laborers who were going home owing to discontent with the life on the isthmus.

SURGERY IN NAVY

Interesting Discourse by a Japanese Official

TREATMENT OF WOUNDED

Rendered Successful by Bathing and Donning of Clean Underwear Before Battle--Conning Tower Dangerous--Gunners' Eyes Carefully Inspected

Detroit, Sept. 28.—General Suzuki of the imperial Japanese navy, in an address before the convention of military surgeons of the United States, made what was declared by Medical Director Wise of the United States navy to be the most valuable contribution of modern times to naval surgery.

He described in detail the surgical methods used in the Japanese fleet; told how surgeons before every engagement carefully inspected the eyes of all gunners on the warships; how the ears of every man in the fleet were plugged with cotton before the firing began and how Admiral Togo fought his fleet from the compass bridge of the Mikasa, instead of the conning tower.

"Much of our success in the treatment of wounded," said Dr. Suzuki, "I ascribe to the fact that before every engagement I ordered each member of the crew to bathe and put on perfectly clean underclothing. In a great many shot wounds fragments of clothing are carried into the body and our insistence upon clean underclothing prevented many cases of blood poisoning among our wounded.

"Our experience during the war proved that the conning tower of a warship is a most dangerous situation. Fragments of shell penetrate through the slits in the tower made to furnish the commanding officer a range of vision, and do great damage. Realizing this fact, Admiral Togo, in all the naval engagements, directed his fleet from the compass bridge of the Mikasa, without receiving at any time the slightest wound.

"The vision of the men who fire the guns of the warship must necessarily be of the very best if their shots are to count. Before every engagement the surgeons examined the eyes of the gunners. Any of them found with slight impairment of vision were treated, and if the impairment was too grave to yield to immediate treatment they were transferred to another station and their places filled by men whose eyes were perfect. And, too, during engagements, every battery crew was supplied with water in which a 1 percent solution of boracic acid had been mixed to wash out their eyes when they became affected by powder smoke or dust."

Dr. Suzuki said that by the issuance of quantities of extra heavy clothing, gloves and boots, the crews of the Japanese ships were so well fortified against cold that, despite the winter operations against Port Arthur, not one case of frost bite was brought into the surgeries of the ships. The issuance of large brimmed straw hats during the summer also, he said, prevented any sunstrokes among the crews of the fleet.

Dr. Suzuki described the aseptic methods used in the Japanese navy which, he said, are practically the same as those used by the rest of the world. He said the Japanese surgeons had discovered that it is impracticable during action to attempt anything but the most necessary first dressing of severe wounds. After the action is over, he said, the surgery should be made ready for the absolutely necessary major operations, but in all cases where possible the wounded men should be hurried to a base hospital before being operated upon.

Discussing the location of surgeries on warships, he said that the Japanese experience had been that they should be located below the water line, as locations above that point are too exposed to the enemy's fire. He urged the necessity for removing from the decks of warships all objects not absolutely necessary to the operation of the ship, and described how 23 men were killed and wounded on the Mikasa by fragments of a semaphore which was struck by a shell.

Anglo-Japanese Ship Combine

Liverpool, Sept. 28.—It is understood that an Anglo-Japanese shipowning and carrying combine, with a capital estimated at $25,000,000, has been arranged. It is stated that the combine will have some 40 steamers, which have been acquired by the Japanese government for transport work. It is understood that the Japanese government has granted concessions for warehouses and docks.

Drops Presidential Fight

Havana, Sept. 28.—Jose M. Gomez, governor of the province of Santa Clara, who was nominated by the Liberals for the presidency, has resigned his candidacy. In letters to the executive committee of his party he gives the reasons for his action, laying part of the blame on the United States, owing to the Platt amendment.

Long Distance Wireless Message

Washington, Sept. 28.—Rear Admiral Remey, chief of the bureau of equipment of the navy department, received a message at the wireless station at the Washington navy yard direct from the Newport, R. I., station. The distance is about 320 miles.

Conflagration at Colon

Colon, Sept. 28.—By sheer good luck the city of Colon was saved from complete destruction by fire. The scene of the fire was next to the residence of the Spanish consul, 100 yards from the railroad, the main buildings of which were completely demolished in less than 30 minutes. The fire completely destroyed three hotels, several liquor establishments and tenement houses and a large building containing the postoffice, the offices of the municipality, of Governor Melendez, the port inspectors, the judiciary and other offices. The treasury building also was burned.

Will Benefit All Nations

London, Sept. 28.—According to the correspondent of The Standard at Tokio, Marquis Ito, discussing the new Anglo-Japanese treaty said: "The time will soon come when the world will realize the full beneficial significance of this agreement. The peace, now happily restored by our treaty with Russia, and so strongly guaranteed by this new alliance, will usher in a new period of phenomenal commercial and economic development as well as advanced civilization in the Far East. All the nations are welcome to a full share in the resultant increase of trade."

Ransom Demanded For Boy's Return

New York, Sept. 28.—Threats have been received by mail by the parents of Antonio Marcondina, 6 years old, who disappeared from his home in Brooklyn on Sunday, that if a ransom of $500 is not paid the child will be killed and his body sent home in a box. The police were notified and search is being made for the kidnappers. The boy's father is a foreman of Italian laborers.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Saturday will be the last day of the month.

The F. D. Fellows Co. invite you to come in for a look.

Are you going to the Brockton Fair? If not, why not?

Expect good weather next week—the Brockton fair is usually favored.

Miss Gertrude M. Dole of Boston visited Quincy relatives this week.

Randolph is now the town that is getting after the automobile speeders.

Mr. Bell and family of East Howard street have moved to Quincy avenue.

Twelve days without a death was the was the record of Quincy in September 1886.

Lieut. Daniel R. McKay of the Police department is having his annual vacation.

A cellar has been built for a new house, corner of Main and Sumner streets.

Several Quincy juveniles were arraigned in the juvenile court this morning.

Carl R. Derby is now in the clothing department of the Henry Siegel Company, Boston.

There was a great demand for Daily Ledgers yesterday, and an extra large edition was exhausted.

The new block on Granite street is beginning to show some of the work that is being done upon it.

It will be a year tomorrow that Gov. Bates laid the corner stone of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. building.

Mrs. Solon Perry, who has been on a visit to her son, E. J. T. Dexter, at Randolph, returns this week to Saxton's River, Vt.

Mrs. E. F. Bush, Mrs. Lucy Marsh and Miss Marsh are enjoying a drive to New Hampshire, Bradford being the objective point.

Quincy was represented at the Universalist State convention which opened in Roxbury on Wednesday with over 200 in attendance.

The Quincy branch of the Plymouth Business School has an evening school for shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping and English branches.

The county delegates elected at the Democratic caucuses in Dedham were instructed to vote for the renomination of Marshall P. Wright of Quincy.

Talent is being selected for an "Imperial Vaudeville" to be given in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry some time in November under the management of R. C. Baker.

Those who could not vote in the caucuses should vote in the Daily Ledger free scholarship. It is not too late to place other candidates in nomination. Vote early and often.

Next Saturday evening the full American Band of East Weymouth of 30 pieces with Irving F. Joy soloist, will furnish the music and concert at the roller skating at the Coliseum. Tonight and tomorrow night the Roma Band of Boston.

Among the visitors to the Dorothy Q. house on Wednesday were: Mrs. Harmon M. Hubbard and son, Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. James F. McDowell, 260 Newbury street, Boston; Miss Minnie McDowell and Mary I. Butler, South Boston; Mary A. Butler, East Boston; Mrs. Israel Putman Black, Miss A. H. ## THE BLANK VOTES.

Who Cast the Ballots at the Joint Caucuses?

Much interest was taken in the blank votes cast for Representatives at the caucuses on Tuesday, as a solution to "how it happened." A voter who casts bullets, however, only throws half his strength.

In a few cases men did not vote for any candidates for Representatives, thereby counting two blanks. The number of Republican votes cast in each ward and the number of blanks is shown below:

| | Vote Cast. | Blanks. |
|---|---|---|
| Ward One, | 425 | 103 |
| Ward Two, | 208 | 56 |
| Ward Three, | 377 | 97 |
| Ward Four, | 228 | 86 |
| Ward Five, | 351 | 72 |
| Ward Six, | 160 | 23 |
| | 1747 | 437 |

Any candidate would have been pleased to have received all the blanks, as the 437 added to the 212 of Mr. Baxter, the low man, would have given him the nomination. Had either Mr. Freeman or Mr. Nicol received twenty of the blanks they would have won.

There were more blanks in Ward One than any other ward, but there were only 6 more than Ward Three which cast 48 less votes. Ward Four had more in proportion to the vote cast than any other ward, but over one in five at Wollaston cast a blank.

The bullets cannot all be charged up against any particular candidate, as there were some for each. In Ward One there were several for Mr. Freeman as well as Mr. Sandberg and others.

The caucuses were unusually well attended, over 1,700 Republican tickets having been cast, or 656 more than last September. Ward Three, as well as Ward One, cast more than Ward Five, and 228 Republican tickets were called for in Ward Four, more than in Wards Two or Six.

TODAY'S COURT.

Elmer Loring was fined $10 and Nelson E. Weeks $6.35, the amount of costs of the complaint, for exceeding the speed limit with an automobile at Randolph.

THE OLD LEADERS.

But New Rivals in Second Places in Both Lists.

Conductor Johnson has jumped today from fourth place to second place in the Daily Ledger free scholarship contest, and the vote of Engineer Johnson is larger. Clerk Cash is well up in the lead however for one of those $100 prizes. Several in the men's list have moved up, and there are seven new candidates.

Miss Bates, Miss Peterson and Miss Rounds made the best gains in the ladies' list and are now in second, third and fourth places. Gains were also made by Miss Tilton and Miss Moody, and there is a new candidate.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

MAN WHO HEARS COLOR

Mistake of Surgeon In Joining Optic and Auditory Nerves.

CAUSES PATIENT TO SEE NOISE

Red Sounds Like Deep Bass, While Blue Is Like Bells—Locomotive Whistle Violet—Sunlight Produces Sound That Is Deafening—Arranges Bouquets by the Harmony They Produce.

Recently a celebrated Berlin surgeon performed in his private sanitarium an operation on a man for brain tumor, says a Baltimore dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune. The opening of the skull disclosed the fact that the tumor was of great size and that its removal would necessitate the severing of many brain nerves.

There was nothing else to do, however, as it was a question of life or death. After the main operation had been successfully completed the cut portions of the brain were brought together, but here a mistake was made, a fact disclosed only after the patient had been conscious for some time.

The upper portion of the sight nerve was connected with the under portion of the auditory nerve, while the upper portion of the auditory nerve was connected with the under portion of the visual nerve.

The story which Herr Braun now tells is worthy of a Poe or a Rider Haggard. During the first period of convalescence the patient was not conscious of either light or sound impressions, and since that time the man has had no sense of sight or hearing in the real sense of the word.

The seventh day after the operation he awoke in the morning and groped, as was his custom, for an electric button near his bed in order to summon an attendant.

The moment, however, he touched the button there appeared, to his boundless astonishment, a wide expanse of blue light. Herr Braun here explains that the blue and violet rays of the spectrum have the shortest period of vibration and the smallest wave length and therefore correspond to high tones, while, on the other hand, red corresponds to deep tones and yellow and green to tones between these two extremes.

Thus is explained the fact that the sound of the electric bell, caught by the auditory nerves and transmitted to the connected visual nerves and then to the visual brain tract, produced the impression of blue light.

The next phase of the case appeared three days later. At this time the sight nerve suture had healed, and the second phase of the phenomena appeared. He was frequently awakened during the night by sensations of light, which were produced by the slightest noise.

On this day he was awake long before daybreak. As dawn approached he heard a gentle sound in which he was able to distinguish various allied tones. The sounds, however, dismayed him, especially as they increased in intensity. Suddenly—this at the time of the sun's appearance—the noises became deafening, and the man, horrified, sprang out of bed and rushed in the direction of the window.

However, his trouble was only increased by this move, for, while he had up to that time heard only one sound, now from every side noises crowded upon him.

If he looked at the red curtain at the window (which, of course, he could not see either as curtain or window) a deep bass crashed upon him; if he glanced at the blue carpet delicate bells rang in his ears; if he looked at the white door a very bedlam burst around him. The above facts, Herr Braun says, were translated into light sensations.

If he looks at the heavens he is able to tell whether the day is clear or cloudy. Deep blue produces a loud, high and tolerably clear note, gray blue a deeper sound mingled with other noises and gray is represented by the simultaneous humming of gentle notes. He is able to recognize a room at once simply by the sounds.

Interesting experiments have been performed with flowers of many colors which have been given the patient to arrange into bouquets.

In this case certain color combinations are recognized by him as in accord, others as inharmonious, and it is remarkable that the grouping of flowers which he arranges by sounds is in every way beautiful to the eye of the spectator.

With pictures the experiments are no less interesting. Naturally the objects are not recognized, but it is more than extraordinary that Menzel's "Walzwerk" (rolling mill) produces a deafening uproar, while Bochlin's "Pieta" creates soft, gentle chords, and if the eye of the subject be allowed to pass over the entire canvas a gentle melody is heard by him.

Sounds produce equally remarkable effects. A shrill locomotive whistle is violet, the sound of a gong is translated by orange and the dropping of rain is green.

Most of the persons surrounding the man are recognized by their voices. The effect of music is particularly agreeable to the patient, and he says that the colors which are now conjured up before him by music are far more beautiful than the corresponding sounds were to him under normal conditions.

One of the most remarkable facts developed is that when the man hears Beethoven's "Pastoral Symphony" he sees the vague outline of green meadows and waving corn.

TWO FAMILY RESIDENCE.

Modern Double House With Many Attractive Features—Cost, $2,200.

[Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.]

We show herewith elevation and floor plans for a model, low cost double house. This house may be erected on a 37½ foot lot, or larger, at an estimated cost of $2,200. There is a cellar under the entire house, with twelve and eight inch walls, laid in cement mortar. The cellar floor is also of cement. The hot air furnaces in the cellar heat the entire house. The frame is of hemlock lumber. The house is sheathed and covered with two ply building paper, narrow beveled siding of cypress and white cedar shingles. The main roof is covered with cypress dimension shingles on 1 by 2 inch spruce lath.

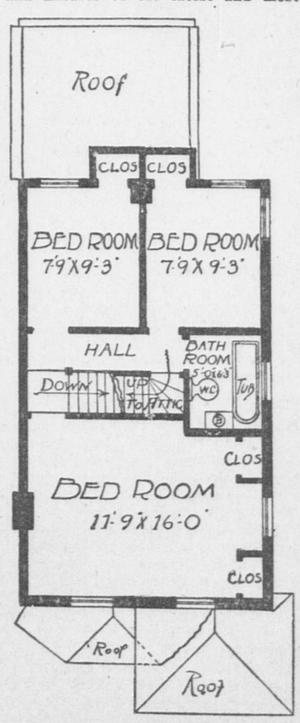

FRONT ELEVATION.

All windows except those of the cellar are fitted with outside blinds, hung with up to date hardware. The exterior woodwork is painted with two good coats of white lead linseed oil paints of such colors as may be desired. The interior walls are lathed and plastered with two good coats of patent plaster, finished white and hard. The floors are of North Carolina pine, blind nailed. The stairs are of cypress, with ash newels, rails and balusters.

RIGHT HALF OF FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

The interior trim is of one inch clear cypress. The parlors and dining rooms are fitted with quartered oak mantels, with bevel plate mirrors, tiled facings and summer pieces. The kitchens and bathrooms contain complete plumbing and fixtures of the latest and most improved make. The hardware is of plain imitation bronze, with apple wood knobs, roses and escutcheons. The building is piped for gas throughout.

RIGHT HALF OF SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

Thirty Dollars a Word.

A poet and literary man of some celebrity was visited in his study one morning by a manager of a lecture bureau, who said that he had called to ask the writer to take part in an entertainment.

"We want you to read selections from your own works, Mr. Gillespie, together with an original poem composed expressly for the occasion. Name your own price. We'll announce in the progr'm"—

"My price," interrupted Mr. Gillespie, "will be $60."

"Isn't that a little steep?"

"Not at all, everything considered."

The manager tried to beat him down to $50, but he was immovable, and the bargain was finally closed at the first named figure.

"Alpheus," said Mrs. Gillespie after the caller had gone, "wasn't that more than you intended to charge him when he first spoke?"

"Yes," he said; "it's just twice as much. But he irritated me thirty dollars' worth by calling it 'progr'm.'"

What Gave the Earth Its Motion?

You have often asked or had the question asked of you, "What gave the earth its daily motion, and how is the force of that motion kept up?" but have never been really satisfied with the answer given or the reasons therefor which you were able to advance in explanation. The astronomers are not even agreed upon this question. Some of them claim that the "original initial centrifugal force" was directed in a line slightly to one side of the center of the globe, which would, of course, cause the earth to rotate upon its axis, and by the law of inertia of matter must continue to revolve at a uniform rate of speed. This "law of the inertia of matter" is to the effect that matter once set in motion must continue to move until arrested by some outside force. Others claim that the motion is a "compound resultant of the motion of the earth in its orbit and the attraction of the sun."

How a Wound Heals.

If you have run a pin into your thumb or received a bayonet thrust precisely the same thing takes place. A myriad of white corpuscles, those tiny "first aid" cells (the phagocites) from the surrounding blood vessels and lymphatic glands at once come hurrying to the rescue. They begin to clean up whatever wreck there has been made in the skin and muscular tissue. They eagerly absorb into themselves or cluster opposingly about all foreign matter that has been introduced into the wound. Then they proceed to pile themselves tier upon tier around it like so many little sandbags about a broken bastion. Later they gradually join together and solidify into the layer of new skin which appears beneath the sloughed off scab. They are at once workmen and repairing material.—A. E. MacFarlane in McClure's.

Why He Sees Double.

The reason that a man sees double who has gazed too long on the wine when it is red is that the nerve centers are changed by the action of the alcohol. There is a want of harmony in the action of the muscles which move the eyeballs. Consequently instead of both eyes being focused simultaneously on an object one eye receives an impression independently of the other. The two impressions are communicated to the brain, and the object is therefore seen twice. The inflamed condition and loss of energy in the brain centers from overdoses of alcohol also account for the staggering gait of an intoxicated man.

How Icelanders Tie Horses.

The Icelanders have a strange but effective plan for preventing horses straying away from any particular spot. If two gentlemen happen to be riding without attendants and wish to leave their horses for any reason they tie the head of one horse to the tail of the former. In this state it is utterly impossible for the horses to move on, either backward or forward. If disposed to move at all it will be only in a circle, and even then there must be mutual agreement to turn their heads the same way.

The Money Lenders.

There are many examples of Lord Palmerston's ready wit in Sir M. E. Grant Duff's book, "Notes From a Diary." In a debate about the Jews an orator rather bored the house by enumerating many of the things which the English owed to Hebrew initiative. Lord Palmerston in reply gave the discussion a sprightlier turn. "I quite agree with the honorable gentleman," he remarked. "Many of us owe a great deal to the Jews."

Priests and Beards.

The beardless priest is only a matter of custom, there being no edict upon the subject. All of the popes from Adrian VI. to Innocent XII. and all the cardinals and other church clerics during the same period were bearded dignitaries. Ignatius Loyola, St. Francis Xavier, Francis de Sales, Vincent de Paul and the Cardinals Bellarmine and Richelieu all wore full beards.

An Awful Finish.

Hen—What makes you look so glum? Rooster—I've just been chased out of the wood shed with a feather duster. It got so close to me that I recognized the tails of three of my family.—Detroit Free Press.

A Man of Ability.

Chollie—Can you recognize ability when you see it, Miss Ruth? Miss Ruth (looking around)—Certainly. Where is any?

It cannot be too often repeated that it is not helps, but obstacles; not facilities, but difficulties, that make men.—Matthews.

PINE TREE CLUB.

Future Meetings to be Held in Hall —New Secretary.

The first meeting of the Pine Tree club was held Thursday evening at Colonial hall. About fifty members were in attendance and a pleasant evening was enjoyed.

There was a short business session the first part of the evening. It was decided that owing to the large membership the club had attained to hold future meetings at Colonial hall.

Meetings will be held every two weeks.

Samuel D. Thompson tendered his resignation as secretary of the club, his additional duties as teacher at the evening schools preventing him from giving the time necessary. His resignation was accepted with regret and Charles Chase was elected to fill the vacancy.

Then came a social hour or two, during which there was music, dancing and refreshments.

IN HIS 92d YEAR.

Death of George S. T. Whiting, an Anti-Slavery Man.

George S. T. Whiting, one of Quincy's oldest citizens, passed away at his home on Quincy avenue, today, aged 92 years and 6 months.

Mr. Whiting was born in Quincy March 29, 1814. After receiving an education, Mr. Whiting learned the bakery business. He went to Weymouth Landing, where, with two other men, a bakeshop was started. In 1834 he returned to Quincy and learned the business of making boots and shoes. In 1861 he engaged in the fish business, but after four years at this he started making boots and shoes with one of his sons, George C. He continued in the shoe business for two years, when he returned to the fish business and remained at it until he was obliged to retire in 1889, on account of accident.

On May 15, 1834, Mr. Whiting was married to Mary Ann Hidden. Six children were born to them, and of these three are living, James P., Joseph W. and Charles S.

Mr. Whiting was prominent in the anti-slavery agitation before the civil war and for four days and nights sheltered Lewis Hayden, one of the prominent slaves who escaped from the south. Mr. Whiting was also prominent in the Washingtonian movement, organized to suppress illegal liquor selling.

He was present at the organization of the first Sunday school in Quincy and was one of the first members of Bethany church. Throughout his long life Mr. Whiting never touched tobacco or intoxicating liquors in any form.

Unitarian Conference.

The Unitarian Conference at Atlantic City, in point of numbers, was the largest on record. There were present two thousand delegates from all parts of America. Four hundred delegates were present from New England, while there were good delegations from the South and West.

The Hon. Carroll D. Wright, president of the conference, opened the meetings with an address on "The Religion of George Frisbie Hoar." Senator Hoar was president of the conference for six years.

A very interesting address was made by P. Ramanathan, Solicitor General of Ceylon, one of the most notable foreign missionaries of the Unitarian church, who made the journey from India, especially to attend these meetings.

The meetings have been uncommonly interesting, and of great vigor.

Y. M. C. A. Boys.

Tomorrow morning a party of Y. M. C. A. boys will leave the city for the first outing of the fall season. Many of these outings will occur throughout the season. On the car that leaves City Square at 9.05 A. M. the party will ride to East Milton, and will "hike" from there to the top of Great Blue Hill, arriving home about 5.30 P. M. Every boy in Quincy, whether or not a member of the Y. M. C. A., is welcome. Each fellow provides his own lunch.

Sudden Death.

Patrick Desmond, who has carried on the blacksmith business on Hancock street, Wollaston, died this morning, at his home on Blake street, aged 46 years. Mr. Desmond had been ill for a week, but was not considered seriously ill, and he was out no later than Thursday. He was in his 47th year, and leaves a family.

CITY AUDITORSHIP.

Mr. Sidelinger to Retire — Two Candidates for Position.

There seems likely to be a hot contest next January for the office of City Auditor. George A. Sidelinger, the present efficient City Auditor has announced that he positively will not accept the office another year.

Two very promising candidates are already in the field for the position. They are ex-Mayor Henry O. Fairbanks and Councilman Arthur W. Loud. Both gentlemen have already begun their campaign, and councilmen who have signified their intention to return have been seen by both the candidates.

The contest seems likely to be a warm one, for it is said that several of the present City Council do not intend to return and that the City Council of 1906 will contain an unusual number of new members.

MANY GUESTS.

W. C. T. U. Women and Others Call on Henry H. Faxon.

Thursday was a busy day for Henry H. Faxon. It was his 82d birthday anniversary and he was kept busy nearly all day receiving the congratulations of a large number of his many friends who were pleasantly surprised to find him looking so well. The larger part of the callers came during the afternoon and many of them brought handsome floral offerings.

Among the callers was a delegation from the Norfolk County W. C. T. U., which was in session at Wollaston, consisting of Mrs. Ida Brown, Mrs. Janet Hill Knox, Mrs. Henry B. Raymond, Mrs. William W. Hayden, Mrs. Francis Hutchinson, Mrs. Henry C. Alvord and Mrs. Josie Lovell.

Others to call were ex-mayor B. B. Johnson of Waltham and Mrs. Horace Mann Willard of the Quincy Mansion school and twelve of the young lady students of the school; the brother and sister of Mr. Faxon and their families, and his son and family. Mr. Faxon is very proud of his little grand children.

Ices and confectionery were served during the afternoon.

Roller Skating at Coliseum.

The Roma Band of Boston furnished the music last evening at the Coliseum. It was enthusiastically received and will be there again tonight. Tomorrow night, Saturday, the Weymouth American Band, 30 pieces, will be the attraction, that with the skating will doubtless draw 1000 people. Irving F. Joy will be the soloist.

THE W. C. T. U.

Norfolk County Convention Held at Wollaston.

The annual convention of the Norfolk County W. C. T. U. was held Thursday at the Wollaston Baptist church. There was an unusually large attendance.

The convention opened with devotional exercises led by Mrs. Alice C. Alvord of Weymouth. Then followed a greeting to the delegates by Mrs. Martha J. Parker of Wollaston and a response by Mrs. Martha A. Tilton of Needham. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and were very gratifying.

The morning paper was, "Why Hold County Conventions?" and was read by Mrs. Agnes P. Haskell of Sharon. During the noon hour there was Bible reading by Mrs. F. M. Allen of Readville. Mrs. M. E. Cheney, state superintendent, also read an address on "Our State Papers."

During the afternoon session Mrs. Janette Hill Knox, State corresponding secretary, gave an address on "Some Twentieth Century Obligations of the W. C. T. U."

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ida Brown of Wollaston; secretary, Mrs. Emma N. Lewis of Needham; treasurer, Miss Augusta Crehore of Canton Junction.

High School A. A.

The Quincy High School A. A. has elected these officers:

RECOUNT EXPECTED.

Representative Freeman Will Present a Petition.

No petitions for a recount of the votes cast at the recent caucuses for Republican candidates for Representatives had been received up to noon. A petition, however, will probably be filed sometime today by Richard R. Freeman.

It is not believed, however, that the recount will change the result. As far as known there were but few contested votes. On a recount these votes will have to be thrown out. One of these votes at least was that of a gentleman in Ward One who voted for Mr. Freeman.

There is also a probability that there are others of the contested votes where crosses were also placed against the name of Mr. Freeman.

AROUND THE WORLD

Quincy People Take Voyage with Capt. Slocum of the Spray.

A large audience greeted Capt. Joshua Slocum at Bethany chapel Thursday evening, and his illustrated talk on his lone voyage around the world was exceedingly interesting. Single handed on the sloop Spray, a craft of but sixteen tons, he navigated the world in three years. Only an old sea captain familiar with voyages to foreign ports could have been successful in such an undertaking, and the captain says he would not care to undertake it again.

The lantern was operated by Melville P. Hayward of this city, by whom views were clearly shown. The speaker first showed a fine photograph of the "Northern Light," the grand ship built at Quincy Point about thirty years ago, which he had the honor to command. In marked contrast was the little sloop Spray which was next shown.

Capt. Slocum had views which he took at the different ports he entered. His adventures were mainly in the strait of Magellan and the Pacific ocean. His familiarity with the islands, the people and their customs, added much to the interest in his talk. The lecture also contained considerable witticism.

On many days the Spray sailed over 100 miles, sometimes 150. The captain says he gave the helm very little attention. The helm was lashed, and the Spray took care of herself. In a voyage of 2700 miles requiring 23 days he says he did not spend altogether more than three hours at the helm.

The lecture was a financial success and will net Unity Circle of King's Daughters a little money for their charitable work.

The Attorney-Generalship Contest.

The returns from the caucuses are most encouraging to the supporters of District Attorney French. Apparently the claims which have been made for him upon the ground of fitness and locality have been met with the recognition which they deserve. The committee in charge of his campaign assert that with those delegates whom the press concedes to be pledged to him, those that have been elected as favorable to his candidacy, and others as to whose preference they have direct and positive knowledge, Mr. French will lead on the first ballot.

Upon the question of second choice, no candidate stands in so advantageous a position. It looks as if Norfolk and Plymouth Counties, which have been so long unrepresented upon the state ticket and of which Mr. French is admitted to have the solid support, would at last receive recognition. It must be very gratifying to Mr. French to be assured that he is so emphatically vouched for by those who know him best, and who are best able to judge of his calibre as a lawyer and as a public servant. His friends should bear in mind, however, that he is not in the fight to obtain a complimentary vote, but that he is in to win, and they should go into the convention determined to stand by him until the contest is decided.

Compulsory Education.

The first lecture in the course of the Quincy Teachers' Association was given Thursday evening at High School hall by George H. Martin, secretary of the State Board of Education. There was a large attendance of Quincy teachers as well as teachers from Braintree and Weymouth, but the audience was not wholly confined to teachers.

The subject of Mr. Martin's lecture was "Child labor and compulsory education." It was the same address which he delivered last summer at the National Educational Association meeting at Asbury Park. The lecture showed considerable study and was to the point.

—The corner stone was laid Thursday for the new government building at Marblehead.

SUSPENSE ENDED

France and Germany Agree on Moroccan Conference

NATURE OF COMPROMISE

Germany's Proposition Is Realized, While France Protects Her Special Interests--The Decisions to Hold For Three Years

Paris, Sept. 29.—The Franco-German accord upon Morocco arouses the keenest satisfaction, not only on account of Morocco, but chiefly because it terminates the suspense of months which threatened to disturb the peace of Europe. Both the foreign office and the German embassy were equally gratified to close the controversy. The final formalities brought out an exchange of cordial felicitations between Premier Rouvier and Ambassador Radolin and the plenipotentiaries, Messrs. Rosen and Revoil.

The accord is interpreted as a compromise in which each side secures advantages. Chancellor Von Buelow's proposition to submit Moroccan questions to a conference is finally realized and Rouvier has carried his point of keeping France's special interests from the conference and restricting the remaining questions within exact limits.

The diplomats consider the result highly advantageous in removing obstacles to rapprochement between France and Germany. Commenting on this view, the semi-official Temps says: "France does not want an alliance outside of that with Russia, but she is none the less ready to welcome closer relations with other nations. Germany's conciliatory attitude and final concession of a number of contested points is attributed to a desire to promote a better feeling with France and Russia, thus counteracting on the continent the advantages which Great Britain gains through her new alliance with Japan."

Premier Rouvier and Prince Von Radolin, the German ambassador, signed the accord concerning the Moroccan conference yesterday. It is announced that the decisions of the international conference will have only three years' validity. The official text of the accord, as given out, says:

The negotiations between France and Germany concerning the program for the conference on Moroccan affairs has successfully terminated. Accord is reached upon a program comprising the organization of the police, the regulation and repression of contraband arms, financial reforms, consisting principally of the organization of a state bank, and also the best means of collecting duties, and the creation of new means of revenue and also the determination of principles destined to safeguard the economic liberty of Morocco.

The agreement makes a special reservation of the frontier region between Algiers and Morocco, where the maintenance of police will be regulated direct between France and the sultan, without submission to the conference. The regulation of contraband in the same region also remains for France to determine with the sultan.

The two governments unite in asking that Spain accept Algeciras as the place for the conference. Upon the question of the recent German loan to Morocco, it is agreed that French bankers shall participate with the Germans, and there is to be similar participation of French firms in building the harbor works at Tangier if a French company offers terms equal to those of the German contractors.

Finally the accord provides for the submission of the program without delay to the sultan and signatories of the convention of Madrid. Upon its submission to the sultan, both the French and German missions now at Fez will return to Tangier.

Freshies Were Victorious

New York, Sept. 29.—Sophomores and freshmen of Columbia university waged a fierce battle at the Bronx casino last night on the occasion of the sophomore smoker, at which captive freshmen were forced to furnish the entertainment. The most seriously injured student was a sophomore named Beck, who had three ribs broken. The sophomores were taken completely by surprise and the freshmen waged a brief and victorious war.

Prison Officers on the Alert

Bridgewater, Mass., Sept. 29.—In fear of a general outbreak and a concerted attempt on the part of the inmates of the Bridgewater state farm to escape, the officers of that institution are exercising precautions such as have never been employed before at the place. One attempt on the part of 50 of the worst criminals in the farm to escape under cover of night has been frustrated by the guards.

Possible King of Norway

Copenhagen, Sept. 29.—It is learned on high authority that should Norway's offer of the throne of that country to a prince of the house of Bernadotte be definitely declined steps will be taken by the storthing to invite Prince Charles of Denmark to become King of Norway.

Don't Want to Return

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—A. L. Rice and W. O. Gilman, who are under arrest here on a warrant from Providence, have filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. A hearing will be had today on the petition.

Dress Suit Case Mystery No Nearer a Solution

STORY OF PAWNBROKERS

The Only Clue Which Appears to Be of Any Value--All the Others Have Been Run Down and Found to Be Worthless

Boston, Sept. 29.—The situation in the Winthrop dress suit case mystery, the police admit, is substantially the same as it was a week ago, when the gruesome find of a woman's torso was made near the float of the Winthrop Yacht club. All the police have that appears tangible and of value is the fact of the purchase of two dress suit cases at pawn shops on Pleasant street and the identification of one of them by the pawnbroker.

With the single exception of the pawnbroker's story every clue has been run down and satisfactory account made of all the suspicious circumstances. The bundle of clothing found at Cottage Park, the mackintosh picked up near Saratoga bridge, and the quilt recovered near Shirley point, all of which the police for a time connected with the crime, have been eliminated from the zone of inquiry as worthless.

The blonde hairs, which by some peculiar coincidence were found on three of the articles, have been subjected to the keenest microscopic examination by Professor Whitney of Harvard, who found no similarity in either texture or color, so that they had not come from the head of the same person.

The bundle of clothes, which was wrapped in the paper marked R. O. Burnham, 2 Dalton street, had been thrown into the water after the death of Mrs. Burnham's sister in Winthrop. They had been used about the sick bed of the woman. Mrs. Burnham refrained from telling the police to avoid possible embarrassment to her sister. The quilt was claimed by a South Boston yachtsman, whose boat had been sunk in the harbor.

The appearance of Charles E. Beckwith, a Marlboro cobbler, who came here and claimed to identify the dress suit case, only added, for the time, to the confusion. He told the state police that he mended the case on Aug. 14 for a man who said he was a Winthrop physician. The police, however, are of the opinion that Beckwith is mistaken in the dress suit case, for if the story of the pawnbrokers is to be believed, the cases had not been sold on Aug. 14.

The police are now directing their attention along two lines of investigation, the recovery of the second suit case and the identity of the purchaser. They look for little reward from any other source. The work of the divers is being continued and will be until the entire bottom of Winthrop bay has been covered.

No Money For Roosevelt

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 29.—At a special meeting of the city council, Alderman Sullivan opposed the resolution to appropriate money for the entertainment of President Roosevelt when he comes to Montgomery. Acting Mayor McIntyre, who is also a member of the council, walked out during the proceedings, leaving no quorum, and the resolution was laid over.

Brought Up Against Boulder

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 29.—While going down a short hill near this place an automobile owned by Richard Sidenberg became unmanageable and plunged down a four-foot embankment into a boulder, throwing all the occupants out. Miss Adelaide Wallach was badly hurt, but will recover. The others in the automobile were slightly injured.

Ring Case Up For Review

Washington, Sept. 29.—The report of the naval court of inquiry convened at the request of Pay Director Ring to inquire into his administration as general storekeeper at the Boston navy yard, has been referred to the office of the judge advocate general of the navy, where it now is under consideration.

Morgan Sticks by His Guns

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 29.—Senator Morgan has written a letter to Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission, declining the invitation to accompany the commission to Panama. The senator thinks nothing will be accomplished by the trip.

National Bank Victimized

New York, Sept. 29.—The National City bank has been victimized by a clever forger, who presented a bogus check bearing the name of a well known stock exchange firm and received in return securities valued at about $360,000.

Hungarian Unrest Continues

Budapest, Sept. 29.—There is no abatement of the popular unrest. The Socialists gathered again last night, this time in front of the Imperial club, but the police dispersed the groups as soon as they formed, thus preventing disorder.

An Indefinite Postponement

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The case of Frederick A. Peckham of New York, who was arrested in connection with the cotton report scandal, has been indefinitely postponed. Peckham is still under $10,000 bail.

CITY BREVITIES.

A quintette will sing at the morning service at the Memorial Congregational church.

The band at the Coliseum skating rink gives an open air concert every evening.

The City Council Committees on Finance and Public Buildings met Thursday evening.

During the past few days there has been an almost endless line of furniture teams from the South shore moving toward Boston.

Rev. E. N. Hardy of Bethany Congregational church will preach in exchange Sunday morning with Rev. A. B. Tyler of the West Quincy Methodist church.

W. W. Ewell of Foster street, who is engaged in the hardware business at 3407 Washington street, Forest Hills, was unfortunate on Wednesday night by having his store entered by burglars who carried off revolvers, pocket knives, carving knives, and a small amount of money. They entered by forcing a rear window. Loss about $50.

$5.00 Excursion October 5.

October 5 is the Boston & Maine $5.00 excursion to New York City via the train to Albany, thence down the Hudson River on steamer via either day or night line boats—two days in New York City and back to Boston via Fall River Line, all for $5.00. A beautiful illustrated booklet describing the trip in detail will be sent free upon receipt of address by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine R. R., Boston.

MRS CHASE'S WILL

Dollar Each to Relatives and Million to Adopted Son

Salem, Mass., Sept. 29.—The will of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase of Swampscott, who recently was found dead under circumstances which the authorities believed indicated suicide, has been filed for probate in the Essex county court. The sum of $1 each is bequeathed to each of her brothers and sisters and to two children of her deceased brother and sister respectively. The rest and residue of the estate, which is believed to amount to about $1,000,000, is given to Mrs. Chase's adopted son, DeForest W. Chase.

In the will, which was made on June 1, 1900, Mrs. Chase states that her brothers and sisters were "amply, if not lavishly," provided for in the will of her father, the late Eben Phillips, who left $1,000,000 to each of his children. She states that her purpose in adopting young Chase in 1889 was in order that she might make him her sole heir, so that he might be benefited, and through him, her husband, Horace Chase, might also receive benefit.

Dr. Chase and DeForest Chase are named as executors. DeForest Chase has declined to serve. Robert M. Morse and Joseph H. Sulloway, both of Boston, presented the will, upon which a hearing will be held Oct. 23.

Leaves Long List of Creditors

Boston, Sept. 29.—Warren H. Littlefield of Milton, for years a well known grocer at Dorchester Lower Mills, has disappeared, leaving behind a long list of creditors, the amount of whose losses is said to be about $40,000. Littlefield left his store for the last time a week ago, to the surprise of even his counsel, who has this week notified the creditors of the fact that his client cannot be found.

Female Student's Sudden Death

Northampton, Mass., Sept. 29.—Margaret D. Kelley of New York city, a member of the freshman class at Smith college, dropped dead while undergoing an examination preliminary to entering upon gymnasium work. The college authorities are very reticent regarding the matter, and Medical Examiner Seymour, beyond stating that death was due to natural causes, will make no statement.

Discarded Convict Clothing

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 29.—A pair of trousers and a shirt, the latter garment bearing the mark "Bridgewater insane asylum," were found in a field in Acushnet, four miles from this city. The garments have been identified as those worn by Minot Francis, the insane negro convict, on the day he escaped from the asylum in company with another convict named Wiley.

Conservative Opinion Prevailed

Bretton Woods, N. H., Sept. 29.—At the closing session of the national convention of state insurance commissioners a number of radical delegates desired to employ strong language in resolutions dealing with the alleged irregularities in the affairs of several large life insurance companies, but they were outvoted and the convention adopted resolutions along conservative lines.

Killed by Excitement

Portland, Me., Sept. 29.—Charles C. Douglas, the city liquor agent, who sustained a paralytic shock following a raid on the agency by the sheriff and the agent's indictment by the grand jury, died last night. Douglas was recently elected commander of the Bosworth G. A. R. post city. He had long been prominent in the affairs of the Republican party of this city.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

DEMAND FOR BOOKS

Probing New York Life and Morgan Transactions

PERKINS AGAIN ON STAND

Represented Bankers as Seller and Insurance Company as Purchaser--Agents' Money In "Nylic" Fund

New York, Sept. 29.—Several sensational incidents developed at the session of the legislative committee on life insurance investigation Thursday. The first was when George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company and member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., objected to producing the books of his firm showing a certain transaction of that firm with the New York Life. Mr. Perkins offered to present a copy of the entry in question from the books, but Mr. Hughes demanded the books after several refusals on the part of Perkins. The books will be produced later.

In the course of his testimony Perkins, questioned about the difference in the statement of "profits from securities" in the Massachusetts report of the company and of "net profits from securities" in the New York report, said: "When we get national supervision we won't have these conflicts between the different states."

Mr. Perkins also testified to a number of transactions in which he represented J. P. Morgan & Co. as seller and the New York Life Insurance company as the purchaser.

Another sensation was sprung later in the day when Vice President Buckner of the New York Life detailed the advances made to agents and which were carried in the report to the state superintendent of insurance as "commuting renewal premiums."

It was brought out as a matter of fact that these advances were loans, but were not carried as such. Buckner testified that advances were made to agents sometimes as inducements to leave other companies and enter the employ of the New York Life.

A situation of conflict in Buffalo in 1901 between the Equitable and the New York Life was brought out, and in order to get agents of the Equitable away from that company, liberal advances and liberal contracts were adopted by the New York Life. Buckner testified that these advances to agents in the Buffalo branch of the New York Life in 1902 alone exceeded by $48,000 the amount really earned by these agents. Later Buckner acknowledged this was most extravagant and said in 1903 this was cut down by half and by still another half in 1904.

A copy of a contract and a confidential letter to David H. Desbecker of Buffalo, one of the agents in question, showing the inducements held out for him to enter the employ of the New York Life, was introduced and read.

While Perkins was on the stand during the afternoon there was somewhat of a clash between the witness and Hughes, the first of anything of this nature that has occurred since the committee began its sessions. It was when Perkins was testifying to the moneys in the "Nylic" fund, of which he is a trustee. Mr. Perkins did not want it to appear on the records that the agents paid part of their salaries into the fund under contract, unless the words "and bonuses" appeared. He said to Hughes that he (Hughes) was trying to get away from something, and the counsel hotly retorted that he was not and that if Perkins would answer his question much better progress would be made with the investigation.

Earlier in the day Henry R. Winthrop of the Equitable, while on the stand, presented a statement of the transfers of the stock of the Equitable at the time of its change of management and directorate. Most of the transfers Winthrop was able to explain, and some he was not. At the time of these transfers Winthrop was the holder of 25 shares. He thought the actual owner was James H. Hyde, as he turned the checks for dividends over to Hyde.

Mr. Winthrop was again called to the stand just before adjournment, Buckner having given way, to explain a trustee account brought up earlier in the day. Mr. Winthrop presented a typewritten statement of the account and said the loans would be paid off in a few days and the collateral entered on the books of the company. Before Buckner retired, however, he was asked to produce a statement of the expenses of the Paris office with a record of the real estate held there and the business that comes under that jurisdiction. Mr. Buckner had been questioned most of the afternoon on the foreign business and its cost to the home office.

Steamer Crashed Into Pier

New York, Sept. 29.—John Halligan, a longshoreman, was so badly injured when, through a misunderstanding of signals, steamer Grenada crashed into her pier while trying to make dock, that he died last night. The steamer, going at almost full speed, crashed into and demolished a large part of the pier.

Eason Wants More Time

Wooster, O., Sept. 29.—Judge Eason, before whom the Taggart divorce case was heard, announces that he will not be ready to give his decision tomorrow, as expected, but will be ready next week.

BUT A SINGLE ISSUE

Maryland Democrats Stand For Disfranchisement of Negroes

Baltimore, Sept. 29.—At the Democratic state convention of Maryland State Comptroller Atkinson was renominated and a platform adopted which, excepting a paragraph endorsing the excellent business administration of the present Democratic governor, Edwin Warfield, is wholly devoted to the advocacy of the proposed constitutional amendment to restrict negro suffrage which will be voted upon at the November election. The platform says:

"By common consent, the only issue in this campaign is whether negro suffrage, put upon us against our will by force, shall be restricted and its power for evil destroyed. We proclaim anew our resolute purpose to maintain the supremacy of our race and its control by all lawful and constitutional means of the administration of the political affairs of the state.

"Believing that the proposed constitutional amendment will operate as an effective remedy for the evils of our situation without prejudice or injury to any race or class; regarding it, moreover, as a complete response to the clearly expressed mandate of the people, we unreservedly commend and approve it. We make it the single issue of this campaign. We declare it to be our battle cry.

"The negro vote as it stands today is a perpetual menace to the prosperity and peace of Maryland—a menace to our very civilization—for it is ignorant, corrupt, the blind instrument of unscrupulous and selfish leaders."

Senator Gorman made a speech in which he said he would fight to "lift the black pall which hangs over our fair state," and that if successful he would "agree never to seek place" and would "die a happy man."

Successful Whaling Seasor

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 29.—Of the 18 New Bedford whaling vessels that have been cruising in the Atlantic ocean this year eight have arrived in port, eight have put into Fayal, from which point the oil will be shipped here, leaving only two to be heard from, and these are expected daily at Fayal. The total catch of the 16 vessels that have put into port is 10,870 barrels. The bark Canton, the oldest whaling ship in the world, is high hook with 1150 barrels.

Royal Arcanumites Act

Boston, Sept. 29.—Some 200 delegates, representing Massachusetts councils of the Royal Arcanum, at a meeting held here last night, voted to take legal measures to prevent the executive committee of the supreme council from enforcing the new rates of assessment. Subordinate councils were recommended to remain loyal to the Royal Arcanum, but to protect their rights by legal proceedings. Moorfield Storey of this city was selected as counsel.

Berlin Strike May Spread

Berlin, Sept. 29.—The labor difficulties in the Berlin electrical industry threaten to spread to the entire metal industries of the city and suburbs. The association of metal working establishments of Berlin voted to lock out the entire working force provided the threatened general lockout in the electrical branches takes place.

Glad Tidings For Consumers

Washington, Sept. 29.—Secretary Wilson predicts lower retail prices during the coming winter season for meat, dairy products, poultry and other necessities of life. He says the relief for the householder will come from the enormous yields of small grain and corn in the great grain territories of the west.

Says Crawford Millions Existed

Havre, Sept. 29.—Romaine d'Aurignac, brother of Mme. Therese Humbert, who recently arrived at New York and was deported, has arrived here. He expressed surprise that the United States authorities had refused to admit him. He added that the future would show that the Crawford millions existed.

Gift of $150,000 From Miss Gould

Detroit, Sept. 29.—Miss Helen M. Gould has agreed to give $150,000 for a railroad Young Men's Christian Association building at St. Louis. This announcement was the feature of the opening day of the 12th International conference of the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Gaynor-Greene Warrant Ready

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—The extradition warrants hanging over Gaynor and Greene to the United States authorities will likely be signed today by Minister of Justice Fitzpatrick. The papers are ready for presentation and the signing of the warrant is said to be a mere matter of form.

Ten Years For Marrying Negro

Magnolia, Miss., Sept. 29.—Therese Perkins, a white woman, was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for marrying and living with a negro, Robert Brown. Judge Wilkinson said he regretted that he could not make the punishment heavier. Brown has left the country.

Begun With Speedy Knockout

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Al Kaufman, a local heavyweight, signalized his entrance into professional ranks last night by knocking out Harry Foley in the first round with a right swing to the jaw.

WHISKY IN PILLOWS

How Liquor Is Sold With Balsam Head Rests.

INGENUITY OF THE MOONSHINERS.

Burton Holmes Tells of Their New Ruse In Tennessee to Evade the United States Revenue Officials. Novel Experience of a Camping Party Near Jellico.

"Whisky pillows" are the latest device of moonshiners to dodge the United States internal revenue authorities, says the Chicago Post. Many stories have been told of the ingenious tricks resorted to in the sale of illicit whisky, but the "pillow" is the latest and most novel.

Burton Holmes, the lecturer, who has been in the mountains of Tennessee recently, tells of discovering the pillows thus:

"I had joined a camping party near the small town of Jellico, which is on the state line between Tennessee and Kentucky," he said. "Some one suggested a trip up the mountains to get pine needles or balsam pillows from the mountaineers, who sell them to the few tourists that reach this wild region of the Blue Ridge. It was after several hours' hard climbing that a full half mile off the trail we saw our first cabin. We all went over, and after several whoops and calls our efforts were rewarded by a woman coming to the door.

"We asked if she had any pine pillows for sale, and instead of answering she slowly and with great care looked us over. I could see that her inspection more or less satisfied her, but she said she 'didn't know,' she would 'have to see,' and, turning, she went back into the house.

"Almost immediately we could hear a hurried conversation that was being carried on in low tones, and in a surprisingly short time a man appeared and asked what kind of pillows we were looking for, 'men's or women's.'

"Not a little surprised at the question, I replied that we would like a few of both. My answer evidently puzzled him, for his eyes narrowed into a peculiar squint, and he told us he did not have any women's 'made up,' but that we could have loose balsam for these at the rate of 50 cents a pillow. He said he had men's pillows all ready, but they would be $1.50 each.

"Finally we were fitted out with enough balsam to make pillows for the women, and each man in the party had under his arm a rude sacklike pillow that felt as if it contained a brick. We had all been wondering what made the pillows so heavy until curiosity finally overcame one of the men, and with the help of a penknife he started an investigation.

"The mystery was soon solved, for when he withdrew his hand a full quart of moonshine whisky came with it. Needless to say, none of us that had purchased 'men's pillows' could use them to sleep on until slight alterations had been made."

"SIMPLE LIFE" AT WEDDING.

Pair to Adopt Plan In Future and Abandon Cooked Diet.

Annie Louise Ambrose and Edgar Wallace Conable were married recently at Los Angeles according to the doctrines of the "simple life," says a Los Angeles dispatch. No unnecessary word was spoken by the Rev. D. I. Jenkins, who performed the ceremony. The word "obey" was omitted.

Because it is a custom to take a honeymoon trip, the bride and bridegroom walked from church to their new home and began life at once with a menu that abolishes meats and all cooked foods, their principal articles of diet being nuts, fruits and vegetables. At the wedding supper which followed the ceremony no cooked foods were served. The party sat under trees and ate nuts and fruit.

A garden and orchard on their farm will furnish food, and so far as possible no articles of raiment not made by the wife will be worn by either. Simple methods will rule their home in everything, and this includes the dispensing with shoes.

The Peace Of—

[Observations by an American.]

"We'll call it the 'Peace of Portsmouth,'"
Says the loyal New Hampshire swain.
"No; yer don't," says the down east Yankee;
"It's the 'Peace of Kittery, Maine."

"How's that?" says the youth from Portsmouth.
"It's here the commissioners dwelled."
"I don't care a dern," says the Kittery man;
"It's here as the meetin's was held."

"Now, hark ye both," says the president's friend;
"You folks have got nothing to say.
Who did all the work, I'd just like to know—
It's the 'Peace of Oyster Bay.'"

Then authority spake from the capital's halls—
For the government couldn't be "done"—
"This achievement great," says the department of state,
"Is the 'Peace of Washington.'"

In such a serious state of affairs,
With trouble so surely a-brewin',
If we can't have peace as to where they made peace,
Why, the country 'll go to ruin.

So I reckon there's only one thing to do
To save us from strife and hate,
And that's to beseech good Emperor Bill
To come over and arbitrate.

He's been fidgeting around to get into this show,
And now's a chance to appease him.
Just let him proclaim for Kittery, Maine,
Or anywhere else to please him.

—Springfield Republican.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

The Government Tests

prove Royal Baking Powder pure and healthful, made from grape cream of tartar, absolutely free from alum or phosphatic acids and highest of all baking powders in leavening strength.

The Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any baking powder in the world. It makes pure, clean and healthful food.

Avoid Alum Baking Powders

"I am very strongly of the opinion that the use of alum and salts of alumina in food should be prohibited. It is well understood that the constant use of alum compounds exerts both a deleterious effect upon the digestive organs and an irritation of the internal organs after absorption."

EDWARD S. WOOD, M.D., Professor of Chemistry, Harvard Medical School, Boston.

It must be remembered that when alum baking powders are used in making bread, biscuit or cake, a portion of the alum is carried unchanged into the stomach.

Ten-cent, twenty-five-cent, cent-an-ounce powders contain alum.

Benefit Game For Selee

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The free list was entirely suspended at the Boston-Chicago game, and the entire receipts, estimated at about $4000, given as a testimonial to Manager Selee of the Chicago club, who is in Colorado in an attempt to regain his health.

Encountered Severe Hardships

London, Sept. 29.—The story told by members of the British mission who spent 2½ years in marking the boundary between Persia and Afghanistan shows that 50 of the members died from various causes and nearly 5000 camels and 120 horses succumbed. During the summer several persons died from sunstroke or thirst, while during the winter others were frozen. Last winter numbers of jackals and wolves went mad and in large packs attacked the men and animals belonging to the mission. Many of the men and animals were bitten and died of hydrophobia. Fearful privations were endured.

Quintuple Murder In Texas

Edna, Tex., Sept. 29.—Mrs. A. J. Conditt and four children, a daughter of 13 and three boys from 6 to 10 years old, were murdered in cold blood at their home near here. The mother and daughter were assaulted and their bodies brutally disfigured. A baby, 2 years old, was the only one left alive. All of them seemed to have been murdered with some blunt instrument. The girl and mother were killed in the house. The boys were killed about 100 yards away. The entire county is out in posses and dogs have been sent for to track the murderers, it being supposed that there were two.

Officials Charged With Larceny

New York, Sept. 29.—Edward F. Hale, secretary and treasurer of the MacAndrews & Forbes company, dealers in licorice roots and powders, and Harry Smock, an auditor of the same concern, are under arrest on charges of larceny. Both men are bachelors and lived together at a fashionable hotel. It is alleged that discrepancies amounting to $7000 have been found in their accounts, although it is believed their peculations will amount to far more than that.

Tammany "Getting Together"

New York, Sept. 29.—A meeting of the city committee of Tammany Hall was held last night to appoint officers for the coming municipal election. There was much enthusiasm when C. F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and State Senator McCarren walked into the place arm in arm. There have been a number of reports to the effect that the Tammany factions were burying all past dissensions and the incident was taken as a further indication of the fact.

Collapse of Mrs Molineux

New York, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Blanche C. Scott, formerly Mrs. Roland B. Molineux, who has been singing for a fortnight at a vaudeville theatre in Brooklyn, is unable to continue her engagement because of a breakdown. She is suffering from nervous prostration. It is likely that she will go to a winter resort for a long rest before resuming her stage duties.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The cornerstone of the new government building at Marblehead, Mass., which will be occupied by the custom house and postoffice, was laid by Grand Master Sanford of the Masonic grand lodge of Massachusetts.

A large lumber mill at Hardwick, Vt., owned by Stevens, Graham & Kinney, was destroyed by fire. The loss is $40,000. It is supposed that the fire was caused by a spark from an engine.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Letter Carrier John Granaham is enjoying his annual vacation.

The Jacobs residence, Washington street is being newly painted.

Dennis McCarty of Hancock street, Atlantic, is seriously ill with typhoid fever.

Sagamore street, Atlantic, is being graded and it is hoped will soon be open to travel.

Prof. Charles Franklin, the hypnotist, has been amusing crowds at Music hall this week.

The City Council Committee on State Aid will meet Monday evening, before the City Council meeting.

James M. Coye has returned to his home in New York after a brief stay with relatives in this city.

This is the time of the year when the house wife gets busy putting up preserves for the winter.

Charles Tanner moves today from Newcomb to Silver street, where he will make his future home.

Mrs. E. A. Folsom of Hancock street, Norfolk Downs, has returned from an extended vacation in Dunbarton, N. H.

Tonight the Roma Band of Boston will play at the Coliseum—tomorrow night a full band of 30 pieces has been secured.

The Registrars of Voters will hold meetings in the different wards the next three weeks, beginning in Ward Five on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stetson Pierce and daughter, Muriel, of Quincy avenue have been spending the week as guests of relatives in York, Maine.

If that express box doesn't make its appearance near the Sagamore block pretty soon, people will have to use the fence nearby for an order slate.

John Q. A. Field, formerly county commissioner and councilman, will contribute a letter on the Crescent street obstruction in the Saturday eight-page Daily Ledger.

Prof. Blanchard, of Chicago University, gave a most entertaining and instructive lecture on Julius Cæsar at the Quincy Mansion School Thursday evening.

Commencing next Monday all extra street cars running between Newcomb square and Neponset to accommodate employes at the Fore River shipyard, will run to and leave Chubbuck street via. Washington street.

Next Monday evening the Y. M. C. A. bowling team will meet and contest with the bowling team of the Makaria Fraternity of Bethany church. A spirited contest is expected, as the teams are very evenly matched.

If the old saying that the last Friday in the month is a forerunner of the weather to be expected the following month has any trnth in it, we are in for a fine October. It will be very welcome after the cold disagreeable weather of September.

Those who would frequent the Crystal Maze in Boston better save their money and try reaching the Atlantic station from the Quincy and Neponset cars after dark. The only difference is that one is all light and mirrors while the other is all blackness and sand.

CASH COUNTS.

But Drug Clerk Maloney is Giving Him a Hustle.

Big gains are made today in the Daily Ledger free scholarship contest by Clerk Cash and Drug Clerk Maloney who are now first and second in the men's list. Smaller gains were made by others.

In the ladies' list gains are made by Miss Tilton, the popular pianist of the Boys Brigade of Atlantic, also by Miss Manning and others. The position of the leaders is unchanged.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

Association Football.

One of the best games in the league series will be played at Ward Three playground on Saturday between the Andover team and the Quincys.

The visitors have been playing great football all this season, having won all their league games this year, but it will be just what the Quincys generally do, namely, defeat a team like Andover, and lose to a far inferior lot of players than the men composing the team from Andover.

Quincy has been very unfortunate this season never having been able to get all her best men on the field, because of injuries, trivial in themselves, but serious enough to keep the men from playing, but every effort is being made to have every one in good shape for Saturday. The game will commence at 3.45 and two 45-minute halves will be played.

MARRIED.

HANDY—MARTIN—In Quincy, Sept. 25, by Napoleon B. Furnald, Mr. John Henry Handy to Mrs. Ann C. (Seymour) Martin, both of Quincy.

WARREN—KEITH—In Kyoto, Japan, Sept. 23, by Rev. Otis Cary, uncle of the bride, Miss Cora Frances Keith of Braintree, Mass., and Rev. Charles McLean Warren of Collinsville, Conn.

FISCHER—ALLEN—In Middleboro, Sept. 28, by Rev. G. E. Macllwain, Mr. Charles Augustus Fischer of Worcester to Miss Eva Belisle Allen of Middleboro, daughter of Francis C. Allen.

DIED.

WHITING—In Quincy, Sept. 29, Mr. George S. T. Whiting of 199 Quincy avenue, aged 92 years and 6 months.

DESMOND—In Wollaston, Sept. 29, Mr. Patrick Desmond of 18 Blake street, aged 46 years and 6 months.

BLANCHARD—In South Weymouth, Sept. 28, Mrs. Deborah J., wife of Mr. Christopher C. Blanchard of 527 Main street, aged 73 years.

WOELFLE—In Milton, Sept. 28, Mr. Charles Woelfle of Brush Hill road, aged 50 years.

DYEING.

Resolutions.

At a special meeting of L. A. Div. 5, A. O. H., of Quincy, a committee was appointed to draft a set of resolutions on the death of our late and respected physician, Joseph M. Sheahan, and in performing this duty we desire in behalf of said Auxiliary to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family of our deceased physician in the sad event which has befallen them.

WHEREAS,—It has pleased the Will of Our Almighty Father to remove from our midst our beloved friend and physician, J. M. Sheahan, and

WHEREAS,—In his death we have lost a true friend and brother whose kindness, charity and devotion were manifest to all; therefore, be it

RESOLVED,—That we bow submissively to the Divine Will of Our Heavenly Father, and that we extend to the widow and family of our late physician our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of trial and sorrow; and be it further

RESOLVED,—That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our records as a token of our esteem, and that a copy of said resolutions be made and forwarded to his family, and that the press of the City of Quincy be given notification of our action, so that all may know of the loss which we have sustained in his death.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted by Div. 18, A. O. H., Sept. 22:

WHEREAS,—In view of the loss we have sustained by the decease of our Brother, Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan, and of the still heavier loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to him; therefore, be it

RESOLVED,—That we sincerely condole with the family of the deceased on the dispensations with which it has pleased Divine Providence to afflict them and commend them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best and whose chastisements are meant in mercy.

RESOLVED,—That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be spread upon the records of this Division, and that it be published in the National Hibernian and in the Quincy Daily Ledger, and a copy of the same be forwarded to the family of our departed Brother by the Secretary of this Division.

DOBBIN OBEYS BUGLE CALL.

When It Sounds "Charge" Old Army Horse Wrecks Butcher Cart.

He was a big white horse, with small ears that had a habit of turning back and a big square head that swung low to the breast strap, which drew a load of mutton for Louis Feinberg of Brooklyn down Front street the other evening to the Hamilton ferry, says the New York Herald. The load was heavy, and he had forgotten the brand "6 U. S. C., H. C.," on the hip, where army horses carry their medals of honor.

"Go on, blow it," said a civilian admirer of a young bugler who stepped at that time off the Governors island ferryboat Hancock on leave of absence and with his bugle under his arm.

The young bugler put the brass to his lips, and the cracking notes of "walk" rang over South ferry. The white horse pricked up his ears.

"Trot!" cried the bugle.

"Whoa! What's the matter with you?" ejaculated Mr. Feinberg.

"Gallop!" said the bugle.

"Whoa! Whoa! Back!" said Mr. Feinberg, sawing on the reins. The big muscles of the white horse stood up like carved marble. He knew what was coming. So did everybody else in the neighborhood, for drawing the mutton wagon as if it were a featherweight he plunged straight ahead, with both ears up and nostrils open wide.

"Charge!" cracked the bugle.

There was a flash of white from Front street, there was a scurrying of sidewalk merchants on the sidewalk in front of South ferry, there were laments as stand after stand went over, and a big white horse, every bit of harness gone, but with eyes flashing and head up, struck the closed gates of the Hamilton ferry a resounding blow.

The mutton wagon, with the assistance of about fifteen men, was removed from the entrance to the "L" stairs, where it stood on end.

Feinberg, with the aid of several citizens, succeeded in getting a halter on the neck of the white horse, and he led him across the ferry. The wagon stayed in Manhattan overnight.

VAST ELK RANCHES.

Michigan Plan to Supply Market With Elk Venison at Reasonable Price.

O. R. Fowler, a prominent banker of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., has come to Chicago to present to certain business men of the city a scheme for utilizing the waste lands of northern Michigan and Wisconsin, says the Chicago Chronicle.

Thousands of acres of land in that section have been left waste by the cutting down of the timber, and as they are unfit for agricultural purposes it is proposed to utilize at least a portion of them by starting great preserves of elk, with a view to supplying the market with elk venison at reasonable rates. The idea has already been worked out to good advantage in Canada and in a small way in the upper peninsula of Michigan.

According to Mr. Fowler, the elk are very prolific, and with proper care the elk farms, or ranches as they should perhaps be called, can be made to yield big profits. They require very little care, and there has always been an excellent market for the venison, which at present commands from 50 to 65 cents per pound. A similar movement was put on foot in New England several years ago, and the most gratifying results have been attained.

The elk ranchers of Canada state that the elk are not destructive feeders, nor do they range widely when properly cared for and not molested. They can be cared for as easily as cattle and give better profit.

Mr. Fowler states that arrangements are practically complete for the establishment of several ranches on property owned by Chicago lumbermen. Chicago and Sault Ste. Marie capital exclusively will back the enterprise. The necessary animals for starting the business will be brought from some of Mr. Fowler's Canadian farms.

Brockton's Horse Show.

The Horse Show is always a feature of the big Brockton Fair, and this year will be more interesting than ever to the lovers of aristocratic horse flesh. This year's program includes 66 classes, and the premiums aggregate $7,000, besides several challenge cups. Mr. F. M. Ware, as of yore, will be in charge. October 3, 4, 5 and 6 are the dates this year of the big fair, and on the three last days Roy Knabenshue and his famous air-ship, a $5,000 feature, will make aerial trips to the clouds. Knabenshue is the only man except Santa Claus, that has ever looked down the chimneys of New York's sky-scrapers. The Brockton Fair has so many attractions on its grounds that it was obliged to seek room for added attractions in the air.

TODAY'S COURT.

Patrick Creamer was arraigned for assault on Officer John Boutin and for drunkenness. Cases continued until Oct. 6.

The continued case of Jeremiah Donovan for assault on Officer Boutin was further continued until Oct. 6.

St. Margaret's guild will open its season's work this evening with a reception at the rectory of Christ church.

Wine and Wills.

The Law Magazine and Review tells an odd story of a Hamburg merchant who had five sons who were all ardent teetotalers. The merchant was contrary minded, and, to rescue the misguided young men from the error of their obstinate ways, he directed in his will that each of the five should on the day of the funeral drink a glass of wine to his memory in some public place, adding as a condition subsequent that if any of them should refuse to drink the enjoined glass his share of the inheritance should be forfeited and divided up among the more complaisant brothers, but if all should refuse the whole family property should go to charities.

No other testament so odd on the subject of wine is recalled except that of a total abstainer who left a fine wine cellar, a recent legacy to himself, to his heir, with directions that its contents should be poured untasted on the ground.

The Life Was In Him.

Daniel O'Connell once unraveled a queer plot in a will case. Witness after witness swore that they saw the document duly executed. At last a constantly reiterated expression caught the lawyer's attention, "The life was in him," over and over repeated. "By the virtue of your oath, was he alive?" he asked one witness. "By the virtue of my oath, the life was in him," he was answered. Then O'Connell turned to the man and very slowly and very solemnly said, "Now I call upon you, in the presence of your Maker, who will some day pass sentence upon you for this evidence, I solemnly ask you—and you answer at your peril—was not there a live fly in the dead man's mouth when his hand was placed upon the will?" Cornered and pale with fear, the witness confessed that this had actually happened.

Does the Sun Set?

"It ill becomes any of us to criticise lapses in grammar," says an authority, "when we all of us consent to and constantly make use of one such lapse ourselves. To speak of the 'setting sun' is wholly incorrect. You may set a book on a table or even set a son on a chair if he be big enough not to fall off, but what does the orb of day set, and where does it set? No, sir, queer as it may sound to ears grown accustomed to the universal form, the sun sits. If it sets anything why doesn't it raise something? If it shouldn't be the rising and the sitting sun it should be the raising and the setting sun. Think it over, and when you get it arranged to your satisfaction try to find out what you mean when you speak of a setting hen."—Philadelphia Record.

Genesis of the Lightning Rod.

The first lightning rod was not constructed by Franklin nor set up in America, but by a monk at Seuttenberg, Bohemia, named Prohop Dilwisch. His apparatus was made and put together during the spring and summer of the year 1754 and was first set up in the garden of the cure of Prenditz (Moravia) on June 15 of the year above named. The rod attained as much distinction as that later made by Franklin and was the cause of the inventor being presented with much money and large estates. His enemies claimed that the rod was the cause of the great drought of 1757, 1758 and 1759, and upon the matter being reported to Vienna it was ordered to be taken down.

Who He Was.

A traveler saw a woman take a man by the collar, yank him up the steps into a railroad car, jam him down into a seat, pile up a valise and two big brown baskets with loose covers and long handles at his feet and say:

"Now, sit there until I help Mary Jane on the car and don't move till I come back."

When the woman reached the door the traveler said to her:

"Is that man your husband?"

"Naw!" roared the woman. "He's my daughter's husband, and she hasn't spirit enough to say her soul is her own."

The Bengal Grosbeak.

The Bengal grosbeak builds a nest shaped like a bottle and always selects for its support a long, lithe limb overhanging a stream of water. The entrance is beneath, and, from the situation and peculiar shape, it is absolutely impossible for a snake to gain admission to the nest. One naturalist records seeing fourteen attempts on the part of serpents to get at the nest, but the hungry snakes always fell off into the water.

Changed Position.

Fielding—How time changes a man! There's Battser. A dozen years ago he was so engrossed with the teams on the diamond that he cared for nothing else. Now all his thoughts are centered in his family. You know he has a wife and eight children. Rhuns—Well, that isn't so much of a change. He has simply transferred his interest to his home nine.—Judge.

Working the Old Man.

"Do you think her father will give his consent?

"Sure! I've been playing poker with him once a week for the last six months and letting him win. He'll feel like he has been offered a pension when I ask him."—Houston Post.

The Best They Could Do.

Rich Uncle—Well, Annabel, have you named the baby for me? Young Wife—N-no, Uncle James, but we have come as near to it as we can. We call her Jemima.—Chicago Tribune.

Childhood has no forebodings, but, then, it is soothed by no memories of outlived sorrow.—George Eliot.

The Social Realm.

And now comes jolly Autumn, strewing leaves,
Like liberal largess round a prince's path;
His fat-cheek smile beams out on garnered sheaves
And all the spilling coffers that he hath.
The thud of falling fruits, too ripe to cling,
Drum music make—for his plebian state;
About his path a blackbird rabble sing.
Upon whom aldermanic robins wait.
He shrinkles round him showers of berry blee,
And tweaks the generous ears of stately corn.
He thumps the answering melons learnedly,
And flatters apples flushing like the morn.
Thus plods he, chuckling down the sunlit lanes,
Assessing what the Spring had hoped to clear,
And levying on the Summer's heavy gains—

These bracing autumn days are ideal for those who number horsemanship among there accomplishments. Dedham may well boast of its coterie of beautiful horse-women of the younger set. Miss Ellen Farnsworth, a perfect rider, makes a striking figure on a horse. Miss Elinor Quincy, who is to come out this coming winter, seems, this year, to be more devoted to riding than is her sister, Miss Dorothy Quincy. A year ago the older Miss Quincy was a familiar figure mounted on her black horse. Miss Catharine Warren is also a clever rider.—Dedham Transcript.

CRESCENT ST.

Sovereign Authority Rests in City.

Says John Q. A. Field.

The Law Quoted in Support of His Claim.

Editors Daily Ledger:

As I have expressed opinions as to the duty of the Commissioner of Public Works regarding the removal of the obstruction on Crescent street, which opinions have been quoted in the press, I now desire through your paper to set forth my reasons for holding and expressing those opinions. In brief, my contentions are that the obstruction in question should never have been placed on Crescent street; that the act of placing it there is not backed by authority which will stand the legal and logical tests; that therefore it should be removed; and that its removal could not on any view of the situation "involve the city in costly litigation" or "prevent further development" of the park system.

Chapter 53, Sec. 3 of the Revised Laws reads as follows: "Any person may remove gates, rails, bars or fences which are upon or across a highway, townway, or private way legally laid out, or they may be removed by a justice of the peace, unless they have been placed there to prevent the spread of a disease dangerous to the public health, or unless they have been erected or continued by a license of the county commissioners or by the selectmen or road commissioners or for the person for whose use such private way was laid out."

The above citation is the latest statutory enactment on the question here involved, and its meaning is unmistakably clear. It shows that when the authorities fail to act, any person may remove obstructions from highways unless they have been especially erected by authority of city or town.

Chapter 25 of the Revised Laws, under section 15, states that "a town may make contracts for the proper exercise of its corporate powers and for the following purposes: laying out, discontinuing making, altering, and repairing highways and townways and for material used and labor employed thereon." The marginal notes of the above section date back to 1786 and cover the entire period down to the present time.

I have yet to learn, Mr. Editor, that the sovereign authority has ever taken away from cities and towns their right to execute any or all of the above laws by their chosen officers.

It is quite evident that Crescent street is a public way, created by statute; and as such it is to be distinguished from land. It is not taxed and is claimed by no one individual. The taking of land for public purposes does not necessarily imply the taking of the fee; and in case of a highway, such as is referred to in my first citation from the statutes, it never does. To be sure, private property may be taken by the sovereign authority when public necessity requires it, but let it be borne in mind that if the fee is not necessary for the public enjoyment, the fee does not pass, but remains in the owner or abutter.

When the public cease to need the right of passing over a man's land all rights revert to the owner. The right of the city or town to lay out a way over my property for the convenience of the travelling public on proper compensation being made to me, cannot be seriously questioned. But to say that the city or town, or any other authority can go further and devest me of the fee and sell it to a private individual when the public necessity has ceased is to my mind absurd. Such a contention if pushed to its logical conclusion, would authorize the taking of Smith's private property against his will and conveying it to Jones.

Streets and public squares are dedicated and acquired for the public use,—for the people of the city or town,—the corporation being the trustees for the public. Selectmen and other officers of towns and the officers of cities are governed by the statutory laws as trustees for the public. Section 14 of Chapter 25, Revised Laws, shows how a way can be created and how it can be discontinued. In either case it must be by notice to the public. County Commissioners, 30 days; cities, 14 days; towns, by article in warrant, at least seven days before a meeting. I do not understand that Crescent street has ever been discontinued under an order of notice, giving the public a right to be heard in the matter. Therefore it remains a public way, and it is the duty of the Commissioner of Public Works to remove any obstructions thereon.

The Metropolitan Park Commission was created by law, and given the power to take lands by right of eminent domain as in fee. They had their rights extended as to boulevards with the right to take streets or public ways within their takings, to keep them in repair, to extend the same, to make rules and regulations governing travel—over what? Not over the public ways already existing, for those they could not close. I refer you to the regulations for automobiles recently published in the Ledger. You will see that the Commissioners expressly "except" town and county ways. Why "except" them if the commission has control over them?

It has been told me that as park commission of a metropolitan character they had greater powers. As I read the statute, they cannot come into a city or town, and take land by right of eminent domain or in fee without first obtaining the sanction of the Park Commissioners, if any, of the city or town, and of the Mayor and council of the city or the selectmen of the town. The reasons for such safeguards are evident right now in this city. Should the Metropolitan Park Commission be allowed to take a school house yard, if there was no saving clause in the law, they could have taken the yard. As it was they were first obliged to secure the sanction of the city.

Now how about the streets? Section 3 of Chapter 28, Revised Laws, reads as follows: "Such boards may connect any public park, boulevard or driveway, under its control, with any part of a city or town by taking any connecting streets or parts thereof leading to such park, and may accept and add to such park any street or part thereof, adjoining and parallel with any boundary line of the same; but the consent of the public authorities having control of such street and the written consent of a majority of the owners of land abutting thereon shall first be obtained."

Has this law been complied with in respect to Crescent street? Most assuredly it has not. Therefore Crescent street should be cleared of obstructions. It is indeed difficult to see how on such a state of facts the City of Quincy can get involved in "costly litigations" on account of exercising its self evident rights. If perchance litigation follows, let it follow. It cannot be expensive or costly and this for two reasons.

(1) We have a City Solicitor employed by the year who would without extra compensation represent us at court and vindicate our right to use our streets.

(2) If the law I have just cited means anything, any litigation which any party or parties might begin could not possibly terminate adversely to us.

It has been asserted that if we exercise our rights in this matter there is danger that the Metropolitan Park Commission may discriminate against us in extending the park system. This I think is the idea sought to be conveyed. I regret that the assertion is not specific as to why and how, but assuming that my interpretation of it is correct I want to ask how can such a thing happen? By what mysterious process can we be thus punished for vindicating our rights of travel in our streets? With money appropriated for the development of the system, have the Commissioners (be they ever so infallible in judgment) any other course to pursue than to develop it? If I misunderstand the meaning of the opinion to which I allude, just what is meant by it? The public will be interested in having the matter made clear to their comprehension.

I contend, Messrs. Editors, that it is the plain duty of our Commissioner of Public Works to clear Crescent street of obstruction, and keep it clear until a judicial interpretation of our laws has decided that there is legal and valid authority for closing the said street at this time and in this manner.

Yours truly,
John Q. A. Field,
Ex-County Commissioner.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Lieutenant-Governor Curtis Guild, Jr.—Brief Sketch of His Life and Achievements.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR CURTIS GUILD, JR.

It probably goes without saying that the Republican party at its con entiou to be held in Tremont Temple, Boston, on Friday, October 6, will nominate by acclamation His Honor Lieutenant-Goernor Curtis Guild, Jr., to be the candidate for governor of Massachusetts the coming year.

Curtis Guild, Jr., in his busy life has been a man of achie ement. As a youth in college he was easily among the foremost in his classes and was graduated from Harard with the highest honors. As a business man he has published a commerical paper of wide influence for the best interests of the community. As a military man he has serad the State in time of peace and the Nation in time of war, and as a public man his best efforts have always been directed along the highest plane of citizenship.

Mr. Guild after graduating from college, went to work for his father's paper, the Commercial Bulletin. He learned every department of a newspaper and later was taken into partnership by his father and uncle. Since 1902 he has been the sole proprietor and publisher. Through his newspaper he exposed and stopped the undervaluation of raw sugar at the port of New York, this under aluation giving an ad antage to New York refineries of lower duty than at Boston on the raw material. He secured relief from the wool embargo in Boston and was successful last year in oercoming the attempt to place pickled sheep skins on the dutiable list. Among other things which he has advocated successfully ha e been the preser ation of Boston Common from surface tracks, the agitation for the new dry dock at the Navy Yard, the Boston Subway, the National Bankruptcy Law, a law of uniform prohibition of child labor in all the States and the fight against discrimination against Boston in differential freight rates.

At the breaking out of the Spanish war he offered his ser ices to the State and enlisted as first lieutenant and adjutant of the 6th Massachusetts regiment. Later he was appointed lieutenant-colonel and inspector-general upon the staff of General Fitzhugh Lee, commanding the 7th Corps, U. S. Volunteers. He fought the railroad lobby successfully and broke up the fever camp at Miami, faced and subdued the mutiny of the Second Illinois and framed military port regulations for Savannah. In Cuba, in addition to his regular duties as Inspector-General of the Province of Havana, he was chief of secret service when the Cuban guerillas were being dispersed. He also had entire charge of all claims for land damages, together with the inauguration of various sanitary reforms. Mr. Guild has served as a private in Troop A, 1st Massachusetts cavalry, becoming later a non-commissioned and commissioned officer. At the outbreaking of the Spanish war he was serving as brigadier-general upon the staff of Governor Wolcott.

At the close of his service as a volunteer he was tendered by the President a position as military member of the Colonial commission, to frame laws for Cuba and Porto Rico, with the rank in the army that he had borne in the volunteer forces. For family reasons Mr. Guild was compelled to decline. Later President McKinley offered him in succession the posts of Postmaster of Boston, Civil Service Commissioner and First Assistant Postmaster-General. These were also declined.

Mr. Guild's political career covers twenty-three years. For a dozen years he worked for the Republican party as a member of his ward committee. In 1888 Mr. Guild made his first speech on the stump at a meeting of the Harvard Republican club in Tremont Temple. Since that time he has spoken in every campaign except that of 1898, when he was with the army.

Mr. Guild is forty-five years old. He was born in South street, Bostop, and now resides in Marlboro street, Boston. He was married in 1892 to a daughter of E. C. Johnson, a well known Boston merchant. He is descended from Scotch ancestry, the first representative of the family to come to America being John Guild, a lowland farmer, who came to Dedham in 1630.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

SISTER IS MISSING

Baltimore Woman to View the Dress Suit Case Torso

DIFFICULT TO IDENTIFY

Wife of the Missing Doctor Who Was Thought to Have Been Located Cannot Be Found—Fishermen Find Dress Suit Case Near Boston Wharf

Boston, Sept. 30.—Miss Nathan, daughter of Mrs. Louis Nathan of Baltimore, has reached this city and has requested the police to show her the torso of the woman which was found in a dress suit case near the Winthrop Yacht club on Thursday of last week. She will be shown the body.

The coming of Miss Nathan has a possible bearing on the Winthrop mystery. Miss Nathan is a sister of Mrs. Maurice Schapiro, who has been missing for nearly three weeks. Mrs. Schapiro is the wife of a former West End doctor, who has also been missing for some time. In the search for clues that might lead to a solution of this strange case, the attention of the police was called to the missing doctor and his wife and an investigation was instituted and apparently concluded to the satisfaction of the police.

It was given out that the authorities knew the whereabouts of Mrs. Schapiro and it was understood that such information had been conveyed to Mrs. Nathan. Miss Nathan now asserts that she does not know where her sister is; that the police must have been misinformed, and that she has come to look for her. Miss Nathan will attempt to identify the torso, but as there are no marks or blemishes upon it, identification is doubtful.

Last night two fishmongers of T wharf, Michael Sullivan and Robert Campbell, discovered a dress suit case in the water close to the wharf piling. They grappled for it with boathooks and brought to the surface the upper portion of the case. Their attempts to recover the other part of the case were not successful. The police were notified and will continue the search.

From the part secured it would appear that the dress suit case was a comparatively new one, of inexpensive quality, although differing somewhat in dimensions from that sold by the Pleasant street pawnbroker. The two fishmongers say that the suit case was very heavy and that the action of the water had so loosened and weakened the imitation leather, of which the case was constructed, that the top part came off.

Long Trip For Floating Drydock

Washington, Sept. 30.—The navy department is making inquiries of the Suez Canal company as to the dimensions of the Suez canal and towage charges in order to determine whether the floating steel drydock built for the Phillipines will be taken by the Suez route or by way of Cape of Good Hope. If it is necessary to tow the dock by the latter route the start will be considerably delayed, as consideration must be given to the storm periods in the different waters through which the dock would be towed.

Gaynor and Greene Coming Back

Montreal, Sept. 30.—G. F. White, marshal for the southern district of Georgia, and J. W. Doyle, assistant marshal, have arrived here to take Gaynor and Greene back to Savannah for trial on charges of defrauding the United States government. They brought warrants bearing the signature of President Roosevelt. The extradition papers have not yet arrived from Ottawa.

Typhoon May Have Struck Steamer

Manila, Sept. 30.—The British steamer Chang Sha, from Hong Kong to Manila, is overdue 48 hours. A number of American passengers and considerable mail were aboard the steamer when she sailed. The agents of the China Navigation company say the vessel must have encountered the recent typhoon.

Prosperous Business Season

New York, Sept. 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that lower temperature stimulates retail trade and fall openings are largely attended. Certainty of a successful season on the farms contributes more than any other single factor to the confidence that is felt in all sections of the country.

Want $4.50 For Eight Hours' Work

Baltimore, Sept. 30.—Over 300 structural iron workers, employed on four large buildings in this city, have been ordered out by a representative of the local union of the Structural Iron Workers' union. The men have been receiving $4 a day for eight hours work, but demand an increase to $4.50.

Boom In Shipbuilding

London, Sept. 30.—Orders for 100,000 tons of shipping have been placed with Clyde builders during the present month, while 44,000 tons of new ships were launched during the same period. The wages of the workmen are rising.

$75,000 to Fight Arcanum Rates

Detroit, Sept. 30.—At a meeting here of a committee of Michigan members of the Royal Arcanum, it was decided to raise $75,000 to fight in the courts the sliding scale of rates recently adopted by the society.

FIREMEN IN WRANGLE

Elect Officers and Choose New Custodian of $12,000 Fund

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 30.—Criticisms were made at the convention of the State Firemen's association over the administration of the firemen's relief fund, Charles S. Paysler, a former state commissioner of the firemen's fund, addressing the convention in opposition to Captain Brophy of Boston for his antagonism to former commissioners.

James F. McKissock of Lowell, referring to the administration of Paysler and his associates, James C. Crombie of Lawrence and Charles B. Plummer of Boston, accused them of having unjustly treated the cases of widows of deceased firemen.

In the election of officers Chief Dahill of New Bedford was chosen president. Chief Hosmer of Lowell was chosen commissioner of the $12,000 relief fund for two years.

To Testify at Chase Inquest

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 30.—The police have succeeded in locating Miss Alice Forris, who formerly was employed as a domestic in the family of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, who recently was found dead under circumstances that indicated suicide, and she will testify regarding affairs in the Chase household at the inquest into the woman's death. In Mrs. Chase's will all of her property, believed to amount to more than $1,000,000, was bequeathed to her stepson. The brothers of Mrs. Chase say that they probably will contest the will.

Union Men Under Arrest

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 30.—As a result of a riot on a train here last Tuesday evening, when an attack was made upon a number of non-union edgemakers, two members of the Edgemakers' Independent union of Lynn were arrested last night. The men under arrest are E. F. Taylor, business agent of the union, and Daniel Downey. Downey is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and it is alleged that Taylor instigated, directed and participated in the assault upon the strike breakers.

Death of Captain Selfridge

Boston, Sept. 30.—Captain J. R. Selfridge, ordnance officer at the Charlestown navy yard, died last evening at the Massachusetts general hospital. He was stricken with apoplexy yesterday afternoon. Selfridge was a member of a family well known in the United States navy for many years. His father was the late Rear Admiral T. O. Selfridge and a brother is Rear Admiral T. O. Selfridge (retired), now a resident of Washington. Captain Selfridge was born in Massachusetts.

Guild Names Leading Issue

Boston, Sept. 30.—Lieutenant Governor Guild, the prospective candidate of the Republican party for governor, formally opened the state campaign at a meeting of the Wayland Republican town committee. Guild intimated that the leading issue would be the question of deciding whether "certain men and certain interests that direct and control the Democratic party in Massachusetts shall direct and control state legislation in Massachusetts in 1906."

Auto Speeder Seriously Hurt

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 30.—While going at full speed last night an automobile carrying H. A. Pontius and a friend crashed into a light carriage in which was Winfield Bouten. Bouten jumped and escaped injury, but Pontius and his companion were knocked unconscious, the former receiving a fracture of the skull. Both the automobile and the carriage were wrecked.

Trinity Student Knocked Out

Hartford, Sept. 30.—In the annual rush between the freshman and sophomore classes of Trinity college last night, Carl Ritchie, a sophomore, was knocked unconscious and suffered a broken rib. He is severely hurt. When Ritchie's condition was seen the hostilities were declared off.

Murdered Fellow Countryman

Norwich, Conn., Sept. 30.—A jury in the superior court found Antonio Diodato guilty of murder in the second degree. In a fight with several other Italians in New London, Diodato shot and instantly killed Peter Piscetello. He will be sentenced Tuesday. The jury was out 35 minutes.

To Suppress Moth Pest

Boston, Sept. 30.—The office of the state superintendent for suppressing the gypsy and brown-tail moths has issued for free distribution a bulletin giving in compact form the important facts concerning the habits of the gypsy and brown-tail moths and the methods best suited to destroying them.

Bridgeport Feud Victim Dead

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 30.—Stephen Rinko, who, it is alleged, was shot by Charles Barto during a Hungarian feud fight Saturday evening, died last night. Barto was held in $10,000 bail to await the result of Rinko's injuries, the charge of murder being placed against him.

Dropped Dead at Husband's Side

Boston, Sept. 30.—With her husband walking by her side, Mrs. Harriet Hureau, aged 59, dropped dead on Washington street a short distance from her home while on her way to a physician's office. She had been ill for some time. Death was probably due to heart disease.

Fraudulent Use of Mails

Boston, Sept. 30.—Charles E. George, convicted by a jury in the United States circuit court of using the mails to defraud, was sentenced to 12 months in the house of correction by Judge Dodge.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is donig wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. V. R. BLANCHARD.

The Youngest "Real" Daughter of the American Revolution.

Brookline, Mass., boasts the youngest "real" daughter of the American Revolution. She is Mrs. Victoria Rockwell Blanchard and is only sixty-four years old. Mrs. Blanchard was the daughter of her father's third wife, and her father was eighty-five years old when she was born. Her father was Jeremiah Rockwell and her mother Abilene Stearns. Her father enlisted when he was only nineteen at

MRS. VICTORIA ROCKWELL BLANCHARD.

Lanesboro, Mass., and served at Bunker Hill, Dorchester Heights and Saratoga. He had twenty children, including the seven he adopted on his marriage to a widow, his second wife.

Mrs. Blanchard remembers her father well, as she was eleven when he died. She recalls the stories he used to tell her of the Revolution.

She is a member of Mercy Warren chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Springfield, Mass. She has a brother, Cyrus S. Rockwell, of East Dickinson, N. Y., who is the youngest living "real" son of the Revolution.—New York Tribune.

A Room For Two.

When two occupy the same bedchamber the room should be furnished with two of everything in the way of important bedroom furniture, each occupant having an individual dressing table, washstand, writing desk or table and a screen of light weight, which can be used around the washstand, bed or desk, as the owner may choose. This is the best compromise with the separate bedchamber, which is always the more desirable.

Only by getting away from people, however precious their society may be, can one recover lost equilibrium and reassert one's individuality. It is good for us to be alone with our thoughts sometimes and if we are compelled to room together there should be some provision which assures at least some degree of privacy every day.

Two reasonable people can then usually get along without seriously discommoding each other, provided they are both tidy and agree regarding ventilation and light. But if one who loves order, bathing and abundant fresh air be doomed to share her quarters with one of opposite inclinations, life will be a burden to both.

Quick Way to Do Your Mending.

With little practice all sorts of mending may be done on a two threaded sewing machine, without turning the work at all, by placing the article under the presser foot and sewing forward across the tear or thin place. When at the point where the work would ordinarily be turned, lift the presser foot ever so little with the right hand and with the left pull the work gently and steadily toward you, without stopping the machine at all. Sew backward to the point where you started from. Then release the presser foot with the right hand and sew toward you again until it is time to reverse. By this means you gradually move over a long tear with the right side of the article resting on the table of the machine and on your lap. Mend the torn scallops of Hamburg embroidery in the same way. For a small boy's trousers seat this method of mending has no equal: Baste a good thick patch on the wrong side. Place in machine with ragged side up, then stitch up and down until all the thin part is well covered. Literally you can mend a pair of trousers while the small boy waits.

Keep the House Neat.

Keep the house comfortably clean, but do not carry cleanliness to such a point that the home will constantly be an accusing finger, with yourself as the great human sacrifice. A man loves to have things neat and orderly about him, but hates to be reminded constantly that his wife is the drudge who has accomplished it. And remember also, by one of the contradictions of fate which are so frequently cropping up in life, that the woman who exerts herself the least is the one most humored and cosseted.

But, after all is said and done, there is little need for a woman to kill herself in these days of improved appliances. Invention has not only invaded the kitchen and stamped nearly every article there with some device for the saving of strength and labor, but has covered pretty well the entire house. Sweeping, dusting, scrubbing and polishing are now accomplished with one-half the exertion of past times.

A Too Quiet Life.

The private life is an excellent and a beautiful thing when it is founded on affection and tenderness, but to lead a private life, and only a private life, is for most women not beneficial. It narrows the mind and restricts the sympathies. It makes a woman think that because she never ate her bread with tears bread comes easily to all and there are no injustices which she need trouble herself to rectify. In words she may admit that women workers are to be pitied, but in deeds she will only be effective if she has at some time of her life worked, felt and suffered with them. And the time is at hand when women of the industrial class who do not find that all doors are kept comfortably open for them will ask middle class matrons and maids for something more than philosophic commiseration and the gratifying assurance that "there is no place like home."—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Study of Clothes.

In Paris people make much more of a study than we do of the shape, style and color of their clothes in order to have them becoming. A Frenchwoman will wear old style sleeves, but if she takes any interest in dress she won't wear a color that makes her look ugly, no matter what the fashion may be. She puts her brain power into selecting modes that are becoming to her. Of course the French dressmaker and milliner always have excellent taste, and they help her make up her mind. In Paris when one goes to buy a new costume the first question to be asked is, What will be suitable for the occasions when I want to wear it? The next is, What will suit my figure, height and complexion, without looking too dashing?—Florence Howe Hall in Good Housekeeping.

Children at Night.

The influences which surround children at night should be most carefully looked after that they be healthful. The portion of time given by children to sleep is very important, for the body continues to grow during this time. Impure air exerts a greater influence upon children than upon grown people and a lack of perfect ventilation in the sleeping room will often account for a cross, peevish child in the morning. As far as possible children should be allowed to have separate beds, and on no account should a child ever occupy the same bed with an aged person. If this is allowed, the child will be the loser in the way of vitality.

Combination Sandwiches.

Cream cheese in combination with chopped olives or with chopped nuts is recommended for sandwiches. Moisten the cheese with a little thick cream and add a little salt. About ten olives, stoned and chopped, to one cheese is the proper proportion. Mix the two and spread between thin slices of bread and butter. Trim the crusts, and if desired cut the slices into rounds or triangles. Peanuts, English walnuts or pecans or a mixture of these nuts combines well with the cheese. Prepare exactly as with the olives.

Ink Spots on Leather Chairs.

Try washing the spots with milk, renewing the milk till it is no longer stained and the spot on the leather has disappeared. Then wash with warm water and when dry polish with boiled linseed oil and vinegar mixed in equal proportions. But an ink stain should really be removed as soon as possible after it is made. If it has dried and hardened it is doubtful even if with several applications you will be able to remove it entirely.

Clever Women.

The women who have their own sweet way in all things are generally of the seemingly yielding class. The real strength of their nature is masked by an unfailing good nature that disarms others. They usually disclaim all inclination to do aught but please others and find their world ready to do their bidding. Clever women they are, and would there were more of them.

Chamois For Dusting.

If one uses a wet chamois skin for dusting furniture, a furniture polish will not be needed. Take a soft chamois skin from ten to sixteen inches square, wet in warm water—do not use hot—wring out as dry as possible. Use same as duster. It will remove dust and finger marks and leave furniture bright.

To Clean Silver.

Thick sour milk, says Good Housekeeping, will polish silver without the trouble of rubbing. Put the silver into a pan, cover with the sour milk and let stand for half an hour. Wash and rinse as usual. Every little crevice will be found bright and shining.

A Good Perfume.

Perfume is the expensive luxury of the dressing table. By adding half an ounce of oil of geranium to a pint of spirits of cologne you will have a very nice perfume and a strong one. Let this stand for a month and it will be ready for use.

---

The tired out woman usually eats the wrong kind of food. When tired, one should select foods not for their food value alone, but for their recuperative powers. Hot soup quickly refreshes the tired woman.

In giving medicine to a baby, place the point of a spoon against the roof of his mouth. Administered in this way, the child cannot choke or eject the medicine.

Why Dan Came Back

[Copyright, 1905, by E. S. McClure.]

Dan Skinner, son of a farmer, had been a lazy young man at home, and had doubtless enlisted as a soldier thinking he was going to have an easy time of it. He found but little time that a volunteer soldier could call his own. There were drill, guard duty, police duty, washing, mending, digging and delving, to say nothing of fighting and marching. The day came when he refused fatigue duty and was sent to the guardhouse. From that day for three months on he was under punishment most of the time. He came to be an object of anxiety to the officers and an object of contempt to his comrades, and then he was ready to bring on a climax. One day he lay on the broad of his back in the sun and thought it all out. He charged the people of the United States with bringing on the war for no other purpose than to get him down to the front and have him killed. He denied the right of the government to put him to manual labor and abridge his hours of sleep. He was an ill fed, overworked and much abused young man. He had been singled out for the officers' spite, and the letters he had written to President Lincoln about it had remained unanswered.

When Dan had spent an hour in thinking, he made up his mind that there was only one recourse left him—desertion. He would make his way back to the old farm in the north and to pa and ma and tell them all about it and be looked upon as a martyr. It never occurred to him that he would be pursued and was sure to be caught.

Two nights later Dan Skinner dodged the camp sentinels and became a deserter. He had selected a route, but owing to the darkness and a scare or two he became confused and finally held a pretty straight course for the position of the enemy. Just at that point and at that time the two armies were fifteen miles apart, with parties from each side raiding over the neutral ground. When Dan had gone ten miles he realized that he was lost and lay down in the bushes to wait for daylight. When he awoke he found himself close to a log farmhouse, and hunger and a desire to be set right as to his road caused him to boldly approach it. He found a woman and two children, and a moment later discovered that he was among southerners. His blue uniform excited surprise and alarm until he let it be known that he was alone. When he sat down to the humble food placed before him the woman asked:

"Don't you know that the Confederate lines are only five miles away, and that some of our soldiers are riding past here almost every day?"

"That's all the better," was his reply. "I was going home, but I'd just as lief be captured."

"Do you mean that you are a deserter?"

"That's what I am. I stood it and stood it till I could stand it no longer. Then I walked out of camp. If I hadn't got lost in the night I should be on my way home now."

"What was it you had to stand?"

"Oh, everything mean. They was always wanting me to work like a nigger, and when I wouldn't they had me in the guardhouse. I didn't enlist to be a slave. Some one was bossing me from morning till night. It was Dan, do this, and Dan, do that, and I got worn out at last."

"Have you ever been in a battle?" asked the woman as she looked at him in a puzzled way.

"No, ma'am."

"Then you've never been wounded?"

"No."

"You have been clothed and fed and paid and had no fighting to do as yet, and yet you complain."

"Who wouldn't complain if he had to carry wood and water and load and unload wagons and stand guard and all of that? I tell you I never got time to read a book nor write any poetry. If I'm a deserter it's because they've driv me to it. Flesh and blood can't stand only about so much. I'm like a worm, I am. You can pick on me about so long, and then I turn."

The woman smiled in contempt and pity and was silent for a moment before saying:

"I've got a husband and a brother in the Confederate army. They are obeying orders, no matter what those orders are. Both have been in battle, and both have been wounded. They march; they fight; they do camp duty. There are many days when they don't have sufficient to eat. They have had no pay for four months. Their uniforms are ragged and tattered. All this, and yet they haven't deserted or thought of it. Do you know what would happen if my husband should come home a deserter? I have an old musket here. I would drive him back to the army or shoot him in his tracks!"

"Shoo!" exclaimed Dan as he looked up at her and grew very serious.

"Yes, sir, I would do it, but thank God he is no such man. Look at your case. You have a father, mother—other relatives. You are young and strong. You have been called upon to do nothing that others are not doing. You are lazy; you are a fault finder; you want to make out that you are a martyr. And here you are, a deserter from your army, and disgrace and perhaps death await you as soon as caught. You want to desert to our side. We want no such men. You would be treated like a dog, and you would deserve it. Put on your cap, sir. Now walk out of the house. Now turn your face down the road and walk. Keep walking until you come to your lines, and then return to your duties as a soldier. You may have to work—you may have to die."

And he did. M. QUAD.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The season of social life with its activities and amenities may be considered in full swing. Weddings, surprise parties, at homes, church suppers, Christian Endeavor socials, men's clubs, women's clubs. All show life and promise.

Several people feel much indebted to "Old Liberty Streeter" for pointing out the beauties of Faxon park. Following his suggestion they have walked through the park to the old abandoned quarry which is a feast to the eyes of the artistic.

Squantum certainly has a nuisance if ever there was one and it is a wonder the people have put up with it as long as they have. When the wind is from the north all the pretty residential part of Squantum is simply drenched in vile odor—a combined smell of old decayed fish, sewer and everything nasty. Some ladies who visited Squantum this week thought the scent lingered about their clothes and hung them out to air when they reached home. The trouble comes from a new industry, established near the end of the car line.

The work of destroying the gypsy and browntail moths can best be accomplished during the fall and winter months. Property owners should watch for these pests.

The gypsy moth is now in the egg stage, egg clusters are yellow, generally oval in outline and can be found easily on trees, walls and fences in infested districts. The egg clusters should be soaked throughly with a creosote mixture.

The browntail moth winters in caterpillar colonies, spun up in dead leaves at the tip of the twigs of fruit and shade trees. These nests should be cut off and burned.

Drift of Opinion.

☞There's one place in the country where the price of oil hasn't been increased. It is in Springfield, where the Standard Oil company is pursuing its old tactics of trying to put an independent company out of existence by reducing the price of oil, and is now offering indirectly to retail customers oil at 9 cents a gallon, delivered in cans with a patent top which can be filled only by an arrangement connected with certain delivery wagons.—Boston Globe.

Herald Prize.

Some time ago the New York Sunday Herald opened its columns to ministers of all denominations for a sermon contest. Six prizes to be awarded for the six chosen sermons. The $500 prize was given to Rev. W. S. Perkins, D.D., now pastor of the Quincy Universalist church. The sermon which won this prize was Entitled "Burden Bearing," and Dr. Perkins will preach this sermon Sunday, Oct. 8th at 2.30 P. M. in the Universalist church. The public are invited to attend.

Ex-Senator Sprague.

Ex-Senator Eugene Hale Sprague of this city was the guest of the Upton Agricultural Fair, on Thursday, at Upton, where he delivered a brief but very comprehensive and interesting address on the work of the State Board of Charity, of which he was chairman during his term in the Senate. At the close of his remarks he was thanked by many of his audience, and also had the pleasure of answering numerous questions concerning the State institutions with which he had so much experience.

Larger High School.

The joint committee of the city council and citizens of Haverhill to whom was referred the question of securing more room for the high school, have voted to approve the plan for enlarging the present high school building. The probable cost is estimated at about $150,000.

Haverhill had 567 pupils in the High school by the last report and employed 19 teachers. The population by the census of 1905 is 37,818, and the valuation about $28,000,000.

MANY GAINS

In Scholarship Contest of the Ledger.

Miss Peterson is Now Second.

Engineer Johnson Ahead of Conductor Johnson.

More activity is shown today in the ladies' list of candidates for the Daily Ledger free scholarships in the International Correspondence School. Each of the first five made good gains, the largest by Miss Peterson who moves up to second place. Miss Rounds jumps from sixth to fourth, and Miss Rogers from fourteenth to fifth. Smaller gains are made by others, and there are new candidates.

In the men's list Engineer Johnson displaces Conductor Johnson. Most of the gains, however, were by candidates who were near the bottom of the list.

It is important that the coupons should be filled out, especially in entering new candidates. The Ledger will receive coupons, however, where the name only is written or stamped, to make the work easier for candidates. It would be better, however, to fill out one coupon complete with each lot of votes.

In today's mail there was a package of votes with the name of Harold Newcomb on the envelope, but none of the coupons were filled in. The young man may call at the office and fill in the coupons if he wishes.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

A Troubled One.

It is said that the expression "There is a skeleton in every closet" arose from the following incident: A young Italian student, finding he was dying, fearing to break the news to his mother, adopted the following device: He informed her that he was ill and that it had been foretold he would not recover until he had worn a shirt made by a woman who had no trouble. The widow soon discovered it was no easy task to find such a person, but at length was referred to a lady who seemed surrounded with every comfort and happiness and possessed a husband who seemed devoted to her. The widow made known her request and for an answer was shown a closet where a skeleton hung suspended from a beam. She was told it was the remains of the lady's former lover, who from motives of jealousy had been slain by her husband, and that he compelled her to visit it every day. The widow concluded that no one was without trouble, that "there is a skeleton in every closet," and became reconciled to the approaching loss of her son.

Washington's Birthday.

The first known celebration of Washington's birthday was on Feb. 11, 1784. The old style date was still adhered to. This was during the lifetime of the first president and completed his fifty-third year. The following is from the Pennsylvania Packet of Philadelphia of the date of Tuesday, Feb. 17, 1784: "New York, Friday, Feb. 13.—Wednesday last being the birthday of his excellency General Washington the same was celebrated by all the true friends of American independence and constitutional liberty with that hilarity and manly decorum ever attendant on the sons of freedom. In the evening an entertainment was given on board the East India ship in this harbor to a very brilliant and respectable company, and a discharge of thirteen cannon was fired on the joyful occasion." The observance of the day was not confined to New York city.

Newton's Telescope.

Newton fashioned a concave mirror from a mixture of copper and tin, which gives a surface with almost the luster of silver. An image of the star was produced in the focus of this mirror, and then this image when examined by a magnifyfng eyepiece permits the astronomer to study the star at what is equivalent to a greatly reduced distance. Such is the principle of the famous erecting telescope which bears the name of Newton. The little reflector which he constructed is still preserved as one of the treasures of the Royal society. The telescope tube had the very modest dimensions of an inch in diameter. It was, however, the precursor of a whole series of magnificent instruments, each outstripping the other in magnitude.

—Uniform to be contested for by the comrades of the G. A. R. and members of the Camp of Spanish War Veterans, at the G. A. R. fair. Books furnished by Capt. Franklin Curtis.

PETITIONS FILED.

For Recount of Republican Votes for Representatives.

The time for filing petitions for a recount of the votes cast for representatives at the caucuses Tuesday expired at 5 o'clock Friday. Before that time petitions had been filed by Richard R. Freeman asking for a recount of the votes in the several wards of the city.

These petitions will be considered by the Registrars of Voters tonight, and if the petitions are in proper form a time will be fixed for the recount. The chances are that it will be held Monday evening.

It is not believed that the recount will change the result as declared Tuesday night.

The principal ground for the recount is on account of the contested votes that were cast. There have been many rumors as to the number of these votes. From authentic sources, however, it is learned that there are probably not more than seven of these votes. Of this number six were in Ward One and one in Ward Two.

On a recount these votes must be thrown out. It is known that in Ward One some of the contested votes had a cross against the name of Mr. Freeman. To sum the whole matter up, it would appear that one of the objects of the recount is to see who got the most "bullets"

Fifteenth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mansfield celebrated their 15th marriage anniversary Sept. 25 at their home 120 Davis street, Wollaston Park, by entertaining a large number of relatives.

Vocal music by Mrs. Hill of Wollaston Park and Mrs. J. L. Richardson of Needham, Mass., were delightfully rendered and greatly enjoyed.

Piano solos by the young daughter of the host and hostess, Miss Clara Frances Mansfield, added to the enjoyment of the occassion.

The house was handsomely decorated. A profusion of beautiful flowers were the gifts of friends, as well as numerous tokens of elegant china, cut glass and silver.

Bountiful refreshments were served. The friends departed at a late hour, having spent a very enjoyable evening.

—$300 given away to the season ticket holders at the G. A. R. fair. Buy your tickets early. Tickets can be purchased at C. F. Pettengill's jewelry store and of comrades of the Post.

The Sunday school of the First Parish will observe Church Day on Sunday. The school will attend church in the morning and the opening services of the school at 12 noon will be a special service prepared by the superintendent Mr. C. H. Johnson. All friends are invited to attend.

Bellevue Park and Montclair.

Mrs. D. F. Young and granddaughter, Miss Ethel Young, have returned to Brighton from Bellevue Park, where they have been spending the greater part of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Fairclough are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter. Mr. Fairclough was formerly of Montclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto S. Rymarczick of Ardell street, Montclair, have the sympathy of their friends in the death of their baby daughter, Ethel Rose. The funeral services were held on Tuesday.

Miss Helen Grant Holbrook is studing for an A. M. degree at the graduate school of Boston University. Miss Holbrook received the degree of A. B. in June, from this University.

Houses in Bellevue Park and Montclair are in great demand. The house which is being built at the corner of Broadway and Bowdoin streets, by Mr. Donnely of South Boston is let. Both of the suites were let before the plaster was put on.

A false alarm was rung in from Box 69 last Wednesday afternoon about 4.30. This has occurred several times and it seems too bad that anyone is so mischievous as to want to bring the fire department so far from the main roads.

Rev. Arthur Wright, a former pastor of the Atlantic Methodist Episcopal church, now of North Dana, visited friends in Bellevue Park on Wednesday.

A Soft Answer.

Here is a story about Sir Patrick Talbot, sergeant at arms in the house of lords. He had been private secretary to the great Lord Derby when prime minister and afterward married one of his daughters. One day when a large party was present at Knowsley Lord Derby burst out at table with the remark, "It's a curious thing one never knows what a lot of fools there are in England until one becomes prime minister." Thereupon Talbot, at the other end of the table, said, "Yes, and one never knows what a fool a prime minister may be until one becomes his private secretary." Lord Derby's reply was, "Thank you, Pat."—Dundee Advertiser.

The Rudest Man of His Age.

John Hunter, the famous British surgeon, anatomist, physiologist and medical writer, who died in 1793, was one of the rudest men of his age. He returned home late one evening from his round of professional calls and found his wife entertaining a few friends. Grimly he walked into the center of the room, stopped and looked around. "I knew nothing of this kick up," he said, "and ought to have been informed. As I have returned home for the purpose of studying, I hope the present company will retire at once." They retired.

An Appreciative Letter.

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

The Quincy Hospital has given me so many pleasant and helpful hours that I shall always be very glad to express my appreciation of it as an Institution, and my gratitude to the management that has raised and maintained its ideals.

The sympathetic treatment and efficient service and the home-like atmosphere, all combined to accomplish the best results for patients, both physically and mentally.

I look upon any broadening of the Hospital's opportunities for service as an object worthy of the heartiest interest and co-operation of the community.

Very truly yours,
Isabel Carleton Wilde.
(Mrs. George Herbert Wilde.)

A Few Words In Praise.

Editor of the Quincy Daily Ledger:

Having been a patient in the Quincy hospital, it gives me an opportunity to speak a few words personally in praise of this Institution.

I consider the management good and I cannot speak too highly of the treatment I received while an inmate. The nurses and physicians were always kind and never tiring in ministering to our needs. The food too was always good and well served.

With heartiest thanks for the benefit I received, I am

Yours respectfully,
Leon S. Casey.

Skipped to Ireland.

A. J. Burns of Quincy, who is wanted by Collector of Internal Revenue Gill, for violation of the revenue laws relative to cigars, is in Bras Na Abbey, Ire., according to a letter received from him by Collector Gill. He was allowed his freedom to raise the fine of $100 to $150.

Everybody Rubber.

There were from one to three million people craning their necks in New York city last August as, with eyes filled with wonder, they watched Roy Knabenshue in his Airship sail gracefully over the tall sky-scrapers and frolic amid the fleecy clouds in the balmy summer air. This was in New York. It is now New England's turn to gaze aloft at the same rare spectacle. Knabenshue and his famous ship have been secured for the Brockton Fair at the enormous expense of $5,000, and his aerial trips will be repeated at this big out-door show. The races, the horse show, the the stage show, athletic meet, Firemen's muster, in fact, all the usual features, will be retained, even the balloon ascensions, the air-ship is simply an extra. The days are as follows: Oct. 3, Children's day; Oct. 4, Governor's day; Oct. 5, Boston day; Oct. 6, Firemen's day.

Travel Thursday to Sunday for $5.

AMONG THE WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Through the efforts of an influential member of the Quincy Women's club and the generosity of a business friend, the offer has been made to the club of an upright piano—new and of excellent quality, to be delivered at the club house for $155 cash. A piano is an absolutely necessary factor in the conduct of the club, and to hire one, for one year only, would mean an expenditure of at least one-half of the sum of money named. The gift of a piano, at this time when the club's resources are strained to the utmost to meet the expenses of its first year and getting the club house into condition, would mean a far-reaching benefaction and most joyful surprise to those interested. Man has in general to seek his opportunity. Here, however, the opportunity seeks the man, (or men.) Who will take advantage of it, and be forever enshrined in the grateful memories of the 300 members of the Quincy Women's club?—R. S. V. P.

Miss Whittier of the Massachusetts Federation says, "the club idea has been undergoing a constant evolution. Every year it becomes more evident that the woman's club, whether large or small, has a duty toward the home, the community, the state and the nation; that it is responsible for the betterment of conditions so far as its influence may extend, and that as an educator it occupies a strategic position which commands victory. Every succeeding year this idea of social responsibility gains devotees, every year the woman's club movement takes on a deeper significance, and every year we mark increasing loyalty to the federation idea, which means increasing interest in community betterment."

The year book of the Milton Woman's club for 1905-06, contains the list of officers and committees, a roll of the members, and the year's calendar. The club will again have a course of lectures on "Current Events" by Mrs. May Alden Ward, alternating with home afternoons. Speakers on various reformatory movements have been secured, and the year's plans include one or two public meetings on subjects of such vital interest as pure food legislation and forestry.

The first meeting of the Monday club of Weymouth for the ensuing year will be held Monday afternoon in Masonic building. Mrs. May Alden Ward will speak on the "Club Idea." A social hour will follow the address.

The opening meeting of the season of 1905—1906 of the Philergians will be held Oct. 3, at 2.30 P. M. at Cochato hall. A reception will be held by the officers of the club. The entertainment for the afternoon will be "Vacation Experiences" by Mrs. Alice H. Dow and Mrs. Carolyn A. Bill. Club members are requested to bear in mind that tickets must be presented at the door for admission. The executive board is requested to meet at 2 o'clock promptly.

The nature study class of the 1884 Club of Lynn took a mushroom walk in Lynn woods one day last week. The day was fine and thoroughly enjoyed by those participating.

The autumn meeting of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's clubs will be held at Athol on Oct. 17 and 18. Tuesday evening the Athol Woman's club will give a reception to the federation officers and on Wednesday there will be two meetings with interesting programs.

The Woman's Charity club held its first meeting on Thursday morning of last week in Sewall hall, Boston, Mrs. Esther F. Boland, first vice-president, presiding. An enthusiastic greeting was given Mrs. Micah Dyer president of the club, it being her first appearance after her long illness of the spring and summer.

The opening date for the Junior Friday club of Quincy is Oct. 16th, when the members will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Lawrence H. Sturtevant, Adams street, with the program in charge of Miss Georgiana C. Lane.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wood who for the past two years have resided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sweet at Braintree, held their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Wednesday afternoon and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wood are in their seventieth year and there was never a more lively and happy old couple ever lived than they are today. They have seen more or less trouble in the past fifty years and yet you never would think so to look at them.

They certainly had a delightful time and enjoyed every minute. There was a full house and all present enjoyed themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Wood came formerly from Winthrop, Maine, so a great many of their old friends from there were unable to be present but they remembered the dear old couple. Some sent letters of congratulation, and in them put coins of gold. It was not the gold but the kind hearts which gave it that filled the old couple with joy.

They received many presents, one in particular, a beautiful large colored crayon picture of their two little namesakes (grandchildren) Master Andrew Wood Wenthworth and Miss Laura Francis Sweet(cousins.) This beautiful picture was given to Mr. and Mrs. Wood by their only two daughters living out of seven children. The dinner was served at six thirty after which the presents were presented and a speech made by Mr. G. H. Burkett and the evening entertainment moved as follows:

Piano playing and singing by Andrew Wood and two daughters, Mrs. W. M. Sweet and Mrs. H. A. Wentworth.

A dialogue, "How they tested each other" by Master Andrew W. Wentworth and Miss Lora F. Sweet.

Piano, "The Flower song" by Master James S. Hogan of Roslindale.

Reading "Selling the baby" Miss Lora Sweet.

Piano solo, Master J. S. Hogan.

Dialogue, An unpublished page from the life of George Washington by Master Wentworth and Miss Sweet.

Reading "The Old Blacksmith" Miss Laura Wentworth.

Piano and singing "The Mocking Bird" by Master J. S. Hogan.

Mr. Wood made a little speech thanking everyone for their kindness. Then all went forward shook hands with the old couple and wished them fifty years more of happiness.

Before they knew it the evening was gone the next question was to get them all to the depot for it was about a mile away, there had to be some way provided to carry them up and they all wanted to go together and there was not a carriage in town large enough to take the whole crowd. They all went in the hay rack, singing all the latest songs. They all had a good time and said they did not think that they would forget that night in a hurry.

There were four generations present father, mother, daughters, granddaughters and one little great grandson.

CHANDLER'S VIEWS

Danger Besets the Rate Legislation Bill

ATTITUDE OF RAILROADS

Says They Will Make Efforts to Defeat the Measure, Against Which Billions of Dollars Will Be Arrayed

Concord, N H., Sept. 30.—In a series of open letters to Edward A. Moseley of the interstate commerce commission, former Senator Chandler of New Hampshire defines his attitude toward the Esch-Townsend rate legislation bill to come before congress at its next session.

Mr. Chandler lays great stress upon the attitude of the railroad companies and says the methods of defeating the measure to be put forward next winter will be by dangerous amendments or additions to the Esch-Townsend bill "under the guise of friendly improvements, but really as railroad tricks."

Mr. Chandler says: "You cannot reasonably expect that a law can be passed through congress which shall make a reasonable transportation rate fixed by the commission take effect immediately and remain in force until reversed by the court of review when Samuel Spencer, in behalf of the railroads, has announced that they will not permit either of two things."

These two things, Chandler charges, are the giving of "power to the commission to substitute in a particular case a rate or price which in their judgment is just or reasonable in the place of one judged by them to be unjust or reasonable" and the enactment of "statutes which provide that a rate of transportation once fixed by any authority shall remain perpetually in force thereafter until changed by commission or by court."

Mr. Chandler further charges that $13,000,000,000 of capital, representing 210,000 miles of railroad, are arrayed against the president in his attempt to pass rate legislation. He also charges that by furnishing free transportation the railroads will attempt to corrupt legislatures, congress and the whole state and national government.

Mr. Chandler asserts that lawyers, ministers of the gospel and newspapers are especially cared for by the railroads, notwithstanding that the system is grossly illegal, and closes his last letter with an appeal to the American people to help the president.

Preparing to Receive Prince

Washington, Sept. 30.—By direction of the president, the state and navy departments have begun the preparation of plans for the reception in this country of Prince Louis of Battenburg. The English squadron under the command of the prince will be in United States waters from Nov. 1 until Nov. 17. During the time of the stay of the squadron at Annapolis the prince will visit Washington and be received by the president.

Customary "Promises" of Turkey

Belgrade, Sept. 30.—The Turkish minister has delivered to the Servian government the reply of Turkey to Servia's complaint on the subject of the arrest of Servian subjects in Turkey. Turkey expresses regret and promises to punish the officials responsible and adopt strict measures for the prevention of similar incidents in the future. No reply was given to Servia's claim for pecuniary damages.

Monster Iceberg on Grand Banks

New York, Sept. 30.—Passengers arriving on the Lucania from Liverpool last night told of sighting a monster iceberg, stranded on the banks off Newfoundland. For more than a fortnight the big glacier fragment has been standing in the identical spot, unmoved by wind or wave. Officers of the Lucania declare that they sighted the big berg in the same predicament on the last eastward passage.

Postmasters as Art Critics

Washington, Sept. 30.—Acting Postmaster General Hitchcock, in a circular mailed to all postmasters, has renewed the campaign started recently against objectionable postcards. He has called attention to the rule which bars from the mails every card bearing a picture or language that is obscene, indecent or improperly suggestive, and has constituted every postmaster a judge of this character of art.

Hard Times Brought Peace

Tokio, Sept. 30.—Notwithstanding the silence of the government, the real fact is disclosed that Japan made peace at Portsmouth in fear of a financial breakdown. The war proved more costly than had been calculated and the rice and cereal crops seemed doomed to failure. The masses of the people are very poor and rice is their bread and meat.

Sexes Not Properly Separated

New York, Sept. 30.—Port Collector Strachan has ordered the imposition of a fine of nearly $5000 against the master of steamer L'Aquitaine for violation of the United States passenger act, in not having the sexes properly separated in the steerage of his ship on a voyage here.

Poles Succumb to Cholera

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—It is officially announced that 50 cases of cholera, of which 28 resulted fatally, occurred in Poland between Sept. 20 and Sept. 27.

MISSIONARIES' MISTAKES

They Hindered the Spread of Christianity In Japan

Detroit, Sept. 30.—Surgeon General Suzuki of the Japanese navy declared with affecting earnestness and sincerity before the railroad Y. M. C. A. international convention that he had been for 20 years a Christian. Very proudly he added that his wife and five children shared his belief.

His eldest son, he said, had been the first to become a convert, having been interested at first through an accidental visit to a Christian meeting while walking along the streets of Tokio. Next the wife had been converted through the influence of her son, and all the family had followed in the steps of these two.

General Suzuki said the missionaries of Japan were becoming broader and broader in their views. "Those who came first," he said, "were too deeply concerned about outward appearances. It was a mistake for them to ask at the very outset, 'Do you smoke? Do you drink? Do you go to church? for we know now that when one has really entered the church he will naturally give up the things that are evil. We want you to send us good men who will convert our hearts and show us the real meaning of Christianity. Japan is supposed to be a non-Christian country, but there are many men, women and children in Nippon trying to be faithful to the right and to God."

For Supreme Court to Settle

Washington, Sept. 30.—Charles Zartarian, a Turk, who has become a naturalized citizen, has filed in the United States supreme court an appeal from the decision of the circuit court of the United States for the district of Massachusetts refusing, under the immigration laws, to permit his daughter to land in this country on the ground that trachoma, with which the girl is afflicted, is a contagious disease. It is claimed that the father's naturalization has the effect of making an American citizen of the daughter.

Boy Suspected of Quintuple Murder

Houston, Tex., Sept. 30.—The bodies of Mrs. A. J. Conditt, her 13-year-old daughter and three sons, aged 6, 8 and 10 years, respectively, who were murdered Thursday near Edna, were interred in a single grave. The home of Hank Gibson, a 17-year-old negro, who gave the first alarm, was searched and a tablecloth with a bundle of bloody clothing was found. If Conditt, the husband, is able to identify the articles, the negro will probably be lynched.

President Harper's Life In Danger

Chicago, Sept. 30.—It has been decided by the physicians in attendance upon President Harper of Chicago university that nothing will save his life but a surgical operation of heroic character. It is admitted that there is no chance of saving his life unless the cancer can be checked by the removal of a portion of the large intestine. It is admitted that the chances are greatly against the permanent relief of the patient if the operation is performed.

Sensational Raid on Poolroom

New York, Sept. 30.—Police with axes chopped their way through the walls into a poolroom in University place and captured 200 men in the room. For half an hour a trio of imprisoned detectives stood off an angry, threatening crowd, while the squad of police outside chopped at the doors. The walls proved to be more yielding than the steel-ribbed doors and the police finally entered by cutting a hole through the plaster.

Schooner and Crew Lost

North Sydney, C. B., Sept. 30.—It is feared that schooner My Beauty has foundered with all on board. The vessel left this port on Aug. 5 with a cargo of coal for Tillingate, N. F., and has not been heard from since. She should have arrived at her destination by Aug. 15 at the latest. It is feared she was lost in a terrific gale. The vessel usually carried four men.

"Three Republics" as Allies

Paris, Sept. 30.—The Echo De Paris prints an article signed by Andrew Carnegie in which the writer argues in favor of an alliance of the United States, France and Great Britain for the safeguarding of the peace of the world. The author denominates the countries named as "the three republics, two uncrowned and one crowned."

To Enhance American Commerce

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—A permanent industrial commercial exhibit will soon be established at Shanghai by Baruch Cerf of that place, who is here perfecting arrangements. It is claimed by the promoters that the exhibit will enhance American commerce by properly introducing and advertising goods among the Chinese merchants.

Pruning of Chadwick Case Fees

Cleveland, Sept. 30.—Judge Tayler has approved the allowances made by Referee in Bankruptcy Remington in the matter of fees for the receiver and attorneys for Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick. The total asked for by them was $10,712, and the total allowed was $6151.

Death For Political Offenders

Odessa, Sept 30.—The court martial sitting here continues to impose sentences for political crimes. One man has been sentenced to death for attempting the life of a policeman and another has been condemned to die for resisting arrest.

The public schools of the city reopened Sept. 11, but everybody cannot attend. Some must work to support themselves and perhaps others,—either mother, brothers and sisters; or wife and children. Many since leaving school realize that a better education would have made it easier for them to earn a larger salary, and at the same time obtain more enjoyment from life.

The Daily Ledger proposes to help these ambitious people. It is not too late to get a new start. Let your friends know that you want to fit yourself for special work and

GET INTO THE CONTEST EARLY.

The value of an education, says Maxwell's Talisman, is appreciated not only by the man who in his youth was given its high privileges, but by the man who by force of circumstances was denied early educational advantages. Men of experience in any line of business will advise their young friends to grasp every opportunity for educational training offered in early life. The educated man well knows what his early training has done for him, and the uneducated knows that men who were denied the privilege of an early education are frequently in the course of life's experiences forced to face serious embarrassments and obstacles.

Wilmott said that

"EDUCATION IS THE APPRENTICESHIP OF LIFE"

Franklin said: "If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Ruskin said that "education, briefly, is leading the human mind and soul to what is right and best and to make what is best out of them, and these two objects are always obtainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others."

Channing said: "He is to be educated, not because he is to make shoes, nails or pins, but because he is a man."

EDUCATION IS NEVER FINISHED,

and no one knows this better than the really educated and cultured man. One may be the graduate of the highest educational institution in the land, but still he finds that "there is more to learn." The storehouse of knowledge is never depleted, and there is none so rich or so poor that he may not draw something therefrom. Those who were denied the advantages of an early education may in the course of later life, by devoting only a few hours every week to study at home, acquire an education along special or general lines. Books are now within the reach of all, and every home, however humble, may have a library. The "home study" will make home life more attractive to both young and old. If we make "live to learn" our life motto, we shall always find life worth living."

Insurance Companies Had a Legislative Agent

STATEMENT FROM SCHIFF

Attacks Superintendent of Insurance and Says That Hyde Was Whole Finance Committee of the Equitable Life

New York, Sept. 30.—When the legislative committee on the insurance investigation adjourned until next Wednesday, it concluded a week in which greater progress had been made than in any week since the investigation was begun. The testimony of witnesses that have been called during the week has been replete with sensations and that taken yesterday was no exception to the rule.

It was during the afternoon session, when Alfred W. Maine, an associate auditor of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was called to the stand, that it was disclosed that the Equitable Life, the Mutual Life and the New York Life companies had formed a pool to look after legislation before the various state legislatures.

Andrew Hamilton, to whom President McCall of the New York Life paid several checks, the purpose of which the counsel for the committee, Mr. Hughes, has not yet brought to light, was one of the chief members of the legal staff for these companies and was employed and received money for services from the Equitable. Maine told of the division of the country to be looked after by Hamilton, in conjunction with E. L. Short and W. P. Thummel. Witness presented vouchers for payments by his company to Hamilton and these showed that in eight years, from 1895 to 1903, the sum of $65,596 was paid to Hamilton for legal services.

Mr. Maine could not give any details of the duties performed by Hamilton nor of the committees he appeared before beyond the fact that Hamilton looked after legislative matters for all three companies in the states west of Ohio.

The witness told of an agreement whereby special counsel was employed by one company in its territory, and the expense was shared by all. He was asked if campaign contributions came under his observation and he replied they did not. He never heard of money being paid to influence legislators.

Mr. Maine was followed by Edward I. Devlin, the real estate manager of the New York Life for the United States and Canada. Devlin was called to testify as to the cost of the company's building in Paris. It was brought out that the Paris building was carried on the books of the company at a valuation of $1,102,604, whereas with the original cost and improvements on the building actual money to the amount of $2,533,104 was paid, over $1,000,000 being charged off valuation on the books of the company. Devlin said the net income on the building to the New York Life was 1½ percent on the actual amount invested in the building, or between 3 and 3½ percent on the amount at which the building was carried on the books of the company.

Not the least important development of the day was the appearance on the stand of Jacob H. Schiff, head of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Most of the time Schiff reclined leisurely in the chair on the witness stand, but as one point after another was brought out he grew excited and vigorously defended his attitude while a director of the Equitable society, and claimed his firm had acted in a conscientious manner in all its dealings with the society.

At the conclusion of his testimony, and before the committee could adjourn, Schiff asked to be allowed to make a statement. He was permitted, and he made an impassioned attack on the state superintendent of insurance for statements he had made concerning Kuhn, Loeb & Co. during the investigation of the Equitable. Schiff emphasized his remarks frequently with rappings on the table and at times raised his voice until it was almost a shout.

During his testimony Schiff made the charge that the minutes of the finance committee of the Equitable regarding a certain meeting were false. He later qualified this, however, by saying if the transaction under consideration, one in Union Pacific preferred, was actually made, he did not hear it, though he was present at the meeting. Again, during his testimony regarding the power of the finance committee of the Equitable society, Schiff waxed warm in his explanation and said that the entire committee was at the mercy of one man.

"It was all Hyde," said Schiff; "all Hyde and Alexander. Hyde wrote the messages regarding the offers made by my firm for participation in syndicates. Hyde signed all the receipts, and Hyde wrote all the letters."

In the matter of the James H. Hyde and Associates syndicate Schiff hotly accused Hyde of trying to shield himself. He said the position of a director in the Equitable was that of a negligible quantity and that the directors were mere figureheads. He said further that he had never asked any favors of the Equitable society.

"I have granted many favors," he said. "I have not done as a director of the Equitable any wrong of commission."

Remarkable Career of the New York Life's Vice President

Personal Side of a Man Who Is an Interesting Outgrowth of Modern Business Conditions — How He Rose From an Office Boy to Be J. Pierpont Morgan's Partner In Twenty-three Years — Life Ambition Was to Be a Photographer

Adept at Organizing and a Wonderful Factor In Writing Insurance—A Financial Leader Who Transacts Business on His Feet — Has Been Called "the Smartest Man In New York." Quick, Impetuous Talker—Fond of Theater and Golf

GEORGE W. PERKINS has been called "the smartest man in New York." He is aware that he has been so called, and, furthermore, he is aware that the designation is correct. Now, there are many smart men who do not know it, and there are many who know it who are not smart men. Where the quality and the consciousness of the quality are found wrapped up in one personality they make a happy combination.

Mr. Perkins' estimate of his own worth is found in his recent rather remarkable testimony before the New York legislative committee which is charged with the investigation of the various insurance companies. Mr. Perkins, besides being a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, also chairman of the finance committee of the steel trust and holding various other important positions in the world of money, is vice president and chairman of the finance committee of the New York Life Insurance company. Here is his deliberate statement:

"Now I want to say, and I want this on the record, that I believe I have been the one most influential factor in the New York Life in bringing the hundreds of thousands of people into the company who are now there."

That might sound conceited in another mouth, but the fact that every one familiar with the history of the New York Life must recognize the truth of the claim eliminates that element. Mr. Perkins truly has been the one most influential factor in writing the immense amount of insurance secured by the company. He knows it and frankly says so. No hiding of that light under a bushel. Investigating committees please take notice.

Could Talk Better Standing Up.

There are other noteworthy items in that testimony. Most of them were introduced voluntarily—in fact, one paper accused Mr. Perkins of making stump speeches from the witness box. This idea was perhaps borne out by the fact that the witness disdained a chair; said he could talk better standing up. Then, he did not wait for questions—simply went on telling his life history regardless. And it was so interesting that no one bothered him for some time. He began at the beginning. He told how he had started as an office boy for the New York Life at fifteen years of age. His father was some sort of an official in the company, and his name was also George W. Perkins. Here is the way young George got in, according to his own story. The following letter may be termed Exhibit A:

Pittsburg, March 27, 1879.

Dear George—I have obtained the situation for you in the New York Life to act for the present as my clerk for the salary of $25 per month, commencing April 1, 1879. Its continuance will depend upon your improvement in spelling and writing, which will need to be very rapid; also upon your care to attend to everything given you to do promptly, without making any blunders or mistakes. And if in every respect you are honest, truthful and faithful to your duties it will lead eventually to some better position. Mr. Beers hopes that you will prove to be the coming man for the company.

I will instruct you about your duties in detail when I reach Chicago.

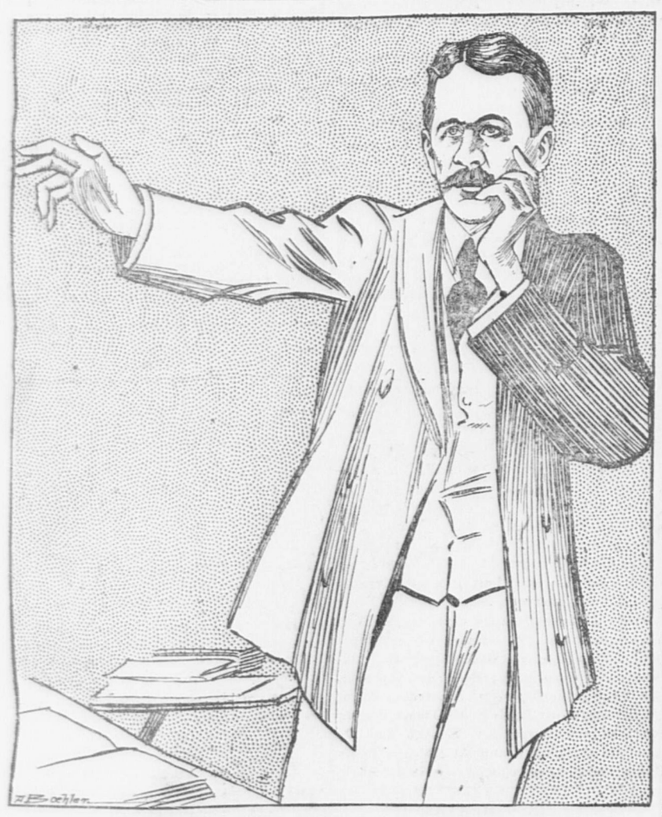

Trusting that you will succeed in filling the place in a manner that will enable me always to make a favorable report in reference to your work, believe me, ever your affectionate father,

GEORGE W. PERKINS.

Exhibit B tells how the boy improved his opportunity, following the suggestions in the letter and going them several points better. Here it is in figures:

| | Salary. |
|---|---|
| 1879—Office boy | $300 |
| 1881—Clerk | 1,200 |
| 1886—Cashier | 1,500 |
| 1887—Agency representative and solicitor | 3,600 |
| 1888—General agency director | 15,000 |
| 1893—Third vice president | 20,000 |
| 1896—Increase for same duties | 25,000 |
| 1899—Second vice president | 30,000 |
| 1901—Vice president, when he remained with the company despite an offer from Mr. Morgan. | 75,000 |
| 1902—Divided his time with J. P. Morgan & Co. and remained vice president at | 25,000 |

How much he received as a partner of Morgan no one knows, but it was probably not less than $200,000 or $300,000 per year. From $300 a year up to that figure, and all that in less than a quarter of a century, is something of a jump.

GEORGE W. PERKINS TESTIFYING.

Startling Testimony.

Exhibit C in Mr. Perkins' testimony is probably the most sensational of all. In that many things were said, but the one thing that has excited most interest throughout the country was the admission by the witness that the New York Life had paid into the national campaign fund of the Republican committee in the last three campaigns a sum aggregating nearly $150,000. This money, he said, had been paid on the order of President John A. McCall without the knowledge of the finance committee. No one can measure the effect of this statement. It is liable to lead to unexpected legislation. But this article is not a study of politics, but of a man. The man is an interesting outgrowth of modern business conditions. He testified to many other startling things. One was that as vice president of the New York Life he sold to himself as partner of J. P. Morgan $800,000 worth of bonds. This happened one Saturday evening. The next Monday morning he as a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan sold back to himself as vice president of the New York Life the same $800,000 worth of bonds. As an interesting aside it may be remarked that it was at about this time that the state insurance examiner dropped in. This episode is merely mentioned to show that there are some things in high finance the layman can scarcely understand.

Dreamed of a Photographic Career.

There are many little side lights on Mr. Perkins' career that reveal much. For example, it was his life ambition to be a photographer. He accepted the place as office boy to earn enough money to buy a camera. He still dreamed of a photographic career when he became a bookkeeper. The aspiration was yet with him when he was made insurance solicitor. Nor had he forgotten it when he became a director of agents. It was only when called to New York to take charge of all the agents of the company in the world that the young man finally relinquished his cherished hope of becoming a photographer.

Another point worthy of note—Perkins had an idea. His scheme was for organizing the agency business. Before he was thirty he was given charge of the agencies in several states, where he could develop his plan. He himself testified that he then was given $15,000 per year, the highest sum ever paid an agency director. So well did he succeed that shortly afterward the office of third vice president was created for him and he was put in charge of all the agents, where he could work out his idea to the full.

There is a startling similarity between the careers of Perkins and Gage E. Tarbell, the real power in the Equitable. Both started in Chicago, both made their mark as agency directors, both were elected third vice presidents of their respective companies and both are given credit for working up the immense business brought in by their agents.

Taken Up by Morgan.

The story of how Perkins was taken up by Morgan is thus told: In addition to his many other duties the young insurance man had been intrusted by his fellow citizens with gathering a fund to preserve the famous Palisades along the Hudson river. One day he called on Morgan for a subscription. After signing his name for a liberal amount, Mr. Morgan pointed to a chair on the other side of his desk, and said:

"I'll give you $100,000 a year, Perkins, if you'll move over here and occupy that seat!"

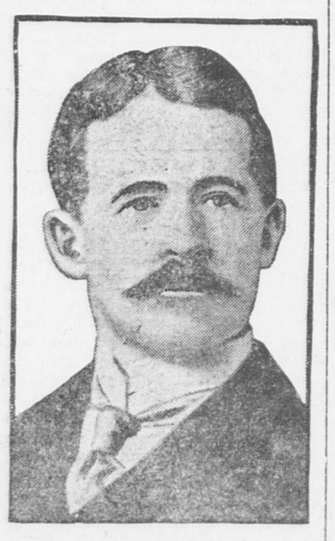

"Are you joking?" inquired Mr. Perkins.

"Certainly not," said Mr. Morgan. "I feel the need of an energetic young man in this office and have had my eye on you for some time."

After further conversation Mr. Perkins agreed to take the offer under consideration, but finally declined it at the request of the directors of the New York Life Insurance company. A few weeks later Mr. Morgan renewed the proposition and offered him a partnership in the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Transacts Business on His Feet.

George Walbridge Perkins was born in Evanston, Ill. He is only forty-three years old and hence is good for at least a quarter of a century more as a financial leader. He lives at Riverdale-on-the-Hudson; is found of theater and golf; rises at 6:30 each morning; spends his forenoons at the New York Life and his afternoons at J. P. Morgan & Co.'s office; for many years he has made a specialty of international finance. At the beginning of his career he was noted for his serenity, suavity and frank and easy politeness. This was a new element at Morgan's, where there had been something of an atmosphere of gruffness. In later years, the busy life he has led has told on the former Chicago insurance solicitor, and an increasing nervousness has been the result. He hardly ever sits, but spends most of his time walking about the office, transacting most of his business on his feet. He is under six feet in height and well proportioned. His eyes and hair are brown. He looks not unlike George J. Gould. He is a quick and impetuous talker, and while giving his testimony often stopped and asked the reporters—court and newspaper—if he was going too fast for them. He does not dress expensively, and is democratic in manner.

GEORGE W. PERKINS.

He has frequently said that he will never sever his connection with the New York Life, as his soul is wrapped up in that. His life work lies there. Mr. Perkins has handled many foreign loans, one of them being for $10,000,000 to M. Witte while that statesman was finance minister of Russia. It was in a negotiation with Perkins that M. Rothstein, the great Russian financier and president of the International Bank of Commerce, came to America.

Mr. Perkins says of himself, "It is true I am an instance of what a young man can do in this country." And, again, "Hard work and strict attention to business have been my rule through life."

Returning to that testimony—one of the most startling things Mr. Perkins said, perhaps the most startling to the student of economic and social questions, was this:

"The old idea that competition is the life of trade is an exploded idea. Competition is no longer the life of trade; it is co-operation."

That coming from the lips of a man in the position of George W. Perkins is at least significant.

Investigation Interests Germany

Berlin, Sept. 30.—The German government is watching with keen interest the investigation now being conducted by a committee of the New York legislature into the affairs and conduct of American life insurance companies and is taking steps to keep itself fully informed regarding the progress and results of the investigation. Various newspapers are hinting that concessions may be withdrawn from the remaining American insurance companies doing business here.

Student Rowdyism Must Stop

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—As a result of an attempt by a crowd of students to break up a show here last night, Mayor Curtis gave orders to the police to shoot any students resisting arrest or assaulting officers. In the same connection President Van Hise of the state university urged officers and courts to show no discrimination against students and said that he would expel every student convicted in court and would suspend all arrested.

Suicide of Millionaire

New York, Sept. 30.—William R. Travers, a millionaire, son of the Wall street operator, William Travers, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head in his apartments in Madison avenue. The suicide is not explained, Travers being in good health and the possessor of a large fortune. Travers and his wife separated three years ago, Mrs. Travers going to Paris to live.

Langford Hammers Jackson

Baltimore, Sept. 30.—Sam Langford of Boston and Young Peter Jackson of California met in a 15-round bout last night. The former twice claimed fouls, which Referee O'Hara did not allow. After Langford had pounded Jackson's left eye to a pulp and hammered him almost at will throughout the 15 rounds, the referee called it a draw.

Brighter Outlook In Hungary

Budapest, Sept. 30.—The situation is becoming clearer and evidence is accumulating that both the coalition leaders and the king-emperor are endeavoring to find a way out of the difficulty. Statements have been issued denying any intention on the part of the crown of wounding Hungarian national susceptibilities.

Governor Rights a Wrong

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 30.—Being of the opinion that injustice had been done in their conviction, Governor Jelks has pardoned Ann Baker, a white woman, and Early Mercer, a negro man, now in the penitentiary serving sentences for miscengenation. They were convicted in the spring of 1903.

Norway Will Approve Treaty

Christiana, Sept. 30.—The special session of the storthing, to which the agreement for the dissolution of the union between Norway and Sweden, which was reached at the Karlstad conference, was referred, decided by a vote of 12 to 6 to approve the treaty.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The Wollaston Gun Club will hold a shoot at their grounds on Elmwood avenue at three o'clock sharp, Saturday, Sept. 30.

There are too many collarless dogs running loose about the city. A half dozen can be seen most any time in City Square.

Next Wednesday evening there will be a very pleasing entertainment at the West Quincy M. E. church given by some of the young people.

The Flanders estate on Edge Hill road, East Milton, has been purchased by Mrs. Mary S. Wright of Wollaston, who will occupy it after it has been remodeled.

Newell & Francis who established themselves a few years ago in the Adams building are moving their dressmaking establishment next month into the old court room building where they will have more roomy quarters.

The annual visitation of Rural lodge, F. and A. M., will be made Oct. 26 by Rt. Wor. E. Francis Pope, district deputy grand master of the 24th Masonic district. There will be an exemplification of work.

Arthur W. Farmer was greatly surprised on Tuesday when he was reminded of his birthday by a number of his friends calling to spend the evening. He received many gifts. Music was enjoyed and refreshments served during the evening.

Rev. W. B. Barr was elected president of the Presbyterian Ministers' Association of Boston and vicinity for the third time. The association is in good working shape. Practical subjects are being discussed every Monday morning. The subject for Monday is "The relation of the working men to the church."

PLAN TO BREAK SOCIAL ICE.

Wife of Colorado's Executive Would Sit While Receiving.

The wife of Governor McDonald of Colorado believes that women who are obliged to hold formal receptions on account of their husbands' official positions should be allowed to sit while receiving their guests, says a Denver dispatch. She says:

"My plan is to arrange five chairs in a semicircle, with the hostess occupying the one in the center, and as the guests drop in they can be seated for a few minutes' conversation. It is a sensible proposition, and I believe that after the ice is broken and the people grow accustomed to the idea it will grow very popular. Of course anything unconventional is liable to attract laughter, deprecation, ridicule and opposition, but common sense will endure to the end."

Scholarship For Newsboys.

A plan to establish a newsboys' scholarship at Harvard university is indorsed in a letter recently received from President Charles W. Eliot by Harry Channen, president of the Newsboys' Protective union, Boston, says a dispatch from Cambridge, Mass., to the New York Tribune. "I should be much pleased to have a newsboys' scholarship established at Harvard university," wrote President Eliot, "but it should be the friends of the newsboys and not the newsboys themselves who contribute the money for this purpose." President Eliot took occasion to commend the objects of the union itself. Several months ago he made a notable address to the members of the union.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued liquor seizure cases of Fred A. Spear, W. B. Hatchfield and John Desmond of Randolph were again continued until Oct. 4.

Cornelius Doyle was sent to the State farm for being a tramp at Randolph.

William E. Roberts was arraigned for non-support of his minor child at Weymouth. Case continued until October 14.

BRAINTREE.

About two hundred and fifty new books are expected to arrive soon at the Public Library, thus giving the people of Braintree an opportunity of securing some first class reading matter.

On Monday of this week, Mrs. Stephen Gammon, accompanied by her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Hook returned to her home on Pond street, after a prolonged absence, spent in loving ministrations at the sick bed of a much loved brother, Henry M. Hook of Harwich.

The funeral service of Mrs. Fedro G. Winkfield was held at the home of Mr. O. O. Winkfield of Elmwood avenue Sunday, at two o'clock, Rev. F. W. Burrows of the first church, Braintree, and Rev. F. B. Cressey of the Weymouth Baptist church officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and the floral offerings were in abundance. The interment was in the Pond street cemetery.

Cannas in blossom form a pretty hedge as one may notice at the residence of the Misses Bradley on Commercial street.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Goodspeed have their home on Commercial street open once more after three months' outing at Fort Point.

Rev. William C. Darby has resumed his studies at Boston University. He will continue his work as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. F. W. Harris of Harrison Square, Weymouth, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever is able to sit up a short time each day.

The football season has begun, even the tiny school-boy of tender years is playing football. The rush, tussle, tumble and final victory is sometimes fierce.

Thomas Carey one of the young letter carriers at South Braintree has returned from a 15 days' vacation spent in New York.

Dr. Brett is to be the prineipal speaker at the meeting of the Norfolk South Medical society at the United States hotel, Boston, on Toursday.

Little Douglas Brooks Allen, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen of Franklin street, has returned from the children's hospital, Boston, in a much improved condition.

Many attendants at the South M. E. church were much pleased to have their former pastor, Rev. A. E. Legg of Providence, R. I., address them last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rich, formerly of Holbrook, moved last Tuesday into their new home, 16 Taylor street. In the evening they entertained guests from Boston and Holbrook and a very enjoyable evening was passed.

Mrs. Royal Belcher of Tremont street Wednesday, entertained friends from South Boston, Dorchester and Los Angeles. One of the number Mrs. E. R. Flint, formerly of this town, will return next month to her home in Los Angeles, Cal.

The annual reunion of the Orcutt Family Association will be held at Eagle hall, 86 Main street, Brockton October 14, afternoon and evening. Members are requested to invite friends. Frank A. Bates of South Braintree is their president.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clapp of Commercial street will start for the west on Monday. This is Mr. Clapp's annual business trip. Master Warren and Mrs. J. H. Clapp will visit Mrs. Augustus Clapp of Front street, Weymouth, for the next few weeks.

The alarm from box 41 Friday morning, called the department to the house in the rear of the almshouse occupied by Mr. Priest. There was a slight blaze in the kitchen, which the inmates and neighbors easily extinguished.

Miss Alice Crane of Quincy avenue has resigned her place as advanced cataloguer at the Brooklyn public library and has accepted the position of librarian at the Plymouth Cordage Works where the company owns a library and conducts it for the benefit of their employees, at an advanced salary. The library building is situated on high land at the north of Plymouth. There are two assistants employed.

John Kelley of Norfolk square will be one of the judges at the Brockton Fair play-out where so many fire engines will contest for such large prizes of money.

The sad accident and sudden death of Mr. F. S. French of Randolph, manager of the New England Telephone Co., shocked the community. Mr. French's friends in this village were saddened by the dreadful intelligence. A live wire hurled him from a pole and he fell to the ground and struck on his head. He died Wednesday night at Brockton hospital. He leaves a wife and two-year old child.

Mr. W. Knowlton of New York is making an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Knowlton of Crescent avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hook of Harwich are making an extended visit with their daughter, Mrs. S. B. Gammons of Pond street.

Thursday morning quite a party of young men, including Patrick Dignan, John Carley, Joseph Shay and others, started for the West. Their destination is California, where they expect to obtain renumerative employment and a good stock of health.

Don Shaw left Tuesday for Harvard college.

Miss Helen Bates, of River street returned to Wellesley Friday to resume her studies.

Deputy Thomas Fallon of Boston visited Monatiquot lodge, Monday evening.

WORLD'S "BOSS LIFT."

Tourists Shot Up the Alps In an Electric Elevator.

The highest elevator in the world has been installed opposite Lucerne, in Switzerland, at the celebrated viewpoint of Burgenstock, and the Lucernois take especial pride in pointing out to the American visitor that he has to come abroad to see the "boss lift" of the world, says a special cable dispatch from Lucerne to the New York American and Journal.

To reach this remarkable elevator the traveler takes the cog road from Kehrsiten on the shore of the lake to the hotels of Kehrsiten. Thence a most picturesque road cut out of the rocky side of the mountains takes you in thirty minutes to the elevator, the shaft of which is hidden in a grotto excavated alongside the engine house.

The elevator is run by electricity. The carriage or cage is twelve feet square, and its passengers are limited to seven. When the signal to start is given the cage rises for 213 feet through a well of masonry, then comes suddenly into the daylight, and for 387 feet rises in a steel latticework to the landing stage, the total ascension of 600 feet being made in less than three minutes.

From the landing stage an open galley leads to the summit of the Hammet-Schwand mountain 3,600 feet above the sea level. From this point a glorious view is had of the lake of the Four Cantons and of the Alps of Uri and Unterwald.

The elevator cage is lifted by two steel cables and contains an arrangement by which, in the event of the electric power being interrupted, it can be lowered by hand to the starting point. For those who are not subject to vertigo a steel ladder has been fixed along the whole length of the shaft.

WORM WITH FEATHERS.

Has a Poisonous Bite, Too, as Many North Carolinians Can Testify.

A feathered worm has made its appearance in different parts of North Carolina, and a number of people have been made very ill by its bite, says a special dispatch from Asheville, N. C., to the New York Times.

The insect is not unlike a white earthworm, but has a covering of brown down, similar to that of a young bird. Its bite is so poisonous that in a few seconds after receiving the wound the victim swells enormously and displays symptoms not unlike those of snake bite.

The worm feeds on maple trees and rosebushes. Its presence on the latter accounts for the number of women victims. No one is able to classify the insect. Several specimens are being prepared for shipment to Washington for examination to establish its identity.

GOOD NIGHT KISS SIGNAL.

Trolley's Bell Rung For a Mile So Young Men Can Catch Last Car.

Apparently uncalled for clanging of the gong for a whole mile through Main street by the motorman on the electric car which leaves Winsted, Conn., at 10:30 p. m. for Torrington has led to the discovery that it is a signal for the many Torrington young men who court Winsted young women to stop lovemaking if they wish to catch the last car for home, says a special dispatch from Winsted, Conn., to the New York World.

A carload of Torrington wooers come to Winsted nightly to call on sweethearts. The clangings of the motor bell are more reliable than most clocks. The lovers' signal is a nuisance to the citizens, however, and unless it is stopped some threaten to petition the board of wardens and burgesses.

Wolf Fishing In Indian Territory.

Wolf hunting is a new sport in the Arbuckle mountains, Indian Territory, and seems to be growing in popular favor, says the Kansas City Journal. This scheme was introduced by Keaton Bryan and J. B. Dickson, the "mayor elect" of Turner Falls. These gentlemen conceived the idea of baiting a large fishhook with fresh meat suspended about three feet from the ground, secured by a strong wire. They placed eight hooks on swinging limbs one night and next morning went out and found one large gray wolf and a monster lobo. These wolves were shot with rifles and their pelts carried to the falls. Orders for large fishhooks are going into Davis from many campers, and the art of wolf fishing will be studied at Turner Falls during the camping season.

Automobile Pillows.

Although the art of being comfortable is not peculiar to the United States, American women seem to be remarkably proficient in it, says the New York Press. The latest luxury adopted by Newport maids and matrons who "mote" is the automobile pillow. Now when they speed about in their up to date "whiz carts" they recline not only on the soft leather cushions with which the seats are upholstered, but also on the soft, silk, downy affairs which might be a part of a cozy corner, but which now are observed in the newest motor cars. As society cannot endure anything that smacks of discomfort, it is at present eulogizing the inventive genius who thought of fitting up automobiles with pillows.

Mailing Collars and Cuffs Now.

Winsted (Conn.) people are sending laundered collars and cuffs through the mails instead of souvenir postal cards, says a Winsted special to the New York World. The address is written on one side and generally a few lines on the other. Postmaster James P. Glynn is expecting next to get a white shirt with the bosom stamped and addressed.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The variety and excellence of the Keith program announced for the week of Oct. 2, will be evident to any reader who takes the trouble to note the following list of entertainers. Paul Conchas, the world-famous heavyweight juggler, will be the headline attraction. Included in the surrounding show are a host of notable vaudevillians, among the more prominent being Ferry Corwey, the famous musical clown of the New York Hippodrone. "A Smash Up in Chinatown," Vora King, pleasing singing and conversational comedienne; Barry and Johnson, in a mirth-provoking sketch; Larvette, clever comedy magician; James F. McDonald, singing comedian and storyteller; Konyon and De Carno, in a thrilling equilibrist act; and Robin Heath, blackface comedian.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

Next week at the Empire Theatre, the stock company will be seen in the satirical play "A Message from Mars" which Charles Hawtrey made such a notable success in both England and America. This will be the first production of the play at popular prices and the presentation will follow that made by Mr. Hawtrey in all essential details.. Mr. Richard Ganthony, the author, has in this play sought to teach the ugliness of self esteem and the beauty of self sacrifice, the simplicity of the sermon and the directness with which it is enforced making the lesson a most effective one. It has been called "a modern morality" and well deserves this classification.

$5.00 Excursion.

Hudson river and New York city. Thursday, October 12, is the date of the celebrated $5 Autumnal Excursion over the Boston & Albany R.
